- arranged to meet their Annual Activity Requirement through another approved Activity that will start at the time they become subject to the Annual Activity Requirement, or
- are already undertaking other approved Activities at the time they enter the Work for the Dole Phase.

(Deed references: Clauses 107, 108, 109)

Job seekers 50-59 years of age

Job seekers 50 to 59 of age with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements may select which approved Activity they will undertake to meet their Annual Activity Requirement. Once chosen, this Activity should generally be entered as a compulsory requirement in their Job Plan.

Principal Carer Parents and job seekers with a Partial Capacity to Work

Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week of any age may select which approved Activity they will undertake to meet their Annual Activity Requirement. Once chosen, this Activity should generally be entered as a compulsory requirement in the Job Plan.

Job seekers with Community Service Orders

Job seekers with Community Service Orders of 20 hours or more a week do not have Mutual Obligation Requirements for the period of the Order.

If a job seeker has a Community Service Order of less than 20 hours a week they still have Mutual Obligation Requirements, however, the Community Service Orders take precedence. If these job seekers are in the Work for the Dole phase they will need to meet their Annual Activity Requirement in addition to their Community Service Order.

Certain job seekers undertaking non-vocational Activities/interventions

For Stream C job seekers, satisfactory participation for the relevant number of hours in non-vocational assistance or interventions (including preventative health treatments and drug or alcohol addiction rehabilitation will meet their Annual Activity Requirement i.e. the job seeker will be deemed to be fully meeting their fortnightly Annual Activity Requirement in the fortnights they are participating in that Activity, regardless of contact hours.

For Stream A and B job seekers, satisfactory participation in the relevant number of hours in drug or alcohol addiction rehabilitation will meet their Annual Activity Requirement i.e. the job seeker will be deemed to be fully meeting their fortnightly Annual Activity Requirement in the fortnights they are participating in that Activity, regardless of contact hours.

For jobactive Indigenous job seekers and Stream C job seekers participation in preventative health treatments and interventions can be counted towards their Annual Activity Requirement.

Note: the relevant number of hours refers to the number of hours deemed suitable by the Provider, for the job seeker, for that particular non-vocational assistance or intervention. While there is no fixed lower limit on the number of hours per fortnight of contact hours, a job seeker must not be referred to reduced hours of participation for the sole purposes of meeting their Annual Activity Requirement. The job seeker's participation in these Activities must be sufficient enough to be treating their condition in order to meet the job seeker's Annual Activity Requirement.

Placing the job seeker in Activities

Providers must commence job seekers who have an Annual Activity Requirement in an Activity immediately after entering the Work for the Dole Phase.

Job seekers may undertake a combination of Activities to meet an Annual Activity Requirement where it is deemed suitable or necessary by the Provider.

The time taken to commence a job seeker in an approved Activity at the start of the Work for the Dole Phase is a performance measure in Providers' Star Ratings. For more information on the Star Ratings, see the Performance Framework Guideline.

For information on setting up and managing Activities, including important information on work health and safety, risk assessments and checks, refer to the Activity Management Guideline and the Job Plan and Setting Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline.

Setting the required hours in the Calendar

System step: For job seekers undertaking Work for the Dole to meet their Annual Activity Requirement, Providers must use the Calendar to schedule the job seeker's required participation, start and finish times as notified to the job seeker.

System step: For job seekers undertaking other Approved Activities, Providers must use the Calendar to schedule the required hours for all Activities, except:

- for Education and Training where the course is delivered online, or that portion of the course delivered online.
- where it is a requirement that the job seeker resides with the host organisation, either as part of a residential program or Drug and Alcohol Treatment or as part of Defence Reserves.
- for Employment and work experience activities where the hours are irregular and are organised directly between the job seeker and the employer or host.
- Where the Department's IT System does not support scheduling of the activity. For more information see the Job Seeker Calendar and Annual Activity Requirement IT Supporting Document.

System step: For job seekers participating in CTA or a Regional Employment Trial, scheduling these activities in the Calendar is required. Any hours marked as attended will automatically accrue towards job seeker's AAR. Providers should manually record additional monthly AAR hours for job seekers who are in the Work for the Dole Phase and who have an AAR so that the job seeker fully meets their AAR for the period of participation in CTA or a Regional Employment Trial.

System step: For job seekers undertaking a Launch into Work program pre-employment project, scheduling these Activities in the Calendar is not required.

Providers should manually record monthly AAR hours for job seekers who are in the Work for the Dole Phase and who have an Annual Activity Requirement.

For further information regarding how to set a job seeker's required hours in the Calendar, refer to the Calendar user Guide on the Learning Centre Website.

(Deed reference: Clause 107)

Recording job seeker participation against the Annual Activity Requirement

System step: Job seekers will be responsible for recording their attendance at Activities. However, for those job seekers found not capable of recording attendance, Providers must record attendance in approved Activities using the Calendar. All results must be recorded by close of business on the day of participation in the activity

- for study or training Activities, Providers must record the outcomes of the training course upon completion (for example, whether a certificate or statement of attainment was achieved).

For all Activity types, the Provider must negotiate with the Supervisor the most appropriate reporting and recording mechanism to ensure that the Provider can record in the system the number of hours a job seeker has participated in for each day (for Work for the Dole Activities) or month (for all other approved Activities). This should reflect the Host Organisation's normal business practices. For short breaks, these may form part of the job seeker's normal hours of participation, and count toward their Annual Activity Requirement.

Alternatively, when setting up the Activities in the Calendar, it is recommended that the Provider request evidence based attendance recording, which will include a QR code and passcode to be generated by the Department's IT System. They must have the contact details of the Supervisor up to date so that the Supervisor can receive the QR code and passcode the day of the Activity. Job seekers will then be able to scan the QR code when they attend the Activity. If the Activity is longer than four hours, the Department's IT System will generate two codes: one for the start of the Activity and one for the end of the Activity.

EST Providers will enter course details into the Calendar component of the Department's IT System. Providers will refer and place eligible job seekers from their caseload into the courses; the Activity Diary is automatically updated with the course details.

System step: For CTA and Regional Employment Trial activities, satisfactory participation in the activity will meet the job seeker's AAR. I.e. The job seeker will be deemed to be fully meeting their fortnightly AAR in the fortnights they are participating in CTA and Regional Employment Trial activities, regardless of the contact hours. Any hours scheduled that are marked as attended will automatically accrue towards the job seekers AAR. jobactive Providers must manually record the relevant additional monthly hours as per the job seeker's AAR, using the Monthly Hours section of the AAR Details screen of the Department's IT Systems so that the job seeker fully meets their AAR for the period of participation in CTA or a Regional Employment Trial activity.

Recording participation via the Supervisor App

Supervisors can use the Supervisor App to record a job seeker's attendance in Work for the Dole and other approved Activities. However, they should be encouraged to only do so for job seekers who:

- have been assessed as not being capable of recording or reporting their own attendance

or

- have been assessed as being capable of recording or reporting their own attendance but who are unable to do for themselves on the day.

In most cases it is expected that the Supervisor will receive a QR code or passcode that has been generated by the Department's IT System, and job seekers will be able to scan it with their mobile devices to record their own attendance. If the activity is longer than four hours, the Supervisor will receive two QR codes or passcodes: one for the morning when the job seekers arrive, and one for the afternoon when the job seekers leave for the day.

For further information on the Supervisor App, refer to the Work for the Dole IT Supporting Document.

System step: EST Providers will continue to have access to the Supervisor App to record job seekers attendance at EST courses where appropriate.

Documentary evidence: Where job seekers have used evidence to record their attendance directly into the Department's IT System, offline records are not required to be kept. The same applies where Activity attendance information has been entered by the Activity Host Organisation into the Supervisor App or directly into the Department's IT System, offline records are not required to be kept.

Recording of Work for the Dole participation in the Calendar

System step: Job seekers will be able to record their own attendance at Work for the Dole Activities. Where job seekers are not capable of recording their own attendance, or are unable to due to certain circumstances, Providers must record results against all required participation in the Calendar for every day that the job seeker was required to participate, as per notification issued to the job seeker by the close of business each day.

Recording participation in paid work in the AAR Details screen

System step: For participation in paid work Activities, ESS Web will automatically place the job seeker into a 'Part Time/Casual Paid Employment' Activity when the job seeker declares hours of paid work to DHS. If the job seeker is in the Work for the Dole Phase, the system will automatically populate the AAR Details Screen with the hours declared to DHS.

Where necessary, Providers can override the hours received from DHS e.g. if they disagree with the DHS hours for a period and hold documentary evidence supporting the updated hours.

Recording other approved Activities either in the Activity Diary or AAR Details screen

System step: For all other Approved Activities, attendance results, to meet the Annual Activity Requirement must be recorded through the Calendar (using the same process as for Work for the Dole activities).

For job seekers doing on-line courses not required to be recorded in the job seekers Calendar are encouraged to record the total hours completed for each month in the Work for the Dole Phase within 20 Business Days of each month of participation.

If a job seeker is participating in an Activity that fully meets their Annual Activity Requirement, the Calendar will only count those hours that are scheduled towards the job seeker's Annual Activity Requirement. The remaining hours should be credited by entering them in using the monthly hours section of the AAR Details screen.

Providers are to record the hours completed by the job seeker in all Approved Activities during the Work for the Dole Phase by the deadline of 20 Business Days after a job seeker exits the Work for the Dole Phase, or exits the Provider's caseload (for example, exiting from jobactive or transferring to another Provider).

If nothing is entered into the system by then, the job seeker's required hours will be recorded as zero for that period.

If Providers are aware that duplicate hours have been created for AAR, Providers must reduce the number of hours within 20 Business Days. This may occur when a job seeker is in paid work, a day of Activity is resulted as No Longer Required (NLR) as the job seeker is working on that day and declares the hours worked. The job seeker would be created the Activity hours and the hours declared. The job seeker should have credited the higher of the two hours for the individual day.

Completing the Annual Activity Requirement

Recording requirements

System step: At the end of the Work for the Dole Phase, Providers must ensure the AAR Details screen correctly displays whether the job seeker has met their Annual Activity Requirement.

System step: Providers have up to 20 business days from when a job seeker exits the Work for the Dole Phase or when they exit the Provider's caseload (e.g. exiting from jobactive or transferring to another Provider) to enter hours of participation the job seeker undertook within the Phase that were not required to be entered daily in the Calendar.

The Provider is not required to take any further action if the total hours recorded is equal to or greater than the job seeker's required Annual Activity Requirement hours. In this case the AAR Details screen will display that the Annual Activity Requirement has been met.

If the recorded hours are lower than the required Annual Activity Requirement hours, but the job seeker has nevertheless met their Annual Activity Requirement (for example, the job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements changed from part-time to full-time while they were in the Work for the Dole Phase), the Provider must within 20 Business Days of the end of the Work for the Dole Phase:

- select a reason in the system to indicate how the job seeker has met their Annual Activity Requirement
- record that the Annual Activity Requirement has been met.

If the recorded hours are lower than the job seeker's required Annual Activity Requirement hours, no reason is selected and the Annual Activity Requirement has not been recorded as met, the job seeker will not have met their Annual Activity Requirement.

For further information regarding how to record completion of the Annual Activity Requirement, refer to the Department's IT Systems Online Help.

Meeting the Annual Activity Requirement early

Within the Work for the Dole Phase

Within the Work for the Dole Phase, job seekers may be permitted to complete additional hours in an Activity every week or fortnight, either to allow them flexibility if their particular circumstances require it, or to assist a Host Organisation. These additional hours will count towards a job seeker's Annual Activity Requirement and, in effect, means that some job seekers will satisfy their Annual Activity Requirement early. However:

- any hours a job seeker agrees to do in excess of 50 hours per fortnight in Work for the Dole must be created as a voluntary component of their Job Plan using the Job Plan code and recording Activities in the Calendar.
- job seekers must not undertake more than 50 hours per fortnight in a National Work Experience Programme Placement or a Work Experience (Other) Placement.

Job seekers should not be allowed to choose to complete hours early of their own accord. Any additional hours in a week/fortnight can only occur when agreed upon between the Provider, the Host Organisation and the job seeker, where there is an identified benefit to the job seeker.

If the Annual Activity Requirement is completed early, the Provider must ensure that the job seeker's Job Plan continues to contain the other requirements that would enable the job seeker to continue to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. This includes attending Provider Appointments, undertaking any other appropriate Activities, undertaking Job Searches and acting on referrals to jobs in the remaining part of the Work for the Dole Phase after the Annual Activity Requirement for that year has already been met.

Early commencement of the Work for the Dole phase

The Work for the Dole Phase can be brought forward for all stream job seekers after six months (but before 12 months) of jobactive services if the Provider considers the job seeker is not benefiting from, or actively participating in services/interventions designed to improve their employment prospects.

Annual Activity Requirement Record Keeping

Documentary evidence: In addition to recording the relevant information in the Department's IT System, Providers must retain the following additional forms of evidence (either hard copy or soft copy):

- timesheets or other records of attendance, including information collected through the Supervisor App, where used
- a statement of attainment or similar (for accredited education)
- a signed training notice or signal notice (for Defence Force Reserves)
- an invoice for services or a letter of acceptance into a program (for non-vocational interventions including drug or alcohol rehabilitation programs and preventative health treatments and interventions)
- Activity Host Organisation Agreements for Work for the Dole, Voluntary Work, the National Work Experience Programme, Work Experience (Other) and PaTH Internships.
- CTA Agreement (for CTA Courses)
- risk assessment documentation which details that all Deed and relevant guideline requirements have been considered for both the job seeker and the Activity (for Activities where risk assessments are required to be undertaken)

Documentary evidence: For part-time/casual work or self-employment, the hours of paid work reported by the job seeker to DHS to stimulate the job seeker's income support payment is acceptable documentary evidence. This information is automatically populated into the 'Recording of DHS Part Time/Casual Paid Employment AAR Hours' section of the AAR Details screen and no further documentation is required if this information is accepted. See the Calendar and AAR Details IT Supporting Document for more information about how paid employment is counted towards the AAR. Details of the hours of paid work completed by the job seeker can also be accessed from the Case Summary Screen of the Department's IT System (Job Seeker Information – View Declared Earnings) or through the SUB316 – Declared Hours report through ES Reporting. If the Provider chooses to override the hours declared to DHS, the Provider must keep:

- For paid work: payslips or Employer payroll summaries,
- For self-employment:
  - a Profit and Loss Statement, a signed and dated written statement from an accountant and/or registered bookkeeper, or copies of records from the Australian Taxation Office and/or a tax return statement.

5. Privacy and information sharing

Providers must comply with Social Security Law and Australian privacy legislation. A job seeker's Personal Information must only be used or disclosed for the purpose it was collected, except in limited circumstances such as where the job seeker gives permission or where Commonwealth laws allow or other special circumstances.

Providers should seek independent legal advice if they have any concerns regarding their obligations under any privacy or other legislation. For further information, refer to the Privacy Guideline.

Sharing Job Plans with SEE or AMEP Providers

Job seekers participating in the Skills for Education and Employment (SEE) program or Adult Migrant English Program (AMEP) should be encouraged to share their Job Plans with their SEE or AMEP Providers in order to make them aware of their full Mutual Obligation Requirements. This will assist SEE and AMEP Providers in ensuring that they place job seekers in courses with study to fully meet their Annual Activity Requirements in the Work for the Dole Phase.

6. Summary of Required Documentary Evidence

Notification to job seekers of their Mutual Obligation Requirements

- The Provider will notify job seekers of their Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the reasonable notice timeframes for the relevant method of notification.
- The Provider will create a notification record in the Department's IT System, identifying the method of notification used (i.e. SMS, email or letter).
- If the Provider is in direct contact with the job seeker, the Provider must record as the notification method that the appointment was booked directly with the job seeker.
- If an Activity or Appointment is rescheduled by the Provider, formal notification must be issued to the job seeker of their new requirements.

Note: If the Provider chooses to record the job seeker's Activity details in the Activity Diary, this will help them to issue notification of the specific details of participation in an Activity to the job seeker.

Annual Activity Requirement and other Approved Activities

Documentary evidence: In addition to recording the relevant information in the Department's IT System, Providers must retain the following additional forms of evidence (either hard copy or soft copy):

- timesheets or other records of attendance, including information collected through the Supervisor App, where used
- a statement of attainment or similar (for accredited education)
- a signed training notice or signal notice (for Defence Force Reserves)

- an invoice for services or a letter of acceptance into a program (for non-vocational interventions)
- Activity Host Organisation Agreements for Work for the Dole, Voluntary Work, the National Work Experience Programme and Work Experience (Other) Placements
- CTA Agreement (for CTA Courses)
- risk assessment documentation which details that all Deed and relevant guideline requirements have been considered for both the job seeker and the Activity (for Activities where risk assessments are required to be undertaken)
- payslips or Employer payroll summaries (for part-time work)
  - For both self-employment and part-time/casual paid work, income reported by the job seeker to DHS to stimulate a job seeker's income support payment is acceptable documentary evidence. This information is available from the Case Summary Screen of the Department's IT System (Job Seeker Information – View Declared Earnings). The information provided indicates both the earnings and the hours worked
  - Additionally, documentary evidence for self-employment can include:
    - a Profit and Loss Statement
    - a signed and dated written statement from an accountant and/or registered bookkeeper
    - copies of records from the Australian Taxation Office and/or a tax return statement
    - a Business Activity Statement.

If Activity attendance information has been entered by the Activity Host Organisation into the Mobile Supervisor's App or directly into the Department's IT System, or the job seeker has used evidenced based recording of attendance, offline records are not required to be kept.

A job seeker's attendance at their internship will be recorded to ensure the hours completed by the job seeker end of each month are counted against the job seeker's Annual Activity Requirement.

(Deed reference: Section B4)

All capitalised terms in this guideline have the same meaning as in the jobactive Deed 2015–2020 (the Deed). This Guideline is not a stand-alone document and does not contain the entirety of Employment Services Providers' obligations. It must be read in conjunction with the Deed and any relevant Guidelines or reference material issued by Department of Jobs and Small Business under or in connection with the Deed.

Notes:

- NEIS Prospective Participants who have been assessed as NEIS Eligible will meet their Annual Activity Requirement for the period they are participating in NEIS Training.
- Participants in NEIS who have not transferred to NEIS Allowance when they commence NEIS Assistance will fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.
- Volunteer job seekers do not have a mandatory number of Job Searches.
- Outside the Annual Activity Requirement, Providers can require job seekers to participate in other Activities (in addition to Job Search and Provider Appointments).

- Job seekers can meet their Annual Activity Requirement through full participation in the Defence Reserves (240 hours over 26 weeks or 18–20 hours per fortnight).

Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline

Job seekers generally have Mutual Obligation Requirements, such as looking for work and participating in Activities that will improve their employment prospects, in return for receiving taxpayer-funded income support paid by Services Australia. The main aim of Mutual Obligation Requirements is to help a job seeker into paid work and reduce reliance on income support as quickly as possible. It also allows for job seekers to contribute to the community that supports them while they are unemployed.

1. Defining Mutual Obligation Requirements

Job seekers on the following Income Support Payments must meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements to receive their payment:

- JobSeeker Payment
- Youth Allowance (other)
- Parenting Payment Single (when their youngest child turns six)
- Special Benefit (Nominated Visa Holders).

Job seeker Income Support Payments are generally paid in fortnightly instalments, therefore, job seekers need to have and satisfy sufficient Mutual Obligation Requirements for each fortnight they are receiving Income Support Payments.

A job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements are generally determined by considering their:

- age
- assessed work capacity, and
- whether they have primary responsibility for the care of a child.

Job seekers with full-time requirements should be looking for work full-time and actively addressing the individual circumstances that affect their capacity to undertake paid work.

Job seekers with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements are:

- Principal Carer Parents whose youngest child is 6 years of age
- job seekers with a Partial Capacity to Work or a temporary reduced work capacity of 15 to 29 hours per week.

Job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements include:

- entering into a Job Plan and fully complying with the requirements in their Job Plan
- attending all Services Australia and Provider appointments
- acting on referrals to jobs from their Provider and attending job interviews offered by employers
- undertaking Job Search (generally 20 Job Searches per month)
- meeting their Annual Activity Requirement (refer to the Annual Activity Requirement section of this guideline)
- participating in any Activity that is relevant to their personal circumstances and will help the job seeker to improve their employment prospects.

A broad range of Activities can be used to meet a job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements. For a list of Suitable Activities that can be used to meet a job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements, see Guide to Social Security Law 3.2.9.10.

Also refer to the Job Plan and Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements Guidelines for information about Job Plan codes.

The Activities job seekers undertake must be included in their Job Plan as either a compulsory or voluntary Activity. There must be at least one compulsory Activity included in a Job Plan for job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements.

Voluntary Activities are not subject to the Targeted Compliance Framework.

Please refer to the Targeted Compliance Framework Guideline for more information.

Determining Mutual Obligation Requirements

When determining Mutual Obligation Requirements it is important to identify both a job seeker's strengths as well as any barriers they have to finding employment. Any vocational and non-vocational Activities are to be tailored to address the job seeker's individual needs and work capacity

Seek out Activities to help job seekers overcome or manage any vocational and non-vocational barriers. See Guide to Social Security Law 3.2.8.50 for what can be included in a Job Plan.

The Activities in the Job Plan must not place unreasonable demands on the job seeker. The job seeker must be capable of doing any Activity and meeting all requirements included in their Job Plan.

After consulting with the job seeker, determine the Activities to meet the job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law. Providers should take into account the job seeker's preferences wherever possible. However, as the delegate of the Secretary of the Department of Education, Skills and Employment, Employment Services Provider staff will ultimately determine what requirements the job seeker must do to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements under Social Security Law.

Record the Activities and other relevant items in the job seeker's Job Plan, and schedule Activities in the Calendar. If drug or alcohol dependency is impacting on participation and appropriate treatment services are not available the Provider must record this information on the Job Seeker's Personal Summary Page ('What you need to know').

Under Social Security Law, job seekers must be formally notified of the dates, times and locations for attending appointments and participating in Activities, along with any special requirements such as wearing work boots and other safety gear.

Considering a job seeker's circumstances

When determining a job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements and setting the terms of a Job Plan, consult with the job seeker and consider:

- individual circumstances – in particular, their assessed work capacity (where relevant), their capacity to comply with requirements and their personal needs
- education, experience, skills and age
- the impact of any disability, illness, physical or mental health condition or other non-vocational issue, including drug and alcohol dependency, affecting a job seeker's ability to work, look for work or participate in Activities

- the state of the local labour market and the transport options available to the job seeker in accessing that market
- the participation opportunities and Activities available to the job seeker
- their family and care responsibilities (including availability of child care)
- the length of travel time required to comply with the requirements (reasonable travel time is 90 minutes each way or, if the job seeker is a Principal Carer Parent or has a Partial Capacity to Work, 60 minutes each way)
- the financial costs (such as travel costs) of complying with the requirements and the job seeker's capacity to pay for such costs
- whether the job seeker has any vulnerability indicators (as identified by Services Australia) such as homelessness, psychiatric problems or mental health conditions, severe drug or alcohol dependency, or traumatic relationship breakdown
- any history of the job seeker not complying with their Mutual Obligation Requirements (to ensure that they undertake appropriate requirements in return for tax-payer funded income support)
- cultural factors
- if they are an Early School Leaver
- the number of hours a fortnight the job seeker is required to undertake approved Activities in the Work for the Dole Phase
- if the job seeker participated in Time to Work Employment Service, any comments and recommendations in the Time to Work Employment Service Transition Plan (Providers can find the Transition Plan in the Department's IT System)
- any other matters that the Provider considers relevant to the job seeker's circumstances (including if the job seeker discloses they are a victim of family violence).

(Guide to Social Security Law 3.2.8.10)

When setting the job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements, review any barriers identified through an Employment Services Assessment (ESAt) or Job Capacity Assessment (JSA) or other issues disclosed to the Provider. The Job Seeker Classification Instrument and Capability Management Tool may also help identify personal issues affecting a job seeker's employability. These will help the Provider decide on the Activities required of a job seeker to meet their fortnightly Mutual Obligation Requirements, including their Annual Activity Requirement in the Work for the Dole Phase.

Information about a job seeker's circumstances can be found on the Participation Profile screen of the Department's IT System.

Using the Capability Management Tool to review a job seeker's circumstances

The Capability Management Tool in the Job Plan section of the Department's IT System needs to be updated when conducting a Capability Interview. It should be used to review and manage a job seeker's personal circumstances which may affect their capacity to participate in Activities and can assist in identifying specific vocational or non-vocational barriers, including those disclosed by the job seeker.

The Capability Management Tool can help to:

- ensure the job seeker has requirements in their Job Plan appropriate to their circumstances
- include Employment Services Assessment recommended Interventions in the Job Plan
- record additional vocational or non-vocational issues.

Providers should familiarise themselves with relevant Deed provisions in case job seekers request access to their records in the Capability Management Tool

(Deed references: Clause 38, 87, Annexure A1)

Mutual Obligation Requirements for Principal Carer Parents

Consider a Principal Carer Parent's family and caring responsibilities, including the availability of suitable childcare, when setting Mutual Obligation Requirements. During school terms, face-to-face Provider Appointments and participation Activities are to be scheduled during school hours (generally between 9.00 am to 3.00 pm) unless otherwise agreed to by the Principal Carer Parent.

The Department's IT System will automatically identify time outside of school hours in the Principal Carer Parent's Calendar. Providers will be able to set requirements at times outside school hours, including weekends. However, Providers will need to discuss this with the Principal Carer Parent to ensure they are available at that time and record the PCP's availability in the Department's IT System. This information will be attached to the requirement.

Principal Carer Parents have part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements and can fully meet their requirements through 30 hours per fortnight of:

- paid work (including self-employment)
- approved study (see the section on Approved Short Courses in this Guideline)
- Voluntary Work (as described below), or
- a combination of the above.

Providers can approve Voluntary Work for the purposes of a Principal Carer Parent fully meeting their Mutual Obligation requirements if:

- the Provider determines that the Principal Carer Parent lives in a poor labour market
- limited training opportunities are locally available (online courses may be considered 'locally available' if they have access to a computer)
- there is a significant vocational aspect to the Voluntary Work.

The Voluntary Work must be in an organisation approved by Services Australia. For further information, refer to the Guide to Social Security Law 3.2.9.130.

If the Principal Carer Parent fully meets their Mutual Obligation Requirements, through sufficient participation in the above Activities they cannot be required to complete Job Search or meet any other additional requirements.

A Principal Carer Parent who is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation in paid work and/or study, may be eligible for a Provider Exit (which is processed manually by the Provider) if participation in the approved Activity is likely to be ongoing or last more than 13 weeks.

See the Period of Service, Suspensions and Exits Guideline.

If a Principal Carer Parent is either 55 years of age or over or has a Partial Capacity to Work, the category of Mutual Obligation Requirement which gives the job seeker a lesser work requirement should be applied.

Meeting Mutual Obligation Requirements for Principal Carer Parents during school holiday periods

If a Principal Carer Parent is unable to obtain suitable childcare during the school holiday period, the Provider will need to make alternative arrangements to enable them to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. A Principal Carer Parent will not be required to attend Work for the Dole or another Activity during the school holidays if appropriate care and supervision of their children is not available or affordable.

For example, while Principal Carers Parents are not required to attend face-to-face appointments with their Provider during school holidays, they can engage with their Provider through other means, such as by telephone or via Skype/face-time etc. Job Search can also be conducted from home or the Provider may also decide to reduce Job Search requirements over the school holiday period, while the Principal Carer Parent is caring for children during school holidays.

Principal Carer Parents must continue to meet their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements during the school holidays except for the fortnight in which the Christmas public holiday falls.

(Guide to Social Security 3.2.9.10)

Principal Carer Parents - employer initiated shut down period over the extended Christmas/New Year school holiday break

Principal Carer Parents who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements by working 30 hours a fortnight (including instances when working is one of a combination of Activities) are considered to be meeting their requirements during the employer initiated shutdown period over the extended Christmas/New Year school holiday period. This only applies to Principal Carer Parents who reasonably expect to resume their employment when their employer resumes business in the New Year.

The employer initiated shut down period break can only be taken while the place of employment is closed, up to a maximum of eight weeks. After eight weeks the Principal Carer Parent will be required to participate in other Activities to meet Mutual Obligation Requirements while the employer is in the shutdown period.

Inability to obtain suitable childcare is a Valid Reason or Reasonable Excuse.

If the Principal Carer Parent is required to undertake an Activity but is unable to obtain suitable childcare, they will have an Acceptable or Valid Reason to not undertake that requirement. If this occurs, alternative requirements must be set to enable the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for job seekers with a Partial Capacity to Work

Job seekers have a Partial Capacity to Work if both their baseline work capacity and work capacity within two years of Intervention are less than 30 hours per week.

Mutual Obligation Requirements are based on a job seeker's work capacity within two years with Intervention. However, job seekers are not required to participate immediately at the higher work capacity. Rather, the job seeker's capacity to participate can be increased through participation in a suitable program of assistance or other appropriate Activity.

When a job seeker's work capacity with Intervention is less than their baseline work capacity due to a deteriorating condition, their Mutual Obligation Requirements are based on their baseline work capacity.

Job seekers with an assessed Partial Capacity to Work of 15-29 hours per week can fully meet their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements through 30 hours per fortnight of paid work including self-employment, approved study, or a combination of these Activities.

If they fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation per fortnight in the above Activities these job seekers cannot be required to undertake Job Search or meet other requirements. They also do not need to remain connected with a Provider and will be Suspended on a Provider's caseload.

Job seekers with an assessed Partial Capacity to Work who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation in paid work and/or study, may be eligible for a Provider Exit (which is processed manually by the Provider) if participation in the approved Activity is likely to be ongoing or last more than 13 weeks. See the Period of Service, Suspensions and Exits Guideline.

Job seekers who have been assessed as having a Partial Capacity to Work of 0-14 hours per week can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements by attending quarterly appointments with Services Australia.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for job seekers with temporary reduced work capacity

Job seekers may have a temporary medical condition with a temporary reduced work capacity applied by Services Australia (which is identified through an Employment Services Assessment). Job seekers will have reduced requirements for the period of their temporary reduced work capacity. Providers must take this into account when setting suitable approved Activities and the level of participation in the Job Plan.

A Provider may consider that a medical condition will temporarily impact upon a job seeker but the job seeker does not have a temporary reduced work capacity in the Department's IT System. Providers should exercise judgement and take these personal circumstances into account when setting Mutual Obligation Requirements. Providers can also encourage relevant job seekers to contact Services Australia so that a temporary reduced work capacity status can be considered.

Job seekers who have been assessed as having a temporary reduced work capacity of 15-29 hours per week can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements through 30 hours per fortnight of paid work (including self-employment) approved study or a combination of these Activities.

If the job seeker is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation per fortnight in the above Activities they cannot be required to undertake any Job Search or meet other requirements. They do not need to remain connected to a Provider and will be Suspended from the Provider's caseload.

Job seekers with an assessed temporary reduced work capacity who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation in paid work and/or study, may be eligible for a Provider Exit (which is processed manually by the Provider) if participation in the approved Activity is likely to be ongoing or last more than 13 weeks. See the Period of Service, Suspensions and Exits Guideline.

Job seekers who have been assessed as having a temporary reduced work capacity of 0-14 hours per week can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements through participation in a quarterly interview with the Services Australia.

(Guide to Social Security 3.2.8.10)

Mutual Obligation Requirements for mature age job seekers

Job seekers 55 years of age and over can meet their full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements through paid work (including self-employment), approved Voluntary Work or a combination of these Activities, depending on their age and circumstances as follows:

- If the job seeker is 55 – 59 years of age and in their first 12 months of receiving payment, they can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements by completing 30 hours per fortnight of paid work. This can also be met by completing 30 hours per fortnight of a combination of approved Voluntary Work and paid work. However, this must include at least 15 hours per fortnight of paid work.
- If the job seeker is 55 – 59 years of age and has been receiving payment for more than 12 months, they can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements if they undertake at least 30 hours per fortnight of paid work, approved Voluntary Work or a combination of the two Activities.
- If the job seeker is aged between 60 and the age pension age, they can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements if they undertake at least 30 hours per fortnight of paid work, approved Voluntary Work or a combination of the two activities.

These job seekers cannot be required to do Job Search or other requirements if they are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements in this way.

Job seekers should remain connected with a Provider but will be Suspended on a Provider's caseload. However, Providers can continue to refer them to job opportunities.

These job seekers still have full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements until they obtain a full-time job or no longer receive income support.

Services Australia will make an initial Appointment with the Provider for job seekers 55 years of age and over, even if they are already satisfying their Mutual Obligation Requirements (as above). Job seekers who fail to attend this Appointment or any other notified Provider Appointments or who fail to accept referrals to jobs, may be subject to action under the Targeted Compliance Framework.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework Guideline.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for some Ministers of Religion

Ministers of Religion who are either a Principal Carer Parent or have a Partial Capacity to Work will be regarded as fully meeting their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements by undertaking at least 30 hours per fortnight of paid pastoral work for their religious organisation.

Monitoring by Service Australia for job seekers fully meeting their requirements

For the above cohorts of job seekers, Services Australia will determine whether a job seeker is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements. If Services Australia establishes that they are participating sufficiently in appropriate Activities, they will update the job seeker's Job Plan to include the Activities they are undertaking to fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. Once Services Australia determines a job seeker is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the job seeker will be a Services Australia managed job seeker or exited from the Provider's caseload.

Continuing voluntarily in Employment Services

A job seeker fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements may elect to participate voluntarily in services while they are Suspended after:

- being contacted by their Provider to discuss and agree to voluntarily participate while Suspended from employment services
- notifying Services Australia, who will either call their Provider or book an Appointment for them
- contacting their Provider directly to request services.

If a job seeker who is Suspended from employment services elects to voluntarily participate in employment services, the Provider must provide services to the job seeker.

If a job seeker who is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements participates voluntarily in employment services, Providers must not remove the relevant compulsory Activities that Services Australia has included in their Job Plan. Additional Activities included in the Job Plan must be added as voluntary.

Sufficient work test

The decision that a job seeker is doing sufficient work would generally be restricted to cases where the person can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements while still receiving some payment and a person can demonstrate a stable pattern of employment and earnings (e.g. permanent part-time work). If there is significant variation in hours worked and earning from fortnight to fortnight, whether a job seeker's work fully meets their Mutual Obligation Requirements must be determined fortnightly.

Self-employment will satisfy the sufficient work test if the job seeker is working at least their required number of hours and the taxable income provides the equivalent of the national minimum wage rate for the minimum required hours. If self-employment does not satisfy the sufficient work test, the job seeker will generally be required to look for alternative work.

Documentary evidence: Providers must document a job seeker's satisfactory participation in self-employment as per the Documentary Evidence for Annual Activity Requirements and other Approved Activities section of this guideline.

If a job seeker's commitment to their business activities interferes with required Job Search or other Activities, the person will usually not be considered to be 'unemployed' for the purpose of qualifying for income support.

(Guide to Social security 3.2.2.10)

Mutual Obligation Requirements for Early School Leavers

An Early School Leaver is a person who receives Youth Allowance (other), is under 22 years of age and has not completed Year 12, the final year of secondary school or an equivalent Australian Qualifications Framework Certificate III level or above.

Until they turn 22 years of age or attain Year 12 or an equivalent qualification, Early School Leavers are generally required to participate in:

- full-time education or training with no Job Search requirement, including Certificate I and II level courses
- a combination of part-time education or training and part-time work for a total of 25 hours per week (15 hours for Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week) and no job search requirement
- other approved Activities for 25 hours per week (15 hours for Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week), including the requirement to do up to 20 job searches per month.

Early School Leavers who are eligible for Youth Jobs PaTH Employability Skills Training and PaTH Internship Placements must still undertake Job Search. For further information on these programs, refer to Youth Jobs PaTH Employability Skills Training (EST) section of this guideline.

Once an Early School Leaver has completed Year 12 or an equivalent qualification or turns 22 years of age, they will no longer be an Early School Leaver. They will be subject to the Mutual Obligation Requirements that apply to other job seekers.

Verification of an Early School Leaver's qualifications

Only Services Australia can verify a Year 12 or equivalent qualification to determine whether a young person is no longer an Early School Leaver. Services Australia will accept any of the following:

- a Year 12 certificate issued by a Senior Secondary Board of Studies
- an Australian Qualification Framework Certificate III

- a higher qualification issued by a Registered Training Organisation or higher educational institution
- a Certificate III or IV of General Education for Adults
- the International Baccalaureate
- other higher education pre-entry course.

Documentary evidence: Providers must fax an Early School Leaver's qualifications to the Services Australia Business Hotline on 1300 786 102. Sight the original and send a copy of the completed qualification with the cover sheet at Attachment B. If the original qualification has been lost or destroyed, a certified copy of the qualification or a letter from the education institution formally verifying attainment of the qualification will be accepted. If none of these can be obtained, a statutory declaration from the Early School Leaver will be accepted. The statutory declaration must include the name of the course, date completed, name of institution and institution contact details, and must be appropriately certified. Do not send verification requests to Services Australia if the education level is below Year 12.

If Services Australia does not accept the qualification, they will contact the Provider. Providers must contact the Early School Leaver to advise them of the reason the qualification was not verified.

System step: Where accepted by Services Australia, update the education level information in the Job Seeker Classification Instrument to reflect the Early School Leaver's advised higher level of educational attainment.

(Deed References: Clause 93, 105. Guide to Social Security 3.2.9.95)

Mutual Obligation Requirements for pregnant job seekers

Generally, Mutual Obligation Requirements for pregnant job seekers will not change during the first two trimesters of pregnancy. However, Providers must take into account the job seeker's personal circumstances when setting their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

Pregnant job seekers will not be required to undertake Job Search from three months before their due date. During this time, Providers cannot compel these job seekers to accept job offers or referrals to job interviews.

Pregnant job seekers will be exempt from Mutual Obligation Requirements six weeks from their expected due date.

(Guide to Social Security 3.5.1.230)

Job seekers exempt from Mutual Obligation Requirements

If a job seeker is temporarily unable to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, Services Australia may grant an Exemption from requirements for a specified period. This recognises the different family and personal situations that job seekers face and can prevent them from participating in Job Search, paid work, Work for the Dole, vocational training or a range of other Activities designed to improve their employment prospects.

The types of Exemptions that may be applied include but are not limited to the following situations:

- temporary medical incapacity
- serious illness
- pre and postnatal
- caring for children with a disability or other special family circumstances
- domestic violence
- other special circumstances.

If a Provider believes that the job seeker does not have the capacity to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the job seeker should be encouraged to contact Services Australia to test their eligibility for an Exemption. Job seekers will need to provide evidence to support their claim.

If applying for an Exemption due to a temporary medical condition, the job seeker will need appropriate evidence, for example an approved medical certificate.

However, Services Australia should wherever possible reduce a job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements rather than exempting them completely.

Job seekers granted an Exemption will be Suspended from a Provider's caseload for the period of the Exemption. Some job seekers with longer-term Exemptions may be Exited from a Provider's caseload. However, job seekers may voluntarily choose to continue participating with employment services.

NOTE: some job seekers considering an application for a Disability Support Pension may need to demonstrate that they have actively participated in a Program of Support to be eligible for Disability Support Pension. You should advise these job seekers that periods of exemption will not be counted as participation in a Program of Support. More information for providers can be found in the Program of Support Fact Sheet that is available on the Provider Portal at <https://ecsnaccessintranet.hosts.application.enet/ProviderPortal/jobactive/Guidelines/Pages/Servicing.aspx>

(Guide to Social Security Law 3.2.11, 3.5.1.220, 3.5.1.230, 3.5.1.250, 3.5.1.260, 3.5.1.270, 3.5.1.280 and 3.7.5.30).

Job seekers subject to domestic violence

If there is any suspicion of domestic violence (including family violence) then Providers must refer the job seeker to a Services Australia social worker. Providers should also refer a job seeker to one of the national or state-based organisations for advice and information about domestic violence.

Providers notified of domestic violence (including family violence) as the reason for not meeting Mutual Obligation Requirements, must consider this in their assessment of whether or not the job seeker had a Valid Reason.

If a job seeker is subject to domestic violence (including family violence), Services Australia will make an assessment on whether an Exemption is granted and the appropriate length of the Exemption from their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

If the job seeker is a Principal Carer Parent and subject to domestic violence, Services Australia must grant an Exemption.

Suitable Activities to meet Mutual Obligation Requirements and the Annual Activity Requirement

Consider the job seeker's Stream and Phase when setting a job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements. In particular, consider whether the job seeker is in the Work for the Dole Phase and has an Annual Activity Requirement.

Include approved Activities in the job seeker's Job Plan that will enable the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements using the correct Job Plan code linked to the Activity scheduled in the Calendar. If the job seeker is in the Work for the Dole Phase, sufficient hours of Activities must be scheduled in the Calendar to allow the job seeker to meet their Annual Activity Requirement.

Depending on a job seeker's circumstances, there is a range of Activities a job seeker may undertake to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements (some of which are described below).

Approved Programs of Work

Only job seekers over 18 years of age can take part in an Approved Program of Work.

All job seekers participating in an Approved Program of Work (whether they are receiving a full or part rate of income support payment) are eligible for the Approved Program of Work Supplement of $20.80 a fortnight (Social Security Law).

Approved Programs of Work for jobactive job seekers include:

- the National Work Experience Programme – the NWEPP can only be included as a voluntary not compulsory Activity in the Job Plan Work for the Dole - Only job seekers over 18 years of age can take part in Work for the Dole

Work for the Dole can only be included as a voluntary (not compulsory) Activity in the Job Plan if:

- the job seeker is receiving less than the full rate of JobSeeker Payment, Youth Allowance (other), or Parenting Payment Single, where the rate is reduced due to the income test (combined income of the job seeker and, if applicable, their partner)
- for Special Benefit- Nominated Visa Holders, the person or, if applicable, their partner has income
- the Activity is more than 50 hours per fortnight, or
- the job seeker is 60 years of age and over.

In all other circumstances, except for job seekers under 18 years of age, Work for the Dole can be included as a compulsory Activity in the job seeker's Job Plan.

Work for the Dole

Only job seekers over 18 years of age can take part in Work for the Dole.

Work for the Dole may be included as a voluntary Activity in the job seeker's Job Plan in the above circumstances. However, job seekers in these circumstances can be compelled to participate in another Activity to enable them to meet their Annual Activity Requirement.

If the job seeker is receiving anything less than the full rate of income support, then Work for the Dole may be included in combination with other approved Activities to meet their Annual Activity Requirement. If they elect to do this, then Work for the Dole must be included as a voluntary Activity in their Job Plan.

Providers should regularly review if the job seeker is receiving a full rate of income support or a reduced rate due to the income test. Providers can view a job seeker's previous four fortnight's income support payment rate on the Department's IT System Notification screen. If a job seeker returns to the full rate of income support, the Provider can update the job seeker's Job Plan to include Work for the Dole as a compulsory Activity.

Documentary evidence: Providers may also consider requesting documentary evidence from the job seeker to determine if a job seeker is declaring income to Services Australia or is on a reduced rate of income support for other reasons.

If the job seeker fails to actively participate in the voluntary Work for the Dole Activity, then a Provider should consider replacing it with an alternative compulsory Activity so that the job seeker can meet their Annual Activity Requirement. For example, the job seeker could be compelled to do some voluntary work to achieve the required hours each fortnight. The job seeker should not receive the Approved Program of Work Supplement in a fortnight in which they did not actively participate in Work for the Dole.

National Work Experience Programme

The National Work Experience Programme provides voluntary short-term placements for job seekers 17 years of age or over, regardless of whether the job seeker is receiving full or part rate of income support payment.

Work Experience (Other) Placements

Work Experience (Other) Placements provide voluntary, short-term, observational unpaid work experience placements for job seekers 15 years of age or over, regardless of whether the job seeker is receiving an income support payment. Participation in this Activity can contribute towards a job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirement, but is not approved for Annual Activity Requirement purposes except for Stream C jobactive job seekers.

Youth Jobs PaTH Employability Skills Training (EST)

A job seeker is Employability Skills Training (EST) Eligible if they are between 15 and 24 years of age, receiving income support and have Mutual Obligation Requirements.

EST Courses consist of 75 hours of training, delivered at 25 hours per week over three weeks for job seekers with full time Mutual Obligation Requirements and 15 hours per week over five weeks for job seekers with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements.

An EST Eligible job seeker has a mandatory requirement to participate in EST once they have received services through jobactive for five months. An EST mandatory job seeker must be considered for both types of EST courses.

Reports are available in ESS Web and Qlik, which identify EST mandatory and eligible job seekers, including those not in any Activity.

An EST mandatory job seeker retains their mandatory status until they have completed both EST Courses. This is to encourage the development of employability skills. ESS Web recognises completion of an EST Course when a completion payment is claimed by the EST Provider.

Once a job seeker has completed both types of EST Courses and the associated completion payments have been claimed by the EST Provider, the job seeker will revert to and maintain an EST Eligible status for as long as they meet the eligibility criteria.

Providers have discretion not to refer a job seeker (for whom EST would otherwise be mandatory) to an EST Course, or include EST as a compulsory Activity in the Job Plan if the Provider considers that the job seeker:

- already has the relevant skills and experience (such as through having relevant recent workforce experience or already having a part time job)
- has recently completed similar training
- has Non-Vocational Barriers that must be addressed first as a priority before they can benefit from the training - this could include language issues, health issues or family problems
- would have to travel more than 90 minute each way to the training (60 minutes for job seekers with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements) or there are no suitable EST courses available
- is referred to another suitable Activity - this should only be used when there is an active referral or commencement to another Activity in ESS Web. Where another Activity referral is in place with an end date in the near future, Providers should consider creating an EST referral for a future course. This provides an opportunity for the job seeker to move from their current activity into EST

Choosing one of these reasons in ESS Web removes the job seeker from the count of job seekers who are EST Mandatory. After eight weeks the Department's IT System will override and unselect the reason, making the job seeker EST Mandatory again. Providers must then reassess the suitability of EST for the job seeker. Provider's use of these reasons will be monitored.

Job seekers who are EST eligible can also be referred to an EST Course from day one in jobactive.

Providers will receive a notification in the Department's IT System when job seekers have been serviced in jobactive for five months. The Activity Management Guideline provides details on EST, including how to record reasons for why a job seeker will not be participating in EST Courses.

Job seekers with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements such as Principal Carer Parents or others with a Partial Capacity to Work may volunteer to undertake more than 15 hours per week of EST. The additional hours will need to be recorded separately in the Job Plan as a voluntary Activity. These job seekers are encouraged to participate for the duration of the Course but cannot be compelled to undertake additional hours. If the job seeker is unable to meet the Course hours, the Provider should consider a more suitable Activity.

System step: If a job seeker is EST mandatory, ESS Web prevents the finalisation of their job plan when making a referral to other activities. When referring an EST mandatory job seeker to another activity, the EST opt-out reason of 'referred to other activity' must be applied before updating the job plan with the other activity.

PaTH Internship Placements

Young job seekers 17–24 years of age, with Mutual Obligation Requirements, can participate in a PaTH Internship.

Eligible young job seekers must:

- be in jobactive Stream A and have participated in either block one, or block two Employability Skills Training; or
- be in jobactive Stream A and have been continuously serviced in employment services from any jobactive provider, Transition to Work provider or Disability Employment Services provider for at least six months; or
- be in jobactive Stream B or C, Transition to Work or Disability Employment Services.

Early School Leavers can participate in a PaTH Internship. PaTH Internship placements are to be included in the Job Plan as a voluntary item. However, if the job seeker fails to participate, then the Provider will need to place them in an alternative compulsory Activity.

See the Managing PaTH Internships Guidelines for further information.

Career Transition Assistance (CTA)

All job seekers aged 45 years and over, and registered with a jobactive Provider, are eligible to participate in CTA. CTA provides opportunities for mature-age people to identify and articulate transferable skills, increase their job readiness and better target their job search to local industries and available jobs, and develop basic functional IT skills.

Participation in CTA is 75 hours over an eight-week period. Where a job seeker with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements is referred to CTA, the jobactive Provider should select and modify the schedule in the job seeker's calendar as necessary to meet the job seeker's needs.

CTA is an approved Activity for the purposes of meeting a job seeker's AAR and will fully meet the job seeker's AAR for the duration of their participation in CTA while in the Work for the Dole Phase.

Participation in CTA is voluntary, and CTA can only be added to a job seeker's Job Plan as a voluntary Activity. CTA Providers will advise the job seeker's jobactive Provider if the job seeker stops attending CTA. If the job seeker is exited from CTA, the jobactive Provider must place them in an alternative approved Activity.

Launch into Work

Participation in Launch into Work program pre-employment projects may be included as a voluntary Activity in the job seeker's Job Plan. Providers should record this Activity in the Job Plan using the free text code. Providers should include the relevant activity details, such as host information and dates and hours of participation.

Participation in Launch into Work program pre-employment projects will fully meet participants' Annual Activity Requirements for the duration of the project. Participants will not have to complete other activities whilst participating in the project.

Regional Employment Trials – 10 Selected Trial Regions

Participation in the Regional Employment Trials Activity will meet the job seeker's AAR for the duration of their participation in the Regional Employment Trials Activity.

Participation in a Regional Employment Trials Activity is voluntary, and providers should record participation in a Regional Employment Trials Activity as a voluntary activity in the job seeker's Job Plan.

See the Regional Employment Trials Guideline for further information, including on selected trial regions.

Approved study and short courses

People undertaking full time study should be placed on a student allowance. Providers should refer full time students to Services Australia for an income support payment eligibility check.

Job seekers on income support payments such as JobSeeker Payment, Youth Allowance (other) and Parenting Payment Single may participate in certain approved education or training.

Providers are responsible for identifying what training relates to skills in demand in each particular Employment Region.

Job seekers undertaking an approved full time short course will still be required to undertake Job Search and accept suitable work.

In some circumstances PCPs receiving PES may continue to receive income support payments to complete their full time study.

What is an appropriate course of study

Providers can approve a job seeker's participation in study or training under the following short course provisions:

- vocationally based
- less than 12 months or two semesters in duration
- the job seeker has a semester or six months full-time equivalent remaining to complete their course and the course would greatly improve their employment prospects
- the Provider determines that participation is necessary and the course is vocationally orientated

- highly likely to provide a job seeker with a qualification that will result in an Employment Outcome, improve their employability or lead to qualifications in an identified skills in a demand area as determined by the Provider
- the job seeker is a single Principal Carer Parent on JobSeeker Payment and has been granted Pensioner Education Supplement (PES) for the academic course (or longer course that is 12 months or more). For the purposes of meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, a single Principal Carer Parent on JobSeeker Payment can continue to undertake the study for which Pensioner Education Supplement was granted as an approved Activity until that course has been completed. Providers need to sight evidence that the single Principal Carer Parent on JobSeeker Payment is in receipt of Pensioner Education Supplement for that course
- the job seeker is in receipt of Parenting Payment Single (this study would usually be approved by Services Australia)
- the job seeker is a Parenting Payment recipient who transfers to JobSeeker Payment or Youth Allowance (other) and in some limited instances where a job seeker was granted the Disability Support Pension and then transferred to JobSeeker Payment or Youth Allowance (other). They are able to continue their studies in the same course they commenced while receiving Parenting Payment or Disability Support Pension (this would usually be approved by Services Australia) for which they receive the Pensioner Education Supplement (PES).

Providers cannot approve, under short course provisions, full-time courses of 12 months (two semesters) or longer in duration, or Masters or Doctorate courses.

Note: Job seekers in receipt of Special Benefit (NVH) who have not attained a Year 12 or equivalent qualification, may undertake full-time study in a school institution up to Year 12. These job seekers will still be required to attend Provider appointments and undertake up to 20 Job Searches per month.

A Short Course:

- is vocationally based
- is less than 12 months or two semesters in duration
- is necessary so the job seeker can accept an offer of work
- leads to an early employment outcome
- leads to qualifications in an identified area of skills shortage

Approving a Short Course

Providers are responsible for making approval decisions under approved short course provisions.

An approved short course must be included as a compulsory Activity in the job seeker's Job Plan.

If a Provider approves the Activity as an approved short course and includes it in the job seeker's Job Plan then the job seeker must still look for work and attend appointments with their Provider as long as it does not conflict with the scheduled time of the course. Job seekers with full time mutual obligation requirements cannot fully meet their mutual obligation requirements with full time study. They are required to accept any suitable work that does not conflict with scheduled course times and must not limit their Job Searches to areas relating to the course.

A Principal Carer Parent or job seekers with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 - 29 hours per week undertaking an approved short course for at least 30 hours per fortnight is considered to be fully meeting their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements. These recipients are managed by Services Australia and will be Suspended from the Provider's caseload.

For information for Providers deciding to fund an education or training course, see the Using the Employment Fund General Account Guideline.

Breaks in Activities

If a job seeker has a break in an Activity which is required to satisfy their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the Provider must update the job seeker's Job Plan with other Activities to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

There is no need to adjust a job seeker's requirements if they have a break of less than or equal to four weeks that is outside their control. If the break is greater than four weeks then the job seeker must do other requirements, such as Job Search, for the period of the break. The Job Plan must be updated to include the new requirements.

2. Suitable work

Job seekers must actively look for work and be prepared to accept any offer of suitable work in a variety of fields. Any work can be considered suitable provided it meets certain safeguards set out in Social Security Law, such as minimum statutory conditions and related health and safety considerations.

'Suitable work' includes any work that a job seeker is capable of doing, not just work the job seeker prefers to do or is specifically qualified for. This can include casual or permanent, and part-time or full time work depending on the job seeker's assessed capacity. Job seekers are required to accept suitable work that may not be their first preference while they continue to look for work that better matches their qualifications, expertise and interest.

Work is unsuitable if it:

- involves skills, experience or qualifications that the person does not have and appropriate training will not be provided by the employer
- is above the job seeker's assessed work capacity within the next two years with intervention
- may aggravate a pre-existing illness, disability or injury and medical evidence has been provided
- involves health or safety risks and would contravene an occupational health and safety law
- has terms and conditions which are less generous than the applicable statutory conditions

- involves commuting from home to work that would be unreasonably difficult (more than 60 minutes one way for Principal Carer Parents and those with Partial Capacity to Work and more than 90 minutes one way for other job seekers)
- involves enlistment in the Defence Force or the Reserve Forces
- requires the person to change residence.

(Guide to Social Security Law 3.2.8.60)

Unsuitable work for Principal Carer Parents

In addition to the above 'unsuitable work', Principal Carer Parents cannot be required to accept employment of more than 25 hours a week. Additionally, Providers should consider whether:

- the Principal Carer Parent has access to appropriate care and supervision for their child/children during the times when they would be required to work
- the location of either the workplace or the child care facility would make the total travel time to and from work unreasonable
- the Principal Carer Parent will be at least $50.00 a fortnight financially better off as result of working.

(Guide to Social Security Law 3.2.8.50)

If a job offer to the Principal Carer Parent involves employment outside school hours or in school holidays, a job is generally considered suitable if there is appropriate care and supervision for a child during the hours of work (including the travel to and from work). Suitable care and supervision means:

- childcare provided by an approved childcare service (within the meaning of the Family Assistance Administration Act 1999).
- any other care or supervision arrangements that the parent deems suitable.

Unsuitable work for job seekers with a Partial Capacity to Work

In addition to the list above of 'unsuitable work', work is unsuitable for job seekers with a Partial Capacity to Work if:

- it does not provide appropriate support or facilities to take account of the illness, disability or injury
- the total cost of participating in employment means that the job seeker would be financially worse off as a result of undertaking the work. Examples include personal care requirements incurred by the job seeker to get ready for work or while on the job; disability aids required for participation in the job that are not covered by the Employer and the cost of travel to and from the job by the job seeker's means of transport.

3. Job Search Requirements are an important part of Mutual Obligation Requirements

Set the number of Job Searches a job seeker is required to undertake per month in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law. Record the number of Job Searches required in the job seeker's Job Plan.

Job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements will usually have to look for work.

The number of Job Searches generally expected of job seekers (including Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to work of 15 to 29 hours per week) is:

- for Stream A and Stream B job seekers – 20 Job Searches per month
- for Stream C job seekers – Job Search depends on capacity
- for job seekers aged 60 years and over (regardless of Stream) – Job Search depends on capacity.

Job seekers cannot be required to do more than 20 Job Searches per month.

See Guide to Social Security 3.2.9.30 for additional information on setting Job Search requirements.

(Deed references: Clause 113)

Job seekers who do not have Job Search Requirements

The following job seekers will not be required to undertake Job Search while they are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements:

- Principal Carer Parents
- those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week
- job seekers 55 years of age and over
- job seekers undertaking Drug and Alcohol rehabilitation in a Residential Program
- refugee job seekers undertaking activities to help adjust to life in Australia and to increase chances of finding work.
- The following job seekers will not be required to undertake Job Search while they are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements pregnant job seekers will not be required to undertake Job Search from three months before their due date.
- NEIS Prospective Participants who have been assessed as NEIS Eligible but have not yet signed a NEIS Participant Agreement will have their Job Search requirements reduced to zero while participating in NEIS Training.
- NEIS Participants in receipt of Parenting Payment (Single) or the Disability Support Pension are able to choose to remain on their current payment or move to NEIS Allowance. Where they remain on their current payment while participating in NEIS Assistance and actively working on their small business, they do not have Job Search or other Mutual Obligation Requirements.
- Early School Leavers who are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through full-time education or a combination of part-time study and part-time work of 25 hours per week (15 hours for those with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements) must not have any Job Search requirements in their Job Plan.

Recording Job Search requirements in the Job Plan

When setting compulsory Job Searches, Providers must use the JS09 code. The Department is actively monitoring Job Plans and would expect that:

- for Stream A and Stream B job seekers, all Job Plans should contain JS09.

- for Stream C job seekers, most Job Plans should contain JS09. In some Exceptional Circumstances, Job Searches may not be required for a limited period while non-vocational issues are actively being addressed.

Circumstances that may reduce Job Search requirements

Do not reduce the number of Job Searches a job seeker is required to undertake merely because the job seeker is undertaking other Activities - in particular study or during the Work for the Dole Phase.

Providers may reduce the number of Job Searches as a result of a job seeker's:

- physical, intellectual or psychiatric impairment
- non-residential treatments or counselling for drug and alcohol dependency
- preventative health treatments and interventions – (for jobactive Indigenous job seekers and Stream C job seekers)
- substantially elevated level of family and caring responsibilities
- accommodation situation, where this is likely to impede Job Search
- education or skill level, where this is likely to substantially limit job opportunities
- current employment status (part-time or casual work)
- domestic violence (including family violence) or family relationship breakdown (Services Australia may grant an Exemption from Mutual Obligation Requirements in these circumstances)
- level of English language skills, if job seeker is doing a course to improve these skills
- cultural factors
- the state of the labour market and the transport options available to the person in accessing that market, for example, taking into account travel time.

For example, a Stream A job seeker either living in a metropolitan area or within 90 minutes travel time to metropolitan area would be expected to have 20 Job Searches per month. In a regional area with limited vacancies and where the travel time to more positive labour markets is more than 90 minutes, it might be appropriate that a Stream A job seeker has a lower Job Search requirement, for example, 15 Job Searches per month.

Job Search requirements for Early School Leavers who are not meeting their requirements through study or paid work

Early School Leavers who are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through approved Activities other than just paid work and study for 25 hours per week (15 hours for Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week) must have up to 20 Job Searches per month in their Job Plan.

(Guide to Social Security 3.2.9.30)

Job Search requirements while studying Language, Literacy and Numeracy courses

If a Provider has identified that a job seeker needs to improve their Language Literacy and Numeracy skills, the number of required Job Searches may be reduced (but not reduced to zero) while the job seeker is actively participating in an accredited Language Literacy and Numeracy course. Approved courses include the Skills for Education and Employment program and the Adult Migrant English Program. Providers must ensure that the job seeker has some Job Search requirement recorded in their Job Plan while participating in these programs.

Job Search requirements for Stream C job seekers and job seekers 60 years of age and over

The number of Job Searches required by Stream C job seekers and job seekers 60 years of age and over depends on their capacity. Generally, 10 Job Searches per month are expected.

When setting an appropriate number of Job Searches, in addition to other considerations, Providers may also consider:

- other non-vocational issues or vocational issues that are being, or have been addressed
- if the job seeker has undertaken re-skilling or re-training
- for Stream C job seekers, it might be appropriate in some Exceptional Circumstances to have no Job Searches for a period while non-vocational issues are actively being addressed.

For Stream C job seekers, the number of Job Searches required is expected to increase over time as they overcome or sufficiently manage personal or non-vocational issues.

Job Search requirements for those in paid work

For job seekers with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements:

- if doing at least 40 hours of declared paid work (including self-employment) per fortnight then the number of Job Searches should be halved. If the job seeker is doing a significant number of hours of paid work per week and receiving only a residual amount of income support, the number of Job Searches may be reduced further.
- if doing at least 70 hours of declared paid work (including self-employment) per fortnight then the job seeker should have no Job Search requirement.

For job seekers with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements (Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week):

- if doing 11 to 29 hours of declared paid work (including self-employment) per fortnight, the number of Job Searches should be halved
- if doing 30 hours or more of declared paid work (including self-employment) per fortnight, the job seeker should have no Job Search requirement.

(Deed references: Clause 113)

4. Annual Activity Requirement

The Annual Activity Requirement is the set number of hours that a job seeker must complete in approved Activities when in the Work for the Dole Phase.

Most job seekers have an Annual Activity Requirement when they enter into the Work for the Dole Phase and must participate in an approved Activity or combination of approved Activities to meet their Annual Activity Requirement.

Providers must ensure that job seekers in the Work for the Dole Phase fulfil their Annual Activity Requirement. Work for the Dole Phase Activity commencement and participation are performance measures in Providers' Star Ratings. For more information on the Star Ratings, see the Performance Framework Guideline.

Entering the Work for the Dole Phase

All job seekers who are commencing in the Work for the Dole Phase for the first time start the phase after they have been in jobactive for 12 months. Following this, job seekers will need to take part in the Work for Dole Phase for a continuous six months each year they remain in jobactive.

Determining the hours of participation to meet the Annual Activity Requirement

The number of hours of participation in approved Activities that a job seeker requires to meet their Annual Activity Requirement depends on their age, their assessed capacity to work and whether they are a Principal Carer Parent.

Job seekers with no Annual Activity Requirement:

- job seekers who have reached Age Pension age.
- job seekers who are fully meeting their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements through participation in appropriate Activities for 30 hours per fortnight
- job seekers 55 years of age and over during the period they are meeting their full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements through participation in appropriate Activities for 30 hours per fortnight
- job seekers with a Partial Capacity to Work or temporary reduced work capacity of 0 to 14 hours per week
- job seekers with Community Service Orders of 20 or more hours per week
- Early School Leavers with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements already undertaking 25 hours a week of approved Activities or full-time study.

Using the Annual Activity Requirement Calculator

The Annual Activity Requirement Calculator on the Department's IT System provides information on how many hours of participation job seekers need to complete to meet their Annual Activity Requirement. See the Department's IT System Online Help for more information on how to access the Annual Activity Requirement Calculator.

Note: Under the Targeted Compliance Framework, where Activities are recorded in the Calendar, which contribute to a job seeker's Annual Activity Requirements, the Department's IT System will calculate hours. There are exceptions, however, where hours will still need to be manually calculated, when hours need to be adjusted.

Participation hours for job seekers with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements

- Up to 49 years of age: generally must participate for 650 hours over 26 weeks (50 hours per fortnight)

- Aged 50 to 59 years of age: generally must participate for 390 hours over 26 weeks (30 hours per fortnight).
- Aged 60 years to the aged pension age: generally must participate for 130 hours over 26 weeks (10 hours per fortnight)

Participation hours for job seekers with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements

- Under 30 years of age: generally must participate for 390 hours over 26 weeks (30 hours per fortnight)
- 30 to 59 years of age: in most circumstances must participate for 200 hours over 26 weeks (15 to 16 hours per fortnight).
- Aged 60 years to the aged pension age: generally must participate for 130 hours over 26 weeks (10 hours per fortnight)

Participation hours for any job seekers undertaking Defence Reserves

- For job seekers undertaking Defence Reserves: 240 hours over 26 weeks (18 - 20 hours per fortnight).

Participation in the Launch into Work program

For job seekers in the Work for the Dole phase, participation in Launch into Work program pre-employment projects will fully meet Participants' AAR for the project's duration. If the Participant stops attending the project, or does not commence employment with the Launch into Work Organisation at the end of the project, they need to be referred to another AAR Activity in order to complete their AAR hours for the remaining weeks of their Work for the Dole phase.

Participation in Regional Employment Trials Activities

Participation in the Regional Employment Trials Activity will meet the job seeker's AAR for the duration of their participation in the Regional Employment Trials Activity. If the participant stops attending the activity they need to be referred to another AAR activity in order to complete their AAR hours for the remaining weeks of their Work for the Dole phase.

See the Regional Employment Trials Guideline for further information.

Participation hours in study/training

Full-time load

If the training Provider considers the job seeker has a full-time study load then the job seeker will meet their fortnightly hour's requirement in the fortnights they are studying, regardless of actual contact hours.

For example, a job seeker who has an Annual Activity Requirement of 50 hours per fortnight and undertakes 44 contact hours per fortnight of full-time study does not have to complete any additional hours in another Activity while they are undertaking a full-time study load.

Non-contact hours

Published non-contact study hours for job seekers undertaking part-time study/training will also count towards a job seeker's Annual Activity Requirement, as long as they do not exceed the course's face-to-face hours. Where a course's non-contact study hours are not published, up to a maximum of 10 non-contact study hours per fortnight can be counted towards part-time study. Any non-contact study can be reflected in the Job Plan by using the appropriate Job Plan code, with study recorded in the job seeker's Calendar.

Online courses

For online courses, it is expected that the majority of course hours are non-contact. In these cases, study load (hours) and duration requirements as published by the training institution will count towards a job seeker's Annual Activity Requirement. If the total part-time study hours are not sufficient to meet a job seeker's Annual Activity Requirement, other Activities will also need to be undertaken.

System step: For study or training Activities, Providers must record the outcomes of the training course upon completion (for example, whether a certificate or statement of attainment was achieved).

Change of circumstances during the Work for the Dole Phase

If a job seeker's circumstances change during their Work for the Dole Phase, their Annual Activity Requirement may also change. This may occur when a job seeker becomes or ceases to be a Principal Carer Parent, where a job seeker's capacity to work changes or when a job seeker turns 30 years of age. In these instances, the job seeker's participation must match their new requirement.

For example, if a job seeker who is 49 years of age and has an overall requirement of 650 hours turns 50 years of age while in the Work for the Dole Phase, their requirement will reduce to 390 hours. If they have already completed 390 hours due to undertaking 25 hours per week over their first four months in the Work for the Dole Phase, they will have already met their Annual Activity Requirement at this point in the Work for the Dole Phase.

Selecting Activities for a job seeker to meet their Annual Activity Requirement

After consultation with the job seeker, Providers must determine and source the Activities that the job seeker must undertake to meet their Annual Activity Requirement in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law.

System step: The Provider must record these in the job seeker's Job Plan, including the relevant hours of participation the job seeker needs to undertake each fortnight.

Providers placing job seekers into Activities must prioritise job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements over other job seekers.

System step: When recording CTA Courses in the Job Plan, the minimum hours of participation required will automatically populate, along with the timeframe for participation.

Approved Activities to meet the Annual Activity Requirement

- Work for the Dole
- part-time employment
- National Work Experience Programme
- Work Experience (Other)
- PaTH Internships
- PaTH Employability Skills Training (EST)
- Career Transition Assistance (CTA)
- Voluntary Work
- Launch into Work program pre-employment projects
- Regional Employment Trials Activities
- study/training (part-time or full-time)
  - Study/training is subject to the approved short course conditions (see the Approved short courses section of this guideline) and must be in:
    - a Certificate III course or higher (but not a Masters or Doctorate course), or
    - a Certificate I or II course commenced in the Case Management Phase but not yet completed when the job seeker moves into the Work for the Dole Phase (for these courses, any hours completed once a job seeker enters the Work for the Dole Phase will count towards a job seeker's Annual Activity Requirement)
- accredited language, literacy and numeracy courses, which can include:
  - the Skills for Education and Employment program, or
  - the Adult Migrant English Program
- rehabilitation for drug or alcohol dependency
- other non-vocational assistance and Interventions for Stream C job seekers
- preventative health related Activities for jobactive Indigenous job seekers and Stream C job seekers
- Defence Reserves
- other government programs, including NEIS Training, state government programs and 'Exploring Being My Own Boss' Workshops
- non-government programs approved for Annual Activity Requirement purposes (see the Activity Management Guideline).

Further information on Activities suitable to meet a job seeker's Annual Activity Requirement can be found in the Activity Management Guideline, Work for the Dole Guideline, and Managing PaTH Internships Guideline.

(Deed references: Clauses 107, 108, 109)

Activities that do not count towards a job seeker's Annual Activity Requirement

There are certain Activities that will not count towards meeting a job seeker's Annual Activity Requirement. These include:

- non-accredited education and training unless it is non-vocational assistance for Stream C job seekers
- Certificate I or II courses started after commencement in the Work for the Dole Phase (with the exception of accredited Language, Literacy and Numeracy courses)
- study outside of the approved short course conditions (including Masters and Doctorate courses)
- Non-vocational assistance and interventions. For example, careers counselling and personal development courses. Please note: For Stream A and B job seekers, satisfactory participation in the relevant number of hours in drug or alcohol addiction treatments (including rehabilitation) will meet their Annual Activity Requirement.

Considerations when selecting Activities to meet Annual Activity Requirement

Job seekers under 18 years of age

Job seekers under 18 years of age with Mutual Obligation Requirements are not eligible to participate in Work for the Dole.

Job seekers under 17 years of age are not eligible to participate in the National Work Experience Programme.

Job seekers 15-24 years of age

Employability Skills Training (EST) is available to eligible job seekers between 15 - 24 years of age who are receiving income support and have compulsory Mutual Obligation Requirements.

Young job seekers between 17–24 years of age, with Mutual Obligation Requirements, can participate in a PaTH Internship as a voluntary activity.

A job seeker will meet their fortnightly hour's requirement in the fortnights they are participating in PaTH Internships or EST, regardless of the hours of participation.

See the Activity Management Guideline and Managing PaTH Internships Guideline.

Job seekers 18-49 years of age

For job seekers 18 - 49 years of age with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements, Work for the Dole is the principal Activity to meet their Annual Activity Requirement unless they have:

- arranged to meet their Annual Activity Requirement through another approved Activity that will start at the time they become subject to the Annual Activity Requirement, or
- are already undertaking other approved Activities at the time they enter the Work for the Dole Phase.

Job seekers 50-59 years of age

Job seekers 50 to 59 of age with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements may select which approved Activity they will undertake to meet their Annual Activity Requirement. Once chosen, this Activity should generally be entered as a compulsory requirement in their Job Plan.

Principal Carer Parents and job seekers with a Partial Capacity to Work

Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week of any age may select which approved Activity they will undertake to meet their Annual Activity Requirement. Once chosen, this Activity should generally be entered as a compulsory requirement in the Job Plan.

Job seekers with Community Service Orders

Job seekers with Community Service Orders of 20 hours or more a week do not have Mutual Obligation Requirements for the period of the Order.

If a job seeker has a Community Service Order of less than 20 hours a week they still have Mutual Obligation Requirements, however, the Community Service Orders take precedence. If these job seekers are in the Work for the Dole phase they will need to meet their Annual Activity Requirement in addition to their Community Service Order.

Certain job seekers undertaking non-vocational Activities/interventions

For Stream C job seekers, satisfactory participation for the relevant number of hours in non-vocational assistance or interventions (including preventative health treatments and drug or alcohol addiction rehabilitation will meet their Annual Activity Requirement i.e. the job seeker will be deemed to be fully meeting their fortnightly Annual Activity Requirement in the fortnights they are participating in that Activity, regardless of contact hours.

For Stream A and B job seekers, satisfactory participation in the relevant number of hours in drug or alcohol addiction rehabilitation will meet their Annual Activity Requirement i.e. the job seeker will be deemed to be fully meeting their fortnightly Annual Activity Requirement in the fortnights they are participating in that Activity, regardless of contact hours.

For jobactive Indigenous job seekers and Stream C job seekers participation in preventative health treatments and interventions can be counted towards their Annual Activity Requirement.

Note: the relevant number of hours refers to the number of hours deemed suitable by the Provider, for the job seeker, for that particular non-vocational assistance or intervention. While there is no fixed lower limit on the number of hours per fortnight of contact hours, a job seeker must not be referred to reduced hours of participation for the sole purposes of meeting their Annual Activity Requirement. The job seeker's participation in these Activities must be sufficient enough to be treating their condition in order to meet the job seeker's Annual Activity Requirement.

Placing the job seeker in Activities

Providers must commence job seekers who have an Annual Activity Requirement in an Activity immediately after entering the Work for the Dole Phase.

Job seekers may undertake a combination of Activities to meet an Annual Activity Requirement where it is deemed suitable or necessary by the Provider.

The time taken to commence a job seeker in an approved Activity at the start of the Work for the Dole Phase is a performance measure in Providers' Star Ratings. For more information on the Star Ratings, see the Performance Framework Guideline.

For information on setting up and managing Activities, including important information on work health and safety, risk assessments and checks, refer to the Activity Management Guideline and the Job Plan and Setting Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline.

Setting the required hours in the Calendar

System step: For job seekers undertaking Work for the Dole to meet their Annual Activity Requirement, Providers must use the Calendar to schedule the job seeker's required participation, start and finish times as notified to the job seeker.

System step: For job seekers undertaking other Approved Activities, Providers must use the Calendar to schedule the required hours for all Activities, except:

- for Education and Training where the course is delivered online, or that portion of the course delivered online.
- where it is a requirement that the job seeker resides with the host organisation, either as part of a residential program or Drug and Alcohol Treatment or as part of Defence Reserves.
- for Employment and work experience activities where the hours are irregular and are organised directly between the job seeker and the employer or host.
- Where the Department's IT System does not support scheduling of the activity. For more information see the Job Seeker Calendar and Annual Activity Requirement IT Supporting Document.

System step: For job seekers participating in CTA or a Regional Employment Trial, scheduling these activities in the Calendar is required. Any hours marked as attended will automatically accrue towards job seeker's AAR. Providers should manually record additional monthly AAR hours for job seekers who are in the Work for the Dole Phase and who have an AAR so that the job seeker fully meets their AAR for the period of participation in CTA or a Regional Employment Trial.

System step: For job seekers undertaking a Launch into Work program pre-employment project, scheduling these Activities in the Calendar is not required.

Providers should manually record monthly AAR hours for job seekers who are in the Work for the Dole Phase and who have an Annual Activity Requirement.

For further information regarding how to set a job seeker's required hours in the Calendar, refer to the Calendar user Guide on the Learning Centre Website.

Recording job seeker participation against the Annual Activity Requirement

System step: Job seekers will be responsible for recording their attendance at Activities. However, for those job seekers found not capable of recording attendance, Providers must record attendance in approved Activities using the Calendar. All results must be recorded by close of business on the day of participation in the activity

- for study or training Activities, Providers must record the outcomes of the training course upon completion (for example, whether a certificate or statement of attainment was achieved).

For all Activity types, the Provider must negotiate with the Supervisor the most appropriate reporting and recording mechanism to ensure that the Provider can record in the system the number of hours a job seeker has participated in for each day (for Work for the Dole Activities) or month (for all other approved Activities). This should reflect the Host Organisation's normal business practices. For short breaks, these may form part of the job seeker's normal hours of participation, and count toward their Annual Activity Requirement.

Alternatively, when setting up the Activities in the Calendar, it is recommended that the Provider request evidence based attendance recording, which will include a QR code and passcode to be generated by the Department's IT System. They must have the contact details of the Supervisor up to date so that the Supervisor can receive the QR code and passcode the day of the Activity. Job seekers will then be able to scan the QR code when they attend the Activity. If the Activity is longer than four hours, the Department's IT System will generate two codes: one for the start of the Activity and one for the end of the Activity.

EST Providers will enter course details into the Calendar component of the Department's IT System. Providers will refer and place eligible job seekers from their caseload into the courses; the Activity Diary is automatically updated with the course details.

System step: For CTA and Regional Employment Trial activities, satisfactory participation in the activity will meet the job seeker's AAR. I.e. The job seeker will be deemed to be fully meeting their fortnightly AAR in the fortnights they are participating in CTA and Regional Employment Trial activities, regardless of the contact hours. Any hours scheduled that are marked as attended will automatically accrue towards the job seekers AAR. jobactive Providers must manually record the relevant additional monthly hours as per the job seeker's AAR, using the Monthly Hours section of the AAR Details screen of the Department's IT Systems so that the job seeker fully meets their AAR for the period of participation in CTA or a Regional Employment Trial activity.

Recording participation via the Supervisor App

Supervisors can use the Supervisor App to record a job seeker's attendance in Work for the Dole and other approved Activities. However, they should be encouraged to only do so for job seekers who:

- have been assessed as not being capable of recording or reporting their own attendance
- or
- have been assessed as being capable of recording or reporting their own attendance but who are unable to do for themselves on the day.

In most cases it is expected that the Supervisor will receive a QR code or passcode that has been generated by the Department's IT System, and job seekers will be able to scan it with their mobile devices to record their own attendance. If the activity is longer than four hours, the Supervisor will receive two QR codes or passcodes: one for the morning when the job seekers arrive, and one for the afternoon when the job seekers leave for the day.

For further information on the Supervisor App, refer to the Work for the Dole IT Supporting Document.

System step: EST Providers will continue to have access to the Supervisor App to record job seekers attendance at EST courses where appropriate.

Documentary evidence: Where job seekers have used evidence to record their attendance directly into the Department's IT System, offline records are not required to be kept. The same applies where Activity attendance information has been entered by the Activity Host Organisation into the Supervisor App or directly into the Department's IT System, offline records are not required to be kept.

Recording of Work for the Dole participation in the Calendar

System step: Job seekers will be able to record their own attendance at Work for the Dole Activities. Where job seekers are not capable of recording their own attendance, or are unable to due to certain circumstances, Providers must record results against all required participation in the Calendar for every day that the job seeker was required to participate, as per notification issued to the job seeker by the close of business each day.

Recording participation in paid work in the AAR Details screen

System step: For participation in paid work Activities, ESS Web will automatically place the job seeker into a 'Part Time/Casual Paid Employment' Activity when the job seeker declares hours of paid work to Services Australia. If the job seeker is in the Work for the Dole Phase, the system will automatically populate the AAR Details Screen with the hours declared to Services Australia.

Where necessary, Providers can override the hours received from Services Australia e.g. if they disagree with the Services Australia hours for a period and hold documentary evidence supporting the updated hours.

Recording other approved Activities either in the Activity Diary or AAR Details screen

System step: For all other Approved Activities, attendance results, to meet the Annual Activity Requirement must be recorded through the Calendar (using the same process as for Work for the Dole activities).

For job seekers doing on-line courses not required to be recorded in the job seekers Calendar are encouraged to record the total hours completed for each month in the Work for the Dole Phase within 20 Business Days of each month of participation.

If a job seeker is participating in an Activity that fully meets their Annual Activity Requirement, the Calendar will only count those hours that are scheduled towards the job seeker's Annual Activity Requirement. The remaining hours should be credited by entering them in using the monthly hours section of the AAR Details screen.

Providers are to record the hours completed by the job seeker in all Approved Activities during the Work for the Dole Phase by the deadline of 20 Business Days after a job seeker exits the Work for the Dole Phase, or exits the Provider's caseload (for example, exiting from jobactive or transferring to another Provider).

If nothing is entered into the system by then, the job seeker's required hours will be recorded as zero for that period.

If Providers are aware that duplicate hours have been created for AAR, Providers must reduce the number of hours within 20 Business Days. This may occur when a job seeker is in paid work, a day of Activity is resulted as No Longer Required (NLR) as the job seeker is working on that day and declares the hours worked. The job seeker would be created the Activity hours and the hours declared. The job seeker should have credited the higher of the two hours for the individual day.

Completing the Annual Activity Requirement

Recording requirements

System step: At the end of the Work for the Dole Phase, Providers must ensure the AAR Details screen correctly displays whether the job seeker has met their Annual Activity Requirement.

System step: Providers have up to 20 business days from when a job seeker exits the Work for the Dole Phase or when they exit the Provider's caseload (e.g. exiting from jobactive or transferring to another Provider) to enter hours of participation the job seeker undertook within the Phase that were not required to be entered daily in the Calendar.

The Provider is not required to take any further action if the total hours recorded is equal to or greater than the job seeker's required Annual Activity Requirement hours. In this case the AAR Details screen will display that the Annual Activity Requirement has been met.

If the recorded hours are lower than the required Annual Activity Requirement hours, but the job seeker has nevertheless met their Annual Activity Requirement (for example, the job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements changed from part-time to full-time while they were in the Work for the Dole Phase), the Provider must within 20 Business Days of the end of the Work for the Dole Phase:

- select a reason in the system to indicate how the job seeker has met their Annual Activity Requirement
- record that the Annual Activity Requirement has been met.

If the recorded hours are lower than the job seeker's required Annual Activity Requirement hours, no reason is selected and the Annual Activity Requirement has not been recorded as met, the job seeker will not have met their Annual Activity Requirement.

For further information regarding how to record completion of the Annual Activity Requirement, refer to the Department's IT Systems Online Help.

Meeting the Annual Activity Requirement early

Within the Work for the Dole Phase

Within the Work for the Dole Phase, job seekers may be permitted to complete additional hours in an Activity every week or fortnight, either to allow them flexibility if their particular circumstances require it, or to assist a Host Organisation. These additional hours will count towards a job seeker's Annual Activity Requirement and, in effect, means that some job seekers will satisfy their Annual Activity Requirement early. However:

- any hours a job seeker agrees to do in excess of 50 hours per fortnight in Work for the Dole must be created as a voluntary component of their Job Plan using the Job Plan code and recording Activities in the Calendar.
- job seekers must not undertake more than 50 hours per fortnight in a National Work Experience Programme Placement or a Work Experience (Other) Placement.

Job seekers should not be allowed to choose to complete hours early of their own accord. Any additional hours in a week/fortnight can only occur when agreed upon between the Provider, the Host Organisation and the job seeker, where there is an identified benefit to the job seeker.

If the Annual Activity Requirement is completed early, the Provider must ensure that the job seeker's Job Plan continues to contain the other requirements that would enable the job seeker to continue to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. This includes attending Provider Appointments, undertaking any other appropriate Activities, undertaking Job Searches and acting on referrals to jobs in the remaining part of the Work for the Dole Phase after the Annual Activity Requirement for that year has already been met.

Early commencement of the Work for the Dole phase

The Work for the Dole Phase can be brought forward for all stream job seekers after six months (but before 12 months) of jobactive services if the Provider considers the job seeker is not benefiting from, or actively participating in services/interventions designed to improve their employment prospects.

Annual Activity Requirement Record Keeping

Documentary evidence: In addition to recording the relevant information in the Department's IT System, Providers must retain the following additional forms of evidence (either hard copy or soft copy):

- timesheets or other records of attendance, including information collected through the Supervisor App, where used
- a statement of attainment or similar (for accredited education)
- a signed training notice or signal notice (for Defence Force Reserves)
- an invoice for services or a letter of acceptance into a program (for non-vocational interventions including drug or alcohol rehabilitation programs and preventative health treatments and interventions)
- Activity Host Organisation Agreements for Work for the Dole, Voluntary Work, the National Work Experience Programme, Work Experience (Other) and PaTH Internships.
- CTA Agreement (for CTA Courses)
- risk assessment documentation which details that all Deed and relevant guideline requirements have been considered for both the job seeker and the Activity (for Activities where risk assessments are required to be undertaken)

Documentary evidence: For part-time/casual work or self-employment, the hours of paid work reported by the job seeker to Services Australia to stimulate the job seeker's income support payment is acceptable documentary evidence. This information is automatically populated into the 'Recording of Services Australia Part Time/Casual Paid Employment AAR Hours' section of the AAR Details screen and no further documentation is required if this information is accepted. See the Calendar and AAR Details IT Supporting Document for more information about how paid employment is counted towards the AAR. Details of the hours of paid work completed by the job seeker can also be accessed from the Case Summary Screen of the Department's IT System (Job Seeker Information – View Declared Earnings) or through the SUB316 – Declared Hours report through ES Reporting. If the Provider chooses to override the hours declared to Services Australia, the Provider must keep:

- For paid work: payslips or Employer payroll summaries,
- For self-employment:

- a Profit and Loss Statement, a signed and dated written statement from an accountant and/or registered bookkeeper, or copies of records from the Australian Taxation Office and/or a tax return statement.

5. Privacy and information sharing

Providers must comply with Social Security Law and Australian privacy legislation. A job seeker's Personal Information must only be used or disclosed for the purpose it was collected, except in limited circumstances such as where the job seeker gives permission or where Commonwealth laws allow or other special circumstances.

Providers should seek independent legal advice if they have any concerns regarding their obligations under any privacy or other legislation. For further information, refer to the Privacy Guideline.

Sharing Job Plans with SEE or AMEP Providers

Job seekers participating in the Skills for Education and Employment (SEE) program or Adult Migrant English Program (AMEP) should be encouraged to share their Job Plans with their SEE or AMEP Providers in order to make them aware of their full Mutual Obligation Requirements. This will assist SEE and AMEP Providers in ensuring that they place job seekers in courses with study to fully meet their Annual Activity Requirements in the Work for the Dole Phase.

6. Summary of Required Documentary Evidence

Notification to job seekers of their Mutual Obligation Requirements

- The Provider will notify job seekers of their Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the reasonable notice timeframes for the relevant method of notification.
- The Provider will create a notification record in the Department's IT System, identifying the method of notification used (i.e. SMS, email or letter).
- If the Provider is in direct contact with the job seeker, the Provider must record as the notification method that the appointment was booked directly with the job seeker.
- If an Activity or Appointment is rescheduled by the Provider, formal notification must be issued to the job seeker of their new requirements.

Note: If the Provider chooses to record the job seeker's Activity details in the Activity Diary, this will help them to issue notification of the specific details of participation in an Activity to the job seeker.

Annual Activity Requirement and other Approved Activities

Documentary evidence: In addition to recording the relevant information in the Department's IT System, Providers must retain the following additional forms of evidence (either hard copy or soft copy):

- timesheets or other records of attendance, including information collected through the Supervisor App, where used
- a statement of attainment or similar (for accredited education)
- a signed training notice or signal notice (for Defence Force Reserves)
- an invoice for services or a letter of acceptance into a program (for non-vocational interventions)
- Activity Host Organisation Agreements for Work for the Dole, Voluntary Work, the National Work Experience Programme and Work Experience (Other) Placements
- CTA Agreement (for CTA Courses)
- risk assessment documentation which details that all Deed and relevant guideline requirements have been considered for both the job seeker and the Activity (for Activities where risk assessments are required to be undertaken)
- payslips or Employer payroll summaries (for part-time work)
  - For both self-employment and part-time/casual paid work, income reported by the job seeker to Services Australia to stimulate a job seeker's income support payment is acceptable documentary evidence. This information is available from the Case Summary Screen of the Department's IT System (Job Seeker Information – View Declared Earnings). The information provided indicates both the earnings and the hours worked
  - Additionally, documentary evidence for self-employment can include:
    - a Profit and Loss Statement
    - a signed and dated written statement from an accountant and/or registered bookkeeper
    - copies of records from the Australian Taxation Office and/or a tax return statement
    - a Business Activity Statement.

If Activity attendance information has been entered by the Activity Host Organisation into the Mobile Supervisor's App or directly into the Department's IT System, or the job seeker has used evidenced based recording of attendance, offline records are not required to be kept.

A job seeker's attendance at their internship will be recorded to ensure the hours completed by the job seeker end of each month are counted against the job seeker's Annual Activity Requirement.

(Deed reference: Section B4)

All capitalised terms in this guideline have the same meaning as in the jobactive Deed 2015–2020 (the Deed).

This Guideline is not a stand-alone document and does not contain the entirety of Employment Services Providers' obligations. It must be read in conjunction with the Deed and any relevant Guidelines or reference material issued by Department of Education, Skills and Employment under or in connection with the Deed.

Notes:

- NEIS Prospective Participants who have been assessed as NEIS Eligible will meet their Annual Activity Requirement for the period they are participating in NEIS Training.
- Participants in NEIS who have not transferred to NEIS Allowance when they commence NEIS Assistance will fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.
- Volunteer job seekers do not have a mandatory number of Job Searches.
- Outside the Annual Activity Requirement, Providers can require job seekers to participate in other Activities (in addition to Job Search and Provider Appointments).

- Job seekers can meet their Annual Activity Requirement through full participation in the Defence Reserves (240 hours over 26 weeks or 18–20 hours per fortnight).

Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline

Participants generally have Mutual Obligation Requirements, such as looking for work and participating in Activities that will improve their employment prospects, in return for receiving taxpayer-funded income support paid by Services Australia.

The main aim of Mutual Obligation Requirements is to help a Participant into paid work and reduce reliance on income support as quickly as possible. It also allows for Participants to contribute to the community that supports them while they are unemployed.

1. Defining Mutual Obligation Requirements

Participants on the following Income Support Payments must meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements to receive their payment:

- JobSeeker Payment
- Youth Allowance (other)
- Parenting Payment Single (when their youngest child turns six)
- Special Benefit (Nominated Visa Holders).

Participants' Income Support Payments are generally paid in fortnightly instalments, therefore, job seekers need to have and satisfy sufficient Mutual Obligation Requirements for each fortnight they are receiving Income Support Payments.

A Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements are generally determined by considering their:

- age
- assessed work capacity, and
- whether they have primary responsibility for the care of a child.

Participants with full-time requirements should be looking for work full-time and actively addressing the individual circumstances that affect their capacity to undertake paid work.

Participants with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements are:

- Principal Carer Parents whose youngest child is between 6 to 15 years of age
- Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work or a temporary reduced work capacity of 15 to 29 hours per week.

Participants' Mutual Obligation Requirements include:

- entering into a Job Plan and fully complying with the requirements in their Job Plan
- attending all Services Australia and Provider appointments
- acting on Job Referrals and attending Job Interviews offered by employers
- undertaking Job Search (generally 20 Job Searches per month)
- meeting their Annual Activity Requirement (AAR) (refer to the Annual Activity Requirement \(AAR\) section of this guideline)
- participating in any Activity that is relevant to their personal circumstances and will help the Participant to improve their employment prospects.

A broad range of Activities can be used to meet a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements. A list of Suitable Activities that can be used to meet a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements are available here.

Also refer to Job Plan and Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline for information about Job Plan codes.

The Activities Participants are undertaking must be included in their Job Plan as either a compulsory or voluntary Activity. There must be at least one compulsory Activity included in a Job Plan for job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements.

Voluntary Activities are not subject to the Targeted Compliance Framework.

Determining Mutual Obligation Requirements

When determining Mutual Obligation Requirements it is important to identify both a Participant's strengths as well as any barriers they have to finding employment. Any vocational and non-vocational Activities are to be tailored to address the Participant's individual needs and work capacity.

Consider and seek out Activities that will help Participants overcome or manage any vocational and non-vocational barriers.

Activities or other requirements in the Job Plan must not place unreasonable demands on the Participant. The Participant must be capable of doing any Activity and meeting all requirements included in their Job Plan.

After consulting with the Participant, determine the Activities to meet the Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law. Providers should take into account the Participant's preferences wherever possible. However, as the delegate of the Secretary of the Department of Education, Skills and Employment, Provider staff will ultimately determine what Activities the Participant must do to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements under Social Security Law.

Record the Activities and other relevant items in the Participant's Job Plan, and schedule Activities in the Calendar. If drug or alcohol dependency is impacting on participation and appropriate treatment services are not available the Provider must record this information on the Job Seeker's Personal Summary Page ('What you need to know').

Under Social Security Law, Participants must be formally notified of the dates, times and locations for attending appointments and participating in Activities, along with any special requirements such as wearing work boots and other safety gear.

Considering a Participant's circumstances

When determining a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements and setting the terms of a Job Plan, consult with the Participant and consider:

- individual circumstances – in particular, their assessed work capacity (where relevant), their capacity to comply with requirements and their personal needs
- education, experience, skills and age
- the impact of any disability, illness, physical or mental health condition or other non-vocational issue, including drug and alcohol dependency, affecting a Participant's ability to work, look for work or participate in Activities
- the state of the local labour market and the transport options available to the Participant in accessing that market
- the participation opportunities and Activities available to the Participant

- their family and care responsibilities (including availability of child care)
- the length of travel time required to comply with the requirements (reasonable travel time is 90 minutes each way or, if the Participant is a Principal Carer Parent or has a Partial Capacity to Work, 60 minutes each way)
- the financial costs (such as travel costs) of complying with the requirements and the Participant's capacity to pay for such costs
- whether the Participant has any vulnerability indicators (as identified by Services Australia) such as homelessness, psychiatric problems or mental health conditions, severe drug or alcohol dependency, or traumatic relationship breakdown
- any history of the job seeker not complying with their Mutual Obligation Requirements (to ensure that they undertake appropriate requirements in return for tax-payer funded income support)
- cultural factors
- if they are an Early School Leaver
- the number of hours a fortnight the Participant is required to undertake approved Activities in the Work for the Dole Phase
- if the Participant participated in Time to Work Employment Service, any comments and recommendations in the Time to Work Employment Service Transition Plan (Providers can find the Transition Plan in the Department's IT System)
- any other matters that the Provider considers relevant to the Participant's circumstances (including if the Participant discloses they are a victim of family violence).

When setting the Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements, review any barriers identified through an Employment Services Assessment (ESAt) or Job Capacity Assessment (JCA) or other issues disclosed to the Provider. The Job Seeker Classification Instrument (JSCI) and Capability Management Tool may also help identify personal issues affecting a Participant's employability. These will help the Provider decide on the Activities required of a Participant to meet their fortnightly Mutual Obligation Requirements, including their AAR in the Work for the Dole Phase.

Information about a Participant's circumstances can be found on the Participation Profile screen of the Department's IT System.

Using the Capability Management Tool

The Capability Management Tool in Department's IT System needs to be updated when conducting a Capability Interview, or at any the Participant discloses new barriers. It should be used to review and manage a Participant's personal circumstances which may affect their capacity to participate in Activities or other requirements and can assist in identifying specific vocational or non-vocational barriers, including those disclosed by the Participant.

The Capability Management Tool can help to:

- ensure the Participant has requirements in their Job Plan appropriate to their circumstances
- include ESAt recommended Interventions in the Job Plan

- record additional vocational or non-vocational issues.

Providers should familiarise themselves with relevant Deed provisions in case Participants request access to their records in the Capability Management Tool.

See the Capability Interview Guideline for information on updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for Principal Carer Parents

Consider a Principal Carer Parent's family and caring responsibilities, including the availability of suitable childcare, when setting Mutual Obligation Requirements. During school terms, face-to-face Provider Appointments and participation Activities should be scheduled during school hours (generally between 9.00 am to 3.00 pm) unless otherwise agreed to by the Principal Carer Parent.

The Department's IT System will automatically identify time outside of school hours in the Principal Carer Parent's Calendar. Providers will be able to set requirements at times outside school hours, including weekends. However, Providers will need to discuss this with the Principal Carer Parent to ensure they are available at that time and record the Principal Carer Parent's availability in the Department's IT System. This information will be attached to the requirement.

Principal Carer Parents have part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements and can fully meet their requirements through 30 hours per fortnight of:

- paid work (including self-employment)
- approved study (see the section on Approved Short Courses in this Guideline)
- Voluntary Work (as described below), or
- a combination of the above.

Providers can approve Voluntary Work for the purposes of a Principal Carer Parent fully meeting their Mutual Obligation requirements if:

- the Provider determines that the Principal Carer Parent lives in a weak labour market
- limited training opportunities are locally available (online courses may be considered 'locally available' if they have access to a computer)
- there is a significant vocational aspect to the Voluntary Work.

The Voluntary Work must be in an organisation approved by Services Australia.

If the Principal Carer Parent fully meets their Mutual Obligation Requirements, through sufficient participation in the above Activities they cannot be required to complete Job Search or meet any other additional requirements.

A Principal Carer Parent who is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation in paid work and/or study, may be eligible for a Provider Exit (which is processed manually by the Provider) if participation in the approved Activity is likely to be ongoing or last more than 13 weeks.

See the Period of Service, Suspensions and Exits Guideline.

If a Principal Carer Parent is either 55 years of age or over or has a Partial Capacity to Work, the category of Mutual Obligation Requirement which gives the Participant a lesser work requirement should be applied.

Meeting Mutual Obligation Requirements for Principal Carer Parents during school holiday periods

If a Principal Carer Parent is unable to obtain suitable childcare during the school holiday period, the Provider will need to make alternative arrangements to support Participants to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. A Principal Carer Parent will not be required to attend Work for the Dole or another Activity during the school holidays if appropriate care and supervision of their children is not available or affordable.

For example, while Principal Carers Parents are not required to attend face-to-face appointments with their Provider during school holidays, they can engage with their Provider through other means, such as by telephone or via Skype/face-time etc. Job Search can also be conducted from home or the Provider may also decide to reduce Job Search requirements over the school holiday period, while the Principal Carer Parent is caring for children during school holidays.

Principal Carer Parents must continue to meet their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements during the school holidays except for the fortnight in which the Christmas public holiday falls.

Employer initiated shut down period over the extended Christmas/New Year school holiday break

Principal Carer Parents who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements by working 30 hours a fortnight (including instances when working is one of a combination of Activities) are considered to be meeting their requirements during the employer initiated shutdown period over the extended Christmas/New Year school holiday period. This only applies to Principal Carer Parents who reasonably expect to resume their employment when their employer resumes business in the New Year.

The employer initiated shut down period break can only be taken while the place of employment is closed, up to a maximum of eight weeks. After eight weeks the Principal Carer Parent will be required to participate in other Activities to meet Mutual Obligation Requirements while the employer is in the shutdown period.

Inability to obtain suitable childcare is an Acceptable or Valid Reason

If the Principal Carer Parent is required to undertake an Activity but is unable to obtain suitable childcare, they will have an Acceptable or Valid Reason to not undertake that requirement. If this occurs, alternative requirements must be set to enable the Participant to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work

Participants have a Partial Capacity to Work if both their baseline work capacity and work capacity within two years of Intervention are less than 30 hours per week.

Mutual Obligation Requirements are based on a Participant's work capacity within two years with Intervention. However, Participants are not required to participate immediately at the higher work capacity. Rather, the Participant's capacity to participate can be increased through participation in a suitable program of assistance or other appropriate Activity.

When a Participant's work capacity with Intervention is less than their baseline work capacity due to a deteriorating condition, their Mutual Obligation Requirements are based on their baseline work capacity.

Participants with an assessed Partial Capacity to Work of 15-29 hours per week can fully meet their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements through 30 hours per fortnight of paid work including self-employment, approved study, or a combination of these Activities.

If they fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation per fortnight in the above Activities these Participants cannot be required to undertake Job Search or meet other requirements. They also do not need to remain connected with a Provider and will be Suspended on a Provider's caseload.

Participants with an assessed Partial Capacity to Work who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation in paid work and/or study, may be eligible for a Provider Exit (which is processed manually by the Provider) if participation in the approved Activity is likely to be ongoing or last more than 13 weeks. See the Period of Service, Suspensions and Exits Guideline.

Participants who have been assessed as having a Partial Capacity to Work of 0-14 hours per week can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements by attending quarterly appointments with Services Australia.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for Participants with temporary reduced work capacity

Participants may have a temporary medical condition with a temporary reduced work capacity applied by Services Australia (which is identified through an Employment Services Assessment). Participants will have reduced requirements for the period of their temporary reduced work capacity. Providers must take this into account when setting suitable approved Activities and the level of participation in the Job Plan.

If a Provider considers that a Participant without an assessed temporary reduced work capacity is impacted by a medium or long-term medical condition, the Provider should take these personal circumstances into account when setting Mutual Obligation Requirements and record the information about the Participant's circumstances in the 'What you need to know' section of the Department's IT System. Providers should exercise judgement and take these personal circumstances into account when setting Mutual Obligation Requirements. Medium or long-term medical conditions are usually episodic or chronic in nature and include schizophrenia, psychosis, depression and anxiety. Where appropriate, Providers should advise Participants to contact Services Australia so that a reduction in their Mutual Obligation Requirements through a temporary reduced work capacity status or an exemption can be considered or to test their eligibility for the Disability Support Pension.

Participants who have been assessed as having a temporary reduced work capacity of 15-29 hours per week can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements through 30 hours per fortnight of paid work (including self-employment) approved study or a combination of these Activities.

If the Participant is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation per fortnight in the above Activities they cannot be required to undertake any Job Search or meet other requirements. They do not need to remain connected to a Provider and will be Suspended from the Provider's caseload.

Participants with an assessed temporary reduced work capacity who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation in paid work and/or study, may be eligible for a Provider Exit (which is processed manually by the Provider) if participation in the approved Activity is likely to be ongoing or last more than 13 weeks. See the Period of Service, Suspensions and Exits Guideline.

Participants who have been assessed as having a temporary reduced work capacity of 0-14 hours per week can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements through participation in a quarterly interview with Services Australia.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for mature-age Participants

Participants 55 years of age and over can meet their full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements through paid work (including self-employment), approved Voluntary Work or a combination of these Activities, depending on their age and circumstances as follows:

- If the Participant is 55 – 59 years of age and in their first 12 months of receiving payment, they can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements by completing 30 hours per fortnight of paid work. This can also be met by completing 30 hours per fortnight of a combination of approved Voluntary Work and paid work. However, this must include at least 15 hours per fortnight of paid work.
- If the Participant is 55 – 59 years of age and has been receiving payment for more than 12 months, they can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements if they undertake at least 30 hours per fortnight of paid work, approved Voluntary Work or a combination of the two Activities.
- If the Participant is aged between 60 and the age pension age, they can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements if they undertake at least 30 hours per fortnight of paid work, approved Voluntary Work or a combination of the two activities.

These Participants cannot be required to do Job Search or other requirements if they are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements in this way.

Participants should remain connected with a Provider but will be Suspended on a Provider's caseload. However, Providers can continue to refer them to job opportunities. Services Australia will make an initial Appointment with the Provider for Participants 55 years of age and over, even if they are already satisfying their Mutual Obligation Requirements (as above). Participants who fail to attend this Appointment or any other scheduled Provider Appointments or who fail to accept referrals to jobs, may be subject to action under the Targeted Compliance Framework.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for some Ministers of Religion

Ministers of Religion who are either a Principal Carer Parent or have a Partial Capacity to Work will be regarded as fully meeting their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements by undertaking at least 30 hours per fortnight of paid pastoral work for their religious organisation.

Monitoring by Services Australia for Participants fully meeting their requirements

For the above cohorts of Participants, Services Australia will determine whether a Participant is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements. If Services Australia establishes that they are participating sufficiently in appropriate Activities, they will update the Participant's Job Plan to include the Activities they are undertaking to fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. Once Services Australia determines a Participant (other than a mature-age Participant) is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the Participant may be a Services Australia managed Participant and Exited from the Provider's caseload.

Continuing voluntarily in Employment Services

- A Participant fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements may elect to participate voluntarily in services while they are Suspended after:
  - being contacted by their Provider to discuss and agree to voluntarily participate while Suspended from employment services
  - notifying Services Australia, who will either call their Provider or book an Appointment for them
  - contacting their Provider directly to request services.
- If a Participant who is Suspended from employment services elects to voluntarily participate in employment services, the Provider must provide services to the Participant.
- If a Participant who is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements participates voluntarily in employment services, Providers must not remove the relevant compulsory Activities that Services Australia has included in their Job Plan. Additional Activities included in the Job Plan must be added as voluntary.

Sufficient work test

The decision that a Participant is doing sufficient work would generally be restricted to cases where the person can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements while still receiving some payment and a person can demonstrate a stable pattern of employment and earnings (e.g. permanent part-time work). If there is significant variation in hours worked and earning from fortnight to fortnight, whether a Participant's work fully meets their Mutual Obligation Requirements must be determined fortnightly.

Self-employment will satisfy the sufficient work test if the Participant is working at least their required number of hours and the taxable income provides the equivalent of the national minimum wage rate for the minimum required hours. If self-employment does not satisfy the sufficient work test, the Participant will generally be required to look for alternative work.

Documentary evidence: Providers must document a Participant's satisfactory participation in self-employment as per the Documentary Evidence for AAR and other Approved Activities section of this guideline.

If a Participant's commitment to their business activities interferes with required Job Search or other Activities, the person will usually not be considered to be 'unemployed' for the purpose of qualifying for income support.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for Early School Leavers

An Early School Leaver is a person who receives Youth Allowance (other), is under 22 years of age and has not completed Year 12, the final year of secondary school or an equivalent Australian Qualifications Framework Certificate III level or above.

Until they turn 22 years of age or attain Year 12 or an equivalent qualification, Early School Leavers are generally required to participate in:

- full-time education or training with no Job Search requirement, including Certificate I and II level courses
- a combination of part-time education or training and part-time work for a total of 25 hours per week (15 hours for Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week) and no Job Search requirement
- other approved Activities for 25 hours per week (15 hours for Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week), including the requirement to do up to 20 Job Searches per month.

Early School Leavers who are eligible for Youth Jobs PaTH Employability Skills Training and PaTH Internship Placements must still undertake Job Search. For further information on these programs, refer to Youth Jobs PaTH Employability Skills Training (EST) section of this guideline.

Once an Early School Leaver has completed Year 12 or an equivalent qualification or turns 22 years of age, they will no longer be an Early School Leaver. They will be subject to the Mutual Obligation Requirements that apply to other Participants.

Verification of an Early School Leaver's qualifications

Only Services Australia can verify a Year 12 or equivalent qualification to determine whether a young person is no longer an Early School Leaver. Services Australia will accept any of the following:

- a Year 12 certificate issued by a Senior Secondary Board of Studies
- an Australian Qualification Framework Certificate III
- a higher qualification issued by a Registered Training Organisation or higher educational institution
- a Certificate III or IV of General Education for Adults
- the International Baccalaureate

- other higher education pre-entry course.

Documentary evidence: Providers must fax an Early School Leaver's qualifications to the Services Australia Business Hotline on 1300 786 102. Sight the original and send a copy of the completed qualification with the cover sheet at Attachment B. If the original qualification has been lost or destroyed, a certified copy of the qualification or a letter from the education institution formally verifying attainment of the qualification will be accepted. If none of these can be obtained, a statutory declaration from the Early School Leaver will be accepted. The statutory declaration must include the name of the course, date completed, name of institution and institution contact details, and must be appropriately certified. Do not send verification requests to Services Australia if the education level is below Year 12.

If Services Australia does not accept the qualification, they will contact the Provider. Providers must contact the Early School Leaver to advise them of the reason the qualification was not verified.

System step: Where accepted by Services Australia, update the education level information in the Participant's JSCI to reflect the Early School Leaver's advised higher level of educational attainment.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for pregnant Participants

Generally, Mutual Obligation Requirements for pregnant Participants will not change during the first two trimesters of pregnancy. However, Providers must take into account the Participant's personal circumstances when setting their Mutual Obligation Requirements. Pregnant Participants are exempt from Mutual Obligation Requirements from 6 weeks before the expected due date until six weeks following the birth of the child.

Pregnant Participants will not be required to undertake Job Search from three months before their due date. During this time, Providers cannot compel these Participants to accept job offers or referrals to job interviews.

Participants exempt from Mutual Obligation Requirements

If a Participant is temporarily unable to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, Services Australia may grant an Exemption from requirements for a specified period. This recognises the different family and personal situations that Participants face and that can prevent them from participating in Job Search, paid work, Work for the Dole, vocational training or a range of other Activities designed to improve their employment prospects.

The types of Exemptions that may be applied include but are not limited to the following situations:

- temporary medical incapacity
- serious illness
- pre and postnatal
- caring for children with a disability or other special family circumstances
- domestic violence

- other special family circumstances including:
  - if a Principal Carer Parent is a registered and active foster carer or providing foster care temporarily in an emergency, or on a respite, basis
  - if a parent is home schooling or facilitating distance education for one or more of the children or secondary pupil children for whom they are the principal carer or main supporter
  - if a Principal Carer Parent is caring for a family of four or more children aged 18 years or under
  - if a principal carer is a relative but not a parent of a child and the child is living with the principal carer in accordance with a family law order, or
  - if a principal carer is a relative but not a parent of a child (kin child) and the principal carer is caring for the wellbeing of that kin child in accordance with a document accepted by the state/territory that is responsible for the wellbeing of children.
- other special circumstances, including:
  - major personal disruption to the job seeker's home
  - major personal crisis (including homelessness)
  - affected by declared natural disaster, e.g. bushfire, flooding or cyclone
  - volunteering during a state or national emergency
  - temporary caring responsibilities
  - dad and partner leave
  - undertaking jury duty
  - being a newly protected witness
  - being a newly arrived refugee, or
  - undertaking Indigenous cultural business.

If a Provider believes that the Participant does not have the capacity to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the Participant should be encouraged to contact Services Australia to test their eligibility for an Exemption. Participants will need to provide evidence to support their claim.

If applying for an Exemption due to a temporary medical condition, the Participant will need to submit appropriate evidence, for example an approved medical certificate.

However, Services Australia should wherever possible reduce a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements rather than exempting them completely.

Participants granted an Exemption will be Suspended from a Provider's caseload for the period of the Exemption. Some Participants with longer-term Exemptions may be Exited from a Provider's caseload. However, Participants may voluntarily choose to continue participating with employment services.

NOTE: Some Participants considering an application for a Disability Support Pension may need to demonstrate that they have actively participated in a Program of Support to be eligible for Disability Support Pension. You should advise these Participants that periods of exemption will not be counted as participation in a Program of Support. More information for providers can be found in the Participation in a Programme of Support for DSP Claimants Supporting Document.

Participants subject to domestic violence

If there is any suspicion of domestic violence (including family violence) then Providers must refer the Participant to a Services Australia social worker. Providers should also refer a Participant to one of the national or state-based organisations for advice and information about domestic violence.

Providers notified of domestic violence (including family violence) as the reason for not meeting Mutual Obligation Requirements, must consider this in their assessment of whether or not the Participant had a Valid Reason.

If a Participant applies to Services Australia for an Exemption because they are subject to domestic violence (including family violence), Services Australia will make an assessment on whether an Exemption is granted and the appropriate length of the Exemption from their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

If the Participant is a Principal Carer Parent and subject to domestic violence, Services Australia will generally grant an Exemption.

Suitable Activities to meet Mutual Obligation Requirements and the AAR

Consider the Participant's Stream, Phase and individual circumstances when setting Mutual Obligation Requirements. In particular, consider whether the Participant is in the Work for the Dole Phase and has an AAR.

Include approved Activities in the Participant's Job Plan that will enable them to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, using the correct Job Plan code linked to the Activity scheduled in the Calendar. If the Participant is in the Work for the Dole Phase, sufficient hours of Activities must be scheduled in the Calendar to allow the Participant to meet their AAR.

Depending on a Participant's circumstances, there is a range of Activities they may undertake to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements (some of which are described below).

Approved Programs of Work

Only Participants over 18 years of age can take part in an Approved Program of Work.

All Participants in an Approved Program of Work (whether they are receiving a full or part rate of income support payment) are eligible for the Approved Program of Work Supplement of $20.80 a fortnight (Social Security Law).

Approved Programs of Work for jobactive Participants include:

- the National Work Experience Programme – the NWEPP can only be included as a voluntary not compulsory Activity in the Job Plan
- Work for the Dole - Only Participants 18 years of age and older can take part in Work for the Dole

Work for the Dole cannot be included as a compulsory Activity (i.e. can only be included as voluntary) in the Job Plan if:

- the Participant is receiving less than the full rate of JobSeeker Payment, Youth Allowance (other), or Parenting Payment Single, where the rate is reduced due to the income test (combined income of the Participant and, if applicable, their partner)
- the Participant's Job Plan also includes the Paid Work Job Plan code EM56
- for Special Benefit- Nominated Visa Holders, the person or, if applicable, their partner has income
- the Activity is more than 50 hours per fortnight, or
- the Participant is 60 years of age and over.

In all other circumstances, except for Participants under 18 years of age, Work for the Dole can be included as a compulsory Activity in the Participant's Job Plan.

Work for the Dole

Only Participants 18 years and older can take part in Work for the Dole.

Work for the Dole may be included as a voluntary Activity in the Participant's Job Plan in the above circumstances. However, Participants in these circumstances can be compelled to participate in another Activity to enable them to meet their AAR

If the Participant is receiving anything less than the full rate of income support, then Work for the Dole may be included in combination with other approved Activities to meet their AAR. If they elect to do this, then Work for the Dole must be included as a voluntary Activity in their Job Plan.

Providers should regularly review if the Participant is receiving a full rate of income support or a reduced rate due to the income test. Providers can view a Participant's previous four fortnights' income support payment rate on the Department's IT System Notification screen. If a Participant returns to the full rate of income support, the Provider can update the Participant's Job Plan to include Work for the Dole as a compulsory Activity.

Documentary evidence: Providers may also consider requesting documentary evidence from the Participant to determine if that Participant is declaring income to Services Australia or is on a reduced rate of income support for other reasons.

If the Participant fails to actively participate in the voluntary Work for the Dole Activity, then a Provider should consider replacing it with an alternative compulsory Activity so that the job seeker can meet their AAR. For example, the job seeker could be compelled to do some voluntary work to achieve the required hours each fortnight. The Participant should not receive the Approved Program of Work Supplement in a fortnight in which they did not actively participate in Work for the Dole.

National Work Experience Programme

The National Work Experience Programme provides voluntary short-term placements for Participants 17 years of age or over, regardless of whether the Participant is receiving full or part rate of income support payment.

Work Experience (Other) Placements

Work Experience (Other) Placements provide voluntary, short-term, observational unpaid work experience placements for Participant 15 years of age or over, regardless of whether the Participant is receiving an Income Support Payment. Participation in this Activity can contribute towards a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirement, but is not approved for AAR purposes except for Stream C jobactive Participants.

Youth Jobs PaTH Employability Skills Training (EST)

A Participant is Employability Skills Training (EST) Eligible if they are between 15 and 24 years of age, receiving income support and have Mutual Obligation Requirements.

EST Courses consist of 75 hours of training, delivered at 25 hours per week over three weeks for Participants with full time Mutual Obligation Requirements and 15 hours per week over five weeks for Participants with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements.

An EST Eligible Participant has a mandatory requirement to participate in EST once they have received services through jobactive for five months. An EST mandatory Participant must be considered for both types of EST courses.

Reports are available in ESS Web and Qlik, which identify EST mandatory and eligible Participants, including those not in any Activity.

An EST mandatory Participant retains their mandatory status until they have completed both EST Courses. This is to encourage the development of employability skills. ESS Web recognises completion of an EST Course when a completion payment is claimed by the EST Provider.

Once a Participant has completed both types of EST Courses and the associated completion payments have been claimed by the EST Provider, the Participant will revert to and maintain an EST Eligible status for as long as they meet the eligibility criteria.

Providers have discretion not to refer a Participant (for whom EST would otherwise be mandatory) to an EST Course, or include EST as a compulsory Activity in the Job Plan if the Provider considers that the Participant:

- already has the relevant skills and experience (such as through having relevant recent workforce experience or already having a part time job)
- has recently completed similar training
- has Non-Vocational Barriers that must be addressed first as a priority before they can benefit from the training - this could include language issues, health issues or family problems
- would have to travel more than 90 minute each way to the training (60 minutes for Participants with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements) or there are no suitable EST courses available
- is referred to another suitable Activity - this should only be used when there is an active referral or commencement to another Activity in ESS Web. Where another Activity referral is in place with an end date in the near future, Providers should consider creating an EST referral for a future course. This provides an opportunity for the Participant to move from their current activity into EST

Choosing one of these reasons in ESS Web removes the Participant from the count of Participants who are EST Mandatory. After eight weeks the Department's IT System will override and unselect the reason, making the Participant EST Mandatory again. Providers must then reassess the suitability of EST for the Participant. Provider's use of these reasons will be monitored.

Participants who are EST eligible can also be referred to an EST Course from day one in jobactive.

Providers will receive a notification in the Department's IT System when Participants been serviced in jobactive for five months. The Activity Management Guideline provides details on EST, including how to record reasons for why a Participant will not be participating in EST Courses.

Participants with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements such as Principal Carer Parents or others with a Partial Capacity to Work may volunteer to undertake more than 15 hours per week of EST. The additional hours will need to be recorded separately in the Job Plan as a voluntary Activity. These Participants are encouraged to participate for the duration of the Course but cannot be compelled to undertake additional hours. If the Participant is unable to meet the Course hours, the Provider should consider a more suitable Activity.

System step: If a Participant is EST mandatory, ESS Web prevents the finalisation of their Job Plan when making a referral to other activities. When referring an EST mandatory Participant to another activity, the EST opt-out reason of 'referred to other activity' must be applied before updating the Job Plan with the other activity.

PaTH Internship Placements

Young Participants 17–24 years of age, with Mutual Obligation Requirements, can participate in a PaTH Internship.

Eligible young Participants must:

- be in jobactive Stream A and have participated in either block one, or block two Employability Skills Training; or
- be in jobactive Stream A and have been continuously serviced in employment services from any jobactive provider, Transition to Work provider or Disability Employment Services provider for at least six months; or
- be in jobactive Stream B or C, Transition to Work or Disability Employment Services.

Early School Leavers can participate in a PaTH Internship. PaTH Internship placements are to be included in the Job Plan as a voluntary item. However, if the Participant fails to participate, then the Provider will need to place them in an alternative compulsory Activity.

See the Managing PaTH Internships Guidelines for further information.

Career Transition Assistance (CTA)

All Participants aged 45 years and over, and registered with a jobactive Provider, are eligible to participate in CTA. CTA provides opportunities for mature-age people to identify and articulate transferable skills, increase their job readiness and better target their Job Search to local industries and available jobs, and develop basic functional IT skills.

Participation in CTA is 75 hours over an eight-week period. Where a Participant with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements is referred to CTA, the jobactive Provider should select and modify the schedule in the Participant's calendar as necessary to meet the Participant's needs.

CTA is an approved Activity for the purposes of meeting a Participant's AAR and will fully meet the Participant's AAR for the duration of their participation in CTA while in the Work for the Dole Phase.

Participation in CTA is voluntary, and CTA can only be added to a Participant's Job Plan as a voluntary Activity. CTA Providers will advise the Participant's jobactive Provider if the Participant stops attending CTA. If the Participant is exited from CTA, the jobactive Provider must place them in an alternative approved Activity.

Launch into Work

Participation in Launch into Work program pre-employment projects may be included as a voluntary Activity in the Participant's Job Plan. Providers should record this Activity in the Job Plan using the free text code. Providers should include the relevant activity details, such as host information and dates and hours of participation.

Participation in Launch into Work program pre-employment projects will fully meet participants' AAR for the duration of the project. Participants will not have to complete other activities whilst participating in the project.

Approved study and short courses

People undertaking full time study should be placed on a student allowance. Providers should refer full time students to Services Australia for an income support payment eligibility check.

Participants on income support payments such as JobSeeker Payment, Youth Allowance (other) and Parenting Payment Single may participate in certain approved education or training.

Providers are responsible for identifying what training relates to skills in demand in each particular Employment Region.

Participants undertaking an approved full time short course will still be required to undertake Job Search and accept suitable work.

In some circumstances Principal Carer Parents receiving the Pensioner Education Supplement (PES) may continue to receive income support payments to complete their full time study.

What is an appropriate course of study

Providers can approve a Participant's participation in study or training under the following short course provisions:

- vocationally based
- less than 12 months or two semesters in duration

- the Participant has a semester or six months full-time equivalent remaining to complete their course and the course would greatly improve their employment prospects
- the Provider determines that participation is necessary and the course is vocationally orientated
- highly likely to provide a Participant with a qualification that will result in an Employment Outcome, improve their employability or lead to qualifications in an identified skills in a demand area as determined by the Provider
- the Participant is a single Principal Carer Parent on JobSeeker Payment Allowance and has been granted PES for the academic course (or longer course that is 12 months or more). For the purposes of meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, a single Principal Carer Parent on JobSeeker Payment can continue to undertake the study for which Pensioner Education Supplement was granted as an approved Activity until that course has been completed. Providers need to sight evidence that the single Principal Carer Parent on JobSeeker Payment is in receipt of PES for that course
- the Participant is in receipt of Parenting Payment Single (this study would usually be approved by Services Australia)
- the Participant is a Parenting Payment recipient who transfers to JobSeeker Payment or Youth Allowance (other) and in some limited instances where a Participant was granted the Disability Support Pension and then transferred to JobSeeker Payment or Youth Allowance (other). They are able to continue their studies in the same course they commenced while receiving Parenting Payment or Disability Support Pension (this would usually be approved by Services Australia) for which they receive PES.

Providers cannot approve, under short course provisions, full-time courses of 12 months (two semesters) or longer in duration, or Masters or Doctorate courses.

Note: Participants in receipt of Special Benefit (NVH) who have not attained a Year 12 or equivalent qualification, may undertake full-time study in a school institution up to Year 12. These Participants will still be required to attend Provider appointments and undertake up to 20 Job Searches per month.

A Short Course:

- is vocationally based
- is less than 12 months or two semesters in duration
- is necessary so the Participants can accept an offer of work
- leads to an early employment outcome
- leads to qualifications in an identified area of skills shortage

Approving a Short Course

Providers are responsible for making approval decisions under approved short course provisions.

An approved short course must be included as a compulsory Activity in the Participant's Job Plan.

If a Provider approves the Activity as an approved short course and includes it in the Participant Job Plan then the Participant must still look for work and attend appointments with their Provider as long as it does not conflict with the scheduled time of the course. Participant with full time mutual obligation requirements cannot fully meet their mutual obligation requirements with full time study. They are required to accept any suitable work that does not conflict with scheduled course times and must not limit their Job Searches to areas relating to the course.

A Principal Carer Parent or Participant with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 - 29 hours per week undertaking an approved short course for at least 30 hours per fortnight is considered to be fully meeting their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements. These recipients are managed by Services Australia and will be Suspended from the Provider's caseload.

For information for Providers deciding to fund an education or training course, see the Using the Employment Fund General Account Guideline.

Breaks in Activities

If a Participant has a break in an Activity which is required to satisfy their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the Provider must update the Participant's Job Plan with other Activities to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

There is no need to adjust a Participant's requirements if they have a break of less than or equal to four weeks that is outside their control. If the break is greater than four weeks then the Participant must do other requirements, such as Job Search, for the period of the break. The Job Plan must be updated to include the new requirements.

2. Suitable work

Participants must actively look for work and be prepared to accept any offer of suitable work in a variety of fields. Any work can be considered suitable provided it meets certain safeguards set out in Social Security Law, such as minimum statutory conditions and related health and safety considerations.

'Suitable work' includes any work that a Participant is capable of doing, not just work the Participant prefers to do or is specifically qualified for. This can include casual or permanent, and part-time or full time work depending on the Participant's assessed capacity. Participants are required to accept suitable work that may not be their first preference while they continue to look for work that better matches their qualifications, expertise and interest.

Work is unsuitable if it:

- involves skills, experience or qualifications that the person does not have and appropriate training will not be provided by the employer
- is above the Participant's assessed work capacity within the next two years with intervention
- may aggravate a pre-existing illness, disability or injury and medical evidence has been provided
- involves health or safety risks and would contravene an occupational health and safety law

- has terms and conditions which are less generous than the applicable statutory conditions
- involves commuting from home to work that would be unreasonably difficult (more than 60 minutes one way for Principal Carer Parents and those with Partial Capacity to Work and more than 90 minutes one way for other Participants)
- is considered by the Participants to be unsuitable on moral, cultural or religious grounds
- is not consistent with prevailing community standards
- is the subject of industrial dispute
- involves enlistment in the Defence Force or the Reserve Forces
- requires the person to change residence.

Unsuitable work for Principal Carer Parents

In addition to the above 'unsuitable work', Principal Carer Parents cannot be required to accept employment of more than 25 hours a week. Additionally, Providers should consider whether:

- the Principal Carer Parent has access to appropriate care and supervision for their child/children during the times when they would be required to work
- the location of either the workplace or the child care facility would make the total travel time to and from work unreasonable
- the Principal Carer Parent will be at least $50.00 a fortnight financially better off as result of working.

If a job offer to the Principal Carer Parent involves employment outside school hours or in school holidays, a job is generally considered suitable if there is appropriate care and supervision for a child during the hours of work (including the travel to and from work). Suitable care and supervision means:

- childcare provided by an approved childcare service (within the meaning of the Family Assistance Administration Act 1999).
- any other care or supervision arrangements that the parent deems suitable.

Unsuitable work for Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work

In addition to the list above of 'unsuitable work', work is unsuitable for Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work if:

- it does not provide appropriate support or facilities to take account of the illness, disability or injury
- the total cost of participating in employment means that the Participants would be financially worse off as a result of undertaking the work. Examples include personal care requirements incurred by the Participant to get ready for work or while on the job; disability aids required for participation in the job that are not covered by the Employer and the cost of travel to and from the job by the Participant's means of transport.

3. Job Search Requirements are an important part of Mutual Obligation Requirements

Providers will set the number of Job Searches a Participant is required to undertake per month in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law. Record the number of Job Searches required in the Participant's Job Plan.

Participants with Mutual Obligation Requirements will usually have to look for work.

The number of Job Searches generally expected of Participants (including Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week) is:

- for Stream A and Stream B Participants – 20 Job Searches per month
- for Stream C Participants – Job Search depends on capacity
- for Participants aged 60 years and over (regardless of Stream) – Job Search depends on capacity.

Participants cannot be required to do more than 20 Job Searches per month.

When assessing the quality of the Participant's Job Search efforts, Providers should consider whether the jobs applied for were:

- at a variety of levels of seniority or remuneration that is suitable for the Participant; and
- in a variety of fields and occupations in which the Participant is suitably qualified or has experience, if that work is suitable for the Participant; and
- applied for using a variety of methods to contact potential employers.

While the above must be taken into account when assessing Job Search efforts, Providers should also consider the Job Search efforts of the Participant more holistically over time. A Participant is not required to meet each of these criteria in each separate Job Search period – therefore it is important to consider factors such as:

- labour market restrictions as the type and number of vacancies available in each Job Search period may differ; and
- the most appropriate pathway for the Participant to obtain sustainable employment. In considering this, providers could discuss and agree to a strategy for targeting Job Search efforts in advance with the Participant to increase their likelihood of securing employment.

(Deed references: Clause 113)

Participants who do not have Job Search Requirements

The following Participants will not be required to undertake Job Search while they are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements:

- Principal Carer Parents
- those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week
- Participants 55 years of age and over
- Participants undertaking Drug and Alcohol rehabilitation in a Residential Program

- refugee Participants undertaking activities to help adjust to life in Australia and to increase chances of finding work.
- Pregnant Participants are exempt from Job Search from six weeks before their expected due date until six weeks following the birth of their child.
- NEIS Prospective Participants who have been assessed as NEIS Eligible but have not yet signed a NEIS Participant Agreement will have their Job Search requirements reduced to zero while participating in NEIS Training.
- NEIS Participants in receipt of Parenting Payment (Single) or the Disability Support Pension are able to choose to remain on their current payment or move to NEIS Allowance. Where they remain on their current payment while participating in NEIS Assistance and actively working on their small business, they do not have Job Search or other Mutual Obligation Requirements.
- Early School Leavers who are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through full-time education or a combination of part-time study and part-time work of 25 hours per week (15 hours for those with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements) must not have any Job Search requirements in their Job Plan.

Recording Job Search requirements in the Job Plan

When setting compulsory Job Searches, Providers must use the JS09 code. The Department is actively monitoring Job Plans and would expect that:

- for Stream A and Stream B Participants, all Job Plans should contain JS09.
- for Stream C Participants, most Job Plans should contain JS09. In some Exceptional Circumstances, Job Searches may not be required for a limited period while non-vocational issues are actively being addressed.

Circumstances that may reduce Job Search requirements

Do not reduce the number of Job Searches a Participant is required to undertake merely because the Participant is undertaking other Activities - in particular study or during the Work for the Dole Phase.

Providers may reduce the number of Job Searches as a result of a Participant's:

- physical, intellectual or psychiatric impairment
- non-residential treatments or counselling for drug and alcohol dependency (including Drug Court Orders)
- preventative health treatments and interventions – (for jobactive Indigenous Participants and Stream C Participants)
- substantially elevated level of family and caring responsibilities
- accommodation situation, where this is likely to impede Job Search
- education or skill level, where this is likely to substantially limit job opportunities
- current employment status (part-time or casual work)
- domestic violence (including family violence) or family relationship breakdown (Services Australia may grant an Exemption from Mutual Obligation Requirements in these circumstances)
- level of English language skills, if Participant is doing a course to improve these skills
- cultural factors

- the state of the labour market and the transport options available to the person in accessing that market, for example, taking into account travel time.

For example, a Stream A Participant either living in a metropolitan area or within 90 minutes travel time to metropolitan area would be expected to have 20 Job Searches per month. In a regional area with limited vacancies and where the travel time to more positive labour markets is more than 90 minutes, it might be appropriate that a Stream A Participant has a lower Job Search requirement, for example, 15 Job Searches per month.

Job Search requirements for Early School Leavers who are not meeting their requirements through study or paid work

Early School Leavers who are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through approved Activities other than just paid work and study for 25 hours per week (15 hours for Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week) must have up to 20 Job Searches per month in their Job Plan.

Job Search requirements while studying Language, Literacy and Numeracy courses

If a Provider has identified that a Participant needs to improve their Language Literacy and Numeracy skills, the number of required Job Searches may be reduced (but not reduced to zero) while the Participant is actively participating in an accredited Language Literacy and Numeracy course. Approved courses include the Skills for Education and Employment program and the Adult Migrant English Program.

Job Search requirements for Stream C Participants and Participants 60 years of age and over

The number of Job Searches required by Stream C Participants and Participants 60 years of age and over depends on their capacity. Generally, 10 Job Searches per month are expected.

When setting an appropriate number of Job Searches, in addition to other considerations, Providers may also consider:

- other non-vocational issues or vocational issues that are being, or have been addressed
- if the Participant has undertaken re-skilling or re-training
- for Stream C Participants, it might be appropriate in some Exceptional Circumstances to have no Job Searches for a period while non-vocational issues are actively being addressed.

For Stream C Participants, the number of Job Searches required is expected to increase over time as they overcome or sufficiently manage personal or non-vocational issues.

Job Search requirements for those in paid work

For Participants with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements:

- if doing at least 40 hours of declared paid work (including self-employment)

per fortnight then the number of Job Searches should be halved. If the Participant is doing a significant number of hours of paid work per week and receiving only a residual amount of income support, the number of Job Searches may be reduced further.

- if doing at least 70 hours of declared paid work (including self-employment) per fortnight then the Participant should have no Job Search requirement.

For Participant with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements (Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week):

- if doing 11 to 29 hours of declared paid work (including self-employment) per fortnight, the number of Job Searches should be halved
- if doing 30 hours or more of declared paid work (including self-employment) per fortnight, the Participant should have no Job Search requirement.

(Deed references: Clause 113)

4. Annual Activity Requirement (AAR)

The AAR is the set number of hours that a Participant must complete in approved Activities when in the Work for the Dole Phase.

Most Participants have an AAR when they enter into the Work for the Dole Phase and must participate in an approved Activity or combination of approved Activities to meet their AAR.

Providers must ensure that Participants in the Work for the Dole Phase fulfil their AAR. Work for the Dole Phase Activity commencement and participation are performance measures in Providers' Star Ratings. For more information on the Star Ratings, see the Performance Framework Guideline.

Entering the Work for the Dole Phase

All Participants who are commencing in the Work for the Dole Phase for the first time start the phase after they have been in jobactive for 12 months. Following this, Participants will need to take part in the Work for Dole Phase for a continuous six months each year they remain in jobactive.

Determining the hours of participation to meet the AAR

The number of hours of participation in approved Activities that a Participant requires to meet their AAR depends on their age, their assessed capacity to work and whether they are a Principal Carer Parent.

Participants with no AAR:

- Participants who have reached Age Pension age.
- Participants who are fully meeting their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements through participation in appropriate Activities for 30 hours per fortnight
- Participants 55 years of age and over during the period they are meeting their full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements through participation in appropriate Activities for 30 hours per fortnight

- Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work or temporary reduced work capacity of 0 to 14 hours per week
- Participants with Community Service Orders of 20 or more hours per week
- Early School Leavers with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements already undertaking 25 hours a week of approved Activities or full-time study.

Using the AAR Calculator

The AAR Calculator on the Department's IT System provides information on how many hours of participation Participants need to complete to meet their AAR. See the Help. For more information on how to access the AAR Calculator.

Note: Under the Targeted Compliance Framework, where Activities are recorded in the Calendar, which contribute to a Participant's AAR, the Department's IT System will calculate hours. There are exceptions, however, where hours will still need to be manually calculated, when hours need to be adjusted.

Participation hours for Participants with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements

- Up to 49 years of age: generally must participate for 650 hours over 26 weeks (50 hours per fortnight)
- Aged 50 to 59 years of age: generally must participate for 390 hours over 26 weeks (30 hours per fortnight).
- Aged 60 years to the aged pension age: generally must participate for 130 hours over 26 weeks (10 hours per fortnight)

Participation hours for Participants with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements

- Under 30 years of age: generally must participate for 390 hours over 26 weeks (30 hours per fortnight)
- 30 to 59 years of age: in most circumstances must participate for 200 hours over 26 weeks (15 to 16 hours per fortnight).
- Aged 60 years to the aged pension age: Nil requirements

Participation hours for any Participation undertaking Defence Reserves

- For Participation undertaking Defence Reserves: 240 hours over 26 weeks (18 - 20 hours per fortnight).

Participation in the Launch into Work program

For Participation in the Work for the Dole phase, participation in Launch into Work program pre-employment projects will fully meet Participants' AAR for the project's duration. If the Participant stops attending the project, or does not commence employment with the Launch into Work Organisation at the end of the project, they need to be referred to another AAR Activity in order to complete their AAR hours for the remaining weeks of their Work for the Dole phase.

Participation hours in study/training

Full-time load

If the training Provider considers the Participant has a full-time study load then the Participant will meet their fortnightly hour's requirement in the fortnights they are studying, regardless of actual contact hours.

For example, a Participant who has an AAR of 50 hours per fortnight and undertakes 44 contact hours per fortnight of full-time study does not have to complete any additional hours in another Activity while they are undertaking a full-time study load.

Non-contact hours

Published non-contact study hours for Participants undertaking part-time study/training will also count towards a Participant's AAR, as long as they do not exceed the course's face-to-face hours. Where a course's non-contact study hours are not published, up to a maximum of 10 non-contact study hours per fortnight can be counted towards part-time study. Any non-contact study can be reflected in the Job Plan by using the appropriate Job Plan code, with study recorded in the Participant's Calendar.

Online courses

For online courses, it is expected that the majority of course hours are non-contact. In these cases, study load (hours) and duration requirements as published by the training institution will count towards a Participant's AAR. If the total part-time study hours are not sufficient to meet a Participant's AAR, other Activities will also need to be undertaken.

System step: For study or training Activities, Providers must record the outcomes of the training course upon completion (for example, whether a certificate or statement of attainment was achieved).

Change of circumstances during the Work for the Dole Phase

If a Participant circumstances change during their Work for the Dole Phase, their AAR may also change. This may occur when a Participant becomes or ceases to be a Principal Carer Parent, where a Participant's capacity to work changes or when a Participant turns 30 years of age. In these instances, the Participant's participation must match their new requirement.

For example, if a Participant who is 49 years of age and has an overall requirement of 650 hours turns 50 years of age while in the Work for the Dole Phase, their requirement will reduce to 390 hours. If they have already completed 390 hours due to undertaking 25 hours per week over their first four months in the Work for the Dole Phase, they will have already met their AAR at this point in the Work for the Dole Phase.

Selecting Activities for a Participant to meet their AAR

After consultation with the Participant, Providers must determine and source the Activities that the Participant must undertake to meet their AAR in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law.

System step: The Provider must record these in the Participant's Job Plan, including the relevant hours of participation the Participant needs to undertake each fortnight.

Providers placing Participants into Activities must prioritise Participants with Mutual Obligation Requirements over other Participants.

System step: When recording CTA Courses in the Job Plan, the minimum hours of participation required will automatically populate, along with the timeframe for participation.

Approved Activities to meet the AAR

- Work for the Dole
- part-time employment
- National Work Experience Programme
- Work Experience (Other)
- PaTH Internships
- PaTH Employability Skills Training (EST)
- Career Transition Assistance (CTA)
- Voluntary Work
- Launch into Work program pre-employment projects
- study/training (part-time or full-time)
  - Study/training is subject to the approved short course conditions (see the Approved short courses section of this guideline) and must be in:
    - a Certificate III course or higher (but not a Masters or Doctorate course), or
    - a Certificate I or II course commenced in the Case Management Phase but not yet completed when the Participant moves into the Work for the Dole Phase (for these courses, any hours completed once a Participant enters the Work for the Dole Phase will count towards a Participant's AAR)
- accredited language, literacy and numeracy courses, which can include:
  - the Skills for Education and Employment program, or
  - the Adult Migrant English Program
- rehabilitation for drug or alcohol dependency
- other non-vocational assistance and Interventions for Stream C Participants
- preventative health related Activities for jobactive Indigenous Participants and Stream C Participants

- Defence Reserves
- other government programs, including NEIS Training, state government programs and 'Exploring Being My Own Boss' Workshops
- non-government programs approved for AAR purposes (see the Activity Management Guideline).

Further information on Activities suitable to meet a Participant's AAR can be found in the Activity Management Guideline, Work for the Dole Guideline, and Managing PaTH Internships Guideline.

Activities that do not count towards a Participant's AAR

There are certain Activities that will not count towards meeting a Participant's AAR. These include:

- non-accredited education and training unless it is non-vocational assistance for Stream C Participants
- Certificate I or II courses started after commencement in the Work for the Dole Phase (with the exception of accredited Language, Literacy and Numeracy courses)
- study outside of the approved short course conditions (including Masters and Doctorate courses)
- Non-vocational assistance and interventions. For example, careers counselling and personal development courses. Please note: For Stream A and B Participants, satisfactory participation in the relevant number of hours in drug or alcohol addiction treatments (including rehabilitation) will meet their AAR.

Considerations when selecting Activities to meet AAR

Participants under 18 years of age

Participants under 18 years of age with Mutual Obligation Requirements are not eligible to participate in Work for the Dole.

Participants under 17 years of age are not eligible to participate in the National Work Experience Programme.

Participants 15-24 years of age

Employability Skills Training (EST) is available to eligible Participants between 15 - 24 years of age who are receiving income support and have compulsory Mutual Obligation Requirements.

Young Participants between 17–24 years of age, with Mutual Obligation Requirements, can participate in a PaTH Internship as a voluntary activity.

A Participant will meet their fortnightly hour's requirement in the fortnights they are participating in PaTH Internships or EST, regardless of the hours of participation.

Participants 18-49 years of age

For Participants 18 - 49 years of age with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements, Work for the Dole is the principal Activity to meet their AAR unless they have:

- arranged to meet their AAR through another approved Activity that will start at the time they become subject to the AAR, or
- are already undertaking other approved Activities at the time they enter the Work for the Dole Phase.

Participants 50-59 years of age

Participants 50 to 59 of age with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements may select which approved Activity they will undertake to meet their AAR. Once chosen, this Activity should generally be entered as a compulsory requirement in their Job Plan.

Principal Carer Parents and Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work

Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week of any age may select which approved Activity they will undertake to meet their AAR. Once chosen, this Activity should generally be entered as a compulsory requirement in the Job Plan.

Participants with Community Service Orders

Participants with Community Service Orders of 20 hours or more a week do not have Mutual Obligation Requirements for the period of the Order.

If a Participant has a Community Service Order of less than 20 hours a week they still have Mutual Obligation Requirements, however, the Community Service Orders take precedence. If these Participants are in the Work for the Dole phase they will need to meet their AAR in addition to their Community Service Order.

Certain Participants undertaking non-vocational Activities/interventions

For Stream C job seekers, satisfactory participation for the relevant number of hours in non-vocational assistance or interventions (including preventative health treatments and drug or alcohol addiction rehabilitation) will meet their AAR i.e. the Participant will be deemed to be fully meeting their fortnightly AAR in the fortnights they are participating in that Activity, regardless of contact hours.

For Stream A and B Participants, satisfactory participation in the relevant number of hours in drug or alcohol addiction rehabilitation will meet their AAR i.e. the Participant will be deemed to be fully meeting their fortnightly AAR in the fortnights they are participating in that Activity, regardless of contact hours.

For jobactive participants who are Indigenous or in Stream C, participation in preventative health treatments and interventions can be counted towards their AAR.

Regardless of Stream, any Participants in residential drug or alcohol addiction rehabilitation are considered to be fully meeting their mutual obligation requirements while they are in residence.

Participants who undertake other types of drug and alcohol treatments or counselling should have these activities included in their Job Plan along with appointments, other appropriate activities and an appropriate number of Job Searches. If the Participant is unable to undertake other activities in addition to treatments or counselling, the treatments or counselling will fully meet their fortnightly AAR in the fortnights they are participating in that activity, regardless of contact hours.

Note: the relevant number of hours refers to the number of hours deemed suitable by the Provider, for the Participant, for that particular non-vocational assistance or intervention. While there is no fixed lower limit on the number of hours per fortnight of contact hours, a Participant must not be referred to reduced hours of participation for the sole purposes of meeting their AAR. The Participant's participation in these Activities must be sufficient enough to be treating their condition in order to meet the Participant's AAR.

Placing the Participant in Activities

Providers must commence Participants who have an AAR in an Activity immediately after entering the Work for the Dole Phase.

Participants may undertake a combination of Activities to meet an AAR where it is deemed suitable or necessary by the Provider.

The time taken to commence a Participant in an approved Activity at the start of the Work for the Dole Phase is a performance measure in Providers' Star Ratings. For more information on the Star Ratings, see the Performance Framework Guideline.

For information on setting up and managing Activities, including important information on work health and safety, risk assessments and checks, refer to the Activity Management Guideline and the Job Plan and Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline.

Setting the required hours in the Calendar

System step: For Participants undertaking Work for the Dole to meet their AAR, Providers must use the Calendar to schedule the Participant's required participation, start and finish times as notified to the Participant.

System step: For Participants undertaking other Approved Activities, Providers must use the Calendar to schedule the required hours for all Activities, except:

- for Education and Training where the course is delivered online, or that portion of the course delivered online.
- where it is a requirement that the Participant resides with the host organisation, either as part of a residential program or Drug and Alcohol Treatment or as part of Defence Reserves.

- for Employment and work experience activities where the hours are irregular and are organised directly between the Participant and the employer or host.
- Where the Department's IT System does not support scheduling of the activity. For more information see the Job Seeker Calendar and Annual Activity Requirement IT Supporting Document.

System step: For Participants participating in CTA, scheduling this activity in the Calendar is required. Any hours marked as attended will automatically accrue towards Participant's AAR. Providers should manually record additional monthly AAR hours for Participants who are in the Work for the Dole Phase and who have an AAR so that the Participant fully meets their AAR for the period of participation in CTA.

System step: For Participants undertaking a Launch into Work program pre-employment project, scheduling these Activities in the Calendar is not required. Providers should manually record monthly AAR hours for Participants who are in the Work for the Dole Phase and who have an AAR.

For further information regarding how to set a Participant's required hours in the Calendar, refer to the Calendar user Guide on the Learning Centre Website.

Recording Participant participation against the AAR

System step: Participants will be responsible for recording their attendance at Activities. However, for those Participants found not capable of recording attendance, Providers must record attendance in approved Activities using the Calendar. All results must be recorded by close of business on the day of participation in the activity

- for study or training Activities, Providers must record the outcomes of the training course upon completion (for example, whether a certificate or statement of attainment was achieved).

For all Activity types, the Provider must negotiate with the Supervisor the most appropriate reporting and recording mechanism to ensure that the Provider can record in the system the number of hours a Participant has participated in for each day (for Work for the Dole Activities) or month (for all other approved Activities). This should reflect the Host Organisation's normal business practices. For short breaks, these may form part of the Participant's normal hours of participation, and count toward their AAR.

Alternatively, when setting up the Activities in the Calendar, it is recommended that the Provider request evidence based attendance recording, which will include a QR code and passcode to be generated by the Department's IT System. They must have the contact details of the Supervisor up to date so that the Supervisor can receive the QR code and passcode the day of the Activity. Participants will then be able to scan the QR code when they attend the Activity. If the Activity is longer than four hours, the Department's IT System will generate two codes: one for the start of the Activity and one for the end of the Activity.

For further information regarding how to record attendance in the Calendar, refer to the Department's Job Seeker Calendar and Annual Activity Requirement Details IT Supporting Document and the IT System Online Help.

EST Providers will enter course details into the Calendar component of the Department's IT System. Providers will refer and place eligible Participants from their caseload into the courses; the Activity Diary is automatically updated with the course details.

System step: For CTA activities, satisfactory participation in the activity will meet the Participant's AAR. I.e. The Participant will be deemed to be fully meeting their fortnightly AAR in the fortnights they are participating in CTA activities, regardless of the contact hours. Any hours scheduled that are marked as attended will automatically accrue towards the Participant's AAR. jobactive Providers must manually record the relevant additional monthly hours as per the Participant's AAR, using the Monthly Hours section of the AAR Details screen of the Department's IT Systems so that the Participant fully meets their AAR for the period of participation in CTA.

Recording participation via the Supervisor App

Supervisors can use the Supervisor App to record a Participant's attendance in Work for the Dole and other approved Activities. However, they should be encouraged to only do so for Participant who:

- have been assessed as not being capable of recording or reporting their own attendance

or

- have been assessed as being capable of recording or reporting their own attendance but who are unable to do for themselves on the day.

In most cases it is expected that the Supervisor will receive a QR code or passcode that has been generated by the Department's IT System, and Participant will be able to scan it with their mobile devices to record their own attendance. If the activity is longer than four hours, the Supervisor will receive two QR codes or passcodes: one for the morning when the Participants arrive, and one for the afternoon when the Participants leave for the day.

For further information on the Supervisor App, refer to the Work for the Dole IT Supporting Document.

System step: EST Providers will continue to have access to the Supervisor App to record Participants attendance at EST courses where appropriate.

Documentary evidence: Where Participants have used evidence to record their attendance directly into the Department's IT System, offline records are not required to be kept. The same applies where Activity attendance information has been entered by the Activity Host Organisation into the Supervisor App or directly into the Department's IT System, offline records are not required to be kept.

Recording of Work for the Dole participation in the Calendar

System step: Participants will be able to record their own attendance at Work for the Dole Activities. Where Participants are not capable of recording their own attendance, or are unable to due to certain circumstances, Providers must record results against all required participation in the Calendar for every day that the Participant was required to participate, as per notification issued to the Participant by the close of business each day.

Recording participation in paid work in the AAR Details screen

System step: For participation in paid work Activities, ESS Web will automatically place the Participant into a 'Part Time/Casual Paid Employment' Activity when the Participant declares hours of paid work to Services Australia. If the Participant is in the Work for the Dole Phase, the system will automatically populate the AAR Details Screen with the hours declared to Services Australia.

Where necessary, Providers can override the hours received from Services Australia e.g. if they disagree with the Services Australia hours for a period and hold documentary evidence supporting the updated hours.

Recording other approved Activities either in the Activity Diary or AAR Details screen

System step: For all other Approved Activities, attendance results, to meet the AAR must be recorded through the Calendar (using the same process as for Work for the Dole activities).

For Participants doing on-line courses not required to be recorded in the Participants Calendar are encouraged to record the total hours completed for each month in the Work for the Dole Phase within 20 Business Days of each month of participation.

If a Participant is participating in an Activity that fully meets their AAR, the Calendar will only count those hours that are scheduled towards the Participant's AAR. The remaining hours should be credited by entering them in using the monthly hours section of the AAR Details screen.

Providers are to record the hours completed by the Participant in all Approved Activities during the Work for the Dole Phase by the deadline of 20 Business Days after a Participant exits the Work for the Dole Phase, or exits the Provider's caseload (for example, exiting from jobactive or transferring to another Provider).

If nothing is entered into the system by then, the Participant's required hours will be recorded as zero for that period.

If Providers are aware that duplicate hours have been created for AAR, Providers must reduce the number of hours within 20 Business Days. This may occur when a Participant is in paid work, a day of Activity is resulted as No Longer Required (NLR) as the Participant is working on that day and declares the hours worked. The Participant would be created the Activity hours and the hours declared. The Participant should have credited the higher of the two hours for the individual day.

(Deed reference: Clause 107)

Completing the AAR

Recording requirements

System step: At the end of the Work for the Dole Phase, Providers must ensure the AAR Details screen correctly displays whether the Participant has met their AAR.

System step: Providers have up to 20 business days from when a Participant exits the Work for the Dole Phase or when they exit the Provider's caseload (e.g. exiting from jobactive or transferring to another Provider) to enter hours of participation the Participant undertook within the Phase that were not required to be entered daily in the Calendar.

The Provider is not required to take any further action if the total hours recorded is equal to or greater than the Participant's required AAR hours. In this case the AAR Details screen will display that the AAR has been met.

If the recorded hours are lower than the required AAR hours, but the Participant has nevertheless met their AAR (for example, the Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements changed from part-time to full-time while they were in the Work for the Dole Phase), the Provider must within 20 Business Days of the end of the Work for the Dole Phase:

- select a reason in the system to indicate how the Participant has met their AAR
- record that the AAR has been met.

If the recorded hours are lower than the Participant's required AAR hours, no reason is selected and the AAR has not been recorded as met, the Participant will not have met their AAR.

For further information regarding how to record completion of the AAR, refer to the Department's IT System Online Help.

(Deed reference: Clause 107)

Meeting the AAR early

Within the Work for the Dole Phase

Within the Work for the Dole Phase, Participants may be permitted to complete additional hours in an Activity every week or fortnight, either to allow them flexibility if their particular circumstances require it, or to assist a Host Organisation. These additional hours will count towards a Participant's AAR and, in effect, means that some Participants will satisfy their AAR early. However:

- any hours a Participant agrees to do in excess of 50 hours per fortnight in Work for the Dole must be created as a voluntary component of their Job Plan using the Job Plan code and recording Activities in the Calendar.
- Participants must not undertake more than 50 hours per fortnight in a National Work Experience Programme Placement or a Work Experience (Other) Placement.

Participants should not be allowed to choose to complete hours early of their own accord. Any additional hours in a week/fortnight can only occur when agreed upon between the Provider, the Host Organisation and the Participant, where there is an identified benefit to the Participant.

If the AAR is completed early, the Provider must ensure that the Participant's Job Plan continues to contain the other requirements that would enable the Participant to continue to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. This includes attending Provider Appointments, undertaking any other appropriate Activities, undertaking Job Searches and acting on referrals to jobs in the remaining part of the Work for the Dole Phase after the AAR for that year has already been met.

Early commencement of the Work for the Dole phase

The Work for the Dole Phase can be brought forward for all stream Participant after six months (but before 12 months) of jobactive services if the Provider considers the Participant is not benefiting from, or actively participating in services/interventions designed to improve their employment prospects.

AAR Record Keeping

Documentary evidence: In addition to recording the relevant information in the Department's IT System, Providers must retain the following additional forms of evidence (either hard copy or soft copy):

- timesheets or other records of attendance, including information collected through the Supervisor App, where used
- a statement of attainment or similar (for accredited education)
- a signed training notice or signal notice (for Defence Force Reserves)
- an invoice for services or a letter of acceptance into a program (for non-vocational interventions including drug or alcohol rehabilitation programs and preventative health treatments and interventions)
- Activity Host Organisation Agreements for Work for the Dole, Voluntary Work, the National Work Experience Programme, Work Experience (Other) and PaTH Internships.
- CTA Agreement (for CTA Courses)
- risk assessment documentation which details that all Deed and relevant guideline requirements have been considered for both the Participant and the Activity (for Activities where risk assessments are required to be undertaken)

Documentary evidence: For part-time/casual work or self-employment, the hours of paid work reported by the Participant to Services Australia to stimulate the Participant income support payment is acceptable documentary evidence. This information is automatically populated into the 'Recording of Services Australia Part Time/Casual Paid Employment AAR Hours' section of the AAR Details screen and no further documentation is required if this information is accepted. See the Job Seeker Calendar and Annual Activity Requirement Details IT Supporting Document for more information about how paid employment is counted towards the AAR. Details of the hours of paid work completed by the Participant can also be accessed from the Case Summary Screen of the Department's IT System (Job Seeker Information – View Declared Earnings) or through the SUB316 – Declared Hours report through ES

Reporting. If the Provider chooses to override the hours declared to Services Australia, the Provider must keep:

- For paid work: payslips or Employer payroll summaries,
- For self-employment:
  - a Profit and Loss Statement, a signed and dated written statement from an accountant and/or registered bookkeeper, or copies of records from the Australian Taxation Office and/or a tax return statement.

5. Privacy and information sharing

Providers must comply with Social Security Law and Australian privacy legislation. A Participant's Personal Information must only be used or disclosed for the purpose it was collected, except in limited circumstances such as where the Participant gives permission or where Commonwealth laws allow or other special circumstances.

Providers should seek independent legal advice if they have any concerns regarding their obligations under any privacy or other legislation. For further information, refer to the Privacy Guideline.

Sharing Job Plans with SEE or AMEP Providers

Participants participating in the Skills for Education and Employment (SEE) program or Adult Migrant English Program (AMEP) should be encouraged to share their Job Plans with their SEE or AMEP Providers in order to make them aware of their full Mutual Obligation Requirements. This will assist SEE and AMEP Providers in ensuring that they place Participants in courses with study to fully meet their AAR in the Work for the Dole Phase.

6. Summary of Required Documentary Evidence

Notification to Participants of their Mutual Obligation Requirements

- The Provider will notify Participants of their Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the reasonable notice timeframes for the relevant method of notification.
- The Provider will create a notification record in the Department's IT System, identifying the method of notification used (i.e. SMS, email or letter).
- If the Provider is in direct contact with the Participant, the Provider must record as the notification method that the appointment was booked directly with the Participant.
- If an Activity or Appointment is rescheduled by the Provider, formal notification must be issued to the Participant of their new requirements.

Note: If the Provider chooses to record the Participant's Activity details in the Activity Diary, this will help them to issue notification of the specific details of participation in an Activity to the Participant.

AAR and other Approved Activities

Documentary evidence: In addition to recording the relevant information in the Department's IT System, Providers must retain the following additional forms of evidence (either hard copy or soft copy):

- timesheets or other records of attendance, including information collected through the Supervisor App, where used
- a statement of attainment or similar (for accredited education)
- a signed training notice or signal notice (for Defence Force Reserves)
- an invoice for services or a letter of acceptance into a program (for non-vocational interventions)
- Activity Host Organisation Agreements for Work for the Dole, Voluntary Work, the National Work Experience Programme and Work Experience (Other) Placements
- CTA Agreement (for CTA Courses)
- risk assessment documentation which details that all Deed and relevant guideline requirements have been considered for both the Participant and the Activity (for Activities where risk assessments are required to be undertaken)
- payslips or Employer payroll summaries (for part-time work)
  - For both self-employment and part-time/casual paid work, income reported by the Participant to Services Australia to stimulate a Participant's income support payment is acceptable documentary evidence. This information is available from the Case Summary Screen of the Department's IT System (Job Seeker Information – View Declared Earnings). The information provided indicates both the earnings and the hours worked
  - Additionally, documentary evidence for self-employment can include:
    - a Profit and Loss Statement
    - a signed and dated written statement from an accountant and/or registered bookkeeper
    - copies of records from the Australian Taxation Office and/or a tax return statement
    - a Business Activity Statement.

If Activity attendance information has been entered by the Activity Host Organisation into the Mobile Supervisor's App or directly into the Department's IT System, or the Participant has used evidenced based recording of attendance, offline records are not required to be kept.

A Participant's attendance at their internship will be recorded to ensure the hours completed by the Participant end of each month are counted against the Participant's AAR.

(Deed reference: Section B4)

All capitalised terms in this guideline have the same meaning as in the jobactive Deed 2015–2022 (the Deed).

This Guideline is not a stand-alone document and does not contain the entirety of Employment Services Providers' obligations. It must be read in conjunction with the Deed and any relevant Guidelines or reference material issued by Department of Education, Skills and Employment Business under or in connection with the Deed.

Notes:

- NEIS Prospective Participants who have been assessed as NEIS Eligible will meet their AAR for the period they are participating in NEIS Training.
- Participants in NEIS who have not transferred to NEIS Allowance when they commence NEIS Assistance will fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.
- Volunteer Participants do not have a mandatory number of Job Searches.
- Outside the AAR, Providers can require Participants to participate in other Activities (in addition to Job Search and Provider Appointments).

- Participants can meet their AAR through full participation in the Defence Reserves (240 hours over 26 weeks or 18–20 hours per fortnight).

Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline

Participants generally have Mutual Obligation Requirements, such as looking for work and participating in Activities that will improve their employment prospects, in return for receiving taxpayer-funded income support paid by Services Australia.

The main aim of Mutual Obligation Requirements is to help a Participant into paid work and reduce reliance on income support as quickly as possible. It also allows for Participants to contribute to the community that supports them while they are unemployed.

1. Defining Mutual Obligation Requirements

Participants on the following Income Support Payments must meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements to receive their payment:

- JobSeeker Payment
- Youth Allowance (other)
- Parenting Payment Single (when their youngest child turns six)
- Special Benefit (Nominated Visa Holders).

Participants' Income Support Payments are generally paid in fortnightly instalments, therefore, job seekers need to have and satisfy sufficient Mutual Obligation Requirements for each fortnight they are receiving Income Support Payments.

A Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements are generally determined by considering their:

- age
- assessed work capacity, and
- whether they have primary responsibility for the care of a child.

Participants with full-time requirements should be looking for work full-time and actively addressing the individual circumstances that affect their capacity to undertake paid work.

Participants with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements are:

- Principal Carer Parents whose youngest child is between 6 to 15 years of age
- Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work or a temporary reduced work capacity of 15 to 29 hours per week.

Participants' Mutual Obligation Requirements include:

- entering into a Job Plan and fully complying with the requirements in their Job Plan
- attending all Services Australia and Provider appointments
- acting on Job Referrals and attending Job Interviews offered by employers
- undertaking Job Search (generally 20 Job Searches per month)
- meeting their Annual Activity Requirement (AAR) (refer to the Annual Activity Requirement \(AAR\) section of this guideline)
- participating in any Activity that is relevant to their personal circumstances and will help the Participant to improve their employment prospects.

A broad range of Activities can be used to meet a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements. A list of Suitable Activities that can be used to meet a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements are available here.

Also refer to Job Plan and Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline for information about Job Plan codes.

The Activities Participants are undertaking must be included in their Job Plan as either a compulsory or voluntary Activity. There must be at least one compulsory Activity included in a Job Plan for job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements.

Voluntary Activities are not subject to the Targeted Compliance Framework.

Determining Mutual Obligation Requirements

When determining Mutual Obligation Requirements it is important to identify both a Participant's strengths as well as any barriers they have to finding employment. Any vocational and non-vocational Activities are to be tailored to address the Participant's individual needs and work capacity.

Consider and seek out Activities that will help Participants overcome or manage any vocational and non-vocational barriers.

Activities or other requirements in the Job Plan must not place unreasonable demands on the Participant. The Participant must be capable of doing any Activity and meeting all requirements included in their Job Plan.

After consulting with the Participant, determine the Activities to meet the Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law. Providers should take into account the Participant's preferences wherever possible. However, as the delegate of the Secretary of the Department of Education, Skills and Employment, Provider staff will ultimately determine what Activities the Participant must do to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements under Social Security Law.

Record the Activities and other relevant items in the Participant's Job Plan, and schedule Activities in the Calendar. If drug or alcohol dependency is impacting on participation and appropriate treatment services are not available the Provider must record this information on the Job Seeker's Personal Summary Page ('What you need to know').

Under Social Security Law, Participants must be formally notified of the dates, times and locations for attending appointments and participating in Activities, along with any special requirements such as wearing work boots and other safety gear.

Considering a Participant's circumstances

When determining a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements and setting the terms of a Job Plan, consult with the Participant and consider:

- individual circumstances – in particular, their assessed work capacity (where relevant), their capacity to comply with requirements and their personal needs
- education, experience, skills and age
- the impact of any disability, illness, physical or mental health condition or other non-vocational issue, including drug and alcohol dependency, affecting a Participant's ability to work, look for work or participate in Activities
- the state of the local labour market and the transport options available to the Participant in accessing that market
- the participation opportunities and Activities available to the Participant

- their family and care responsibilities (including availability of child care)
- the length of travel time required to comply with the requirements (reasonable travel time is 90 minutes each way or, if the Participant is a Principal Carer Parent or has a Partial Capacity to Work, 60 minutes each way)
- the financial costs (such as travel costs) of complying with the requirements and the Participant's capacity to pay for such costs
- whether the Participant has any vulnerability indicators (as identified by Services Australia) such as homelessness, psychiatric problems or mental health conditions, severe drug or alcohol dependency, or traumatic relationship breakdown
- any history of the job seeker not complying with their Mutual Obligation Requirements (to ensure that they undertake appropriate requirements in return for tax-payer funded income support)
- cultural factors
- if they are an Early School Leaver
- the number of hours a fortnight the Participant is required to undertake approved Activities in the Work for the Dole Phase
- if the Participant participated in Time to Work Employment Service, any comments and recommendations in the Time to Work Employment Service Transition Plan (Providers can find the Transition Plan in the Department's IT System)
- any other matters that the Provider considers relevant to the Participant's circumstances (including if the Participant discloses they are a victim of family violence).

When setting the Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements, review any barriers identified through an Employment Services Assessment (ESAt) or Job Capacity Assessment (JCA) or other issues disclosed to the Provider. The Job Seeker Classification Instrument (JSCI) and Capability Management Tool may also help identify personal issues affecting a Participant's employability. These will help the Provider decide on the Activities required of a Participant to meet their fortnightly Mutual Obligation Requirements, including their AAR in the Work for the Dole Phase.

Information about a Participant's circumstances can be found on the Participation Profile screen of the Department's IT System.

Using the Capability Management Tool

The Capability Management Tool in Department's IT System needs to be updated when conducting a Capability Interview, or at any the Participant discloses new barriers. It should be used to review and manage a Participant's personal circumstances which may affect their capacity to participate in Activities or other requirements and can assist in identifying specific vocational or non-vocational barriers, including those disclosed by the Participant.

The Capability Management Tool can help to:

- ensure the Participant has requirements in their Job Plan appropriate to their circumstances
- include ESAt recommended Interventions in the Job Plan

- record additional vocational or non-vocational issues.

Providers should familiarise themselves with relevant Deed provisions in case Participants request access to their records in the Capability Management Tool.

See the Capability Interview Guideline for information on updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for Principal Carer Parents

Consider a Principal Carer Parent's family and caring responsibilities, including the availability of suitable childcare, when setting Mutual Obligation Requirements. During school terms, face-to-face Provider Appointments and participation Activities should be scheduled during school hours (generally between 9.00 am to 3.00 pm) unless otherwise agreed to by the Principal Carer Parent.

The Department's IT System will automatically identify time outside of school hours in the Principal Carer Parent's Calendar. Providers will be able to set requirements at times outside school hours, including weekends. However, Providers will need to discuss this with the Principal Carer Parent to ensure they are available at that time and record the Principal Carer Parent's availability in the Department's IT System. This information will be attached to the requirement.

Principal Carer Parents have part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements and can fully meet their requirements through 30 hours per fortnight of:

- paid work (including self-employment)
- approved study (see the section on Approved Short Courses in this Guideline)
- Voluntary Work (as described below), or
- a combination of the above.

Providers can approve Voluntary Work for the purposes of a Principal Carer Parent fully meeting their Mutual Obligation requirements if:

- the Provider determines that the Principal Carer Parent lives in a weak labour market
- limited training opportunities are locally available (online courses may be considered 'locally available' if they have access to a computer)
- there is a significant vocational aspect to the Voluntary Work.

The Voluntary Work must be in an organisation approved by Services Australia.

If the Principal Carer Parent fully meets their Mutual Obligation Requirements, through sufficient participation in the above Activities they cannot be required to complete Job Search or meet any other additional requirements.

A Principal Carer Parent who is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation in paid work and/or study, may be eligible for a Provider Exit (which is processed manually by the Provider) if participation in the approved Activity is likely to be ongoing or last more than 13 weeks.

See the Period of Service, Suspensions and Exits Guideline.

If a Principal Carer Parent is either 55 years of age or over or has a Partial Capacity to Work, the category of Mutual Obligation Requirement which gives the Participant a lesser work requirement should be applied.

Meeting Mutual Obligation Requirements for Principal Carer Parents during school holiday periods

If a Principal Carer Parent is unable to obtain suitable childcare during the school holiday period, the Provider will need to make alternative arrangements to support Participants to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. A Principal Carer Parent will not be required to attend Work for the Dole or another Activity during the school holidays if appropriate care and supervision of their children is not available or affordable.

For example, while Principal Carers Parents are not required to attend face-to-face appointments with their Provider during school holidays, they can engage with their Provider through other means, such as by telephone or via Skype/face-time etc. Job Search can also be conducted from home or the Provider may also decide to reduce Job Search requirements over the school holiday period, while the Principal Carer Parent is caring for children during school holidays.

Principal Carer Parents must continue to meet their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements during the school holidays except for the fortnight in which the Christmas public holiday falls.

Employer initiated shut down period over the extended Christmas/New Year school holiday break

Principal Carer Parents who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements by working 30 hours a fortnight (including instances when working is one of a combination of Activities) are considered to be meeting their requirements during the employer initiated shutdown period over the extended Christmas/New Year school holiday period. This only applies to Principal Carer Parents who reasonably expect to resume their employment when their employer resumes business in the New Year.

The employer initiated shut down period break can only be taken while the place of employment is closed, up to a maximum of eight weeks. After eight weeks the Principal Carer Parent will be required to participate in other Activities to meet Mutual Obligation Requirements while the employer is in the shutdown period.

Inability to obtain suitable childcare is an Acceptable or Valid Reason

If the Principal Carer Parent is required to undertake an Activity but is unable to obtain suitable childcare, they will have an Acceptable or Valid Reason to not undertake that requirement. If this occurs, alternative requirements must be set to enable the Participant to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work

Participants have a Partial Capacity to Work if both their baseline work capacity and work capacity within two years of Intervention are less than 30 hours per week.

Mutual Obligation Requirements are based on a Participant's work capacity within two years with Intervention. However, Participants are not required to participate immediately at the higher work capacity. Rather, the Participant's capacity to participate can be increased through participation in a suitable program of assistance or other appropriate Activity.

When a Participant's work capacity with Intervention is less than their baseline work capacity due to a deteriorating condition, their Mutual Obligation Requirements are based on their baseline work capacity.

Participants with an assessed Partial Capacity to Work of 15-29 hours per week can fully meet their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements through 30 hours per fortnight of paid work including self-employment, approved study, or a combination of these Activities.

If they fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation per fortnight in the above Activities these Participants cannot be required to undertake Job Search or meet other requirements. They also do not need to remain connected with a Provider and will be Suspended on a Provider's caseload.

Participants with an assessed Partial Capacity to Work who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation in paid work and/or study, may be eligible for a Provider Exit (which is processed manually by the Provider) if participation in the approved Activity is likely to be ongoing or last more than 13 weeks. See the Period of Service, Suspensions and Exits Guideline.

Participants who have been assessed as having a Partial Capacity to Work of 0-14 hours per week can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements by attending quarterly appointments with Services Australia.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for Participants with temporary reduced work capacity

Participants may have a temporary medical condition with a temporary reduced work capacity applied by Services Australia (which is identified through an Employment Services Assessment). Participants will have reduced requirements for the period of their temporary reduced work capacity. Providers must take this into account when setting suitable approved Activities and the level of participation in the Job Plan.

If a Provider considers that a Participant without an assessed temporary reduced work capacity is impacted by a medium or long-term medical condition, the Provider should take these personal circumstances into account when setting Mutual Obligation Requirements and record the information about the Participant's circumstances in the 'What you need to know' section of the Department's IT System. Providers should exercise judgement and take these personal circumstances into account when setting Mutual Obligation Requirements. Medium or long-term medical conditions are usually episodic or chronic in nature and include schizophrenia, psychosis, depression and anxiety. Where appropriate, Providers should advise Participants to contact Services Australia so that a reduction in their Mutual Obligation Requirements through a temporary reduced work capacity status or an exemption can be considered or to test their eligibility for the Disability Support Pension.

Participants who have been assessed as having a temporary reduced work capacity of 15-29 hours per week can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements through 30 hours per fortnight of paid work (including self-employment) approved study or a combination of these Activities.

If the Participant is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation per fortnight in the above Activities they cannot be required to undertake any Job Search or meet other requirements. They do not need to remain connected to a Provider and will be Suspended from the Provider's caseload.

Participants with an assessed temporary reduced work capacity who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation in paid work and/or study, may be eligible for a Provider Exit (which is processed manually by the Provider) if participation in the approved Activity is likely to be ongoing or last more than 13 weeks. See the Period of Service, Suspensions and Exits Guideline.

Participants who have been assessed as having a temporary reduced work capacity of 0-14 hours per week can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements through participation in a quarterly interview with Services Australia.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for mature-age Participants

Participants 55 years of age and over can meet their full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements through paid work (including self-employment), approved Voluntary Work or a combination of these Activities, depending on their age and circumstances as follows:

- If the Participant is 55 – 59 years of age and in their first 12 months of receiving payment, they can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements by completing 30 hours per fortnight of paid work. This can also be met by completing 30 hours per fortnight of a combination of approved Voluntary Work and paid work. However, this must include at least 15 hours per fortnight of paid work.
- If the Participant is 55 – 59 years of age and has been receiving payment for more than 12 months, they can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements if they undertake at least 30 hours per fortnight of paid work, approved Voluntary Work or a combination of the two Activities.
- If the Participant is aged between 60 and the age pension age, they can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements if they undertake at least 30 hours per fortnight of paid work, approved Voluntary Work or a combination of the two activities.

These Participants cannot be required to do Job Search or other requirements if they are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements in this way.

Participants should remain connected with a Provider but will be Suspended on a Provider's caseload. However, Providers can continue to refer them to job opportunities. Services Australia will make an initial Appointment with the Provider for Participants 55 years of age and over, even if they are already satisfying their Mutual Obligation Requirements (as above). Participants who fail to attend this Appointment or any other scheduled Provider Appointments or who fail to accept referrals to jobs, may be subject to action under the Targeted Compliance Framework.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for some Ministers of Religion

Ministers of Religion who are either a Principal Carer Parent or have a Partial Capacity to Work will be regarded as fully meeting their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements by undertaking at least 30 hours per fortnight of paid pastoral work for their religious organisation.

Monitoring by Services Australia for Participants fully meeting their requirements

For the above cohorts of Participants, Services Australia will determine whether a Participant is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements. If Services Australia establishes that they are participating sufficiently in appropriate Activities, they will update the Participant's Job Plan to include the Activities they are undertaking to fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. Once Services Australia determines a Participant (other than a mature-age Participant) is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the Participant may be a Services Australia managed Participant and Exited from the Provider's caseload.

Continuing voluntarily in Employment Services

- A Participant fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements may elect to participate voluntarily in services while they are Suspended after:
  - being contacted by their Provider to discuss and agree to voluntarily participate while Suspended from employment services
  - notifying Services Australia, who will either call their Provider or book an Appointment for them
  - contacting their Provider directly to request services.
- If a Participant who is Suspended from employment services elects to voluntarily participate in employment services, the Provider must provide services to the Participant.
- If a Participant who is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements participates voluntarily in employment services, Providers must not remove the relevant compulsory Activities that Services Australia has included in their Job Plan. Additional Activities included in the Job Plan must be added as voluntary.

Sufficient work test

The decision that a Participant is doing sufficient work would generally be restricted to cases where the person can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements while still receiving some payment and a person can demonstrate a stable pattern of employment and earnings (e.g. permanent part-time work). If there is significant variation in hours worked and earning from fortnight to fortnight, whether a Participant's work fully meets their Mutual Obligation Requirements must be determined fortnightly.

Self-employment will satisfy the sufficient work test if the Participant is working at least their required number of hours and the taxable income provides the equivalent of the national minimum wage rate for the minimum required hours. If self-employment does not satisfy the sufficient work test, the Participant will generally be required to look for alternative work.

Documentary evidence: Providers must document a Participant's satisfactory participation in self-employment as per the Documentary Evidence for AAR and other Approved Activities section of this guideline.

If a Participant's commitment to their business activities interferes with required Job Search or other Activities, the person will usually not be considered to be 'unemployed' for the purpose of qualifying for income support.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for Early School Leavers

An Early School Leaver is a person who receives Youth Allowance (other), is under 22 years of age and has not completed Year 12, the final year of secondary school or an equivalent Australian Qualifications Framework Certificate III level or above.

Until they turn 22 years of age or attain Year 12 or an equivalent qualification, Early School Leavers are generally required to participate in:

- full-time education or training with no Job Search requirement, including Certificate I and II level courses
- a combination of part-time education or training and part-time work for a total of 25 hours per week (15 hours for Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week) and no Job Search requirement
- other approved Activities for 25 hours per week (15 hours for Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week), including the requirement to do up to 20 Job Searches per month.

Early School Leavers who are eligible for Youth Jobs PaTH Employability Skills Training and PaTH Internship Placements must still undertake Job Search. For further information on these programs, refer to Youth Jobs PaTH Employability Skills Training (EST) section of this guideline.

Once an Early School Leaver has completed Year 12 or an equivalent qualification or turns 22 years of age, they will no longer be an Early School Leaver. They will be subject to the Mutual Obligation Requirements that apply to other Participants.

Verification of an Early School Leaver's qualifications

Only Services Australia can verify a Year 12 or equivalent qualification to determine whether a young person is no longer an Early School Leaver. Services Australia will accept any of the following:

- a Year 12 certificate issued by a Senior Secondary Board of Studies
- an Australian Qualification Framework Certificate III
- a higher qualification issued by a Registered Training Organisation or higher educational institution
- a Certificate III or IV of General Education for Adults
- the International Baccalaureate

- other higher education pre-entry course.

Documentary evidence: Providers must fax an Early School Leaver's qualifications to the Services Australia Business Hotline on 1300 786 102. Sight the original and send a copy of the completed qualification with the cover sheet at Attachment B. If the original qualification has been lost or destroyed, a certified copy of the qualification or a letter from the education institution formally verifying attainment of the qualification will be accepted. If none of these can be obtained, a statutory declaration from the Early School Leaver will be accepted. The statutory declaration must include the name of the course, date completed, name of institution and institution contact details, and must be appropriately certified. Do not send verification requests to Services Australia if the education level is below Year 12.

If Services Australia does not accept the qualification, they will contact the Provider. Providers must contact the Early School Leaver to advise them of the reason the qualification was not verified.

System step: Where accepted by Services Australia, update the education level information in the Participant's JSCI to reflect the Early School Leaver's advised higher level of educational attainment.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for pregnant Participants

Generally, Mutual Obligation Requirements for pregnant Participants will not change during the first two trimesters of pregnancy. However, Providers must take into account the Participant's personal circumstances when setting their Mutual Obligation Requirements. Pregnant Participants are exempt from Mutual Obligation Requirements from 6 weeks before the expected due date until six weeks following the birth of the child.

Pregnant Participants will not be required to undertake Job Search from three months before their due date. During this time, Providers cannot compel these Participants to accept job offers or referrals to job interviews.

Participants exempt from Mutual Obligation Requirements

If a Participant is temporarily unable to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, Services Australia may grant an Exemption from requirements for a specified period. This recognises the different family and personal situations that Participants face and that can prevent them from participating in Job Search, paid work, Work for the Dole, vocational training or a range of other Activities designed to improve their employment prospects.

The types of Exemptions that may be applied include but are not limited to the following situations:

- temporary medical incapacity
- serious illness
- pre and postnatal
- caring for children with a disability or other special family circumstances
- domestic violence

- other special family circumstances including:
  - if a Principal Carer Parent is a registered and active foster carer or providing foster care temporarily in an emergency, or on a respite, basis
  - if a parent is home schooling or facilitating distance education for one or more of the children or secondary pupil children for whom they are the principal carer or main supporter
  - if a Principal Carer Parent is caring for a family of four or more children aged 18 years or under
  - if a principal carer is a relative but not a parent of a child and the child is living with the principal carer in accordance with a family law order, or
  - if a principal carer is a relative but not a parent of a child (kin child) and the principal carer is caring for the wellbeing of that kin child in accordance with a document accepted by the state/territory that is responsible for the wellbeing of children.
- other special circumstances, including:
  - major personal disruption to the job seeker's home
  - major personal crisis (including homelessness)
  - affected by declared natural disaster, e.g. bushfire, flooding or cyclone
  - volunteering during a state or national emergency
  - temporary caring responsibilities
  - dad and partner leave
  - undertaking jury duty
  - being a newly protected witness
  - being a newly arrived refugee, or
  - undertaking Indigenous cultural business.

If a Provider believes that the Participant does not have the capacity to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the Participant should be encouraged to contact Services Australia to test their eligibility for an Exemption. Participants will need to provide evidence to support their claim.

If applying for an Exemption due to a temporary medical condition, the Participant will need to submit appropriate evidence, for example an approved medical certificate.

However, Services Australia should wherever possible reduce a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements rather than exempting them completely.

Participants granted an Exemption will be Suspended from a Provider's caseload for the period of the Exemption. Some Participants with longer-term Exemptions may be Exited from a Provider's caseload. However, Participants may voluntarily choose to continue participating with employment services.

NOTE: Some Participants considering an application for a Disability Support Pension may need to demonstrate that they have actively participated in a Program of Support to be eligible for Disability Support Pension. You should advise these Participants that periods of exemption will not be counted as participation in a Program of Support. More information for providers can be found in the Participation in a Programme of Support for DSP Claimants Supporting Document.

Participants subject to domestic violence

If there is any suspicion of domestic violence (including family violence) then Providers must refer the Participant to a Services Australia social worker. Providers should also refer a Participant to one of the national or state-based organisations for advice and information about domestic violence.

Providers notified of domestic violence (including family violence) as the reason for not meeting Mutual Obligation Requirements, must consider this in their assessment of whether or not the Participant had a Valid Reason.

If a Participant applies to Services Australia for an Exemption because they are subject to domestic violence (including family violence), Services Australia will make an assessment on whether an Exemption is granted and the appropriate length of the Exemption from their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

If the Participant is a Principal Carer Parent and subject to domestic violence, Services Australia will generally grant an Exemption.

Suitable Activities to meet Mutual Obligation Requirements and the AAR

Consider the Participant's Stream, Phase and individual circumstances when setting Mutual Obligation Requirements. In particular, consider whether the Participant is in the Work for the Dole Phase and has an AAR.

Include approved Activities in the Participant's Job Plan that will enable them to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, using the correct Job Plan code linked to the Activity scheduled in the Calendar. If the Participant is in the Work for the Dole Phase, sufficient hours of Activities must be scheduled in the Calendar to allow the Participant to meet their AAR.

Depending on a Participant's circumstances, there is a range of Activities they may undertake to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements (some of which are described below).

Approved Programs of Work

Only Participants over 18 years of age can take part in an Approved Program of Work.

All Participants in an Approved Program of Work (whether they are receiving a full or part rate of income support payment) are eligible for the Approved Program of Work Supplement of $20.80 a fortnight (Social Security Law).

Approved Programs of Work for jobactive Participants include:

- the National Work Experience Programme – the NWEPP can only be included as a voluntary not compulsory Activity in the Job Plan
- Work for the Dole - Only Participants 18 years of age and older can take part in Work for the Dole

Work for the Dole cannot be included as a compulsory Activity (i.e. can only be included as voluntary) in the Job Plan if:

- the Participant is receiving less than the full rate of JobSeeker Payment, Youth Allowance (other), or Parenting Payment Single, where the rate is reduced due to the income test (combined income of the Participant and, if applicable, their partner)
- the Participant's Job Plan also includes the Paid Work Job Plan code EM56
- for Special Benefit- Nominated Visa Holders, the person or, if applicable, their partner has income
- the Activity is more than 50 hours per fortnight, or
- the Participant is 60 years of age and over.

In all other circumstances, except for Participants under 18 years of age, Work for the Dole can be included as a compulsory Activity in the Participant's Job Plan.

Work for the Dole

Only Participants 18 years and older can take part in Work for the Dole.

Work for the Dole may be included as a voluntary Activity in the Participant's Job Plan in the above circumstances. However, Participants in these circumstances can be compelled to participate in another Activity to enable them to meet their AAR

If the Participant is receiving anything less than the full rate of income support, then Work for the Dole may be included in combination with other approved Activities to meet their AAR. If they elect to do this, then Work for the Dole must be included as a voluntary Activity in their Job Plan.

Providers should regularly review if the Participant is receiving a full rate of income support or a reduced rate due to the income test. Providers can view a Participant's previous four fortnights' income support payment rate on the Department's IT System Notification screen. If a Participant returns to the full rate of income support, the Provider can update the Participant's Job Plan to include Work for the Dole as a compulsory Activity.

Documentary evidence: Providers may also consider requesting documentary evidence from the Participant to determine if that Participant is declaring income to Services Australia or is on a reduced rate of income support for other reasons.

If the Participant fails to actively participate in the voluntary Work for the Dole Activity, then a Provider should consider replacing it with an alternative compulsory Activity so that the job seeker can meet their AAR. For example, the job seeker could be compelled to do some voluntary work to achieve the required hours each fortnight. The Participant should not receive the Approved Program of Work Supplement in a fortnight in which they did not actively participate in Work for the Dole.

National Work Experience Programme

The National Work Experience Programme provides voluntary short-term placements for Participants 17 years of age or over, regardless of whether the Participant is receiving full or part rate of income support payment.

Work Experience (Other) Placements

Work Experience (Other) Placements provide voluntary, short-term, observational unpaid work experience placements for Participant 15 years of age or over, regardless of whether the Participant is receiving an Income Support Payment. Participation in this Activity can contribute towards a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirement, but is not approved for AAR purposes except for Stream C jobactive Participants.

Youth Jobs PaTH Employability Skills Training (EST)

A Participant is Employability Skills Training (EST) Eligible if they are between 15 and 24 years of age, receiving income support and have Mutual Obligation Requirements.

EST Courses consist of 75 hours of training, delivered at 25 hours per week over three weeks for Participants with full time Mutual Obligation Requirements and 15 hours per week over five weeks for Participants with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements.

An EST Eligible Participant has a mandatory requirement to participate in EST once they have received services through jobactive for five months. An EST mandatory Participant must be considered for both types of EST courses.

Reports are available in ESS Web and Qlik, which identify EST mandatory and eligible Participants, including those not in any Activity.

An EST mandatory Participant retains their mandatory status until they have completed both EST Courses. This is to encourage the development of employability skills. ESS Web recognises completion of an EST Course when a completion payment is claimed by the EST Provider.

Once a Participant has completed both types of EST Courses and the associated completion payments have been claimed by the EST Provider, the Participant will revert to and maintain an EST Eligible status for as long as they meet the eligibility criteria.

Providers have discretion not to refer a Participant (for whom EST would otherwise be mandatory) to an EST Course, or include EST as a compulsory Activity in the Job Plan if the Provider considers that the Participant:

- already has the relevant skills and experience (such as through having relevant recent workforce experience or already having a part time job)
- has recently completed similar training
- has Non-Vocational Barriers that must be addressed first as a priority before they can benefit from the training - this could include language issues, health issues or family problems
- would have to travel more than 90 minute each way to the training (60 minutes for Participants with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements) or there are no suitable EST courses available
- is referred to another suitable Activity - this should only be used when there is an active referral or commencement to another Activity in ESS Web. Where another Activity referral is in place with an end date in the near future, Providers should consider creating an EST referral for a future course. This provides an opportunity for the Participant to move from their current activity into EST

Choosing one of these reasons in ESS Web removes the Participant from the count of Participants who are EST Mandatory. After eight weeks the Department's IT System will override and unselect the reason, making the Participant EST Mandatory again. Providers must then reassess the suitability of EST for the Participant. Provider's use of these reasons will be monitored.

Participants who are EST eligible can also be referred to an EST Course from day one in jobactive.

Providers will receive a notification in the Department's IT System when Participants been serviced in jobactive for five months. The Activity Management Guideline provides details on EST, including how to record reasons for why a Participant will not be participating in EST Courses.

Participants with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements such as Principal Carer Parents or others with a Partial Capacity to Work may volunteer to undertake more than 15 hours per week of EST. The additional hours will need to be recorded separately in the Job Plan as a voluntary Activity. These Participants are encouraged to participate for the duration of the Course but cannot be compelled to undertake additional hours. If the Participant is unable to meet the Course hours, the Provider should consider a more suitable Activity.

System step: If a Participant is EST mandatory, ESS Web prevents the finalisation of their Job Plan when making a referral to other activities. When referring an EST mandatory Participant to another activity, the EST opt-out reason of 'referred to other activity' must be applied before updating the Job Plan with the other activity.

PaTH Internship Placements

Young Participants 17–24 years of age, with Mutual Obligation Requirements, can participate in a PaTH Internship.

Eligible young Participants must:

- be in jobactive Stream A and have participated in either block one, or block two Employability Skills Training; or
- be in jobactive Stream A and have been continuously serviced in employment services from any jobactive provider, Transition to Work provider or Disability Employment Services provider for at least six months; or
- be in jobactive Stream B or C, Transition to Work or Disability Employment Services.

Early School Leavers can participate in a PaTH Internship. PaTH Internship placements are to be included in the Job Plan as a voluntary item. However, if the Participant fails to participate, then the Provider will need to place them in an alternative compulsory Activity.

See the Managing PaTH Internships Guidelines for further information.

Career Transition Assistance (CTA)

All Participants aged 45 years and over, and registered with a jobactive Provider, are eligible to participate in CTA. CTA provides opportunities for mature-age people to identify and articulate transferable skills, increase their job readiness and better target their Job Search to local industries and available jobs, and develop basic functional IT skills.

Participation in CTA is 75 hours over an eight-week period. Where a Participant with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements is referred to CTA, the jobactive Provider should select and modify the schedule in the Participant's calendar as necessary to meet the Participant's needs.

CTA is an approved Activity for the purposes of meeting a Participant's AAR and will fully meet the Participant's AAR for the duration of their participation in CTA while in the Work for the Dole Phase.

Participation in CTA is voluntary, and CTA can only be added to a Participant's Job Plan as a voluntary Activity. CTA Providers will advise the Participant's jobactive Provider if the Participant stops attending CTA. If the Participant is exited from CTA, the jobactive Provider must place them in an alternative approved Activity.

Launch into Work

Participation in Launch into Work program pre-employment projects should be included as a voluntary Activity in the Participant's Job Plan. Providers should record this Activity in the Job Plan using the free text code. Providers should include the relevant activity details, such as the Launch into Work organisation and dates and hours of participation.

Participation in Launch into Work program pre-employment projects will fully meet participants' AAR for the duration of the project. Participants will not have to complete other activities whilst participating in the project.

Regional Employment Trials – 10 Selected Trial Regions

Participation in the Regional Employment Trials Activity will meet the job seeker's AAR for the duration of their participation in the Regional Employment Trials Activity.

Participation in a Regional Employment Trials Activity is voluntary, and providers should record participation in a Regional Employment Trials Activity as a voluntary activity in the job seeker's Job Plan.

See the Regional Employment Trials Guideline for further information, including on selected trial regions.

Approved study and short courses

People undertaking full time study should be placed on a student allowance. Providers should refer full time students to Services Australia for an income support payment eligibility check.

Participants on income support payments such as JobSeeker Payment, Youth Allowance (other) and Parenting Payment Single may participate in certain approved education or training.

Providers are responsible for identifying what training relates to skills in demand in each particular Employment Region.

Participants undertaking an approved full time short course will still be required to undertake Job Search and accept suitable work.

In some circumstances Principal Carer Parents receiving the Pensioner Education Supplement (PES) may continue to receive income support payments to complete their full time study.

What is an appropriate course of study

Providers can approve a Participant's participation in study or training under the following short course provisions:

- vocationally based
- less than 12 months or two semesters in duration
- the Participant has a semester or six months full-time equivalent remaining to complete their course and the course would greatly improve their employment prospects
- the Provider determines that participation is necessary and the course is vocationally orientated
- highly likely to provide a Participant with a qualification that will result in an Employment Outcome, improve their employability or lead to qualifications in an identified skills in a demand area as determined by the Provider
- the Participant is a single Principal Carer Parent on JobSeeker Payment Allowance and has been granted PES for the academic course (or longer course that is 12 months or more). For the purposes of meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, a single Principal Carer Parent on JobSeeker Payment can continue to undertake the study for which Pensioner Education Supplement was granted as an approved Activity until that course has been completed. Providers need to sight evidence that the single Principal Carer Parent on JobSeeker Payment is in receipt of PES for that course
- the Participant is in receipt of Parenting Payment Single (this study would usually be approved by Services Australia)
- the Participant is a Parenting Payment recipient who transfers to JobSeeker Payment or Youth Allowance (other) and in some limited instances where a Participant was granted the Disability Support Pension and then transferred to JobSeeker Payment or Youth Allowance (other). They are able to continue their studies in the same course they commenced while receiving Parenting Payment or Disability Support Pension (this would usually be approved by Services Australia) for which they receive PES.

Providers cannot approve, under short course provisions, full-time courses of 12 months (two semesters) or longer in duration, or Masters or Doctorate courses.

Note: Participants in receipt of Special Benefit (NVH) who have not attained a Year 12 or equivalent qualification, may undertake full-time study in a school institution up to Year 12. These Participants will still be required to attend Provider appointments and undertake up to 20 Job Searches per month.

A Short Course:

- is vocationally based

- is less than 12 months or two semesters in duration
- is necessary so the Participants can accept an offer of work
- leads to an early employment outcome
- leads to qualifications in an identified area of skills shortage

Approving a Short Course

Providers are responsible for making approval decisions under approved short course provisions.

An approved short course must be included as a compulsory Activity in the Participant's Job Plan.

If a Provider approves the Activity as an approved short course and includes it in the Participant Job Plan then the Participant must still look for work and attend appointments with their Provider as long as it does not conflict with the scheduled time of the course. Participant with full time mutual obligation requirements cannot fully meet their mutual obligation requirements with full time study. They are required to accept any suitable work that does not conflict with scheduled course times and must not limit their Job Searches to areas relating to the course.

A Principal Carer Parent or Participant with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 - 29 hours per week undertaking an approved short course for at least 30 hours per fortnight is considered to be fully meeting their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements. These recipients are managed by Services Australia and will be Suspended from the Provider's caseload.

For information for Providers deciding to fund an education or training course, see the Using the Employment Fund General Account Guideline.

Breaks in Activities

If a Participant has a break in an Activity which is required to satisfy their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the Provider must update the Participant's Job Plan with other Activities to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

There is no need to adjust a Participant's requirements if they have a break of less than or equal to four weeks that is outside their control. If the break is greater than four weeks then the Participant must do other requirements, such as Job Search, for the period of the break. The Job Plan must be updated to include the new requirements.

2. Suitable work

Participants must actively look for work and be prepared to accept any offer of suitable work in a variety of fields. Any work can be considered suitable provided it meets certain safeguards set out in Social Security Law, such as minimum statutory conditions and related health and safety considerations.

'Suitable work' includes any work that a Participant is capable of doing, not just work the Participant prefers to do or is specifically qualified for. This can include casual or permanent, and part-time or full time work depending on the Participant's assessed capacity. Participants are required to accept suitable work that may not be their first preference while they continue to look for work that better matches their qualifications, expertise and interest.

Work is unsuitable if it:

- involves skills, experience or qualifications that the person does not have and appropriate training will not be provided by the employer
- is above the Participant's assessed work capacity within the next two years with intervention
- may aggravate a pre-existing illness, disability or injury and medical evidence has been provided
- involves health or safety risks and would contravene an occupational health and safety law
- has terms and conditions which are less generous than the applicable statutory conditions
- involves commuting from home to work that would be unreasonably difficult (more than 60 minutes one way for Principal Carer Parents and those with Partial Capacity to Work and more than 90 minutes one way for other Participants)
- is considered by the Participants to be unsuitable on moral, cultural or religious grounds
- is not consistent with prevailing community standards
- is the subject of industrial dispute
- involves enlistment in the Defence Force or the Reserve Forces
- requires the person to change residence.

Unsuitable work for Principal Carer Parents

In addition to the above 'unsuitable work', Principal Carer Parents cannot be required to accept employment of more than 25 hours a week. Additionally, Providers should consider whether:

- the Principal Carer Parent has access to appropriate care and supervision for their child/children during the times when they would be required to work
- the location of either the workplace or the child care facility would make the total travel time to and from work unreasonable
- the Principal Carer Parent will be at least $50.00 a fortnight financially better off as result of working.

If a job offer to the Principal Carer Parent involves employment outside school hours or in school holidays, a job is generally considered suitable if there is appropriate care and supervision for a child during the hours of work (including the travel to and from work). Suitable care and supervision means:

- childcare provided by an approved childcare service (within the meaning of the Family Assistance Administration Act 1999).
- any other care or supervision arrangements that the parent deems suitable.

Unsuitable work for Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work

In addition to the list above of 'unsuitable work', work is unsuitable for Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work if:

- it does not provide appropriate support or facilities to take account of the illness, disability or injury
- the total cost of participating in employment means that the Participants would be financially worse off as a result of undertaking the work. Examples include personal care requirements incurred by the Participant to get ready for work or while on the job; disability aids required for participation in the job that are not covered by the Employer and the cost of travel to and from the job by the Participant's means of transport.

3. Job Search Requirements are an important part of Mutual Obligation Requirements

Providers will set the number of Job Searches a Participant is required to undertake per month in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law.

Record the number of Job Searches required in the Participant's Job Plan.

Participants with Mutual Obligation Requirements will usually have to look for work.

The number of Job Searches generally expected of Participants (including Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week) is:

- for Stream A and Stream B Participants – 20 Job Searches per month
- for Stream C Participants – Job Search depends on capacity
- for Participants aged 60 years and over (regardless of Stream) – Job Search depends on capacity.

Participants cannot be required to do more than 20 Job Searches per month.

When assessing the quality of the Participant's Job Search efforts, Providers should consider whether the jobs applied for were:

- at a variety of levels of seniority or remuneration that is suitable for the Participant; and
- in a variety of fields and occupations in which the Participant is suitably qualified or has experience, if that work is suitable for the Participant; and
- applied for using a variety of methods to contact potential employers.

While the above must be taken into account when assessing Job Search efforts, Providers should also consider the Job Search efforts of the Participant more holistically over time. A Participant is not required to meet each of these criteria in each separate Job Search period – therefore it is important to consider factors such as:

- labour market restrictions as the type and number of vacancies available in each Job Search period may differ; and
- the most appropriate pathway for the Participant to obtain sustainable employment. In considering this, providers could discuss and agree to a strategy for targeting Job Search efforts in advance with the Participant to increase their likelihood of securing employment.

Participants who do not have Job Search Requirements

The following Participants will not be required to undertake Job Search while they are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements:

- Principal Carer Parents
- those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week
- Participants 55 years of age and over
- Participants undertaking Drug and Alcohol rehabilitation in a Residential Program
- refugee Participants undertaking activities to help adjust to life in Australia and to increase chances of finding work.
- Pregnant Participants are exempt from Job Search from six weeks before their expected due date until six weeks following the birth of their child.
- NEIS Prospective Participants who have been assessed as NEIS Eligible but have not yet signed a NEIS Participant Agreement will have their Job Search requirements reduced to zero while participating in NEIS Training.
- NEIS Participants in receipt of Parenting Payment (Single) or the Disability Support Pension are able to choose to remain on their current payment or move to NEIS Allowance. Where they remain on their current payment while participating in NEIS Assistance and actively working on their small business, they do not have Job Search or other Mutual Obligation Requirements.
- Early School Leavers who are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through full-time education or a combination of part-time study and part-time work of 25 hours per week (15 hours for those with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements) must not have any Job Search requirements in their Job Plan.

Recording Job Search requirements in the Job Plan

When setting compulsory Job Searches, Providers must use the JS09 code. The Department is actively monitoring Job Plans and would expect that:

- for Stream A and Stream B Participants, all Job Plans should contain JS09.
- for Stream C Participants, most Job Plans should contain JS09. In some Exceptional Circumstances, Job Searches may not be required for a limited period while non-vocational issues are actively being addressed.

Circumstances that may reduce Job Search requirements

Do not reduce the number of Job Searches a Participant is required to undertake merely because the Participant is undertaking other Activities - in particular study or during the Work for the Dole Phase.

Providers may reduce the number of Job Searches as a result of a Participant's:

- physical, intellectual or psychiatric impairment
- non-residential treatments or counselling for drug and alcohol dependency (including Drug Court Orders)
- preventative health treatments and interventions – (for jobactive Indigenous Participants and Stream C Participants)
- substantially elevated level of family and caring responsibilities

- accommodation situation, where this is likely to impede Job Search
- education or skill level, where this is likely to substantially limit job opportunities
- current employment status (part-time or casual work)
- domestic violence (including family violence) or family relationship breakdown (Services Australia may grant an Exemption from Mutual Obligation Requirements in these circumstances)
- level of English language skills, if Participant is doing a course to improve these skills
- cultural factors
- the state of the labour market and the transport options available to the person in accessing that market, for example, taking into account travel time.

For example, a Stream A Participant either living in a metropolitan area or within 90 minutes travel time to metropolitan area would be expected to have 20 Job Searches per month. In a regional area with limited vacancies and where the travel time to more positive labour markets is more than 90 minutes, it might be appropriate that a Stream A Participant has a lower Job Search requirement, for example, 15 Job Searches per month.

Job Search requirements for Early School Leavers who are not meeting their requirements through study or paid work

Early School Leavers who are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through approved Activities other than just paid work and study for 25 hours per week (15 hours for Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week) must have up to 20 Job Searches per month in their Job Plan.

Job Search requirements while studying Language, Literacy and Numeracy courses

If a Provider has identified that a Participant needs to improve their Language Literacy and Numeracy skills, the number of required Job Searches may be reduced (but not reduced to zero) while the Participant is actively participating in an accredited Language Literacy and Numeracy course. Approved courses include the Skills for Education and Employment program and the Adult Migrant English Program.

Job Search requirements for Stream C Participants and Participants 60 years of age and over

The number of Job Searches required by Stream C Participants and Participants 60 years of age and over depends on their capacity. Generally, 10 Job Searches per month are expected.

When setting an appropriate number of Job Searches, in addition to other considerations, Providers may also consider:

- other non-vocational issues or vocational issues that are being, or have been addressed
- if the Participant has undertaken re-skilling or re-training

- for Stream C Participants, it might be appropriate in some Exceptional Circumstances to have no Job Searches for a period while non-vocational issues are actively being addressed.

For Stream C Participants, the number of Job Searches required is expected to increase over time as they overcome or sufficiently manage personal or non-vocational issues.

Job Search requirements for those in paid work

For Participants with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements:

- if doing at least 40 hours of declared paid work (including self-employment) per fortnight then the number of Job Searches should be halved. If the Participant is doing a significant number of hours of paid work per week and receiving only a residual amount of income support, the number of Job Searches may be reduced further.
- if doing at least 70 hours of declared paid work (including self-employment) per fortnight then the Participant should have no Job Search requirement.

For Participant with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements (Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week):

- if doing 11 to 29 hours of declared paid work (including self-employment) per fortnight, the number of Job Searches should be halved
- if doing 30 hours or more of declared paid work (including self-employment) per fortnight, the Participant should have no Job Search requirement.

(Deed references: Clause 113)

4. Annual Activity Requirement (AAR)

The AAR is the set number of hours that a Participant must complete in approved Activities when in the Work for the Dole Phase.

Most Participants have an AAR when they enter into the Work for the Dole Phase and must participate in an approved Activity or combination of approved Activities to meet their AAR.

Providers must ensure that Participants in the Work for the Dole Phase fulfil their AAR. Work for the Dole Phase Activity commencement and participation are performance measures in Providers' Star Ratings. For more information on the Star Ratings, see the Performance Framework Guideline.

Entering the Work for the Dole Phase

All Participants who are commencing in the Work for the Dole Phase for the first time start the phase after they have been in jobactive for 12 months. Following this, Participants will need to take part in the Work for Dole Phase for a continuous six months each year they remain in jobactive.

Determining the hours of participation to meet the AAR

The number of hours of participation in approved Activities that a Participant requires to meet their AAR depends on their age, their assessed capacity to work and whether they are a Principal Carer Parent.

Participants with no AAR:

- Participants who have reached Age Pension age.
- Participants who are fully meeting their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements through participation in appropriate Activities for 30 hours per fortnight
- Participants 55 years of age and over during the period they are meeting their full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements through participation in appropriate Activities for 30 hours per fortnight
- Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work or temporary reduced work capacity of 0 to 14 hours per week
- Participants with Community Service Orders of 20 or more hours per week
- Early School Leavers with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements already undertaking 25 hours a week of approved Activities or full-time study.

Using the AAR Calculator

The AAR Calculator on the Department's IT System provides information on how many hours of participation Participants need to complete to meet their AAR. See the Help. For more information on how to access the AAR Calculator.

Note: Under the Targeted Compliance Framework, where Activities are recorded in the Calendar, which contribute to a Participant's AAR, the Department's IT System will calculate hours. There are exceptions, however, where hours will still need to be manually calculated, when hours need to be adjusted.

Participation hours for Participants with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements

- Up to 49 years of age: generally must participate for 650 hours over 26 weeks (50 hours per fortnight)
- Aged 50 to 59 years of age: generally must participate for 390 hours over 26 weeks (30 hours per fortnight).
- Aged 60 years to the aged pension age: generally must participate for 130 hours over 26 weeks (10 hours per fortnight)

Participation hours for Participants with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements

- Under 30 years of age: generally must participate for 390 hours over 26 weeks (30 hours per fortnight)
- 30 to 59 years of age: in most circumstances must participate for 200 hours over 26 weeks (15 to 16 hours per fortnight).
- Aged 60 years to the aged pension age: Nil requirements

Participation hours for any Participation undertaking Defence Reserves

- For Participation undertaking Defence Reserves: 240 hours over 26 weeks (18 - 20 hours per fortnight).

Participation in the Launch into Work program

For Participation in the Work for the Dole phase, participation in Launch into Work program pre-employment projects will fully meet Participants' AAR for the project's duration. If the Participant stops attending the project, or does not commence employment with the Launch into Work Organisation at the end of the project, they need to be referred to another AAR Activity in order to complete their AAR hours for the remaining weeks of their Work for the Dole phase.

Participation in Regional Employment Trials Activities

Participation in the Regional Employment Trials Activity will meet the job seeker's AAR for the duration of their participation in the Regional Employment Trials Activity. If the participant stops attending the activity they need to be referred to another AAR activity in order to complete their AAR hours for the remaining weeks of their Work for the Dole phase.

See the Regional Employment Trials Guideline for further information.

Participation hours in study/training

Full-time load

If the training Provider considers the Participant has a full-time study load then the Participant will meet their fortnightly hour's requirement in the fortnights they are studying, regardless of actual contact hours.

For example, a Participant who has an AAR of 50 hours per fortnight and undertakes 44 contact hours per fortnight of full-time study does not have to complete any additional hours in another Activity while they are undertaking a full-time study load.

Non-contact hours

Published non-contact study hours for Participants undertaking part-time study/training will also count towards a Participant's AAR, as long as they do not exceed the course's face-to-face hours. Where a course's non-contact study hours are not published, up to a maximum of 10 non-contact study hours per fortnight can be counted towards part-time study. Any non-contact study can be reflected in the Job Plan by using the appropriate Job Plan code, with study recorded in the Participant's Calendar.

Online courses

For online courses, it is expected that the majority of course hours are non-contact. In these cases, study load (hours) and duration requirements as published by the training institution will count towards a Participant's AAR. If the total part-time study hours are not sufficient to meet a Participant's AAR, other Activities will also need to be undertaken.

System step: For study or training Activities, Providers must record the outcomes of the training course upon completion (for example, whether a certificate or statement of attainment was achieved).

Change of circumstances during the Work for the Dole Phase

If a Participant circumstances change during their Work for the Dole Phase, their AAR may also change. This may occur when a Participant becomes or ceases to be a Principal Carer Parent, where a Participant's capacity to work changes or when a Participant turns 30 years of age. In these instances, the Participant's participation must match their new requirement.

For example, if a Participant who is 49 years of age and has an overall requirement of 650 hours turns 50 years of age while in the Work for the Dole Phase, their requirement will reduce to 390 hours. If they have already completed 390 hours due to undertaking 25 hours per week over their first four months in the Work for the Dole Phase, they will have already met their AAR at this point in the Work for the Dole Phase.

Selecting Activities for a Participant to meet their AAR

After consultation with the Participant, Providers must determine and source the Activities that the Participant must undertake to meet their AAR in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law.

System step: The Provider must record these in the Participant's Job Plan, including the relevant hours of participation the Participant needs to undertake each fortnight.

Providers placing Participants into Activities must prioritise Participants with Mutual Obligation Requirements over other Participants.

System step: When recording CTA Courses in the Job Plan, the minimum hours of participation required will automatically populate, along with the timeframe for participation.

Approved Activities to meet the AAR

- Work for the Dole
- part-time employment
- National Work Experience Programme
- Work Experience (Other)
- PaTH Internships
- PaTH Employability Skills Training (EST)
- Career Transition Assistance (CTA)
- Voluntary Work
- Launch into Work program pre-employment projects
- Regional Employment Trials activities
- study/training (part-time or full-time)
  - Study/training is subject to the approved short course conditions (see the Approved short courses section of this guideline) and must be in:

- a Certificate III course or higher (but not a Masters or Doctorate course), or
  - a Certificate I or II course commenced in the Case Management Phase but not yet completed when the Participant moves into the Work for the Dole Phase (for these courses, any hours completed once a Participant enters the Work for the Dole Phase will count towards a Participant's AAR)
- accredited language, literacy and numeracy courses, which can include:
    - the Skills for Education and Employment program, or
    - the Adult Migrant English Program
  - rehabilitation for drug or alcohol dependency
  - other non-vocational assistance and Interventions for Stream C Participants
  - preventative health related Activities for jobactive Indigenous Participants and Stream C Participants
  - Defence Reserves
  - other government programs, including NEIS Training, state government programs and 'Exploring Being My Own Boss' Workshops
  - non-government programs approved for AAR purposes (see the Activity Management Guideline).

Further information on Activities suitable to meet a Participant's AAR can be found in the Activity Management Guideline, Work for the Dole Guideline, and Managing PaTH Internships Guideline.

(Deed references: Clauses 107, 108, 109)

Activities that do not count towards a Participant's AAR

There are certain Activities that will not count towards meeting a Participant's AAR. These include:

- non-accredited education and training unless it is non-vocational assistance for Stream C Participants
- Certificate I or II courses started after commencement in the Work for the Dole Phase (with the exception of accredited Language, Literacy and Numeracy courses)
- study outside of the approved short course conditions (including Masters and Doctorate courses)
- Non-vocational assistance and interventions. For example, careers counselling and personal development courses. Please note: For Stream A and B Participants, satisfactory participation in the relevant number of hours in drug or alcohol addiction treatments (including rehabilitation) will meet their AAR.

(Deed references: Clauses 107, 108, 109)

Considerations when selecting Activities to meet AAR

Participants under 18 years of age

Participants under 18 years of age with Mutual Obligation Requirements are not eligible to participate in Work for the Dole.

Participants under 17 years of age are not eligible to participate in the National Work Experience Programme.

Participants 15-24 years of age

Employability Skills Training (EST) is available to eligible Participants between 15 - 24 years of age who are receiving income support and have compulsory Mutual Obligation Requirements.

Young Participants between 17–24 years of age, with Mutual Obligation Requirements, can participate in a PaTH Internship as a voluntary activity.

A Participant will meet their fortnightly hour's requirement in the fortnights they are participating in PaTH Internships or EST, regardless of the hours of participation.

Participants 18-49 years of age

For Participants 18 - 49 years of age with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements, Work for the Dole is the principal Activity to meet their AAR unless they have:

- arranged to meet their AAR through another approved Activity that will start at the time they become subject to the AAR, or
- are already undertaking other approved Activities at the time they enter the Work for the Dole Phase.

Participants 50-59 years of age

Participants 50 to 59 of age with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements may select which approved Activity they will undertake to meet their AAR. Once chosen, this Activity should generally be entered as a compulsory requirement in their Job Plan.

Principal Carer Parents and Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work

Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week of any age may select which approved Activity they will undertake to meet their AAR. Once chosen, this Activity should generally be entered as a compulsory requirement in the Job Plan.

(Deed references: Clauses 107, 108, 109)

Participants with Community Service Orders

Participants with Community Service Orders of 20 hours or more a week do not have Mutual Obligation Requirements for the period of the Order.

If a Participant has a Community Service Order of less than 20 hours a week they still have Mutual Obligation Requirements, however, the Community Service Orders take precedence. If these Participants are in the Work for the Dole phase they will need to meet their AAR in addition to their Community Service Order.

Certain Participants undertaking non-vocational Activities/interventions

For Stream C job seekers, satisfactory participation for the relevant number of hours in non-vocational assistance or interventions (including preventative health treatments and drug or alcohol addiction rehabilitation will meet their AAR i.e. the Participant will be deemed to be fully meeting their fortnightly AAR in the fortnights they are participating in that Activity, regardless of contact hours.

For Stream A and B Participants, satisfactory participation in the relevant number of hours in drug or alcohol addiction rehabilitation will meet their AAR i.e. the Participant will be deemed to be fully meeting their fortnightly AAR in the fortnights they are participating in that Activity, regardless of contact hours.

For jobactive participants who are Indigenous or in Stream C, participation in preventative health treatments and interventions can be counted towards their AAR.

Regardless of Stream, any Participants in residential drug or alcohol addiction rehabilitation are considered to be fully meeting their mutual obligation requirements while they are in residence.

Participants who undertake other types of drug and alcohol treatments or counselling should have these activities included in their Job Plan along with appointments, other appropriate activities and an appropriate number of Job Searches. If the Participant is unable to undertake other activities in addition to treatments or counselling, the treatments or counselling will fully meet their fortnightly AAR in the fortnights they are participating in that activity, regardless of contact hours.

Note: the relevant number of hours refers to the number of hours deemed suitable by the Provider, for the Participant, for that particular non-vocational assistance or intervention. While there is no fixed lower limit on the number of hours per fortnight of contact hours, a Participant must not be referred to reduced hours of participation for the sole purposes of meeting their AAR. The Participant's participation in these Activities must be sufficient enough to be treating their condition in order to meet the Participant's AAR.

Placing the Participant in Activities

Providers must commence Participants who have an AAR in an Activity immediately after entering the Work for the Dole Phase.

Participants may undertake a combination of Activities to meet an AAR where it is deemed suitable or necessary by the Provider.

The time taken to commence a Participant in an approved Activity at the start of the Work for the Dole Phase is a performance measure in Providers' Star Ratings. For more information on the Star Ratings, see the Performance Framework Guideline.

For information on setting up and managing Activities, including important information on work health and safety, risk assessments and checks, refer to the Activity Management Guideline and the Job Plan and Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline.

Setting the required hours in the Calendar

System step: For Participants undertaking Work for the Dole to meet their AAR, Providers must use the Calendar to schedule the Participant's required participation, start and finish times as notified to the Participant.

System step: For Participants undertaking other Approved Activities, Providers must use the Calendar to schedule the required hours for all Activities, except:

- for Education and Training where the course is delivered online, or that portion of the course delivered online.
- where it is a requirement that the Participant resides with the host organisation, either as part of a residential program or Drug and Alcohol Treatment or as part of Defence Reserves.
- for Employment and work experience activities where the hours are irregular and are organised directly between the Participant and the employer or host.
- Where the Department's IT System does not support scheduling of the activity. For more information see the Job Seeker Calendar and Annual Activity Requirement IT Supporting Document.

System step: For Participants participating in CTA, or a Regional Employment Trials activity, scheduling this activity in the Calendar is required. Any hours marked as attended will automatically accrue towards Participant's AAR. Providers should manually record additional monthly AAR hours for Participants who are in the Work for the Dole Phase and who have an AAR so that the Participant fully meets their AAR for the period of participation in CTA or a Regional Employment Trials activity.

System step: For Participants undertaking a Launch into Work program pre-employment project, scheduling these Activities in the Calendar is encouraged. Providers should manually record monthly AAR hours for Participants who are in the Work for the Dole Phase and who have an AAR.

For further information regarding how to set a Participant's required hours in the Calendar, refer to the Calendar user Guide on the Learning Centre Website.

Recording Participant participation against the AAR

System step: Participants will be responsible for recording their attendance at Activities. However, for those Participants found not capable of recording attendance, Providers must record attendance in approved Activities using the Calendar. All results must be recorded by close of business on the day of participation in the activity

- for study or training Activities, Providers must record the outcomes of the training course upon completion (for example, whether a certificate or statement of attainment was achieved).

For all Activity types, the Provider must negotiate with the Supervisor the most appropriate reporting and recording mechanism to ensure that the Provider can record in the system the number of hours a Participant has participated in for each day (for Work for the Dole Activities) or month (for all other approved Activities). This should reflect the Host Organisation's normal business practices. For short breaks, these may form part of the Participant's normal hours of participation, and count toward their AAR.

Alternatively, when setting up the Activities in the Calendar, it is recommended that the Provider request evidence based attendance recording, which will include a QR code and passcode to be generated by the Department's IT System. They must have the contact details of the Supervisor up to date so that the Supervisor can receive the QR code and passcode the day of the Activity. Participants will then be able to scan the QR code when they attend the Activity. If the Activity is longer than four hours, the Department's IT System will generate two codes: one for the start of the Activity and one for the end of the Activity.

For further information regarding how to record attendance in the Calendar, refer to the Department's Job Seeker Calendar and Annual Activity Requirement Details IT Supporting Document and the IT System Online Help.

(Deed reference: Clause 107)

EST Providers will enter course details into the Calendar component of the Department's IT System. Providers will refer and place eligible Participants from their caseload into the courses; the Activity Diary is automatically updated with the course details.

System step: For CTA and Regional Employment Trials activities, satisfactory participation in the activity will meet the Participant's AAR. I.e. The Participant will be deemed to be fully meeting their fortnightly AAR in the fortnights they are participating in CTA and Regional Employment Trials activities, regardless of the contact hours. Any hours scheduled that are marked as attended will automatically accrue towards the Participant's AAR. jobactive Providers must manually record the relevant additional monthly hours as per the Participant's AAR, using the Monthly Hours section of the AAR Details screen of the Department's IT Systems so that the Participant fully meets their AAR for the period of participation in CTA or a Regional Employment Trials activity.

Recording participation via the Supervisor App

Supervisors can use the Supervisor App to record a Participant's attendance in Work for the Dole and other approved Activities. However, they should be encouraged to only do so for Participant who:

- have been assessed as not being capable of recording or reporting their own attendance

or

- have been assessed as being capable of recording or reporting their own attendance but who are unable to do for themselves on the day.

In most cases it is expected that the Supervisor will receive a QR code or passcode that has been generated by the Department's IT System, and Participant will be able to scan it with their mobile devices to record their own attendance. If the activity is longer than four hours, the Supervisor will receive two QR codes or passcodes: one for the morning when the Participants arrive, and one for the afternoon when the Participants leave for the day.

For further information on the Supervisor App, refer to the Work for the Dole IT Supporting Document.

System step: EST Providers will continue to have access to the Supervisor App to record Participants attendance at EST courses where appropriate.

Documentary evidence: Where Participants have used evidence to record their attendance directly into the Department's IT System, offline records are not required to be kept. The same applies where Activity attendance information has been entered by the Activity Host Organisation into the Supervisor App or directly into the Department's IT System, offline records are not required to be kept.

Recording of Work for the Dole participation in the Calendar

System step: Participants will be able to record their own attendance at Work for the Dole Activities. Where Participants are not capable of recording their own attendance, or are unable to due to certain circumstances, Providers must record results against all required participation in the Calendar for every day that the Participant was required to participate, as per notification issued to the Participant by the close of business each day.

Recording participation in paid work in the AAR Details screen

System step: For participation in paid work Activities, ESS Web will automatically place the Participant into a 'Part Time/Casual Paid Employment' Activity when the Participant declares hours of paid work to Services Australia. If the Participant is in the Work for the Dole Phase, the system will automatically populate the AAR Details Screen with the hours declared to Services Australia.

Where necessary, Providers can override the hours received from Services Australia e.g. if they disagree with the Services Australia hours for a period and hold documentary evidence supporting the updated hours.

Recording other approved Activities either in the Activity Diary or AAR Details screen

System step: For all other Approved Activities, attendance results, to meet the AAR must be recorded through the Calendar (using the same process as for Work for the Dole activities).

For Participants doing on-line courses not required to be recorded in the Participants Calendar are encouraged to record the total hours completed for each month in the Work for the Dole Phase within 20 Business Days of each month of participation.

If a Participant is participating in an Activity that fully meets their AAR, the Calendar will only count those hours that are scheduled towards the Participant's AAR. The remaining hours should be credited by entering them in using the monthly hours section of the AAR Details screen.

Providers are to record the hours completed by the Participant in all Approved Activities during the Work for the Dole Phase by the deadline of 20 Business Days after a Participant exits the Work for the Dole Phase, or exits the Provider's caseload (for example, exiting from jobactive or transferring to another Provider).

If nothing is entered into the system by then, the Participant's required hours will be recorded as zero for that period.

If Providers are aware that duplicate hours have been created for AAR, Providers must reduce the number of hours within 20 Business Days. This may occur when a Participant is in paid work, a day of Activity is resulted as No Longer Required (NLR) as the Participant is working on that day and declares the hours worked. The Participant would be created the Activity hours and the hours declared. The Participant should have credited the higher of the two hours for the individual day.

(Deed reference: Clause 107)

Completing the AAR

Recording requirements

System step: At the end of the Work for the Dole Phase, Providers must ensure the AAR Details screen correctly displays whether the Participant has met their AAR.

System step: Providers have up to 20 business days from when a Participant exits the Work for the Dole Phase or when they exit the Provider's caseload (e.g. exiting from jobactive or transferring to another Provider) to enter hours of participation the Participant undertook within the Phase that were not required to be entered daily in the Calendar.

The Provider is not required to take any further action if the total hours recorded is equal to or greater than the Participant's required AAR hours. In this case the AAR Details screen will display that the AAR has been met.

If the recorded hours are lower than the required AAR hours, but the Participant has nevertheless met their AAR (for example, the Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements changed from part-time to full-time while they were in the Work for the Dole Phase), the Provider must within 20 Business Days of the end of the Work for the Dole Phase:

- select a reason in the system to indicate how the Participant has met their AAR
- record that the AAR has been met.

If the recorded hours are lower than the Participant's required AAR hours, no reason is selected and the AAR has not been recorded as met, the Participant will not have met their AAR.

For further information regarding how to record completion of the AAR, refer to the Department's IT System Online Help.

(Deed reference: Clause 107)

Meeting the AAR early

Within the Work for the Dole Phase

Within the Work for the Dole Phase, Participants may be permitted to complete additional hours in an Activity every week or fortnight, either to allow them flexibility if their particular circumstances require it, or to assist a Host Organisation. These additional hours will count towards a Participant's AAR and, in effect, means that some Participants will satisfy their AAR early. However:

- any hours a Participant agrees to do in excess of 50 hours per fortnight in Work for the Dole must be created as a voluntary component of their Job Plan using the Job Plan code and recording Activities in the Calendar.
- Participants must not undertake more than 50 hours per fortnight in a National Work Experience Programme Placement or a Work Experience (Other) Placement.

Participants should not be allowed to choose to complete hours early of their own accord. Any additional hours in a week/fortnight can only occur when agreed upon between the Provider, the Host Organisation and the Participant, where there is an identified benefit to the Participant.

If the AAR is completed early, the Provider must ensure that the Participant's Job Plan continues to contain the other requirements that would enable the Participant to continue to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. This includes attending Provider Appointments, undertaking any other appropriate Activities, undertaking Job Searches and acting on referrals to jobs in the remaining part of the Work for the Dole Phase after the AAR for that year has already been met.

Early commencement of the Work for the Dole phase

The Work for the Dole Phase can be brought forward for all stream Participant after six months (but before 12 months) of jobactive services if the Provider considers the Participant is not benefiting from, or actively participating in services/interventions designed to improve their employment prospects.

AAR Record Keeping

Documentary evidence: In addition to recording the relevant information in the Department's IT System, Providers must retain the following additional forms of evidence (either hard copy or soft copy):

- timesheets or other records of attendance, including information collected through the Supervisor App, where used
- a statement of attainment or similar (for accredited education)
- a signed training notice or signal notice (for Defence Force Reserves)
- an invoice for services or a letter of acceptance into a program (for non-vocational interventions including drug or alcohol rehabilitation programs and preventative health treatments and interventions)
- Activity Host Organisation Agreements for Work for the Dole, Voluntary Work, the National Work Experience Programme, Work Experience (Other) and PaTH Internships.
- CTA Agreement (for CTA Courses)
- risk assessment documentation which details that all Deed and relevant guideline requirements have been considered for both the Participant and the Activity (for Activities where risk assessments are required to be undertaken)

Documentary evidence: For part-time/casual work or self-employment, the hours of paid work reported by the Participant to Services Australia to stimulate the Participant income support payment is acceptable documentary evidence. This information is automatically populated into the 'Recording of Services Australia Part Time/Casual Paid Employment AAR Hours' section of the AAR Details screen and no further documentation is required if this information is accepted. See the Job Seeker Calendar and Annual Activity Requirement Details IT Supporting Document for more information about how paid employment is counted towards the AAR. Details of the hours of paid work completed by the Participant can also be accessed from the Case Summary Screen of the Department's IT System (Job Seeker Information – View Declared Earnings) or through the SUB316 – Declared Hours report through ES Reporting. If the Provider chooses to override the hours declared to Services Australia, the Provider must keep:

- For paid work: payslips or Employer payroll summaries,
- For self-employment:
  - a Profit and Loss Statement, a signed and dated written statement from an accountant and/or registered bookkeeper, or copies of records from the Australian Taxation Office and/or a tax return statement.

5. Privacy and information sharing

Providers must comply with Social Security Law and Australian privacy legislation. A Participant's Personal Information must only be used or disclosed for the purpose it was collected, except in limited circumstances such as where the Participant gives permission or where Commonwealth laws allow or other special circumstances.

Providers should seek independent legal advice if they have any concerns regarding their obligations under any privacy or other legislation. For further information, refer to the Privacy Guideline.

Sharing Job Plans with SEE or AMEP Providers

Participants participating in the Skills for Education and Employment (SEE) program or Adult Migrant English Program (AMEP) should be encouraged to share their Job Plans with their SEE or AMEP Providers in order to make them aware of their full Mutual Obligation Requirements. This will assist SEE and AMEP Providers in ensuring that they place Participants in courses with study to fully meet their AAR in the Work for the Dole Phase.

6. Summary of Required Documentary Evidence

Notification to Participants of their Mutual Obligation Requirements

- The Provider will notify Participants of their Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the reasonable notice timeframes for the relevant method of notification.
- The Provider will create a notification record in the Department's IT System, identifying the method of notification used (i.e. SMS, email or letter).
- If the Provider is in direct contact with the Participant, the Provider must record as the notification method that the appointment was booked directly with the Participant.
- If an Activity or Appointment is rescheduled by the Provider, formal notification must be issued to the Participant of their new requirements.

Note: If the Provider chooses to record the Participant's Activity details in the Activity Diary, this will help them to issue notification of the specific details of participation in an Activity to the Participant.

AAR and other Approved Activities

Documentary evidence: In addition to recording the relevant information in the Department's IT System, Providers must retain the following additional forms of evidence (either hard copy or soft copy):

- timesheets or other records of attendance, including information collected through the Supervisor App, where used
- a statement of attainment or similar (for accredited education)
- a signed training notice or signal notice (for Defence Force Reserves)
- an invoice for services or a letter of acceptance into a program (for non-vocational interventions)
- Activity Host Organisation Agreements for Work for the Dole, Voluntary Work, the National Work Experience Programme and Work Experience (Other) Placements

- CTA Agreement (for CTA Courses)
- risk assessment documentation which details that all Deed and relevant guideline requirements have been considered for both the Participant and the Activity (for Activities where risk assessments are required to be undertaken)
- payslips or Employer payroll summaries (for part-time work)
  - For both self-employment and part-time/casual paid work, income reported by the Participant to Services Australia to stimulate a Participant's income support payment is acceptable documentary evidence. This information is available from the Case Summary Screen of the Department's IT System (Job Seeker Information – View Declared Earnings). The information provided indicates both the earnings and the hours worked
  - Additionally, documentary evidence for self-employment can include:
    - a Profit and Loss Statement
    - a signed and dated written statement from an accountant and/or registered bookkeeper
    - copies of records from the Australian Taxation Office and/or a tax return statement
    - a Business Activity Statement.

If Activity attendance information has been entered by the Activity Host Organisation into the Mobile Supervisor's App or directly into the Department's IT System, or the Participant has used evidenced based recording of attendance, offline records are not required to be kept.

A Participant's attendance at their internship will be recorded to ensure the hours completed by the Participant end of each month are counted against the Participant's AAR.

(Deed reference: Section B4)

All capitalised terms in this guideline have the same meaning as in the jobactive Deed 2015–2022 (the Deed).

This Guideline is not a stand-alone document and does not contain the entirety of Employment Services Providers' obligations. It must be read in conjunction with the Deed and any relevant Guidelines or reference material issued by Department of Education, Skills and Employment Business under or in connection with the Deed.

Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline

Participants generally have Mutual Obligation Requirements, such as looking for work and participating in Activities that will improve their employment prospects, in return for receiving taxpayer-funded income support paid by Services Australia.

The main aim of Mutual Obligation Requirements is to help a Participant into paid work and reduce reliance on income support as quickly as possible. It also allows for Participants to contribute to the community that supports them while they are unemployed.

1. Defining Mutual Obligation Requirements

Participants on the following Income Support Payments must meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements to receive their payment:

- JobSeeker Payment
- Youth Allowance (other)
- Parenting Payment Single (when their youngest child turns six)
- Special Benefit (Nominated Visa Holders).

Participants' Income Support Payments are generally paid in fortnightly instalments, therefore, job seekers need to have and satisfy sufficient Mutual Obligation Requirements for each fortnight they are receiving Income Support Payments.

A Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements are generally determined by considering their:

- age
- assessed work capacity, and
- whether they have primary responsibility for the care of a child.

Participants with full-time requirements should be looking for work full-time and actively addressing the individual circumstances that affect their capacity to undertake paid work.

Participants with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements are:

- Principal Carer Parents whose youngest child is between 6 to 15 years of age
- Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work or a temporary reduced work capacity of 15 to 29 hours per week.

Participants' Mutual Obligation Requirements include:

- entering into a Job Plan and fully complying with the plan's requirements
- attending all appointments with Services Australia and/or a Provider
- acting on Job Referrals and attending Job Interviews offered by employers
- undertaking Job Searches (up to 20 Job Searches per month)
- meeting their Annual Activity Requirement (AAR) (refer to the Annual Activity Requirement \(AAR\) section of this guideline)
- participating in any Activity that is relevant to their personal circumstances and will help the Participant to improve their employment prospects.

A broad range of Activities can be used to meet a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements. A list of Suitable Activities that can be used to meet a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements are available here.

Also refer to Job Plan and Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline for information about Job Plan codes.

The Activities Participants are undertaking must be included in their Job Plan as either a compulsory or voluntary Activity. There must be at least one compulsory Activity included in a Job Plan for job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements.

Voluntary Activities are not subject to the Targeted Compliance Framework.

Determining Mutual Obligation Requirements

When determining Mutual Obligation Requirements it is important to identify both a Participant's strengths as well as any barriers they have to finding employment. Any vocational and non-vocational Activities are to be tailored to address the Participant's individual needs and work capacity.

Consider and seek out Activities that will help Participants overcome or manage any vocational and non-vocational barriers.

Activities or other requirements in the Job Plan must not place unreasonable demands on the Participant. The Participant must be capable of doing any Activity and meeting all requirements included in their Job Plan.

After consulting with the Participant, determine the Activities to meet the Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law. Providers should take into account the Participant's preferences wherever possible. However, as the delegate of the Secretary of the Department of Education, Skills and Employment, Provider staff will ultimately determine what Activities the Participant must do to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements under Social Security Law.

Record the Activities and other relevant items in the Participant's Job Plan, and schedule Activities in the Calendar. If drug or alcohol dependency is impacting on participation and appropriate treatment services are not available the Provider must record this information on the Job Seeker's Personal Summary Page ('What you need to know').

Under Social Security Law, Participants must be formally notified of the dates, times and locations for attending appointments and participating in Activities, along with any special requirements such as wearing work boots and other safety gear.

Considering a Participant's circumstances

When determining a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements and setting the terms of a Job Plan, consult with the Participant and consider:

- individual circumstances – in particular, their assessed work capacity (where relevant), their capacity to comply with requirements and their personal needs
- education, experience, skills and age
- the impact of any disability, illness, physical or mental health condition or other non-vocational issue, including drug and alcohol dependency, affecting a Participant's ability to work, look for work or participate in Activities
- the state of the local labour market and the transport options available to the Participant in accessing that market
- the participation opportunities and Activities available to the Participant

- their family and care responsibilities (including availability of child care)
- the length of travel time required to comply with the requirements (reasonable travel time is 90 minutes each way or, if the Participant is a Principal Carer Parent or has a Partial Capacity to Work, 60 minutes each way)
- the financial costs (such as travel costs) of complying with the requirements and the Participant's capacity to pay for such costs
- whether the Participant has any vulnerability indicators (as identified by Services Australia) such as homelessness, psychiatric problems or mental health conditions, severe drug or alcohol dependency, or traumatic relationship breakdown
- any history of the job seeker not complying with their Mutual Obligation Requirements (to ensure that they undertake appropriate requirements in return for tax-payer funded income support)
- cultural factors
- if they are an Early School Leaver
- the number of hours a fortnight the Participant is required to undertake approved Activities in the Work for the Dole Phase
- if the Participant participated in Time to Work Employment Service, any comments and recommendations in the Time to Work Employment Service Transition Plan (Providers can find the Transition Plan in the Department's IT Systems)
- any other matters that the Provider considers relevant to the Participant's circumstances (including if the Participant discloses they are a victim of family violence).

When setting the Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements, review any barriers identified through an Employment Services Assessment (ESAt) or Job Capacity Assessment (JCA) or other issues disclosed to the Provider. The Job Seeker Classification Instrument (JSCI) and Capability Management Tool may also help identify personal issues affecting a Participant's employability. These will help the Provider decide on the Activities required of a Participant to meet their fortnightly Mutual Obligation Requirements, including their AAR in the Work for the Dole Phase.

Information about a Participant's circumstances can be found on the Participation Profile screen of the Department's IT Systems.

Using the Capability Management Tool

The Capability Management Tool in Department's IT Systems needs to be updated when conducting a Capability Interview, or at any the Participant discloses new barriers. It should be used to review and manage a Participant's personal circumstances which may affect their capacity to participate in Activities or other requirements and can assist in identifying specific vocational or non-vocational barriers, including those disclosed by the Participant.

The Capability Management Tool can help to:

- ensure the Participant has requirements in their Job Plan appropriate to their circumstances
- include ESAt recommended Interventions in the Job Plan

- record additional vocational or non-vocational issues.

Providers should familiarise themselves with relevant Deed provisions in case Participants request access to their records in the Capability Management Tool.

See the Capability Interview Guideline for information on updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for Principal Carer Parents

Consider a Principal Carer Parent's family and caring responsibilities, including the availability of suitable childcare, when setting Mutual Obligation Requirements. During school terms, face-to-face Provider Appointments and participation Activities should be scheduled during school hours (generally between 9.00 am to 3.00 pm) unless otherwise agreed to by the Principal Carer Parent.

The Department's IT Systems will automatically identify time outside of school hours in the Principal Carer Parent's Calendar. Providers will be able to set requirements at times outside school hours, including weekends. However, Providers will need to discuss this with the Principal Carer Parent to ensure they are available at that time and record the Principal Carer Parent's availability in the Department's IT Systems. This information will be attached to the requirement.

Principal Carer Parents have part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements and can fully meet their requirements through 30 hours per fortnight of:

- paid work (including self-employment)
- approved study (see the section on Approval of Study and Training in this Guideline)
- Voluntary Work (as described below), or
- a combination of the above.

Providers can approve Voluntary Work for the purposes of a Principal Carer Parent fully meeting their Mutual Obligation requirements if:

- the Provider determines that the Principal Carer Parent lives in a weak labour market
- limited training opportunities are locally available (online courses may be considered 'locally available' if they have access to a computer)
- there is a significant vocational aspect to the Voluntary Work.

The Voluntary Work must be in an organisation approved by Services Australia.

If the Principal Carer Parent fully meets their Mutual Obligation Requirements, through sufficient participation in the above Activities they cannot be required to complete Job Search or meet any other additional requirements.

A Principal Carer Parent who is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation in paid work and/or study, may be eligible for a Provider Exit (which is processed manually by the Provider) if participation in the approved Activity is likely to be ongoing or last more than 13 weeks.

See the Period of Service, Suspensions and Exits Guideline.

If a Principal Carer Parent is either 55 years of age or over or has a Partial Capacity to Work, the category of Mutual Obligation Requirement which gives the Participant a lesser work requirement should be applied.

Meeting Mutual Obligation Requirements for Principal Carer Parents during school holiday periods

If a Principal Carer Parent is unable to obtain suitable childcare during the school holiday period, the Provider will need to make alternative arrangements to support Participants to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. A Principal Carer Parent will not be required to attend Work for the Dole or another Activity during the school holidays if appropriate care and supervision of their children is not available or affordable.

For example, while Principal Carers Parents are not required to attend face-to-face appointments with their Provider during school holidays, they can engage with their Provider through other means, such as by telephone or via Skype/face-time etc. Job Search can also be conducted from home or the Provider may also decide to reduce Job Search requirements over the school holiday period, while the Principal Carer Parent is caring for children during school holidays.

Principal Carer Parents must continue to meet their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements during the school holidays except for the fortnight in which the Christmas public holiday falls.

Employer initiated shut down period over the extended Christmas/New Year school holiday break

Principal Carer Parents who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements by working 30 hours a fortnight (including instances when working is one of a combination of Activities) are considered to be meeting their requirements during the employer initiated shutdown period over the extended Christmas/New Year school holiday period. This only applies to Principal Carer Parents who reasonably expect to resume their employment when their employer resumes business in the New Year.

The employer initiated shut down period break can only be taken while the place of employment is closed, up to a maximum of eight weeks. After eight weeks the Principal Carer Parent will be required to participate in other Activities to meet Mutual Obligation Requirements while the employer is in the shutdown period.

Inability to obtain suitable childcare is an Acceptable or Valid Reason

If the Principal Carer Parent is required to undertake an Activity but is unable to obtain suitable childcare, they will have an Acceptable or Valid Reason to not undertake that requirement. If this occurs, alternative requirements must be set to enable the Participant to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work

Participants have a Partial Capacity to Work if both their baseline work capacity and work capacity within two years of Intervention are less than 30 hours per week.

Mutual Obligation Requirements are based on a Participant's work capacity within two years with Intervention. However, Participants are not required to participate immediately at the higher work capacity. Rather, the Participant's capacity to participate can be increased through participation in a suitable program of assistance or other appropriate Activity.

When a Participant's work capacity with Intervention is less than their baseline work capacity due to a deteriorating condition, their Mutual Obligation Requirements are based on their baseline work capacity.

Participants with an assessed Partial Capacity to Work of 15-29 hours per week can fully meet their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements through 30 hours per fortnight of paid work including self-employment, approved study, or a combination of these Activities.

If they fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation per fortnight in the above Activities these Participants cannot be required to undertake Job Search or meet other requirements. They also do not need to remain connected with a Provider and will be Suspended on a Provider's caseload.

Participants with an assessed Partial Capacity to Work who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation in paid work and/or study, may be eligible for a Provider Exit (which is processed manually by the Provider) if participation in the approved Activity is likely to be ongoing or last more than 13 weeks. See the Period of Service, Suspensions and Exits Guideline.

Participants who have been assessed as having a Partial Capacity to Work of 0-14 hours per week can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements by attending quarterly appointments with Services Australia.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for Participants with temporary reduced work capacity

Participants may have a temporary medical condition with a temporary reduced work capacity applied by Services Australia (which is identified through an Employment Services Assessment). Participants will have reduced requirements for the period of their temporary reduced work capacity. Providers must take this into account when setting suitable approved Activities and the level of participation in the Job Plan.

If a Provider considers that a Participant without an assessed temporary reduced work capacity is impacted by a medium or long-term medical condition, the Provider should take these personal circumstances into account when setting Mutual Obligation Requirements and record the information about the Participant's circumstances in the 'What you need to know' section of the Department's IT Systems. Providers should exercise judgement and take these personal circumstances into account when setting Mutual Obligation Requirements. Medium or long-term medical conditions are usually episodic or chronic in nature and include schizophrenia, psychosis, depression and anxiety. Where appropriate, Providers should advise Participants to contact Services Australia so that a reduction in their Mutual Obligation Requirements through a temporary reduced work capacity status or an exemption can be considered.

Participants who have been assessed as having a temporary reduced work capacity of 15-29 hours per week can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements through 30 hours per fortnight of paid work (including self-employment) approved study or a combination of these Activities.

If the Participant is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation per fortnight in the above Activities they cannot be required to undertake any Job Search or meet other requirements. They do not need to remain connected to a Provider and will be Suspended from the Provider's caseload.

Participants with an assessed temporary reduced work capacity who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through sufficient participation in paid work and/or study, may be eligible for a Provider Exit (which is processed manually by the Provider) if participation in the approved Activity is likely to be ongoing or last more than 13 weeks. See the Period of Service, Suspensions and Exits Guideline.

Participants who have been assessed as having a temporary reduced work capacity of 0-14 hours per week can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements through participation in a quarterly interview with Services Australia.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for mature-age Participants

Participants 55 years of age and over can meet their full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements through paid work (including self-employment), approved Voluntary Work or a combination of these Activities, depending on their age and circumstances, as follows:

- If the Participant is 55 - 59 years of age and in their first 12 months of receiving payment, they can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements by completing 30 hours per fortnight of paid work. This can also be met by completing 30 hours per fortnight of a combination of approved study, Voluntary Work and paid work. However, this must include at least 15 hours per fortnight of paid work.
- If the Participant is 55 – 59 years of age and has been receiving payment for more than 12 months, they can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements if they undertake at least 30 hours per fortnight of paid work, approved Voluntary Work or a combination of the two Activities.
- If the Participant is aged between 60 and the age pension age, they can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements if they undertake at least 30 hours per fortnight of paid work, approved Voluntary Work or a combination of the two activities.

These Participants cannot be required to do Job Search or other requirements if they are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements in this way.

Participants should remain connected with a Provider but will be Suspended on a Provider's caseload. However, Providers can continue to refer them to job opportunities. Services Australia will make an initial Appointment with the Provider for Participants 55 years of age and over, even if they are already satisfying their Mutual Obligation Requirements (as above). Participants who fail to attend this Appointment or any other scheduled Provider Appointments or who fail to accept referrals to jobs, may be subject to action under the Targeted Compliance Framework.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for some Ministers of Religion

Ministers of Religion who are either a Principal Carer Parent or have a Partial Capacity to Work will be regarded as fully meeting their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements by undertaking at least 30 hours per fortnight of paid pastoral work for their religious organisation.

Monitoring by Services Australia for Participants fully meeting their requirements

For the above cohorts of Participants, Services Australia will determine whether a Participant is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements. If Services Australia establishes that they are participating sufficiently in appropriate Activities, they will update the Participant's Job Plan to include the Activities they are undertaking to fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. Once Services Australia determines a Participant (other than a mature-age Participant) is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the Participant may be a Services Australia managed Participant and Exited from the Provider's caseload.

Continuing voluntarily in Employment Services

- A Participant fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements may elect to participate voluntarily in services while they are Suspended after:
  - being contacted by their Provider to discuss and agree to voluntarily participate while Suspended from employment services
  - notifying Services Australia, who will either call their Provider or book an Appointment for them
  - contacting their Provider directly to request services.
- If a Participant who is Suspended from employment services elects to voluntarily participate in employment services, the Provider must provide services to the Participant.
- If a Participant who is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements participates voluntarily in employment services, Providers must not remove the relevant compulsory Activities that Services Australia has included in their Job Plan. Additional Activities included in the Job Plan must be added as voluntary.

Sufficient work test

The decision that a Participant is doing sufficient work would generally be restricted to cases where the person can fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements while still receiving some payment and a person can demonstrate a stable pattern of employment and earnings (e.g. permanent part-time work). If there is significant variation in hours worked and earning from fortnight to fortnight, whether a Participant's work fully meets their Mutual Obligation Requirements must be determined fortnightly.

Self-employment will satisfy the sufficient work test if the Participant is working at least their required number of hours and the taxable income provides the equivalent of the national minimum wage rate for the minimum required hours. If self-employment does not satisfy the sufficient work test, the Participant will generally be required to look for alternative work.

Documentary evidence: Providers must document a Participant's satisfactory participation in self-employment as per the Documentary Evidence for AAR and other Approved Activities section of this guideline.

If a Participant's commitment to their business activities interferes with required Job Search or other Activities, the person will usually not be considered to be 'unemployed' for the purpose of qualifying for income support.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for Early School Leavers

An Early School Leaver is a person who receives Youth Allowance (other), is under 22 years of age and has not completed Year 12, the final year of secondary school or an equivalent Australian Qualifications Framework Certificate III level or above.

Until they turn 22 years of age or attain Year 12 or an equivalent qualification, Early School Leavers are generally required to participate in:

- full-time education or training with no Job Search requirement, including Certificate I and II level courses
- a combination of part-time education or training and part-time work for a total of 25 hours per week (15 hours for Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week) and no Job Search requirement
- other approved Activities for 25 hours per week (15 hours for Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week), including the requirement to do up to 20 Job Searches per month.

Early School Leavers who are eligible for Youth Jobs PaTH Employability Skills Training and PaTH Internship Placements must still undertake Job Search. For further information on these programs, refer to Youth Jobs PaTH Employability Skills Training (EST) section of this guideline.

Once an Early School Leaver has completed Year 12 or an equivalent qualification or turns 22 years of age, they will no longer be an Early School Leaver. They will be subject to the Mutual Obligation Requirements that apply to other Participants.

Verification of an Early School Leaver's qualifications

Only Services Australia can verify a Year 12 or equivalent qualification to determine whether a young person is no longer an Early School Leaver. Services Australia will accept any of the following:

- a Year 12 certificate issued by a Senior Secondary Board of Studies
- an Australian Qualification Framework Certificate III
- a higher qualification issued by a Registered Training Organisation or higher educational institution

- a Certificate III or IV of General Education for Adults
- the International Baccalaureate
- other higher education pre-entry course.

Documentary evidence: Providers must fax an Early School Leaver's qualifications to the Services Australia Business Hotline on 1300 786 102. Sight the original and send a copy of the completed qualification with the cover sheet at Attachment B. If the original qualification has been lost or destroyed, a certified copy of the qualification or a letter from the education institution formally verifying attainment of the qualification will be accepted. If none of these can be obtained, a statutory declaration from the Early School Leaver will be accepted. The statutory declaration must include the name of the course, date completed, name of institution and institution contact details, and must be appropriately certified. Do not send verification requests to Services Australia if the education level is below Year 12.

If Services Australia does not accept the qualification, they will contact the Provider. Providers must contact the Early School Leaver to advise them of the reason the qualification was not verified.

System step: Where accepted by Services Australia, update the education level information in the Participant's JSCI to reflect the Early School Leaver's advised higher level of educational attainment.

Mutual Obligation Requirements for pregnant Participants

Generally, Mutual Obligation Requirements for pregnant Participants will not change during the first two trimesters of pregnancy. However, Providers must take into account the Participant's personal circumstances when setting their Mutual Obligation Requirements. Pregnant Participants are exempt from Mutual Obligation Requirements from 6 weeks before the expected due date until six weeks following the birth of the child.

Pregnant Participants will not be required to undertake Job Search from three months before their due date. During this time, Providers cannot compel these Participants to accept job offers or referrals to job interviews.

Participants exempt from Mutual Obligation Requirements

If a Participant is temporarily unable to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, Services Australia may grant an Exemption from requirements for a specified period. This recognises the different family and personal situations that Participants face and that can prevent them from participating in Job Search, paid work, Work for the Dole, vocational training or a range of other Activities designed to improve their employment prospects.

The types of Exemptions that may be applied include but are not limited to the following situations:

- temporary medical incapacity
- serious illness
- pre and postnatal

- caring for children with a disability or other special family circumstances
- domestic violence
- other special family circumstances including:
  - if a Principal Carer Parent is a registered and active foster carer or providing foster care temporarily in an emergency, or on a respite, basis
  - if a parent is home schooling or facilitating distance education for one or more of the children or secondary pupil children for whom they are the principal carer or main supporter
  - if a Principal Carer Parent is caring for a family of four or more children aged 18 years or under
  - if a principal carer is a relative but not a parent of a child and the child is living with the principal carer in accordance with a family law order, or
  - if a principal carer is a relative but not a parent of a child (kin child) and the principal carer is caring for the wellbeing of that kin child in accordance with a document accepted by the state/territory that is responsible for the wellbeing of children.
- other special circumstances, including:
  - major personal disruption to the job seeker's home
  - major personal crisis (including homelessness)
  - affected by declared natural disaster, e.g. bushfire, flooding or cyclone
  - volunteering during a state or national emergency
  - temporary caring responsibilities
  - dad and partner leave
  - undertaking jury duty
  - being a newly protected witness
  - being a newly arrived refugee, or
  - undertaking Indigenous cultural business.

If a Provider believes that the Participant does not have the capacity to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the Participant should be encouraged to contact Services Australia to test their eligibility for an Exemption. Participants will need to provide evidence to support their claim.

If applying for an Exemption due to a temporary medical condition, the Participant will need to submit appropriate evidence, for example an approved medical certificate.

However, Services Australia should wherever possible reduce a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements rather than exempting them completely.

Participants granted an Exemption will be Suspended from a Provider's caseload for the period of the Exemption. Some Participants with longer-term Exemptions may be Exited from a Provider's caseload. However, Participants may voluntarily choose to continue participating with employment services.

NOTE: Some Participants considering an application for a Disability Support Pension may need to demonstrate that they have actively participated in a Program of Support to be eligible for Disability Support Pension. You should advise these Participants that periods of exemption will not be counted as participation in a Program of Support. More information for providers can be found in the Participation in a Programme of Support for DSP Claimants Supporting Document.

Participants subject to domestic violence

If there is any suspicion of domestic violence (including family violence) then Providers must refer the Participant to a Services Australia social worker. Providers should also refer a Participant to one of the national or state-based organisations for advice and information about domestic violence.

Providers notified of domestic violence (including family violence) as the reason for not meeting Mutual Obligation Requirements, must consider this in their assessment of whether or not the Participant had a Valid Reason.

If a Participant applies to Services Australia for an Exemption because they are subject to domestic violence (including family violence), Services Australia will make an assessment on whether an Exemption is granted and the appropriate length of the Exemption from their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

If the Participant is a Principal Carer Parent and subject to domestic violence, Services Australia will generally grant an Exemption.

Suitable Activities to meet Mutual Obligation Requirements and the AAR

Consider the Participant's Stream, Phase and individual circumstances when setting Mutual Obligation Requirements. In particular, consider whether the Participant is in the Work for the Dole Phase and has an AAR.

Include approved Activities in the Participant's Job Plan that will enable them to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, using the correct Job Plan code linked to the Activity scheduled in the Calendar. If the Participant is in the Work for the Dole Phase, sufficient hours of Activities must be scheduled in the Calendar to allow the Participant to meet their AAR.

Depending on a Participant's circumstances, there is a range of Activities they may undertake to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements (some of which are described below).

Approved Programs of Work

Only Participants over 18 years of age can take part in an Approved Program of Work.

All Participants in an Approved Program of Work (whether they are receiving a full or part rate of income support payment) are eligible for the Approved Program of Work Supplement of $20.80 a fortnight (Social Security Law).

Approved Programs of Work for jobactive Participants include:

- the National Work Experience Programme – the NWEPP can only be included as a voluntary not compulsory Activity in the Job Plan
- Work for the Dole - Only Participants 18 years of age and older can take part in Work for the Dole

Work for the Dole cannot be included as a compulsory Activity (i.e. can only be included as voluntary) in the Job Plan if:

- the Participant is receiving less than the full rate of JobSeeker Payment, Youth Allowance (other), or Parenting Payment Single, where the rate is reduced due to the income test (combined income of the Participant and, if applicable, their partner)
- the Participant's Job Plan also includes the Paid Work Job Plan code EM56
- for Special Benefit- Nominated Visa Holders, the person or, if applicable, their partner has income
- the Activity is more than 50 hours per fortnight, or
- the Participant is 60 years of age and over.

In all other circumstances, except for Participants under 18 years of age, Work for the Dole can be included as a compulsory Activity in the Participant's Job Plan.

Work for the Dole

Only Participants 18 years and older can take part in Work for the Dole.

Work for the Dole may be included as a voluntary Activity in the Participant's Job Plan in the above circumstances. However, Participants in these circumstances can be compelled to participate in another Activity to enable them to meet their AAR

If the Participant is receiving anything less than the full rate of income support, then Work for the Dole may be included in combination with other approved Activities to meet their AAR. If they elect to do this, then Work for the Dole must be included as a voluntary Activity in their Job Plan.

Providers should regularly review if the Participant is receiving a full rate of income support or a reduced rate due to the income test. Providers can view a Participant's previous four fortnights' income support payment rate on the Department's IT Systems Notification screen. If a Participant returns to the full rate of income support, the Provider can update the Participant's Job Plan to include Work for the Dole as a compulsory Activity.

Documentary evidence: Providers may also consider requesting documentary evidence from the Participant to determine if that Participant is declaring income to Services Australia or is on a reduced rate of income support for other reasons.

If the Participant fails to actively participate in the voluntary Work for the Dole Activity, then a Provider should consider replacing it with an alternative compulsory Activity so that the job seeker can meet their AAR. For example, the job seeker could be compelled to do some voluntary work to achieve the required hours each fortnight. The Participant should not receive the Approved Program of Work Supplement in a fortnight in which they did not actively participate in Work for the Dole.

National Work Experience Programme

The National Work Experience Programme provides voluntary short-term placements for Participants 17 years of age or over, regardless of whether the Participant is receiving full or part rate of income support payment.

Work Experience (Other) Placements

Work Experience (Other) Placements provide voluntary, short-term, observational unpaid work experience placements for Participant 15 years of age or over, regardless of whether the Participant is receiving an Income Support Payment. Participation in this Activity can contribute towards a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirement, but is not approved for AAR purposes except for Stream C jobactive Participants.

Youth Jobs PaTH Employability Skills Training (EST)

A Participant is Employability Skills Training (EST) Eligible if they are between 15 and 24 years of age, receiving income support and have Mutual Obligation Requirements.

EST Courses consist of 75 hours of training, delivered at 25 hours per week over three weeks for Participants with full time Mutual Obligation Requirements and 15 hours per week over five weeks for Participants with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements.

An EST Eligible Participant has a mandatory requirement to participate in EST once they have received services through jobactive for five months. An EST mandatory Participant must be considered for both types of EST courses.

Reports are available in ESS Web and Qlik, which identify EST mandatory and eligible Participants, including those not in any Activity.

An EST mandatory Participant retains their mandatory status until they have completed both EST Courses. This is to encourage the development of employability skills. ESS Web recognises completion of an EST Course when a completion payment is claimed by the EST Provider.

Once a Participant has completed both types of EST Courses and the associated completion payments have been claimed by the EST Provider, the Participant will revert to and maintain an EST Eligible status for as long as they meet the eligibility criteria.

Providers have discretion not to refer a Participant (for whom EST would otherwise be mandatory) to an EST Course, or include EST as a compulsory Activity in the Job Plan if the Provider considers that the Participant:

- already has the relevant skills and experience (such as through having relevant recent workforce experience or already having a part time job)
- has recently completed similar training
- has Non-Vocational Barriers that must be addressed first as a priority before they can benefit from the training - this could include language issues, health issues or family problems
- would have to travel more than 90 minute each way to the training (60 minutes for Participants with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements) or there are no suitable EST courses available
- is referred to another suitable Activity - this should only be used when there is an active referral or commencement to another Activity in ESS Web. Where another Activity referral is in place with an end date in the near future, Providers should consider creating an EST referral for a future course. This provides an opportunity for the Participant to move from their current activity into EST

Choosing one of these reasons in ESS Web removes the Participant from the count of Participants who are EST Mandatory. After eight weeks the Department's IT Systems will override and unselect the reason, making the Participant EST Mandatory again. Providers must then reassess the suitability of EST for the Participant. Provider's use of these reasons will be monitored.

Participants who are EST eligible can also be referred to an EST Course from day one in jobactive.

Providers will receive a notification in the Department's IT Systems when Participants been serviced in jobactive for five months. The Activity Management Guideline provides details on EST, including how to record reasons for why a Participant will not be participating in EST Courses.

Participants with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements such as Principal Carer Parents or others with a Partial Capacity to Work may volunteer to undertake more than 15 hours per week of EST. The additional hours will need to be recorded separately in the Job Plan as a voluntary Activity. These Participants are encouraged to participate for the duration of the Course but cannot be compelled to undertake additional hours. If the Participant is unable to meet the Course hours, the Provider should consider a more suitable Activity.

System step: If a Participant is EST mandatory, ESS Web prevents the finalisation of their Job Plan when making a referral to other activities. When referring an EST mandatory Participant to another activity, the EST opt-out reason of 'referred to other activity' must be applied before updating the Job Plan with the other activity.

PaTH Internship Placements

Young Participants 17–24 years of age, with Mutual Obligation Requirements, can participate in a PaTH Internship.

Eligible young Participants must:

- be in jobactive Stream A and have participated in either block one, or block two Employability Skills Training; or
- be in jobactive Stream A and have been continuously serviced in employment services from any jobactive provider, Transition to Work provider or Disability Employment Services provider for at least six months; or
- be in jobactive Stream B or C, Transition to Work or Disability Employment Services.

Early School Leavers can participate in a PaTH Internship. PaTH Internship placements are to be included in the Job Plan as a voluntary item. However, if the Participant fails to participate, then the Provider will need to place them in an alternative compulsory Activity.

See the Managing PaTH Internships Guidelines for further information.

Career Transition Assistance (CTA)

All Participants aged 45 years and over, and registered with a jobactive Provider, are eligible to participate in CTA. CTA provides opportunities for mature-age people to identify and articulate transferable skills, increase their job readiness and better target their Job Search to local industries and available jobs, and develop basic functional IT skills.

Participation in CTA is 75 hours over an eight-week period. Where a Participant with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements is referred to CTA, the jobactive Provider should select and modify the schedule in the Participant's calendar as necessary to meet the Participant's needs.

CTA is an approved Activity for the purposes of meeting a Participant's AAR and will fully meet the Participant's AAR for the duration of their participation in CTA while in the Work for the Dole Phase.

Participation in CTA is voluntary, and CTA can only be added to a Participant's Job Plan as a voluntary Activity. CTA Providers will advise the Participant's jobactive Provider if the Participant stops attending CTA. If the Participant is exited from CTA, the jobactive Provider must place them in an alternative approved Activity.

Launch into Work

Participation in Launch into Work program pre-employment projects should be included as a voluntary Activity in the Participant's Job Plan. Providers should record this Activity in the Job Plan using the ET64 Work Preparation activity code. Providers should include the relevant activity details, such as the Launch into Work organisation and dates and hours of participation.

Participation in Launch into Work program pre-employment projects will fully meet participants' AAR for the duration of the project. Participants will not have to complete other activities whilst participating in the project.

Regional Employment Trials – 10 Selected Trial Regions

Participation in the Regional Employment Trials Activity will meet the job seeker's AAR for the duration of their participation in the Regional Employment Trials Activity.

Participation in a Regional Employment Trials Activity is voluntary, and providers should record participation in a Regional Employment Trials Activity as a voluntary activity in the job seeker's Job Plan.

See the Regional Employment Trials Guideline for further information, including on selected trial regions.

Local Jobs Program – 25 Selected Employment Regions

Participation in a Local Jobs Program (LJP) Activity will meet the job seeker's AAR for the duration of their participation in the LJP Activity.

Participation in a LJP Activity is voluntary, and providers should record participation in a LJP Activity as a voluntary activity in the Participant's Job Plan.

See the Local Jobs Program Guideline for further information.

Study and Training

As part of servicing and setting mutual obligation requirements, Providers should:

- encourage Participants to build on their existing skill sets and help them to access appropriate and targeted skills and training opportunities; and
- become familiar with, and promote, flexible study and training including courses subsidised by State and Territory governments, including and the JobTrainer Fund,
- ensure the training is appropriate for the Participant and that the courses are under 12 months duration and in areas of high skill demand (see below).

For Providers deciding to fund an education or training course, see the Using the Employment Fund General Account Guideline.

What is an approved course of study or training

Participants can study in a course of high skill demand where the course is no more than 12 months in duration.

Courses considered in demand include:

- subsidised courses in the Vocational Education and Training system, including additional courses made available through the JobTrainer Fund or listed on www.myskills.gov.au as 'subsidies' in the relevant State or Territory.
- Higher Education short course listed on www.courseseeker.edu.au/courses, and
- courses approved by Providers as outlined below.

Additional Provider approved in-demand courses

Providers can also approve a Participant's participation in study or training under the following provisions:

- completing the course is likely to lead to an employment outcome for the Participant, or
- there is little chance of the Participant finding employment with their existing skills, or
- the course will lead to qualifications in an area of identified skill needs.

Approval of study and training

Providers must approve study and courses. An approved course must be included as a compulsory Activity in the Participant's Job Plan.

If a Provider approves a course and includes it in the Participant Job Plan then the Participant must generally still attend appointments with their Provider, look for work and accept suitable work as long as it does not conflict with the scheduled time of the course. Job search requirements can be reduced to reflect the Participant's study load (see below section on Jobsearch).

Job seekers who are working part time while studying are taken to be fully meeting their requirements when their combined work and study hours reach 70 per fortnight.

A Principal Carer Parent or Participant with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15-29 hours per week undertaking an approved study or training for at least 30 hours per fortnight is considered to be fully meeting their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements. These recipients are managed by Services Australia and will be Suspended from the Provider's caseload.

Non-approved study or training

Participants can undertake other education or training under their own initiative at any time but, if the Activity is not approved (as outlined above) and included as a compulsory item in their Job Plan, this will not contribute towards their mutual obligation requirements.

People undertaking a full time course that is longer than 12 months in duration should generally be placed on a student allowance. Providers should refer full time students to Services Australia for an income support payment eligibility check.

Except in specific circumstances, Providers cannot approve full-time courses of 12 months (two semesters) or longer in duration, or Masters or Doctorate courses.

Note: Exceptions include:

- Participants in receipt of Special Benefit (NVH) who have not attained a Year 12 or equivalent qualification, may undertake full time study in a school institution up to Year 12. These Participants will still be required to attend Provider appointments and undertake up to 20 Job Searches per month.
- the Participant is a single Principal Carer Parent on JobSeeker Payment, has been granted PES for an academic course or course longer than 12 months. Where an eligible course for which PES is granted is being undertaken full-time or for at least 30 hours per fortnight, this will fully meet requirements, and the single principal carer will not be required to undertake additional activities. Providers can include this as approved study in the Participant's job plan, or
- the Participant is in receipt of Parenting Payment Single (this study would usually be approved by Services Australia), or
- the Participant is a Parenting Payment recipient who transferred to JobSeeker Payment or Youth Allowance (other), or, in some limited instances where a Participant was granted the Disability Support Pension, and then transferred to JobSeeker Payment or Youth Allowance (other). They are able to continue their studies in the same course they commenced while receiving the previous Income Support Payment type (this would usually be approved by Services Australia) for which they receive PES.
- Services Australia has approved participation in a full-time course for Participants prior to entering employment services if the Participant has been identified as requiring training under the Skills for Education and Employment (SEE) or Adult Migrant English Program (AMEP).
- Services Australia can also approve participation in a full-time course for any Participant prior to entering employment services or another relevant Provider's program if:
  - the Participant has an offer of employment, confirmed by a letter from the potential employer, contingent upon their completing the course
  - the course has a clear vocational application, and
  - the Participant is prepared to meet any additional expenses involved.

Breaks in Activities

If a Participant has a break in an Activity which is required to satisfy their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the Provider must update the Participant's Job Plan with other Activities to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

There is no need to adjust a Participant's requirements if they have a break of less than or equal to four weeks that is outside their control. If the break is greater than four weeks then the Participant must do other requirements, such as Job Search, for the period of the break. The Job Plan must be updated to include the new requirements.

2. Suitable work

Participants must actively look for work and be prepared to accept any offer of suitable work in a variety of fields. Any work can be considered suitable provided it meets certain safeguards set out in Social Security Law, such as minimum statutory conditions and related health and safety considerations.

'Suitable work' includes any work that a Participant is capable of doing, not just work the Participant prefers to do or is specifically qualified for. This can include casual or permanent, and part-time or full time work depending on the Participant's assessed capacity. Participants are required to accept suitable work that may not be their first preference while they continue to look for work that better matches their qualifications, expertise and interest.

Work is unsuitable if it:

- involves skills, experience or qualifications that the person does not have and appropriate training will not be provided by the employer
- is above the Participant's assessed work capacity within the next two years with intervention
- may aggravate a pre-existing illness, disability or injury and medical evidence has been provided
- involves health or safety risks and would contravene an occupational health and safety law
- has terms and conditions which are less generous than the applicable statutory conditions
- involves commuting from home to work that would be unreasonably difficult (more than 60 minutes one way for Principal Carer Parents and those with Partial Capacity to Work and more than 90 minutes one way for other Participants)
- is considered by the Participants to be unsuitable on moral, cultural or religious grounds
- is not consistent with prevailing community standards
- is the subject of industrial dispute
- involves enlistment in the Defence Force or the Reserve Forces
- requires the person to change residence.

Unsuitable work for Principal Carer Parents

In addition to the above 'unsuitable work', Principal Carer Parents cannot be required to accept employment of more than 25 hours a week. Additionally, Providers should consider whether:

- the Principal Carer Parent has access to appropriate care and supervision for their child/children during the times when they would be required to work

- the location of either the workplace or the child care facility would make the total travel time to and from work unreasonable
- the Principal Carer Parent will be at least $50.00 a fortnight financially better off as result of working.

If a job offer to the Principal Carer Parent involves employment outside school hours or in school holidays, a job is generally considered suitable if there is appropriate care and supervision for a child during the hours of work (including the travel to and from work). Suitable care and supervision means:

- childcare provided by an approved childcare service (within the meaning of the Family Assistance Administration Act 1999).
- any other care or supervision arrangements that the parent deems suitable.

Unsuitable work for Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work

In addition to the list above of 'unsuitable work', work is unsuitable for Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work if:

- it does not provide appropriate support or facilities to take account of the illness, disability or injury
- the total cost of participating in employment means that the Participants would be financially worse off as a result of undertaking the work. Examples include personal care requirements incurred by the Participant to get ready for work or while on the job; disability aids required for participation in the job that are not covered by the Employer and the cost of travel to and from the job by the Participant's means of transport.

3. Job Search Requirements are an important part of Mutual Obligation Requirements

Providers will set the number of Job Searches a Participant is required to undertake per month in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law. Record the number of Job Searches required in the Participant's Job Plan.

Participants with Mutual Obligation Requirements will usually have to look for work.

The number of Job Searches generally expected of Participants (including Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week) is:

- for Stream A and Stream B Participants – 20 Job Searches per month
- for Stream C Participants – Job Search depends on capacity
- for Participants aged 60 years and over (regardless of Stream) – Job Search depends on capacity.

Participants cannot be required to do more than 20 Job Searches per month.

When assessing the quality of the Participant's Job Search efforts, Providers should consider whether the jobs applied for were:

- at a variety of levels of seniority or remuneration that is suitable for the Participant; and

- in a variety of fields and occupations in which the Participant is suitably qualified or has experience, if that work is suitable for the Participant; unless the Participant is studying or participating in training and the Provider agrees the Participant can focus on job search relevant to their field of study if it will increase the likelihood of the Participant finding sustainable employment, and
- applied for using a variety of methods to contact potential employers.

While the above must be taken into account when assessing Job Search efforts, Providers should also consider the Job Search efforts of the Participant more holistically over time. A Participant is not required to meet each of these criteria in each separate Job Search period – therefore it is important to consider factors such as:

- labour market restrictions as the type and number of vacancies available in each Job Search period may differ; and
- the most appropriate pathway for the Participant to obtain sustainable employment. In considering this, providers could discuss and agree to a strategy for targeting Job Search efforts in advance with the Participant to increase their likelihood of securing employment.

(Deed references: Clause 113)

Participants who do not have Job Search Requirements

The following Participants will not be required to undertake Job Search while they are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements:

- Principal Carer Parents
- those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week
- Participants 55 years of age and over
- Participants undertaking Drug and Alcohol rehabilitation in a Residential Program
- refugee Participants undertaking activities to help adjust to life in Australia and to increase chances of finding work.
- Pregnant Participants are exempt from Job Search from six weeks before their expected due date until six weeks following the birth of their child.
- NEIS Prospective Participants who have been assessed as NEIS Eligible but have not yet signed a NEIS Participant Agreement will have their Job Search requirements reduced to zero while participating in NEIS Training.
- NEIS Participants in receipt of Parenting Payment (Single) or the Disability Support Pension are able to choose to remain on their current payment or move to NEIS Allowance. Where they remain on their current payment while participating in NEIS Assistance and actively working on their small business, they do not have Job Search or other Mutual Obligation Requirements.
- Early School Leavers who are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through full-time education or a combination of part-time study and part-time work of 25 hours per week (15 hours for those with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements) must not have any Job Search requirements in their Job Plan.
- Participants participating in a total of 70 hours a fortnight of combined declared paid work (including self-employment) and approved study or training (see above).

Recording Job Search requirements in the Job Plan

When setting compulsory Job Searches, Providers must use the JS09 code. The Department is actively monitoring Job Plans and would expect that:

- for Stream A and Stream B Participants, all Job Plans should contain JS09.
- for Stream C Participants, most Job Plans should contain JS09. In some Exceptional Circumstances, Job Searches may not be required for a limited period while non-vocational issues are actively being addressed.

Circumstances that may reduce Job Search requirements

Do not reduce the number of Job Searches a Participant is required to undertake merely because the Participant is undertaking other Activities - in particular study or during the Work for the Dole Phase.

Providers may reduce the number of Job Searches as a result of a Participant's:

- participation in approved study or training
- physical, intellectual or psychiatric impairment
- non-residential treatments or counselling for drug and alcohol dependency (including Drug Court Orders)
- preventative health treatments and interventions – (for jobactive Indigenous Participants and Stream C Participants)
- substantially elevated level of family and caring responsibilities
- accommodation situation, where this is likely to impede Job Search
- education or skill level, where this is likely to substantially limit job opportunities
- current employment status (part-time or casual work)
- domestic violence (including family violence) or family relationship breakdown (Services Australia may grant an Exemption from Mutual Obligation Requirements in these circumstances)
- level of English language skills, if Participant is doing a course to improve these skills
- cultural factors
- the state of the labour market and the transport options available to the person in accessing that market, for example, taking into account travel time.

For example, a Stream A Participant either living in a metropolitan area or within 90 minutes travel time to metropolitan area would be expected to have 20 Job Searches per month. In a regional area with limited vacancies and where the travel time to more positive labour markets is more than 90 minutes, it might be appropriate that a Stream A Participant has a lower Job Search requirement, for example, 15 Job Searches per month.

Job Search requirements for those in approved study and training

Participants studying an approved course or can have their studies counted towards reducing Mutual Obligation Requirements, including:

- Providers can reduce and tailor a Participant's requirements by taking into account their study/training

- Participants who are working and studying/training for at least 70 hours per fortnight will have no Job Search requirements, but will stay connected to a Provider.

Participants are still required to accept any suitable work that does not conflict with scheduled course times and Providers should consider what is an appropriate level of Job Search which will not interfere with Participants' ability to undertake their approved study/training.

Where studying an area of identified skill needs in a demand area which would be likely to improve a job seeker's employability, job seekers may initially restrict their Job Search to that skill area. For example, job seekers studying an aged care related qualification should be allowed to initially restrict their Job Search to that field. However, Providers have discretion to require job seekers to diversify their job search, particularly where previous searches in that area have been unsuccessful or there is little immediate likelihood of finding work in the area studied.

Participants who combine declared work and approved study/training for at least 70 hours per fortnight are not required to look for additional work or participate in other activities. However, they should remain connected to the Provider and may be referred to suitable work opportunities that do not conflict with their study or work.

Job Search requirements for Early School Leavers who are not meeting their requirements through study or paid work

Early School Leavers who are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through approved Activities other than just paid work and study for 25 hours per week (15 hours for Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week) must have up to 20 Job Searches per month in their Job Plan.

Job Search requirements while studying Language, Literacy and Numeracy courses

If a Provider has identified that a Participant needs to improve their Language Literacy and Numeracy skills, the number of required Job Searches may be reduced (but not reduced to zero) while the Participant is actively participating in an accredited Language Literacy and Numeracy course. Approved courses include the Skills for Education and Employment program and the Adult Migrant English Program.

Job Search requirements for Stream C Participants and Participants 60 years of age and over

The number of Job Searches required by Stream C Participants and Participants 60 years of age and over depends on their capacity. Generally, 10 Job Searches per month are expected.

When setting an appropriate number of Job Searches, in addition to other considerations, Providers may also consider:

- other non-vocational issues or vocational issues that are being, or have been addressed
- if the Participant has undertaken re-skilling or re-training

- for Stream C Participants, it might be appropriate in some Exceptional Circumstances to have no Job Searches for a period while non-vocational issues are actively being addressed.

For Stream C Participants, the number of Job Searches required is expected to increase over time as they overcome or sufficiently manage personal or non-vocational issues.

Job Search requirements for those in paid work

For Participants with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements:

- if doing at least 40 hours of declared paid work (including self-employment) per fortnight then the number of Job Searches should be halved. If the Participant is doing a significant number of hours of paid work per week and receiving only a residual amount of income support, the number of Job Searches may be reduced further.
- if doing at least 70 hours of declared paid work (including self-employment) per fortnight then the Participant should have no Job Search requirement if doing at least 70 hours of combined declared paid work (including self-employment) and approved study or training per fortnight then the Participant should have no Job Search requirement.

For Participant with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements (Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week):

- if doing 11 to 29 hours of declared paid work (including self-employment) per fortnight, the number of Job Searches should be halved
- if doing 30 hours or more of declared paid work (including self-employment) per fortnight, the Participant should have no Job Search requirement.

(Deed references: Clause 113)

4. Annual Activity Requirement (AAR)

The AAR is the set number of hours that a Participant must complete in approved Activities when in the Work for the Dole Phase.

Most Participants have an AAR when they enter into the Work for the Dole Phase and must participate in an approved Activity or combination of approved Activities to meet their AAR.

Providers must ensure that Participants in the Work for the Dole Phase fulfil their AAR. Work for the Dole Phase Activity commencement and participation are performance measures in Providers' Star Ratings. For more information on the Star Ratings, see the Performance Framework Guideline.

Entering the Work for the Dole Phase

All Participants who are commencing in the Work for the Dole Phase for the first time start the phase after they have been in jobactive for 12 months. Following this, Participants will need to take part in the Work for Dole Phase for a continuous six months each year they remain in jobactive.

Determining the hours of participation to meet the AAR

The number of hours of participation in approved Activities that a Participant requires to meet their AAR depends on their age, their assessed capacity to work and whether they are a Principal Carer Parent.

Participants with no AAR:

- Participants who have reached Age Pension age.
- Participants who are fully meeting their part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements through participation in appropriate Activities for 30 hours per fortnight
- Participants 55 years of age and over during the period they are meeting their full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements through participation in appropriate Activities for 30 hours per fortnight
- Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work or temporary reduced work capacity of 0 to 14 hours per week
- Participants with Community Service Orders of 20 or more hours per week
- Early School Leavers with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements already undertaking 25 hours a week of approved Activities or full-time study.

Using the AAR Calculator

The AAR Calculator on the Department's IT Systems provides information on how many hours of participation Participants need to complete to meet their AAR. See the Help. For more information on how to access the AAR Calculator.

Note: Under the Targeted Compliance Framework, where Activities are recorded in the Calendar, which contribute to a Participant's AAR, the Department's IT Systems will calculate hours. There are exceptions, however, where hours will still need to be manually calculated, when hours need to be adjusted.

Participation hours for Participants with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements

- Up to 49 years of age: generally must participate for 650 hours over 26 weeks (50 hours per fortnight)
- Aged 50 to 59 years of age: generally must participate for 390 hours over 26 weeks (30 hours per fortnight).
- Aged 60 years to the aged pension age: generally must participate for 130 hours over 26 weeks (10 hours per fortnight)

Participation hours for Participants with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements

- Under 30 years of age: generally must participate for 390 hours over 26 weeks (30 hours per fortnight)
- 30 to 59 years of age: in most circumstances must participate for 200 hours over 26 weeks (15 to 16 hours per fortnight).
- Aged 60 years to the aged pension age: Nil requirements

Participation hours for any Participation undertaking Defence Reserves

- For Participation undertaking Defence Reserves: 240 hours over 26 weeks (18 - 20 hours per fortnight).

Participation in the Launch into Work program

For Participation in the Work for the Dole phase, participation in Launch into Work program pre-employment projects will fully meet Participants' AAR for the project's duration. If the Participant stops attending the project, or does not commence employment with the Launch into Work Organisation at the end of the project, they need to be referred to another AAR Activity in order to complete their AAR hours for the remaining weeks of their Work for the Dole phase.

Participation in Regional Employment Trials Activities

Participation in the Regional Employment Trials Activity will meet the job seeker's AAR for the duration of their participation in the Regional Employment Trials Activity. If the participant stops attending the activity they need to be referred to another AAR activity in order to complete their AAR hours for the remaining weeks of their Work for the Dole phase.

See the Regional Employment Trials Guideline for further information.

Participation in Local Jobs Program Activities

Participation in a LJP Activity will meet the job seeker's AAR for the duration of their participation in the LJP Activity. If the participant stops attending the activity they need to be referred to another AAR activity in order to complete their AAR hours for the remaining weeks of their Work for the Dole phase.

See the Local Jobs Program Guideline for further information.

Participation hours in approved study/training

Full-time load

If the training Provider considers the Participant has a full-time study load then the Participant will meet their fortnightly hour's requirement in the fortnights they are studying, regardless of actual contact hours.

For example, a Participant who has an AAR of 50 hours per fortnight and undertakes 44 contact hours per fortnight of full-time study does not have to complete any additional hours in another Activity while they are undertaking a full-time study load.

Non-contact hours

Published non-contact study hours for Participants undertaking part-time study/training will also count towards a Participant's AAR, as long as they do not exceed the course's face-to-face hours. Where a course's non-contact study hours are not published, up to a maximum of 10 non-contact study hours per fortnight can be counted towards part-time study. Any non-contact study can be reflected in the Job Plan by using the appropriate Job Plan code, with study recorded in the Participant's Calendar.

Online courses

For online courses, it is expected that the majority of course hours are non-contact. In these cases, study load (hours) and duration requirements as published by the training institution will count towards a Participant's AAR. If the total part-time study hours are not sufficient to meet a Participant's AAR, other Activities will also need to be undertaken.

System step: For study or training Activities, Providers must record the outcomes of the training course upon completion (for example, whether a certificate or statement of attainment was achieved).

Change of circumstances during the Work for the Dole Phase

If a Participant circumstances change during their Work for the Dole Phase, their AAR may also change. This may occur when a Participant becomes or ceases to be a Principal Carer Parent, where a Participant's capacity to work changes or when a Participant turns 30 years of age. In these instances, the Participant's participation must match their new requirement.

For example, if a Participant who is 49 years of age and has an overall requirement of 650 hours turns 50 years of age while in the Work for the Dole Phase, their requirement will reduce to 390 hours. If they have already completed 390 hours due to undertaking 25 hours per week over their first four months in the Work for the Dole Phase, they will have already met their AAR at this point in the Work for the Dole Phase.

Selecting Activities for a Participant to meet their AAR

After consultation with the Participant, Providers must determine and source the Activities that the Participant must undertake to meet their AAR in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law.

System step: The Provider must record these in the Participant's Job Plan, including the relevant hours of participation the Participant needs to undertake each fortnight.

Providers placing Participants into Activities must prioritise Participants with Mutual Obligation Requirements over other Participants.

System step: When recording CTA Courses in the Job Plan, the minimum hours of participation required will automatically populate, along with the timeframe for participation.

Approved Activities to meet the AAR

- Work for the Dole
- part-time employment
- National Work Experience Programme
- Work Experience (Other)
- PaTH Internships
- PaTH Employability Skills Training (EST)

- Career Transition Assistance (CTA)
- Voluntary Work
- Launch into Work program pre-employment projects
- Regional Employment Trials activities
- Local Jobs Program activities study/training (part-time or full-time)
- Study/training must be approved by Providers (see the Approval of Study and Training section of this guideline) and must be a Certificate I course or higher (but not a Masters or Doctorate course).
- accredited language, literacy and numeracy courses, which can include:
  - the Skills for Education and Employment program, or
  - the Adult Migrant English Program
- rehabilitation for drug or alcohol dependency
- other non-vocational assistance and Interventions for Stream C Participants
- preventative health related Activities for jobactive Indigenous Participants and Stream C Participants
- Defence Reserves
- other government programs, including NEIS Training, state government programs and 'Exploring Being My Own Boss' Workshops
- non-government programs approved for AAR purposes (see the Activity Management Guideline).

Further information on Activities suitable to meet a Participant's AAR can be found in the Activity Management Guideline, Work for the Dole Guideline, and Managing PaTH Internships Guideline.

(Deed references: Clauses 107, 108, 109)

Activities that do not count towards a Participant's AAR

There are certain Activities that will not count towards meeting a Participant's AAR. These include:

- non-accredited education and training unless it is non-vocational assistance for Stream C Participants
- study outside of the approved short course conditions (including Masters and Doctorate courses)
- Non-vocational assistance and interventions. For example, careers counselling and personal development courses. Please note: For Stream A and B Participants, satisfactory participation in the relevant number of hours in drug or alcohol addiction treatments (including rehabilitation) will meet their AAR.

(Deed references: Clauses 107, 108, 109)

Considerations when selecting Activities to meet AAR

Participants under 18 years of age

Participants under 18 years of age with Mutual Obligation Requirements are not eligible to participate in Work for the Dole.

Participants under 17 years of age are not eligible to participate in the National Work Experience Programme.

(Deed references: Clauses 107, 108, 109)

Participants 15-24 years of age

Employability Skills Training (EST) is available to eligible Participants between 15 to 24 years of age who are receiving income support and have compulsory Mutual Obligation Requirements.

Young Participants between 17–24 years of age, with Mutual Obligation Requirements, can participate in a PaTH Internship as a voluntary activity.

A Participant will meet their fortnightly hour's requirement in the fortnights they are participating in PaTH Internships or EST, regardless of the hours of participation.

Participants 18-49 years of age

For Participants 18 - 49 years of age with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements, Work for the Dole is the principal Activity to meet their AAR unless they have:

- arranged to meet their AAR through another approved Activity that will start at the time they become subject to the AAR, or
- are already undertaking other approved Activities at the time they enter the Work for the Dole Phase.

(Deed references: Clauses 107, 108, 109)

Participants 50-59 years of age

Participants 50 to 59 of age with full-time Mutual Obligation Requirements may select which approved Activity they will undertake to meet their AAR. Once chosen, this Activity should generally be entered as a compulsory requirement in their Job Plan.

(Deed references: Clauses 107, 108, 109)

Principal Carer Parents and Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work

Principal Carer Parents and those with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week of any age may select which approved Activity they will undertake to meet their AAR. Once chosen, this Activity should generally be entered as a compulsory requirement in the Job Plan.

(Deed references: Clauses 107, 108, 109)

Participants with Community Service Orders

Participants with Community Service Orders of 20 hours or more a week do not have Mutual Obligation Requirements for the period of the Order.

If a Participant has a Community Service Order of less than 20 hours a week they still have Mutual Obligation Requirements, however, the Community Service Orders take precedence. If these Participants are in the Work for the Dole phase they will need to meet their AAR in addition to their Community Service Order.

(Deed references: Clauses 107, 108, 109)

Certain Participants undertaking non-vocational Activities/interventions

For Stream C job seekers, satisfactory participation for the relevant number of hours in non-vocational assistance or interventions (including preventative health treatments and drug or alcohol addiction rehabilitation) will meet their AAR i.e. the Participant will be deemed to be fully meeting their fortnightly AAR in the fortnights they are participating in that Activity, regardless of contact hours.

For Stream A and B Participants, satisfactory participation in the relevant number of hours in drug or alcohol addiction rehabilitation will meet their AAR i.e. the Participant will be deemed to be fully meeting their fortnightly AAR in the fortnights they are participating in that Activity, regardless of contact hours.

For jobactive participants who are Indigenous or in Stream C, participation in preventative health treatments and interventions can be counted towards their AAR.

Regardless of Stream, any Participants in residential drug or alcohol addiction rehabilitation are considered to be fully meeting their mutual obligation requirements while they are in residence.

Participants who undertake other types of drug and alcohol treatments or counselling should have these activities included in their Job Plan along with appointments, other appropriate activities and an appropriate number of Job Searches. If the Participant is unable to undertake other activities in addition to treatments or counselling, the treatments or counselling will fully meet their fortnightly AAR in the fortnights they are participating in that activity, regardless of contact hours.

Note: the relevant number of hours refers to the number of hours deemed suitable by the Provider, for the Participant, for that particular non-vocational assistance or intervention. While there is no fixed lower limit on the number of hours per fortnight of contact hours, a Participant must not be referred to reduced hours of participation for the sole purposes of meeting their AAR. The Participant's participation in these Activities must be sufficient enough to be treating their condition in order to meet the Participant's AAR.

Placing the Participant in Activities

Providers must commence Participants who have an AAR in an Activity immediately after entering the Work for the Dole Phase.

Participants may undertake a combination of Activities to meet an AAR where it is deemed suitable or necessary by the Provider.

The time taken to commence a Participant in an approved Activity at the start of the Work for the Dole Phase is a performance measure in Providers' Star Ratings. For more information on the Star Ratings, see the Performance Framework Guideline.

For information on setting up and managing Activities, including important information on work health and safety, risk assessments and checks, refer to the Activity Management Guideline and the Job Plan and Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline.

Setting the required hours in the Calendar

System step: For Participants undertaking Work for the Dole to meet their AAR, Providers must use the Calendar to schedule the Participant's required participation, start and finish times as notified to the Participant.

System step: For Participants undertaking other Approved Activities, Providers must use the Calendar to schedule the required hours for all Activities, except:

- for Education and Training where the course is delivered online, or that portion of the course delivered online.
- where it is a requirement that the Participant resides with the host organisation, either as part of a residential program or Drug and Alcohol Treatment or as part of Defence Reserves.
- for Employment and work experience activities where the hours are irregular and are organised directly between the Participant and the employer or host.
- Where the Department's IT Systems do not support scheduling of the activity. For more information see the Job Seeker Calendar and Annual Activity Requirement IT Supporting Document.

System step: For Participants participating in CTA, or a Regional Employment Trials activity, scheduling this activity in the Calendar is required. Any hours marked as attended will automatically accrue towards Participant's AAR. Providers should manually record additional monthly AAR hours for Participants who are in the Work for the Dole Phase and who have an AAR so that the Participant fully meets their AAR for the period of participation in CTA or a Regional Employment Trials activity.

System step: For Participants undertaking a Launch into Work program pre-employment project, scheduling these Activities in the Calendar is encouraged. Providers should manually record monthly AAR hours for Participants who are in the Work for the Dole Phase and who have an AAR.

System step: Providers are encouraged to use the Calendar to ensure conflicting appointments are not scheduled, by creating a personal event for the Participant using the 'working casual / regular' event type (note: even though participation in a project is not employment this is the only available event type).

For further information regarding how to set a Participant's required hours in the Calendar, refer to the Calendar user Guide on the Learning Centre Website.

Recording Participant participation against the AAR

System step: Participants will be responsible for recording their attendance at Activities. However, for those Participants found not capable of recording attendance, Providers must record attendance in approved Activities using the Calendar. All results must be recorded by close of business on the day of participation in the activity

- for study or training Activities, Providers must record the outcomes of the training course upon completion (for example, whether a certificate or statement of attainment was achieved).

For all Activity types, the Provider must negotiate with the Supervisor the most appropriate reporting and recording mechanism to ensure that the Provider can record in the system the number of hours a Participant has participated in for each day (for Work for the Dole Activities) or month (for all other approved Activities). This should reflect the Host Organisation's normal business practices. For short breaks, these may form part of the Participant's normal hours of participation, and count toward their AAR.

Alternatively, when setting up the Activities in the Calendar, it is recommended that the Provider request evidence based attendance recording, which will include a QR code and passcode to be generated by the Department's IT Systems. They must have the contact details of the Supervisor up to date so that the Supervisor can receive the QR code and passcode the day of the Activity. Participants will then be able to scan the QR code when they attend the Activity. If the Activity is longer than four hours, the Department's IT Systems will generate two codes: one for the start of the Activity and one for the end of the Activity.

For further information regarding how to record attendance in the Calendar, refer to the Department's Job Seeker Calendar and Annual Activity Requirement Details IT Supporting Document and the IT System Online Help.

(Deed reference: Clause 107)

EST Providers will enter course details into the Calendar component of the Department's IT Systems. Providers will refer and place eligible Participants from their caseload into the courses; the Activity Diary is automatically updated with the course details.

System step: For CTA and Regional Employment Trials activities, satisfactory participation in the activity will meet the Participant's AAR. I.e. The Participant will be deemed to be fully meeting their fortnightly AAR in the fortnights they are participating in CTA and Regional Employment Trials activities, regardless of the contact hours. Any hours scheduled that are marked as attended will automatically accrue towards the Participant's AAR. jobactive Providers must manually record the relevant additional monthly hours as per the Participant's AAR, using the Monthly Hours section of the AAR Details screen of the Department's IT Systems so that the Participant fully meets their AAR for the period of participation in CTA or a Regional Employment Trials activity.

Recording participation via the Supervisor App

Supervisors can use the Supervisor App to record a Participant's attendance in Work for the Dole and other approved Activities. However, they should be encouraged to only do so for Participant who:

- have been assessed as not being capable of recording or reporting their own attendance

or

- have been assessed as being capable of recording or reporting their own attendance but who are unable to do for themselves on the day.

In most cases it is expected that the Supervisor will receive a QR code or passcode that has been generated by the Department's IT Systems, and Participant will be able to scan it with their mobile devices to record their own attendance. If the activity is longer than four hours, the Supervisor will receive two QR codes or passcodes: one for the morning when the Participants arrive, and one for the afternoon when the Participants leave for the day.

For further information on the Supervisor App, refer to the Work for the Dole IT Supporting Document.

System step: EST Providers will continue to have access to the Supervisor App to record Participants attendance at EST courses where appropriate.

Documentary evidence: Where Participants have used evidence to record their attendance directly into the Department's IT Systems, offline records are not required to be kept. The same applies where Activity attendance information has been entered by the Activity Host Organisation into the Supervisor App or directly into the Department's IT Systems, offline records are not required to be kept.

Recording of Work for the Dole participation in the Calendar

System step: Participants will be able to record their own attendance at Work for the Dole Activities. Where Participants are not capable of recording their own attendance, or are unable to due to certain circumstances, Providers must record results against all required participation in the Calendar for every day that the Participant was required to participate, as per notification issued to the Participant by the close of business each day.

Recording participation in paid work in the AAR Details screen

System step: For participation in paid work Activities, ESS Web will automatically place the Participant into a 'Part Time/Casual Paid Employment' Activity when the Participant declares hours of paid work to Services Australia. If the Participant is in the Work for the Dole Phase, the system will automatically populate the AAR Details Screen with the hours declared to Services Australia.

Where necessary, Providers can override the hours received from Services Australia e.g. if they disagree with the Services Australia hours for a period and hold documentary evidence supporting the updated hours.

Recording other approved Activities either in the Activity Diary or AAR Details screen

System step: For all other Approved Activities, attendance results, to meet the AAR must be recorded through the Calendar (using the same process as for Work for the Dole activities).

For Participants doing on-line courses not required to be recorded in the Participants Calendar are encouraged to record the total hours completed for each month in the Work for the Dole Phase within 20 Business Days of each month of participation.

If a Participant is participating in an Activity that fully meets their AAR, the Calendar will only count those hours that are scheduled towards the Participant's AAR. The remaining hours should be credited by entering them in using the monthly hours section of the AAR Details screen.

Providers are to record the hours completed by the Participant in all Approved Activities during the Work for the Dole Phase by the deadline of 20 Business Days after a Participant exits the Work for the Dole Phase, or exits the Provider's caseload (for example, exiting from jobactive or transferring to another Provider).

If nothing is entered into the system by then, the Participant's required hours will be recorded as zero for that period.

If Providers are aware that duplicate hours have been created for AAR, Providers must reduce the number of hours within 20 Business Days. This may occur when a Participant is in paid work, a day of Activity is resulted as No Longer Required (NLR) as the Participant is working on that day and declares the hours worked. The Participant would be created the Activity hours and the hours declared. The Participant should have credited the higher of the two hours for the individual day.

(Deed reference: Clause 107)

Completing the AAR

Recording requirements

System step: At the end of the Work for the Dole Phase, Providers must ensure the AAR Details screen correctly displays whether the Participant has met their AAR.

System step: Providers have up to 20 business days from when a Participant exits the Work for the Dole Phase or when they exit the Provider's caseload (e.g. exiting from jobactive or transferring to another Provider) to enter hours of participation the Participant undertook within the Phase that were not required to be entered daily in the Calendar.

The Provider is not required to take any further action if the total hours recorded is equal to or greater than the Participant's required AAR hours. In this case the AAR Details screen will display that the AAR has been met.

If the recorded hours are lower than the required AAR hours, but the Participant has nevertheless met their AAR (for example, the Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements changed from part-time to full-time while they were in the Work for the Dole Phase), the Provider must within 20 Business Days of the end of the Work for the Dole Phase:

- select a reason in the system to indicate how the Participant has met their AAR
- record that the AAR has been met.

If the recorded hours are lower than the Participant's required AAR hours, no reason is selected and the AAR has not been recorded as met, the Participant will not have met their AAR.

For further information regarding how to record completion of the AAR, refer to the Department's IT System Online Help.

(Deed reference: Clause 107)

Meeting the AAR early

Within the Work for the Dole Phase

Within the Work for the Dole Phase, Participants may be permitted to complete additional hours in an Activity every week or fortnight, either to allow them flexibility if their particular circumstances require it, or to assist a Host Organisation. These additional hours will count towards a Participant's AAR and, in effect, means that some Participants will satisfy their AAR early. However:

- any hours a Participant agrees to do in excess of 50 hours per fortnight in Work for the Dole must be created as a voluntary component of their Job Plan using the Job Plan code and recording Activities in the Calendar.
- Participants must not undertake more than 50 hours per fortnight in a National Work Experience Programme Placement or a Work Experience (Other) Placement.

Participants should not be allowed to choose to complete hours early of their own accord. Any additional hours in a week/fortnight can only occur when agreed upon between the Provider, the Host Organisation and the Participant, where there is an identified benefit to the Participant.

If the AAR is completed early, the Provider must ensure that the Participant's Job Plan continues to contain the other requirements that would enable the Participant to continue to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. This includes attending Provider Appointments, undertaking any other appropriate Activities, undertaking Job Searches and acting on referrals to jobs in the remaining part of the Work for the Dole Phase after the AAR for that year has already been met.

Early commencement of the Work for the Dole phase

The Work for the Dole Phase can be brought forward for all stream Participant after six months (but before 12 months) of jobactive services if the Provider considers the Participant is not benefiting from, or actively participating in services/interventions designed to improve their employment prospects.

AAR Record Keeping

Documentary Evidence: In addition to recording the relevant information in the Department's IT Systems, Providers must retain the following additional forms of evidence (either hard copy or soft copy):

- timesheets or other records of attendance, including information collected through the Supervisor App, where used
- a statement of attainment or similar (for accredited education)
- a signed training notice or signal notice (for Defence Force Reserves)
- an invoice for services or a letter of acceptance into a program (for non-vocational interventions including drug or alcohol rehabilitation programs and preventative health treatments and interventions)

- Activity Host Organisation Agreements for Work for the Dole, Voluntary Work, the National Work Experience Programme, Work Experience (Other) and PaTH Internships.
- CTA Agreement (for CTA Courses)
- risk assessment documentation which details that all Deed and relevant guideline requirements have been considered for both the Participant and the Activity (for Activities where risk assessments are required to be undertaken)

Documentary Evidence: For part-time/casual work or self-employment, the hours of paid work reported by the Participant to Services Australia to stimulate the Participant income support payment is acceptable documentary evidence. This information is automatically populated into the 'Recording of Services Australia Part Time/Casual Paid Employment AAR Hours' section of the AAR Details screen and no further documentation is required if this information is accepted. See the Job Seeker Calendar and Annual Activity Requirement Details IT Supporting Document for more information about how paid employment is counted towards the AAR. Details of the hours of paid work completed by the Participant can also be accessed from the Case Summary Screen of the Department's IT Systems (Job Seeker Information – View Declared Earnings) or through the SUB316 – Declared Hours report through ES Reporting. If the Provider chooses to override the hours declared to Services Australia, the Provider must keep:

- For paid work: payslips or Employer payroll summaries,
- For self-employment:
  - a Profit and Loss Statement, a signed and dated written statement from an accountant and/or registered bookkeeper, or copies of records from the Australian Taxation Office and/or a tax return statement.

5. Privacy and information sharing

Providers must comply with Social Security Law and Australian privacy legislation. A Participant's Personal Information must only be used or disclosed for the purpose it was collected, except in limited circumstances such as where the Participant gives permission or where Commonwealth laws allow or other special circumstances.

Providers should seek independent legal advice if they have any concerns regarding their obligations under any privacy or other legislation. For further information, refer to the Privacy Guideline.

(Deed references: Clauses 53, 87, 106)

Sharing Job Plans with SEE or AMEP Providers

Participants participating in the Skills for Education and Employment (SEE) program or Adult Migrant English Program (AMEP) should be encouraged to share their Job Plans with their SEE or AMEP Providers in order to make them aware of their full Mutual Obligation Requirements. This will assist SEE and AMEP Providers in ensuring that they place Participants in courses with study to fully meet their AAR in the Work for the Dole Phase.

6. Summary of Required Documentary Evidence

Notification to Participants of their Mutual Obligation Requirements

- The Provider will notify Participants of their Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the reasonable notice timeframes for the relevant method of notification.
- The Provider will create a notification record in the Department's IT Systems, identifying the method of notification used (i.e. SMS, email or letter).
- If the Provider is in direct contact with the Participant, the Provider must record as the notification method that the appointment was booked directly with the Participant.
- If an Activity or Appointment is rescheduled by the Provider, formal notification must be issued to the Participant of their new requirements.

Note: If the Provider chooses to record the Participant's Activity details in the Activity Diary, this will help them to issue notification of the specific details of participation in an Activity to the Participant.

(Deed reference: Clause 106)

AAR and other Approved Activities

Documentary Evidence: In addition to recording the relevant information in the Department's IT Systems, Providers must retain the following additional forms of evidence (either hard copy or soft copy):

- timesheets or other records of attendance, including information collected through the Supervisor App, where used
- a statement of attainment or similar (for accredited education)
- a signed training notice or signal notice (for Defence Force Reserves)
- an invoice for services or a letter of acceptance into a program (for non-vocational interventions)
- Activity Host Organisation Agreements for Work for the Dole, Voluntary Work, the National Work Experience Programme and Work Experience (Other) Placements
- CTA Agreement (for CTA Courses)
- risk assessment documentation which details that all Deed and relevant guideline requirements have been considered for both the Participant and the Activity (for Activities where risk assessments are required to be undertaken)
- payslips or Employer payroll summaries (for part-time work)
  - For both self-employment and part-time/casual paid work, income reported by the Participant to Services Australia to stimulate a Participant's income support payment is acceptable documentary evidence. This information is available from the Case Summary Screen of the Department's IT Systems (Job Seeker Information – View Declared Earnings). The information provided indicates both the earnings and the hours worked
  - Additionally, documentary evidence for self-employment can include:

- a Profit and Loss Statement
- a signed and dated written statement from an accountant and/or registered bookkeeper
- copies of records from the Australian Taxation Office and/or a tax return statement
- a Business Activity Statement.

If Activity attendance information has been entered by the Activity Host Organisation into the Mobile Supervisor's App or directly into the Department's IT Systems, or the Participant has used evidenced based recording of attendance, offline records are not required to be kept.

A Participant's attendance at their internship will be recorded to ensure the hours completed by the Participant end of each month are counted against the Participant's AAR.

(Deed reference: Section B4)

All capitalised terms in this Guideline have the same meaning as in the jobactive Deed 2015–2022 (the Deed).

This Guideline is not a stand-alone document and does not contain the entirety of Employment Services Providers' obligations. It must be read in conjunction with the Deed and any relevant Guidelines or reference material issued by Department of Education, Skills and Employment under or in connection with the Deed.

Notes:

- NEIS Prospective Participants who have been assessed as NEIS Eligible will meet their AAR for the period they are participating in NEIS Training.
- Participants in NEIS who have not transferred to NEIS Allowance when they commence NEIS Assistance will fully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.
- Volunteer Participants do not have a mandatory number of Job Searches.
- Outside the AAR, Providers can require Participants to participate in other Activities (in addition to Job Search and Provider Appointments).
- Participants can meet their AAR through full participation in the Defence Reserves (240 hours over 26 weeks or 18–20 hours per fortnight).

Job Plan and Setting Mutual Obligation Requirements

In the 2017–18 Budget the Australian Government announced the introduction of the Targeted Compliance Framework (TCF), to commence from 1 July 2018. Most job seekers in receipt of an activity-tested income support payment will have Mutual Obligation Requirements: there are things they must do – like actively looking for work and participating in activities that will help them into employment – in return for Income Support Payments.

A job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements and any other items agreed to with their Employment Services Provider (Provider) are outlined in their Job Plan. Providers must ensure that each job seeker, including job seekers without compulsory Mutual Obligation Requirements, has a Job Plan in place at all times and that the requirements in the Job Plan are tailored to the job seeker's individual circumstances and are appropriate to the level of their capability.

Providers must ensure that job seekers have all the information they need to understand the importance of meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, and how they can do this. Providers must ensure that job seekers are aware of what could happen to their Income Support Payments if they do not meet the requirements set for them in their Job Plan.

1. What is a Job Plan?

For the purposes of Social Security Law, a 'Job Plan' or a 'Participation Plan' is an 'Employment Pathway Plan'. The Job Plan underpins the provisions of services the Provider must deliver to a job seeker. Providers must ensure that at all times each job seeker has a current Job Plan.

For job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements, the Job Plan details all the requirements the job seeker must undertake under Social Security Law. Providers must ensure that a relevant delegate within their organisation complies with the Social Security Law when entering into a Job Plan. The Provider must ensure that each Job Plan takes into account the job seeker's individual circumstances, in particular their assessed work capacity (where relevant), their capacity to comply with requirements and their personal needs.

Providers must ensure that all job seekers have a Job Plan in place at all times, except for those job seekers who are exempt from their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

2. Creating and Approving a Job Seeker's Job Plan

Providers and the Department of Human Services (DHS) have been delegated certain powers under Social Security Law including the power to require a job seeker to enter into a Job Plan and to approve or update a job seeker's Job Plan. Providers must ensure each Job Plan is in the form approved by the Secretary of the Department of Jobs and Small Business.

Providers must ensure that their Personnel and Subcontractors are aware of, and fully understand, the powers and functions that may be delegated to them to perform under Social Security Law. This includes:

- preparing, approving, reviewing and varying a job seeker's Job Plan including specifying Mutual Obligation Requirements in Job Plans,
- setting the date, time and manner of participation including recording details in the job seeker's Calendar for all the compulsory requirements specified in the Job Plan
- identifying Mutual Obligation Failures, Work Refusal Failures and Unemployment Failures
- determining suspension of a job seeker's income support payments following a Mutual Obligation Failure or Work Refusal Failure,
- imposing a reconnection requirement and giving appropriate notice of those requirements and the effect of not complying with them.

Providers must conduct an Initial Interview with each job seeker and ensure that at all times each job seeker has a current Job Plan. During the Initial Interview, if a job seeker does not have a Job Plan or has transferred from another Provider, the Provider must create enter into and approve a new Job Plan with the job seeker. Providers must ensure, that each contact is appropriately tailored to meet the circumstances of the job seeker. Providers must, at each contact Appointment, review, and if appropriate, update the terms of each job seeker's Job Plan as events occur which result in the need to change Mutual Obligation Requirements. This is to ensure the job seeker is capable of meeting the compulsory requirements set out in the Job Plan.

Providers must ensure each Job Plan contains all of the compulsory requirements, including any Activities the job seeker must undertake in order to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. Providers must enter the details of any specified vocational and non-vocational Activities tailored to address the job seeker's individual needs or reduced work capacity (if relevant), and any vocational and non-vocational issues into the Job Plan. The Provider must ensure the Job Plan contains the details of any vocational or non-vocational activities designed to assist the job seeker to overcome any barriers with regard to the Stream of services the job seeker is receiving.

Where a job seeker has participated in the Time to Work Employment Service the Provider must take into account any current Transition Plan identified in the Department's IT system.

Providers must set suitable Activities for job seekers according to their Mutual Obligation Requirements and include these in the job seeker's Job Plan. The Provider must arrange and monitor the Activities specified in the Job Plan including Activities to meet the Annual Activity Requirement, if relevant.

Refer to the Guide to Social Security 3.2.8.50 or the Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline to determine what to include in a Job Plan.

(Deed references: Clause 84.1, 85.1, 87.1, 87.2, 87.3, 87.4, 87.5, 117.1, Annexure A1)

Explaining a Job Plan to the job seeker

The Job Plan outlines all the agreed requirements a job seeker must meet in order to satisfy their Mutual Obligation Requirements. The Job Plan can also outline what a job seeker is doing voluntarily to help them find paid work. Providers must ensure that each job seeker fully understands their Mutual Obligation Requirements in relation to attending Appointments, fulfilling their Annual Activity Requirement and undertaking and completing Job Searches. Providers must ensure that job seekers understand the circumstances in which a Mutual Obligation Failure, Work Refusal Failure, Unemployment Failure or failure to meet a Reconnection Requirement can occur. This includes the requirement to give prior notice of an Acceptable Reason prior to failing to meet a compulsory requirement set out in the Job Plan.

At the job seeker's Appointment Providers must explain to the job seeker:

- the purpose of the Job Plan
- if applicable, the Mutual Obligation Requirements the job seeker needs to undertake in return for income support payments
- the job seeker's rights and responsibilities under the Job Plan (including 'think time' to consider the Job Plan before agreeing to it)
- what the job seeker needs to do if they have a change in circumstances that affects their ability to meet the requirements in their Job Plan
- to contact the Provider to give prior notice if unable to meet requirements and the consequences of not giving prior notice if the job seeker is able to do so
- the consequences of failing to meet the requirements without a Reasonable Excuse, and any impact on the job seeker's Income Support Payment
- the consequences of failing to give prior notice (with a Valid Reason) if they cannot attend compulsory Appointments or participate in compulsory Activities
- their right to appeal decisions and where they can find assistance
- how the Provider intends to support the job seeker

- the Provider's Service Guarantee and Service Delivery Plan
- the section entitled 'Information You Need to Know' in the Job Plan, and
- how information is protected under privacy legislation and Social Security Law
- confirm, at least once every six months, that all relevant contact details are accurately recorded in the Department's IT system including phone numbers, email address and postal address.

Interpreters and Support Persons

When a job seeker requests, or where the Provider considers it appropriate, the job seeker can bring a support person with them to their Job Plan Appointment. Similarly, when a job seeker requests or where the Provider considers it appropriate, Providers must use an interpreter to ensure the job seeker understands their requirements before the job seeker agrees to the Job Plan.

Job Seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements must have a compulsory Job Plan. Some Disability Support Pension recipients under 35 years of age and Special Benefit recipients (Nominated Visa Holders only) have compulsory requirements and may be referred to a Provider. Providers will be able to view this in the Department's IT System.

For job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements Providers must include at least one compulsory requirement in the Job Plan and record the details of the requirement in the job seeker's Calendar. No action can be taken under the Targeted Compliance Framework (TCF) if the requirement is not entered as compulsory. Similarly, voluntary items are not subject to the TCF.

Job seekers who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, but have chosen to access jobactive on a voluntary basis are Fully Eligible Participants (Voluntary). These job seekers must have a compulsory Job Plan which includes the Activities they are undertaking to fully meet their requirements. Any additional items they agree to must only be included in their Job Plan as a voluntary requirement.

Job seekers with a Voluntary Job Plan

Job seekers who are participating in jobactive without Mutual Obligation Requirements must have a voluntary Job Plan. These job seekers can be Volunteers receiving six months of service in Stream A or Fully Eligible Participants who do not have Mutual Obligation Requirements and are participating voluntarily in jobactive such as:

- Structural Adjustment Program job seekers not on income support
- Pre-Release Prisoners
- job seekers with an Exemption from their Mutual Obligation Requirements
- job seekers with an assessed Partial Capacity to Work or a temporary reduced work capacity of less than 15 hours per week
- Vulnerable Youth or Vulnerable Youth (Student)

- a previous recipient of Widows Allowance granted Newstart Allowance after 1 January 2018 and exempt from Mutual Obligation Requirements
- Special Benefit recipients who are not Nominated Visa Holders.

Voluntary Job Plans can only include voluntary Activities as these job seekers do not have compulsory requirements and are not subject to the TCF if they do not participate in these activities. Job seekers will not be at risk of incurring a penalty if they do not participate in voluntary items.

Job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements who are suspended from their Provider's caseload can choose to volunteer to participate in Activities. Providers must agree on the voluntary Activities the job seeker will participate in and update the job seekers' Job Plan to include the voluntary Activities. If the Provider becomes aware that a job seeker is no longer suspended or not participating in voluntary items listed in the Job Plan, the Provider must update the Job Plan as appropriate.

Note: Job Plan contents are discussed and agreed on - based on each job seeker's individual circumstances and reasons for registering for jobactive. Usually this includes Provider Appointments, Job Search, education and skills development or other Activities to improve the job seeker's employability.

(Deed references: Clause 93.3, 93.4, 93.5, 106.1, Annexure A1)

Job seekers participating in ParentsNext

ParentsNext Volunteers can choose to volunteer into jobactive and they will already have a Participation Plan created by their ParentsNext Provider. A jobactive Provider must not create, update or otherwise edit a Job Plan for a ParentsNext Volunteer. Where a Job Plan for a ParentsNext Volunteer does not meet requirements, Providers must ensure the Job Plan is updated by the ParentsNext Volunteer's ParentsNext Provider.

(Deed references: Clause 87.5, Annexure A1)

Job seekers participating in the Career Transition Assistance Trial

Eligible job seekers can volunteer to participate in the Career Transition Assistance (CTA) Trial. Participation in CTA can only be included as a voluntary Activity in a job seeker's Job Plan.

For job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements, attendance at the Initial Meeting with a CTA Provider is compulsory. Upon referral to CTA, the CTA Provider will confirm the details of the job seeker's Initial Meeting to commence into CTA. Providers should use these details to book a Third Party appointment for the job seeker and issue formal notification of the requirement to attend the appointment with the CTA Provider. For job seekers in the Work for the Dole phase, participation in CTA will fully meet their AAR. At the conclusion of CTA, the CTA Provider will arrange a Warm Handover Meeting with the job seeker's Provider. At this meeting, job seekers will be offered two ongoing contacts with the CTA Provider, and the CTA Provider will be required to specify the details of these contacts. Providers should again use these details to book Third Party appointments for the job seeker and issue formal notification of the appointment/s.

Job seeker requiring 'think time' to consider the terms of their Job Plan

Before signing or agreeing to the terms in a Job Plan, all job seekers can have up to two Business Days 'think time' to consider the requirements set in the Job Plan. The job seeker can use this time to discuss the terms of the Job Plan with a third party if they wish. The 'think time' is available to a job seeker each time a Job Plan is created or the terms in the Job Plan are updated.

If a job seeker accepts 'think time', Providers are encouraged to arrange and book a Provider Appointment for the job seeker to occur in two Business Days for the purpose of agreeing and signing the Job Plan.

Approving a Job Plan

Provider staff are delegates of the Secretary of the Department of Jobs and Small Business and have the power to:

- require a job seeker with Mutual Obligation Requirements to enter into a Job Plan
- approve a Job Plan, and
- vary the terms of a Job Plan.

Documentary evidence: Once the terms of the Job Plan have been agreed and the Job Plan created in the Department's IT System, the Job Plan must be provided to the job seeker for their agreement. Job Plans can be agreed to online or by signing a hard copy.

Job seeker agreeing to the Job Plan – online

Documentary evidence: Providers may send a Job Plan to the Job Seeker Dashboard through the jobactive website or Job Seeker App for the job seeker to review and agree to online. Before using this option check that the job seeker has access to the Job Plan on their Dashboard and know how to agree to it.

Documentary evidence: Providers must formally notify the job seeker (including those with voluntary requirements) that the Job Plan has been sent to their Job Seeker Dashboard for their agreement. This must be done either face to face or over the phone and within two Business Days of sending the Job Plan. The verbal formal Notification script is available on the Department's IT System for the Provider to read to the job seeker. The script includes a compliance warning that must be given to job seekers (with Mutual Obligation Requirements) about what will happen if they do not agree to the Job Plan within two Business Days.

When the job seeker agrees to the Job Plan, the Job Plan's status will automatically be set to 'approved' in the Department's IT System.

Job seeker agreeing to the Job Plan – hard copy

The job seeker and the Provider may sign a hard copy of the Job Plan. The Provider must provide the job seeker with a signed copy and approve the Job Plan in the Department's IT System.

When the Job Plan has been approved and entered in the Department's IT System, the job seeker will be able to access it from their Job Seeker Dashboard.

Job seeker not agreeing to the Job Plan

Job seekers who do not enter into a Job Plan without good reason after the two days 'think time' will have their payment suspended until a Job Plan is agreed to and signed by the job seeker.

If the job seeker refuses to enter into and sign a Job Plan (and does not wish to use their 'think time') the Provider must contact the job seeker and discuss the reasons to assess if the job seeker has a Valid Reason.

If contact is successful on the same day, the Provider must discuss the circumstances and why the job seeker is not agreeing to the Job Plan. If the job seeker does not have a Valid Reason for not agreeing to the Job Plan the Provider must submit a Mutual Obligation Failure, impose a re-engagement requirement, schedule the date and time for the re-engagement requirement to occur within two business days, advise the job seeker of what they must do to satisfy the re-engagement requirement and that the job seeker's income support payment will remain suspended until the re-engagement requirement is met including the consequences of not meeting the re-engagement requirement. The Provider must record the details and outcomes of the re-engagement requirement in the Department's IT system inform the job seeker if the failure to enter to a Job Plan without a Reasonable Excuse has resulted in a confirmed Demerit on the job seeker's record.

If contact on the same day is not successful and the job seeker contacts at a later time the Provider must discuss the circumstances of the Mutual Obligation Failure with the job seeker to assess if the job seeker had a Valid Reason, schedule the date and time for the re-engagement requirement to occur within two business days, record all details in the Department's IT system and inform the job seeker they have a confirmed Demerit on their record.

For further information, see the Targeted Compliance Framework Guideline.

Recording a Job Plan

Documentary evidence: The Job Plan must be recorded in the Department's IT System as soon as possible, after the Job Plan has been created. The contents of the Job Plan recorded in the Department's IT System must be exactly the same as the hard copy.

If the Department's IT System is temporarily unavailable or there is no computer access, Providers must use the applicable compulsory or voluntary Job Plan template available on the Provider Portal.

Using Job Plan codes

Providers must use the comprehensive list of Job Plan codes at Attachment A. These codes have been developed to be consistent with legislative requirements and will enable data to be pre-populated and linked through the Department's IT System to the Dashboard on the Job Seeker App, the jobactive website and the DHS IT system.

From 1 July 2018 all Job Plans will automatically by default have the Personal Responsibility Code (PA03) added in the first instance. When entering into a Job Plan Providers must assess the job seeker's capability to report or record their own attendance against Mutual Obligation Requirements in their Job Plan. The Personal Responsibility code requires job seekers to take responsibility for reporting and/or recording their attendance at compulsory requirements or Activities set out in the Job Plan. Entering attendance results is generally required by close of business on the day of the requirement. Where attendance is not recorded by close of business on the day of the requirement, either by the Provider or the job seeker, the job seeker's Income Support Payment will be suspended.

Where a Provider determines that a job seeker is not capable of reporting or recording their own attendance, the Provider must remove the PA03 code from the Job Plan in the Department's IT System before the Job Plan is finalised. Providers are encouraged to continue to work with job seekers to build capacity to take personal responsibility for reporting their own attendance at requirements.

When setting compulsory Job Search Requirements, Providers must use the Job Search Requirements (JS09) code. Job seekers can report their Job Search efforts on the Job Seeker App or jobactive website. Providers can view and monitor how Job Search Requirements are set across their caseload. The Department also actively monitors how Job Search Requirements are set.

If applicable, Providers must use the JS05 or JS06 (Job Search with Disability) codes. These codes will trigger a higher rate of Mobility Allowance (where eligible).

Note: The Job Plan can be used as formal Notification if it specifies the details of the requirement, with information, including the time, date and location that the requirement is to be undertaken in the Calendar. For Fully Eligible Participants, the Job Search Requirement in the Job Plan is considered to be sufficient notice of their Job Search Requirement. If the Provider is unable to include full details of the requirement at the time the Job Plan is created, the Provider must issue the job seeker with a separate formal Notification to support the requirements in the Job Plan.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework Guideline and Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligations Guideline for further information on how to issue formal Notification.

(Deed references: Clause 83A.3, 106A.1, 106A.2, 113.1)

Linking Job Plan Codes to Activity Placements

Activity placements can be linked to Job Plan codes in Activity Management in the Department's IT System. It is best practice that Providers link Activity placements to the appropriate code in the Job Plan. Job Plan codes must be linked to daily requirements set in the Calendar, this will enable the details to be auto-populated into any formal Notification created from the Calendar. Providers will also be able to record attendance results in the Calendar.

(Deed references: Clause 83A.1, 83.A.2)

Personal Responsibility to record attendance

Where a Provider determines that a job seeker is capable of taking personal responsibility for recording their own attendance at Activities, the job seeker will be required to record their attendance at:

- Activities
- Third Party Appointments
- Job Interviews.

The Personal Responsibility Code PA03 will be included in every job seeker's Job Plan by default. Providers must inform job seekers that they have assessed as being capable and that they are required to record their own attendance at Mutual Obligation Requirements. If the Provider assesses the job seeker as not capable of recording their own attendance, the Provider must remove the PA03 code from the job seeker's Job Plan. Providers must ensure that capable job seekers understand the requirement to record their own attendance at requirements by close of business on the day of the requirement and that their payment will be suspended if they do not do so.

(Deed references: Clause 87.5, 106.1, 106A.1, 106A.2)

Assessing a job seeker's capability to record attendance

To assess the job seeker's capability to record their own attendance, Providers must consider if the job seeker has:

- the means to record their own attendance;
that is, the job seeker has daily, reliable access to technology that would allow them to record their attendance, such as a computer or smartphone, or the means to contact their Provider to report their attendance; and
- the ability to record or report their own attendance—that is, the job seeker understands:
  - what requirements they need to record attendance for
  - how to record their own attendance
  - that they must record or report attendance by close of business on the day of the requirement
  - what to do and who to contact if they cannot record their own attendance on a given day
  - the consequences of not recording or reporting their own attendance if they are required to do so.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Job seeker is capable of recording their own attendance

If the Provider assesses that a job seeker has both the means and the ability to record and report their own attendance this must be reflected in the job seekers Job Plan, including the Job Plan activity code for personal responsibility (PA03).

The Provider must continually monitor the job seeker's capability to record their own attendance to ensure the job seeker is reporting their attendance accurately, honestly and appropriately. Where a Provider deems that a job seeker has not accurately recorded their attendance, Providers can override the result entered by the job seeker.

If the job seeker contacts the Provider and asks them to record attendance on their behalf, the Provider will assess whether the job seeker did attend and, if so, record the job seeker's attendance.

See 'Updating the Job Plan' in this document for information on updating a Job Plan.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Job seeker is not capable of recording their attendance

If the Provider decides that a job seeker is not capable of recording their own attendance, the Provider will remove the Personal Responsibility Job Plan code when finalising the Job Plan.

If a job seeker is not capable of physically recording their own attendance (e.g. they live in an area with unreliable connectivity) but is still capable of otherwise recording their own attendance, the Personal Responsibility Job Plan code still requires them to report their attendance by contacting their Provider on the day of the requirement. Provider staff will need to confirm that they will be responsible for recording attendance on the job seeker's behalf when the job seeker reports their attendance.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Including sufficient fortnightly hours in the Job Plan

The Provider must ensure that each Job Plan contains sufficient hours of Activities per fortnight for the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

The Department's IT System will automatically calculate the fortnightly hours under each code included in the Job Plan. Depending on the hours to be set for the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the system will display messages to guide Providers when setting fortnightly hours to ensure they are appropriate.

The Provider is unable to set more than reasonable hours of activities per fortnight in the Job Plan in any event, and the Department's IT System will restrict the Provider from doing so by displaying an error message.

See the 'Setting Daily Requirements' in this document for information on scheduling Daily Requirements (including activities, study or training and paid work).

(Deed references: Clause 87.5)

3. Reviewing, Updating and Monitoring a Job Plan

Providers must set and monitor a job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law.

Providers must regularly review the Job Plan and update it when the job seeker:

- has a change in their circumstances
- enters into a new phase of their Stream
- enters in to a new Stream
- commences a new Activity
- completes an Activity that was in their Job Plan
- has a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment

Activities in the Job Plan must not place unreasonable demands on the job seeker. The job seeker must be capable of doing any Activity and meeting all requirements included in their Job Plan.

Providers must record the Activities and other relevant items in the job seeker's Job Plan, including the hours of participation the job seeker needs to complete each fortnight and the hours of participation required for each Activity. Where drug or alcohol dependency impacts on the job seeker's participation, providers must record refusal for treatment, or lack of treatment available in the local area in the Capability Management Tool.

Providers must include approved Activities in the job seeker's Job Plan that will enable the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. In the Work for the Dole Phase, the Job Plan must include appropriate hours of participation in approved Activities each fortnight during that phase.

At all times during a job seeker's period of servicing the number of Job Searches a job seeker is required to undertake each month must be specified in the job seeker's Job Plan.

Early School Leavers who are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through full-time education or a combination of part-time study and part-time work of 25 hours per week (15 hours for those with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements) must not have any Job Search Requirements included in their Job Plan.

Approved courses include the Skills for Education and Employment (SEE) Program and the Adult Migrant English Program (AMEP). Providers must ensure that the job seeker has some Job Search Requirement recorded in their Job Plan while participating in these programs.

For DHS managed job seekers, DHS will update the Job Plan when required. If the job seeker is managed by a Provider, DHS will consult with the relevant Provider before updating the Job Plan or may request that the Provider to update the Job Plan at the job seeker's next Appointment. Providers should not remove any updates made to a Job Plan by DHS without consultation.

If a Participation Plan for ParentsNext Volunteers requires review or an update, then Providers must contact the participant's ParentsNext Provider and request they make the update to the Participation Plan.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.4, 87.5, 87.7, 113.1, 113.2, 114.1, Annexure A1)

Updating the Job Plan

It is best practice to review the terms of the Job Plan at each Provider Appointment to ensure the job seeker is still capable of meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements. If the outcome of a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment is that the Job Plan requires updating, Providers must review and update the contents of the Job Plan within 10 business days. Providers must ensure the contents of each Job Plan is updated to include details of any additional voluntary activities or when the job seeker is subject to an Exemption.

In consultation with the job seeker, the Job Plan can be updated and tailored to individual needs at any time—unless there is action outstanding under the TCF. If compliance action is outstanding, the Department's IT System will not permit the Job Plan to be updated and the Provider will be redirected to the 'Compliance Screen' in the Department's IT System.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework Guideline for information on using the Targeted Compliance Framework.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.1, 87.2, 87.3, 87.5)

Updating Job Plan to include Voluntary activities

If a job seeker is Exempt from or is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements (where relevant), they may wish to voluntarily participate in additional activities, and they can discuss this with the Provider. Voluntary activities should be included in the Job Plan and scheduled in the Calendar, and the job seeker should be notified of where and when to attend each Activity.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.54)

Updating Job Plan following job seeker advising change in circumstances

The Job Plan must be reviewed as soon as practicable after the Provider becomes aware or is informed of a change in the job seeker's circumstances.

Newly disclosed or discovered information may be found on, and should be immediately recorded in, the Capability Management Tool (CMT) in the Department's IT System.

If the Job Plan is to be renegotiated in light of the new information, the Provider will refer to the CMT to ensure the Job Plan requirements are appropriate for the job seeker's capability, and that the job seeker will receive enough assistance and support to address the circumstances recorded in the CMT.

See the Capability Interview Guideline and Capability Assessment Guideline for information on using the Capability Management Tool.

(Deed references: Clauses 84.2, 87.5)

Updating the Job Plan to include (previously removed) requirement to record own attendance

If the Provider is renegotiating a Job Plan and assesses that the job seeker is now capable to record their own attendance (where the requirement was previously removed from the Job Plan), the Provider must re-enter PA03 Job Plan code into the job seeker's Job Plan. The Provider must ensure the job seeker understands that they are now recording their own attendance at requirements as well as the importance of entering results via the App or jobactive website by close of business on the day of the requirement as their payment will be automatically suspended the next day if no result has been entered.

(Deed references: Clauses 106.1, 106A.1, 106A.2)

Updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment

See the Capability Interview Guideline for information on updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview.

See the Capability Assessment Guideline for processes on updating the Job Plan following a Capability Assessment.

4. Setting Mutual Obligation Requirements

Note: This guideline does not include information on using the Targeted Compliance Framework or information on setting Re-engagement Requirements. See the Targeted Compliance Framework Guideline and Work Refusal and Unemployment Failures Guideline for information on using the Targeted Compliance Framework and how to set Re-engagement Requirements.

The Provider must record details of, and schedule each requirement in the Calendar, including:

- Provider Appointments
- Activities
- Job Interviews

- Education and Training
- Drug and/or alcohol treatment, where relevant
- Third Party Appointments
- Workshops, training and other activities delivered by the Provider
- Employment, if the hours are regular and can reasonably be scheduled by the Provider or job seeker.

To schedule a requirement in the Calendar, the Job Plan code that corresponds to that requirement must have been included in the job seeker's current, signed Job Plan.

For example: if the job seeker's Job Plan does not include the code for Compulsory participation in Work for the Dole (Code WE12), the Department's IT System will not allow a Provider to schedule Compulsory Work for the Dole for that job seeker in the Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.1, 83A.2)

Setting Daily Requirements

The Provider must ensure that each day of each job seeker requirement is scheduled in the Calendar. Each day of each requirement scheduled in the Calendar must be populated with:

- the name or description of the requirement
- the start time
- break times, where relevant
- the end time
- the location of the requirement, including any special instructions to locate a venue (e.g. located on battle-axe block)

When the Provider schedules the requirement in the Calendar and formally notifies the job seeker, the requirement will then appear in the job seeker's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A, 83A.1, 83A.2, 83A.3)

Issuing Formal Notification to the job seeker

Except for any paid work the job seeker is undertaking, the Provider must formally notify the job seeker of every compulsory requirement they must undertake, or complete, in return for their income support payment. The Provider must explain how to meet each requirement, as well as the consequences of not doing so, including possible financial penalties.

When the Provider schedules requirements in the Calendar, the Department's IT System will automatically create and record the selected Notification type issued. If a job seeker's requirements are re-scheduled Providers must formally notify the job seeker of the new requirement.

Formal Notification always includes:

- the reason for the appointment, if the requirement is an appointment
- whether the requirement is for the purpose of Re-engagement
- the date and start time of the requirement
- the location or address of the requirement

- if the job seeker is required to record their own attendance, and if so, the consequences of not doing so
- whether the job seeker will require evidence to record their own attendance
- whether the requirement is compulsory or voluntary
- that the job seeker must contact their Provider beforehand if they become aware of an Acceptable Reason preventing them from being able to attend or complete the requirement
- the possible consequences for the job seeker if they do not meet their requirement
- a statement that the Notification is a notice under Social Security Law
- that the job seeker must complete their requirement in return for their Income Support Payment.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.3)

Legal authority to formally notify a job seeker of their Mutual Obligation Requirements

Employment services provider employees are delegated powers by the Secretary of the Department of Jobs and Small Business under Social Security Law to notify job seekers of their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

(Social Security (Administration) Act 1999 (ss: 63); Social Security Act 1991 (ss 501,544,605,731L) Deed Clause 117).

Note: The requirement to formally notify a job seeker receiving Income Support Payments also applies to Disability Support Recipients (Compulsory Requirements) and Stronger Participation Incentive Participants.

Notifying job seekers within the appropriate timeframe

Providers must issue job seekers Formal Notification within the appropriate timeframe before the requirement is scheduled to occur.

If reasonable notice timeframes are not met, the Calendar will not allow a requirement to be booked unless the Provider is in direct contact with the job seeker and they have agreed to attend this requirement and the Provider records this.

Refer to the Targeted Compliance Framework Reference Guide and the Learning Centre for more supporting materials relating to reasonable notice timeframes and Notification methods.

Scheduling a Provider Appointment

Providers must ensure that the Provider's Electronic Calendar has at all times the capacity to receive an Appointment within the next two business days. When booking a Provider Appointment for a job seeker, Providers must select the correct appointment type, schedule the appointment in the Calendar and formally notify the job seeker. Where a job seeker has an Appointment with their Provider, the Provider must deliver a Contact on the date and time of the Appointment as recorded in the job seeker's Calendar.

See Attachment C for a list of appointment types.

Please refer to Job Aids at the Learning Centre for information on recording results at Provider Appointments.

Scheduling an Activity requirement

Providers source and select Activities appropriate to the job seeker's individual circumstances, with a focus on Activities that will assist the job seeker to build skills, improve their employability and give back to the community and that are sufficient to meet the job seeker's AAR. Providers should ensure that job seekers are placed in meaningful Activities, particularly those that will help them to overcome any Vocational or Non-vocational Barriers to finding and keeping work. Activities may or may not count toward a job seeker's AAR.

See Activity Management Guideline for information on the AAR.

All Activities must be scheduled in the Calendar and the job seeker must be formally notified of the requirement to attend. See below for the types of Activities a Provider may schedule for a job seeker.

Please refer to Job Aids at the Learning Centre for information on recording results at Activities.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2)

Formal Activities

A formal activity is an activity that a Provider must use the Activity Management area of ESS Web to create and place the job seeker into the activity. Providers must ensure that attendance requirements at formal activities is scheduled in the job seeker's Calendar.

Informal Activities

An informal activity may include things like non-accredited training, Job Search clubs or employer supported sessions run internally by the Provider. Providers are not required to create an informal Activity in the Activity Management area of ESSWeb. Providers must ensure that attendance requirements at informal activities is scheduled in the job seeker's Calendar.

One-off Activities

Job seekers may have a requirement to attend a one-off Activity, such as a day-long workshop or seminar, to gain skills or knowledge to help the job seeker find work or overcome barriers. Alternatively, if only one job seeker is participating in a specific activity, a One-Off Activity may be the most appropriate way for Providers to record their daily requirements in the job seeker's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2)

Providing evidence of attendance for an Activity

For some Activities, the job seeker will need to provide evidence when they are recording their own attendance.

Evidence for attendance will be a QR code or passcode (code) generated by the Department's IT System. The job seeker will scan the code through their device while at the Activity to record their attendance via the Job Seeker App or by recording a passcode via the jobactive website.

If the duration of the Activity is four hours or more—such as where a full day of Activity is scheduled—two codes will be generated: one for the job seeker's arrival at the Activity and one for the end of Activity. The code for the end of Activity should not be made available to the job seeker until the close to the finish time.

When creating an Activity that requires evidence of attendance, the Provider must ensure they record the contact details of the relevant person/s who will physically provide the code to job seekers, such as an Activity Supervisor. The person providing the code to job seekers must be given the code before the Activity session commences. Providers should also ensure that the person providing the code for an afternoon session knows not to make the code available to the job seeker until the afternoon session commences.

However, there will be instances where there isn't a supervisor or contact for activities, such as education and training. This is because it would be unreasonable, or not expected due to the relationship and past experience, for evidenced-based recording or to report non-attendance directly to the Provider. In these situations, job seekers will record attendance directly on the day. By recording their own attendance, job seekers will be acknowledging via a statement on the App or website that they have attended and the information they are providing is true and correct. No further evidence is required, therefore satisfying documentary evidence requirements. Providers will still be able to record non-attendance if they become aware that job seekers have failed to attend or left early at education/training activities.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.5)

Scheduling Third Party Appointments

Third Party Appointments are any appointments the job seeker must attend that are not appointments with their Provider or DHS. Before scheduling a Third Party Appointment, the Provider must ensure that the requirement is not:

- a Provider Appointment
- an appointment with DHS Services
- a Job Interview
- an Activity of any kind
- study or training of any kind.

All Third Party Appointments must be scheduled in the Calendar and the job seeker must be formally notified of the requirement to attend. Job seekers taking personal responsibility to record their own attendance must do so for Third Party Appointments.

Please refer to Job Aids at the Learning Centre for information on recording results at Third Party Appointments.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling Job Interviews

All Job Interviews must be scheduled in the Calendar and the job seeker must be formally notified of the requirement to attend. Job seekers taking personal responsibility to record their own attendance must do so for Job Interviews.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling drug or alcohol treatment

If the Provider identifies or becomes aware that the job seeker's ongoing capability to meet their requirements or search for work is compromised by drug or alcohol dependency, the Provider must discuss this with the job seeker to identify treatment options that would assist the job seeker to overcome their dependence.

If the job seeker chooses to undertake drug and/or alcohol treatment—or is already undertaking drug and/or alcohol treatment when they enter employment services or transfer Providers—the Provider must schedule it in the Calendar and formally notify the job seeker. Undertaking drug and/or alcohol treatment counts towards the job seeker's AAR.

Setting a Job Search Requirement

Providers must ensure that a delegate specifies the Job Search Requirement for each job seeker in their Job Plan. Providers must ensure that the Job Search Requirement is appropriately recorded in the job seeker's Job Plan at all times during the job seeker's period of service. The majority of job seekers will usually be required to undertake 20 Job Searches per month. Job seekers are responsible for reporting their Job Search efforts before the end of their Job Search Period (JSP). Providers must, by no later than close of business on the final day of each Job Search Period or the same day the job seeker reports their Job Search efforts to their Provider, review and confirm the quality and adequacy of the Job Search efforts and recording the result in the Department's IT system.

See the Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligations Guideline for information to assist in deciding the number of Job Searches to be included in a Job Plan.

Providers should use Job Plan code JS09 to include and record a Job Search Requirement in the Job Plan.

Providers must ensure that the job seeker is aware at all times of:

- their current Job Search Requirement
- when their Job Searches must be reported by
- how to report their Job Search efforts using the jobactive website, or directly to the Provider.

All job seekers can report their Job Search efforts through the Job Seeker App or jobactive website. Job seekers should be given instructions on how to upload/record their Job Search efforts and related details, even if they indicate they will report their Job Search efforts directly to their Provider. To further support personal responsibility, the number of Job Search efforts undertaken, and the number yet to be undertaken by the job seeker in each JSP, are visible on the Job Seeker App or jobactive website.

Job seekers may also report their Job Searches directly to their Provider by:

- email, if both the job seeker and Provider agree to this method, or
- filling out a Job Search record and giving it directly to the Provider.

Please refer to Job Aids at the Learning Centre for information on recording results for Job Search.

(Deed references: Clauses 113.1, 113.2, 113.3)

Setting a Job Referral requirement

Providers can compel job seekers to follow-up on a referral to a job. The requirement to follow up on a Job Referral may include a single task or a combination of tasks e.g. the job seeker may be required to update their résumé AND apply for a specific job, and this would constitute a single Job Referral. The Provider must explain to the job seeker exactly what they have to do to meet the requirement and the timeframes for doing so. For a list of single and combination job referral types refer to Attachment B.

For further information on types of Job Referral combinations that Providers may refer their job seekers to refer to the Targeted Compliance Framework Reference Guide.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Applying for a specific job

A Provider may identify a specific job for a job seeker that matches the job seeker's skills and capability and refer the job seeker to apply for it. The Provider must advise the job seeker of the timeframe in which they must apply for the specific job.

Contacting an employer regarding a job

A Provider may identify a job that could be suitable for a job seeker and may refer them to the prospective employer to discuss the job. The Provider should give the job seeker clear instruction on what is to be discussed with the prospective employer and the timeframe for doing so. Contact with the prospective employer may include (but is not limited to) discussion on:

- the likelihood of work becoming available with the employer
- the job seekers' skills and/or qualifications
- whether the job seeker could readily obtain the skills or qualifications necessary for the employer's business
- whether the job seeker has experience in a particular field of work or transferable skills
- the offer of a work trial or Job Interview based on the outcome of the contact.

Accepting a Job Interview

If a Provider refers a job seeker to accept a Job Interview for suitable employment, the job seeker must accept the Job Interview. When scheduling the Job Interview the Provider must record the details of the Job Interview and notify the job seeker of the date and time of the interview, and that the job seeker has accepted the interview.

Please refer to Targeted Compliance Framework Guideline for further information on what to do if a job seeker fails to follow up on a Job Referral.

Appropriately updating a résumé

The Provider can require a job seeker to update their résumé to better reflect their current skills, qualifications and experience to assist them in finding work. The Provider must outline exactly what elements in the job seeker's résumé must be updated and the timeframe in which to do so. The Provider should provide reasonable assistance to the job seeker, in line with their Service Guarantee or other contractual documents, to appropriately update their résumé.

Please refer to Targeted Compliance Framework Guideline for further information on what to do if a job seeker fails to follow up on a Job Referral.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Providing or making details available to support an application or offer of work

The Provider can require a job seeker to make their details available to support an offer of work. This may include things like the job seeker's contact details, or advising of their availability to attend interviews, work trials, shift work, etc. The Provider must advise the job seeker exactly what they need to do and the timeframe in which they need to do it.

Please refer to Job Aids at the Learning Centre for information on recording results of Job Referrals.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling Study or Training

Providers are responsible for identifying any appropriate study and/or training opportunities that will assist the job seeker to gain skills or qualifications that will assist them to find work. Where practical, the Provider must ensure all study and training is scheduled in the Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling hours of employment where reasonable to do so

If the job seeker is employed for regular hours, the Provider must ensure they schedule the hours of employment in the Calendar when they can reasonably do so.

The Provider should encourage the job seeker to take personal responsibility by scheduling their own hours of employment, and they should either provide assistance to the job seeker to do so or tell them where they can find assistance to help them with this. If the job seeker does not schedule their own regular hours of employment by creating Personal Events, the Provider must do so.

The Provider will create a Personal Event in the job seeker's Calendar for each day of employment the job seeker is undertaking. The job seeker does not need to be formally notified of scheduled Personal Events, including paid work, and the TCF cannot be used to report non-compliance for failing to attend work.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Job seeker may create Personal Events

Job seekers may create their own Personal Events in their Calendar to occur between 6am and 9pm. Job seekers may only create Personal Events where a Mutual Obligation Requirement is not already scheduled at that time.

The Provider is able to create Personal Events on behalf of the job seeker to assist the job seeker in having full visibility of their schedule and their requirements. Providers must create Personal Events on behalf of the job seeker to schedule regular hours of paid work if the job seeker does not do so. Providers must advise the job seeker that even though they have created a Personal Event, Mutual Obligation Requirements may still be scheduled.

Confirmed job seeker Personal Events

Providers are responsible for confirming job seeker Personal Events and are encouraged to review and consider Personal Events created by the job seeker. Providers should use their judgement and knowledge of the individual job seeker to decide whether the job seeker's Personal Event is appropriate prior to confirming it. When deciding to confirm a Personal Event, the Provider should also consider the nature of the Personal Event and the job seeker's personal situation. A Personal Event is considered to be Prior Notice of a job seeker being unable to attend a requirement at that time. By confirming the event, the system will not allow a conflicting requirement to then be set.

If the Provider confirms a Personal Event that should not have been confirmed, they cannot 'un-confirm' the event. The Provider must cancel the Personal Event, after discussing the reasons why the Personal Event was cancelled in the Calendar which will notify the job seeker via an inbox message.

Unconfirmed job seeker Personal Events

If a Provider considers that a Personal Event entered by a job seeker is not appropriate, the Provider can choose to leave it unconfirmed. If a Personal Event is not confirmed, the Provider can override the unconfirmed Personal Event and schedule a requirement at that time. The Provider must record the reason in the Department's IT system and must formally notify the job seeker of the requirement and ensuring they can make other arrangements for the Personal Event that they had created.

Scheduling a requirement over a confirmed job seeker Personal Event

If the Provider needs to schedule a requirement for the same time as a job seeker's confirmed Personal Event, the Provider will need to discuss this with the job seeker. After confirming with the job seeker that they are available to attend the requirement at the scheduled time, the Provider must record the reason in the Department's IT System and formally notify the job seeker of their requirement. Providers must manage the conflicting requirement in the Calendar and record the reason you are scheduling the requirement at this day/time in the Department's IT System.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

5. Privacy and information sharing

Providers must comply with Social Security Law and Australian privacy legislation. A job seeker's Personal Information must only be used or disclosed for the purpose it was collected, except in limited circumstances such as where the job seeker gives permission or where Commonwealth laws allow or other special circumstances.

Providers should seek independent legal advice if they have any concerns regarding their obligations under any privacy or other legislation. For further information, refer to the Privacy Guideline.

(Deed references: Clauses 53, 87, 106)

Sharing Job Plans with SEE or AMEP Providers

Providers should encourage job seekers participating in the SEE program or AMEP to share their Job Plans with their SEE or AMEP Provider in order to make them aware of their full Mutual Obligation Requirements. This will assist SEE and AMEP Providers in ensuring that they place job seekers in courses with study to fully meet their Annual Activity Requirements.

6. Summary of required Documentary Evidence

- Once the terms of the Job Plan have been agreed and the Job Plan created in the Department's IT System, the Job Plan must be provided to the job seeker for their agreement. Job Plans can be agreed to online or by signing a hard copy.
- Providers may send a Job Plan to the Job Seeker Dashboard through the jobactive website or Job Seeker App for the job seeker to review and agree to online.
- Providers must formally notify the job seeker (including those with voluntary requirements) that the Job Plan has been sent to their Job Seeker Dashboard for their agreement. This must be done either face to face or over the phone and within two Business Days of sending the Job Plan.
- The Job Plan must be recorded in the Department's IT System as soon as possible, after the Job Plan has been created. The contents of the Job Plan recorded in the Department's IT System must be exactly the same as the hard copy.
- If the Department's IT System is temporarily unavailable or there is no computer access, Providers must use the applicable compulsory or voluntary Job Plan template available on the Provider Portal.

Guideline:

Job Plan and Setting Mutual Obligation Requirements

In the 2017–18 Budget the Australian Government announced the introduction of the Targeted Compliance Framework (TCF), commencing from 1 July 2018. Most job seekers in receipt of an activity-tested income support payment will have Mutual Obligation Requirements: there are things they must do – like actively looking for work and participating in activities that will help them into employment – in return for Income Support Payments.

A job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements and any other items agreed to with their Employment Services Provider (Provider) are outlined in their Job Plan. Providers must ensure that each job seeker, including job seekers without compulsory Mutual Obligation Requirements, has a Job Plan in place at all times and that the requirements in the Job Plan are tailored to the job seeker's individual circumstances and are appropriate to the level of their capability.

Providers must ensure that job seekers have all the information they need to understand the importance of meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, and how they can do this. Providers must ensure that job seekers are aware of what could happen to their Income Support Payments if they do not meet the requirements set for them in their Job Plan.

1. What is a Job Plan?

For the purposes of Social Security Law, a 'Job Plan' or a 'Participation Plan' is an 'Employment Pathway Plan'. The Job Plan underpins the provisions of services the Provider must deliver to a job seeker. Providers must ensure that at all times each job seeker has a current Job Plan.

For job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements, the Job Plan details all the requirements the job seeker must undertake under Social Security Law. Providers must ensure that a relevant delegate within their organisation complies with the Social Security Law when entering into a Job Plan. The Provider must ensure that each Job Plan takes into account the job seeker's individual circumstances, in particular their assessed work capacity (where relevant), their capacity to comply with requirements and their personal needs.

Providers must ensure that all job seekers have a Job Plan in place at all times, except for those job seekers who are exempt from their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.1, 87.4, 117.1)

2. Creating and Approving a Job Seeker's Job Plan

Providers and the Department of Human Services (DHS) have been delegated certain powers under Social Security Law including the power to require a job seeker to enter into a Job Plan and to approve or update a job seeker's Job Plan. Providers must ensure each Job Plan is in the form approved by the Secretary of the Department of Jobs and Small Business.

Providers must ensure that their Personnel and Subcontractors are aware of, and fully understand, the powers and functions that may be delegated to them to perform under Social Security Law. This includes:

- preparing, approving, reviewing and varying a job seeker's Job Plan including specifying Mutual Obligation Requirements in Job Plans,
- setting the date, time and manner of participation including recording details in the job seeker's Calendar for all the compulsory requirements specified in the Job Plan
- identifying Mutual Obligation Failures, Work Refusal Failures and Unemployment Failures
- determining suspension of a job seeker's income support payments following a Mutual Obligation Failure or Work Refusal Failure,
- imposing a reconnection requirement and giving appropriate notice of those requirements and the effect of not complying with them.

Providers must conduct an Initial Interview with each job seeker and ensure that at all times each job seeker has a current Job Plan. During the Initial Interview, if a job seeker does not have a Job Plan or has transferred from another Provider, the Provider must create, enter into and approve a new Job Plan with the job seeker. Providers must ensure that each contact is tailored to meet the circumstances of the job seeker. Providers must, at each contact Appointment, review, and if appropriate, update the terms of each job seeker's Job Plan as events occur which result in the need to change Mutual Obligation Requirements. This is to ensure the job seeker is capable of meeting the compulsory requirements set out in the Job Plan.

Providers must ensure each Job Plan contains all of the compulsory requirements, including any Activities the job seeker must undertake in order to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. Providers must enter the details of any specified vocational and non-vocational Activities tailored to address the job seeker's individual needs or reduced work capacity (if relevant), and any vocational and non-vocational issues into the Job Plan. The Provider must ensure the Job Plan contains the details of any vocational or non-vocational activities designed to assist the job seeker to overcome any barriers with regard to the Stream of services the job seeker is receiving.

Where a job seeker has participated in the Time to Work Employment Service the Provider must take into account any current Transition Plan identified in the Department's IT system.

Providers must set suitable Activities for job seekers according to their Mutual Obligation Requirements and include these in the job seeker's Job Plan. The Provider must arrange and monitor the Activities specified in the Job Plan including Activities to meet the Annual Activity Requirement, if relevant.

Refer to the Guide to Social Security 3.2.8.50 or the Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline to determine what to include in a Job Plan.

(Deed references: Clause 84.1, 85.1, 87.1, 87.2, 87.3, 87.4, 87.5, 117.1, Annexure A1)

Explaining a Job Plan to the job seeker

The Job Plan outlines all the agreed requirements a job seeker must meet in order to satisfy their Mutual Obligation Requirements. The Job Plan can also outline what a job seeker is doing voluntarily to help them find paid work. Providers must ensure that each job seeker fully understands their Mutual Obligation Requirements in relation to attending Appointments, fulfilling their Annual Activity Requirement and undertaking and completing Job Searches. Providers must ensure that job seekers understand the circumstances in which a Mutual Obligation Failure, Work Refusal Failure, Unemployment Failure or failure to meet a Reconnection Requirement can occur. This includes the requirement to give prior notice of an Acceptable Reason prior to failing to meet a compulsory requirement set out in the Job Plan.

At the job seeker's Appointment Providers must explain to the job seeker:

- the purpose of the Job Plan
- if applicable, the Mutual Obligation Requirements the job seeker needs to undertake in return for income support payments
- the job seeker's rights and responsibilities under the Job Plan (including 'think time' to consider the Job Plan before agreeing to it)
- what the job seeker needs to do if they have a change in circumstances that affects their ability to meet the requirements in their Job Plan
- to contact the Provider to give prior notice if unable to meet requirements and the consequences of not giving prior notice if the job seeker is able to do so
- the consequences of failing to meet the requirements without a Reasonable Excuse, and any impact on the job seeker's Income Support Payment
- the consequences of failing to give prior notice (with a Valid Reason) if they cannot attend compulsory Appointments or participate in compulsory Activities
- their right to appeal decisions and where they can find assistance

- how the Provider intends to support the job seeker
- the Provider's Service Guarantee and Service Delivery Plan
- the section entitled 'Information You Need to Know' in the Job Plan, and
- how information is protected under privacy legislation and Social Security Law
- confirm, at least once every six months, that all relevant contact details are accurately recorded in the Department's IT system including phone numbers, email address and postal address.

(Deed references: Clause 87.2, 87.5, 106.1, Annexure A1)

Interpreters and Support Persons

When a job seeker requests, or where the Provider considers it appropriate, the job seeker can bring a support person with them to their Job Plan Appointment. Similarly, when a job seeker requests or where the Provider considers it appropriate, Providers must use an interpreter to ensure the job seeker understands their requirements before the job seeker agrees to the Job Plan.

Job Seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements must have a compulsory Job Plan. Some Disability Support Pension recipients under 35 years of age and Special Benefit recipients (Nominated Visa Holders only) have compulsory requirements and may be referred to a Provider. Providers will be able to view this in the Department's IT System.

For job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements Providers must include at least one compulsory requirement in the Job Plan and record the details of the requirement in the job seeker's Calendar. No action can be taken under the Targeted Compliance Framework (TCF) if the requirement is not entered as compulsory. Similarly, voluntary items are not subject to the TCF.

Job seekers who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, but have chosen to access jobactive on a voluntary basis are Fully Eligible Participants (Voluntary). These job seekers must have a compulsory Job Plan which includes the Activities they are undertaking to fully meet their requirements. Any additional items they agree to must only be included in their Job Plan as a voluntary requirement.

Job seekers with a Voluntary Job Plan

Job seekers who are participating in jobactive without Mutual Obligation Requirements must have a voluntary Job Plan. These job seekers can be Volunteers receiving six months of service in Stream A or Fully Eligible Participants who do not have Mutual Obligation Requirements and are participating voluntarily in jobactive such as:

- Structural Adjustment Program job seekers not on income support
- Pre-Release Prisoners
- job seekers with an Exemption from their Mutual Obligation Requirements
- job seekers with an assessed Partial Capacity to Work or a temporary reduced work capacity of less than 15 hours per week

- Vulnerable Youth or Vulnerable Youth (Student)
- a previous recipient of Widows Allowance granted Newstart Allowance after 1 January 2018 and exempt from Mutual Obligation Requirements
- Special Benefit recipients who are not Nominated Visa Holders.

Voluntary Job Plans can only include voluntary Activities as these job seekers do not have compulsory requirements and are not subject to the TCF if they do not participate in these activities. Job seekers will not be at risk of incurring a penalty if they do not participate in voluntary items.

Job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements who are suspended from their Provider's caseload can choose to volunteer to participate in Activities. Providers must agree on the voluntary Activities the job seeker will participate in and update the job seekers' Job Plan to include the voluntary Activities. If the Provider becomes aware that a job seeker is no longer suspended or not participating in voluntary items listed in the Job Plan, the Provider must update the Job Plan as appropriate.

Note: Job Plan contents are discussed and agreed on - based on each job seeker's individual circumstances and reasons for registering for jobactive. Usually this includes Provider Appointments, Job Search, education and skills development or other Activities to improve the job seeker's employability.

(Deed references: Clause 93.3, 93.4, 93.5, 106.1, Annexure A1)

Job seekers participating in ParentsNext

ParentsNext Volunteers can choose to volunteer into jobactive and they will already have a Participation Plan created by their ParentsNext Provider. A jobactive Provider must not create, update or otherwise edit a Job Plan for a ParentsNext Volunteer. Where a Job Plan for a ParentsNext Volunteer does not meet requirements, Providers must ensure the Job Plan is updated by the ParentsNext Volunteer's ParentsNext Provider.

(Deed references: Clause 87.5, Annexure A1)

Job seekers participating in the Career Transition Assistance Trial

Eligible job seekers can volunteer to participate in the Career Transition Assistance (CTA) Trial. Participation in CTA can only be included as a voluntary Activity in a job seeker's Job Plan.

For job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements, attendance at the Initial Meeting with a CTA Provider is compulsory. Upon referral to CTA, the CTA Provider will confirm the details of the job seeker's Initial Meeting to commence into CTA. Providers should use these details to book a Third Party appointment for the job seeker and issue formal notification of the requirement to attend the appointment with the CTA Provider. For job seekers in the Work for the Dole phase, participation in CTA will fully meet their AAR. At the conclusion of CTA, the CTA Provider will arrange a Warm Handover Meeting with the job seeker's Provider. At this meeting, job seekers will be offered two ongoing contacts with the CTA Provider, and the CTA Provider will be required to specify the details of these contacts. Providers should again use these details to book Third Party appointments for the job seeker and issue formal notification of the appointment/s.

Job seeker requiring 'think time' to consider the terms of their Job Plan

Before signing or agreeing to the terms in a Job Plan, all job seekers can have up to two Business Days 'think time' to consider the requirements set in the Job Plan. The job seeker can use this time to discuss the terms of the Job Plan with a third party if they wish. The 'think time' is available to a job seeker each time a Job Plan is created or the terms in the Job Plan are updated.

If a job seeker accepts 'think time', Providers are encouraged to arrange and book a Provider Appointment for the job seeker to occur in two Business Days for the purpose of agreeing and signing the Job Plan.

Approving a Job Plan

Provider staff are delegates of the Secretary of the Department of Jobs and Small Business and have the power to:

- require a job seeker with Mutual Obligation Requirements to enter into a Job Plan
- approve a Job Plan, and
- vary the terms of a Job Plan.

Documentary evidence: Once the terms of the Job Plan have been agreed and the Job Plan created in the Department's IT System, the Job Plan must be provided to the job seeker for their agreement. Job Plans can be agreed to online or by signing a hard copy.

Job seeker agreeing to the Job Plan – online

Documentary evidence: Providers may send a Job Plan to the Job Seeker Dashboard through the jobactive website or Job Seeker App for the job seeker to review and agree to online. Before using this option check that the job seeker has access to the Job Plan on their Dashboard and know how to agree to it.

Documentary evidence: Providers must formally notify the job seeker (including those with voluntary requirements) that the Job Plan has been sent to their Job Seeker Dashboard for their agreement. This must be done either face to face or over the phone and within two Business Days of sending the Job Plan. The verbal formal Notification script is available on the Department's IT System for the Provider to read to the job seeker. The script includes a compliance warning that must be given to job seekers (with Mutual Obligation Requirements) about what will happen if they do not agree to the Job Plan within two Business Days.

When the job seeker agrees to the Job Plan, the Job Plan's status will automatically be set to 'approved' in the Department's IT System.

Job seeker agreeing to the Job Plan – hard copy

The job seeker and the Provider may sign a hard copy of the Job Plan. The Provider must provide the job seeker with a signed copy and approve the Job Plan in the Department's IT System.

When the Job Plan has been approved and entered in the Department's IT System, the job seeker will be able to access it from their Job Seeker Dashboard.

Job seeker not agreeing to the Job Plan

Job seekers who do not enter into a Job Plan without good reason after the two days 'think time' will have their payment suspended until a Job Plan is agreed to and signed by the job seeker.

If the job seeker refuses to enter into and sign a Job Plan (and does not wish to use their 'think time') the Provider must contact the job seeker and discuss the reasons to assess if the job seeker has a Valid Reason.

If contact is successful on the same day, the Provider must discuss the circumstances and why the job seeker is not agreeing to the Job Plan. If the job seeker does not have a Valid Reason for not agreeing to the Job Plan the Provider must submit a Mutual Obligation Failure, impose a re-engagement requirement, schedule the date and time for the re-engagement requirement to occur within two business days, advise the job seeker of what they must do to satisfy the re-engagement requirement and that the job seeker's income support payment will remain suspended until the re-engagement requirement is met including the consequences of not meeting the re-engagement requirement. The Provider must record the details and outcomes of the re-engagement requirement in the Department's IT system inform the job seeker if the failure to enter to a Job Plan without a Reasonable Excuse has resulted in a confirmed Demerit on the job seeker's record.

If contact on the same day is not successful and the job seeker contacts at a later time the Provider must discuss the circumstances of the Mutual Obligation Failure with the job seeker to assess if the job seeker had a Valid Reason, schedule the date and time for the re-engagement requirement to occur within two business days, record all details in the Department's IT system and inform the job seeker they have a confirmed Demerit on their record.

For further information, see the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline.

(Deed references: Clause 114.1, 114.2, 114.5, 114.6, Annexure A1)

Recording a Job Plan

Documentary evidence: The Job Plan must be recorded in the Department's IT System as soon as possible, after the Job Plan has been created. The contents of the Job Plan recorded in the Department's IT System must be exactly the same as the hard copy.

If the Department's IT System is temporarily unavailable or there is no computer access, Providers must use the applicable compulsory or voluntary Job Plan template available on the Provider Portal.

Using Job Plan codes

Providers must use the comprehensive list of Job Plan codes at Attachment A. These codes are developed to be consistent with legislative requirements and will enable data to be pre-populated and linked through the Department's IT System to the Dashboard on the Job Seeker App, the jobactive website and the DHS IT system.

From 1 July 2018, all Job Plans will automatically, by default have the Personal Responsibility Code (PA03) added in the first instance. When entering into a Job Plan Providers must assess the job seeker's capability to report or record their own attendance against compulsory Mutual Obligation Requirements, except for Provider Appointments, in their Job Plan. The Personal Responsibility code requires job seekers to take responsibility for reporting and/or recording their attendance at compulsory requirements or Activities set out in the Job Plan. Entering attendance results is generally required by close of business on the day of the requirement. Where attendance is not recorded by close of business on the day of the requirement, either by the Provider or the job seeker, the job seeker's Income Support Payment will be suspended and they will be notified to contact their Provider. On contact with the job seeker the Provider is responsible for entering the result on behalf of the job seeker.

If the Provider determines that a job seeker is not capable of reporting or recording their own attendance, the Provider must remove the PA03 code from the Job Plan in the Department's IT System before the Job Plan is finalised. Providers are encouraged to continue to work with job seekers to their build capacity so they are able to take personal responsibility for reporting their own attendance at requirements.

When setting compulsory Job Search Requirements, Providers must use the Job Search Requirements (JS09) code. Job seekers can report their Job Search efforts on the Job Seeker App or jobactive website. Providers can view and monitor how Job Search Requirements are set across their caseload. The Department also actively monitors how Job Search Requirements are set.

If applicable, Providers must use the JS05 or JS06 (Job Search with Disability) codes. These codes will trigger a higher rate of Mobility Allowance (where eligible).

Note: The Job Plan can be used as formal Notification if it specifies the details of the requirement, with information, including the time, date and location that the requirement is to be undertaken in the Calendar. For Fully Eligible Participants, the Job Search Requirement in the Job Plan is considered to be sufficient notice of their Job Search Requirement. If the Provider is unable to include full details of the requirement at the time the Job Plan is created, the Provider must issue the job seeker with a separate formal Notification to support the requirements in the Job Plan.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline and Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline for further information on how to issue formal Notification.

Linking Job Plan Codes to Activity Placements

Activity placements can be linked to Job Plan codes in Activity Management in the Department's IT System. It is best practice that Providers link Activity placements to the appropriate code in the Job Plan. Job Plan codes must be linked to daily requirements set in the Calendar, this will enable the details to be auto-populated into any formal Notification created from the Calendar. Providers will also be able to record attendance results in the Calendar.

Personal Responsibility to record attendance

Where a Provider determines that a job seeker is capable of taking personal responsibility for recording their own attendance at Activities, the job seeker will be required to record their attendance at:

- Activities
- Third Party Appointments
- Job Interviews.

The Personal Responsibility Code PA03 is included in every job seeker's Job Plan by default. Providers must inform job seekers that they have been assessed as being capable and that they are required to record their own attendance at Mutual Obligation Requirements. If the Provider assesses the job seeker as not capable of recording their own attendance, the Provider must remove the PA03 code from the job seeker's Job Plan. Providers must ensure that capable job seekers understand the requirement to record their own attendance at requirements by close of business on the day of the requirement and that their payment will be suspended if they do not do so. Where a job seeker does not enter their result by close of business of the day of the requirement their income support payment will be suspended and the job seeker will be notified to contact their Provider. Upon contact with the job seeker the Provider must discuss and enter the result on behalf of the job seeker and consider whether the job seeker is still capable of recording and reporting their own attendance.

Assessing a job seeker's capability to record attendance

To assess the job seeker's capability to record their own attendance, Providers must consider if the job seeker has:

- the means to record their own attendance; that is, the job seeker has daily, reliable access to technology that would allow them to record their attendance, such as a computer or smartphone, or the means to contact their Provider to report their attendance; and
- the ability to record or report their own attendance—that is, the job seeker understands:
  - what requirements they need to record attendance for
  - how to record their own attendance
  - that they must record or report attendance by close of business on the day of the requirement
  - what to do and who to contact if they cannot record their own attendance on a given day
  - the consequences of not recording or reporting their own attendance if they are required to do so.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Job seeker is capable of recording their own attendance

If the Provider assesses that a job seeker has both the means and the ability to record and report their own attendance this must be reflected in the job seekers Job Plan, including the Job Plan activity code for personal responsibility (PA03).

The Provider must continually monitor the job seeker's capability to record their own attendance to ensure the job seeker is reporting their attendance accurately, honestly and appropriately. Where a Provider deems that a job seeker has not accurately recorded their attendance, Providers can override the result entered by the job seeker.

If the job seeker contacts the Provider and asks them to record attendance on their behalf, the Provider will assess whether the job seeker did attend and, if so, record the job seeker's attendance.

See 'Updating the Job Plan' in this document for information on updating a Job Plan.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Job seeker is not capable of recording their attendance

If the Provider assesses and decides that a job seeker is not capable of recording their own attendance, the Provider must remove the Personal Responsibility Job Plan code when finalising the job seeker's Job Plan.

If, a job seeker is not capable of physically recording their own attendance (e.g. they live in an area with unreliable connectivity), but is still capable of otherwise recording their own attendance the Provider must inform the job seeker that they are required to report their attendance by contacting their Provider on the day of the requirement. Provider staff must confirm with the job seeker that they will be responsible for recording attendance on the job seeker's behalf when the job seeker reports their attendance.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Including sufficient fortnightly hours in the Job Plan

The Provider must ensure that each Job Plan contains sufficient hours of Activities per fortnight for the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

The Department's IT System will automatically calculate the fortnightly hours under each code included in the Job Plan. Depending on the hours to be set for the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the system will display messages to guide Providers when setting fortnightly hours to ensure they are appropriate.

The Provider is unable to set more than reasonable hours of activities per fortnight in the Job Plan in any event, and the Department's IT System will restrict the Provider from doing so by displaying an error message.

See the 'Setting Daily Requirements' in this document for information on scheduling Daily Requirements (including activities, study or training and paid work).

(Deed references: Clause 87.5)

3. Reviewing, Updating and Monitoring a Job Plan

Providers must set and monitor a job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law.

Providers must regularly review the Job Plan and update it when the job seeker:

- has a change in their circumstances
- enters into a new phase of their Stream
- enters in to a new Stream
- commences a new Activity
- completes an Activity that was in their Job Plan
- has a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment

Activities in the Job Plan must not place unreasonable demands on the job seeker. The job seeker must be capable of doing any Activity and meeting all requirements included in their Job Plan.

Providers must record the Activities and other relevant items in the job seeker's Job Plan, including the hours of participation the job seeker needs to complete each fortnight and the hours of participation required for each Activity. Where drug or alcohol dependency impacts on the job seeker's participation, providers must record refusal for treatment, or lack of treatment available in the local area in the Capability Management Tool.

Providers must include approved Activities in the job seeker's Job Plan that will enable the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. In the Work for the Dole Phase, the Job Plan must include appropriate hours of participation in approved Activities each fortnight during that phase.

At all times during a job seeker's period of servicing the number of Job Searches a job seeker is required to undertake each month must be specified in the job seeker's Job Plan.

Early School Leavers who are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through full-time education or a combination of part-time study and part-time work of 25 hours per week (15 hours for those with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements) must not have any Job Search Requirements included in their Job Plan.

Approved courses include the Skills for Education and Employment (SEE) Program and the Adult Migrant English Program (AMEP). Providers must ensure that the job seeker has some Job Search Requirement recorded in their Job Plan while participating in these programs.

For DHS managed job seekers, DHS will update the Job Plan when required. If the job seeker is managed by a Provider, DHS will consult with the relevant Provider before updating the Job Plan or may request that the Provider to update the Job Plan at the job seeker's next Appointment. Providers should not remove any updates made to a Job Plan by DHS without consultation.

If a Participation Plan for ParentsNext Volunteers requires review or an update, then Providers must contact the participant's ParentsNext Provider and request they make the update to the Participation Plan.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.4, 87.5, 87.7, 113.1, 113.2, 114.1, Annexure A1)

Updating the Job Plan

It is best practice to review the terms of the Job Plan at each Provider Appointment to ensure the job seeker is still capable of meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements. If the outcome of a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment is that the Job Plan requires updating, Providers must review and update the contents of the Job Plan within 10 business days. Providers must ensure the contents of each Job Plan is updated to include details of any additional voluntary activities or when the job seeker is subject to an Exemption.

In consultation with the job seeker, the Job Plan can be updated and tailored to individual needs at any time—unless there is action outstanding under the TCF. If compliance action is outstanding, the Department's IT System will not permit the Job Plan to be updated and the Provider will be redirected to the 'Compliance Screen' in the Department's IT System.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline for information on using the Targeted Compliance Framework.

Updating Job Plan to include Voluntary activities

If a job seeker is Exempt from or is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements (where relevant), they may wish to voluntarily participate in additional activities, and they can discuss this with the Provider. Voluntary activities should be included in the Job Plan and scheduled in the Calendar, and the job seeker should be notified of where and when to attend each Activity.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.54)

Updating Job Plan following job seeker advising change in circumstances

The Job Plan must be reviewed as soon as practicable after the Provider becomes aware or is informed of a change in the job seeker's circumstances.

Newly disclosed or discovered information may be found on, and should be immediately recorded in, the Capability Management Tool (CMT) in the Department's IT System.

If the Job Plan is to be renegotiated in light of the new information, the Provider will refer to the CMT to ensure the Job Plan requirements are appropriate for the job seeker's capability, and that the job seeker will receive enough assistance and support to address the circumstances recorded in the CMT.

See the Capability Interview Guideline and Capability Assessment Guideline for information on using the Capability Management Tool.

(Deed references: Clauses 84.2, 87.5)

Updating the Job Plan to include (previously removed) requirement to record own attendance

If the Provider is renegotiating a Job Plan and assesses that the job seeker is now capable to record their own attendance (where the requirement was previously removed from the Job Plan), the Provider must re-enter PA03 Job Plan code into the job seeker's Job Plan. The Provider must ensure the job seeker understands that they are now recording their own attendance at requirements as well as the importance of entering results via the App or jobactive website by close of business on the day of the requirement as their payment will be automatically suspended the next day if no result has been entered.

(Deed references: Clauses 106.1, 106A.1, 106A.2)

Updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment

See the Capability Interview Guideline for information on updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview.

4. See the Capability Assessment Guideline for processes on updating the Job Plan following a Capability Assessment. Setting Mutual Obligation Requirements

Note: This guideline does not include information on using the Targeted Compliance Framework or information on setting Re-engagement Requirements. See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline and Work Refusal and Unemployment Failures Guideline for information on using the Targeted Compliance Framework and how to set Re-engagement Requirements.

The Provider must record details of, and schedule each requirement in the Calendar, including:

- Provider Appointments
- Activities
- Job Interviews
- Education and Training
- Drug and/or alcohol treatment, where relevant
- Third Party Appointments
- Workshops, training and other activities delivered by the Provider
- Employment, if the hours are regular and can reasonably be scheduled by the Provider or job seeker.

To schedule a requirement in the Calendar, the Job Plan code that corresponds to that requirement must have been included in the job seeker's current, signed Job Plan.

For example: if the job seeker's Job Plan does not include the code for Compulsory participation in Work for the Dole (Code WE12), the Department's IT System will not allow a Provider to schedule Compulsory Work for the Dole in the job seeker's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.1, 83A.2)

Setting Daily Requirements

The Provider must ensure that each day of each job seeker requirement is scheduled in the Calendar. Each day of each requirement scheduled in the Calendar must be populated with:

- the name or description of the requirement
- the start time
- break times, where relevant
- the end time
- the location of the requirement, including any special instructions to locate a venue (e.g. located on battle-axe block)

When the Provider schedules the requirement in the Calendar and formally notifies the job seeker, the requirement will then appear in the job seeker's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A, 83A.1, 83A.2, 83A.3)

Issuing Formal Notification to the job seeker

Except for any paid work the job seeker is undertaking, the Provider must formally notify the job seeker of every compulsory requirement they are required to undertake, or complete, in return for their income support payment. The Provider must explain how to meet each requirement, as well as the consequences of not doing so, including possible financial penalties.

When the Provider schedules requirements in the Calendar, the Department's IT System will automatically create and record the selected Notification type issued. If a job seeker's requirements are re-scheduled Providers must formally notify the job seeker of the new requirement.

Formal Notification always includes:

- the reason for the appointment, if the requirement is an appointment
- whether the requirement is for the purpose of Re-engagement
- the date and start time of the requirement
- the location or address of the requirement
- if the job seeker is required to record their own attendance, and if so, the consequences of not doing so
- whether the job seeker will require evidence to record their own attendance
- whether the requirement is compulsory or voluntary
- that the job seeker must contact their Provider beforehand if they become aware of an Acceptable Reason preventing them from being able to attend or complete the requirement
- the possible consequences for the job seeker if they do not meet their requirement
- a statement that the Notification is a notice under Social Security Law
- that the job seeker must complete their requirement in return for their Income Support Payment.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.3)

Legal authority to formally notify a job seeker of their Mutual Obligation Requirements

Employment services provider employees are delegated powers by the Secretary of the Department of Jobs and Small Business under Social Security Law to notify job seekers of their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

(Social Security (Administration) Act 1999 (ss: 63); Social Security Act 1991 (ss 501,544,605,731L) Deed Clause 117).

Note: The requirement to formally notify a job seeker receiving Income Support Payments also applies to Disability Support Recipients (Compulsory Requirements) and Stronger Participation Incentive Participants.

Notifying job seekers within the appropriate timeframe

Providers must issue job seekers Formal Notification within the appropriate timeframe before the requirement is scheduled to occur.

If reasonable notice timeframes are not met, the Calendar will not allow a requirement to be booked unless the Provider is in direct contact with the job seeker and they have agreed to attend this requirement and the Provider records this.

Refer to the Targeted Compliance Framework Reference Guide and the Learning Centre for more supporting materials relating to reasonable notice timeframes and Notification methods.

Scheduling a Provider Appointment

Providers must ensure that the Provider's Electronic Calendar has at all times the capacity to receive an Appointment within the next two business days. When booking a Provider Appointment for a job seeker, Providers must select the correct appointment type, schedule the appointment in the Calendar and formally notify the job seeker. Where a job seeker has an Appointment with their Provider, the Provider must deliver a Contact on the date and time of the Appointment as recorded in the job seeker's Calendar.

See Attachment C for a list of appointment types.

Please refer to Job Aids at the Learning Centre for information on recording results at Provider Appointments.

Scheduling an Activity requirement

Providers' source and select Activities appropriate to the job seeker's individual circumstances, with a focus on Activities that will assist the job seeker to build skills, improve their employability and give back to the community and that are sufficient to meet the job seeker's AAR. Providers should ensure that job seekers are placed in meaningful Activities, particularly those that will help them to overcome any Vocational or Non-vocational Barriers to finding and keeping work. Activities may or may not count toward a job seeker's AAR.

See Activity Management Guideline for information on the Annual Activity Requirement.

All Activities must be scheduled in the Calendar and the job seeker must be formally notified of the requirement to attend. See below for the types of Activities a Provider may schedule for a job seeker.

Please refer to Job Aids at the Learning Centre for information on recording results at Activities.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2)

Formal Activities

A formal activity is an activity that a Provider must use the Activity Management area of ESS Web to create and place the job seeker into the activity. Providers must ensure that attendance requirements at formal activities is scheduled in the job seeker's Calendar.

Informal Activities

An informal activity may include things like non-accredited training, Job Search clubs or employer supported sessions run internally by the Provider. Providers are not required to create an informal Activity in the Activity Management area of ESSWeb. Providers must ensure that attendance requirements at informal activities is scheduled in the job seeker's Calendar.

One-off Activities

Job seekers may have a requirement to attend a one-off Activity, such as a day-long workshop or seminar, to gain skills or knowledge to help the job seeker find work or overcome barriers. Alternatively, if only one job seeker is participating in a specific activity, a One-Off Activity may be the most appropriate way for Providers to record their daily requirements in the job seeker's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2)

Providing evidence of attendance for an Activity

For some Activities, the job seeker will need to provide evidence when they are recording their own attendance.

Evidence for attendance will be a QR code or passcode (code) generated by the Department's IT System. The job seeker will scan the code through their device while at the Activity to record their attendance via the Job Seeker App or by recording a passcode via the jobactive website.

If the duration of the Activity is four hours or more—such as where a full day of Activity is scheduled—two codes will be generated: one for the job seeker's arrival at the Activity and one for the end of Activity. The code for the end of Activity should not be made available to the job seeker until the close to the finish time.

When creating an Activity that requires evidence of attendance, the Provider must ensure they record the contact details of the relevant person/s who will physically provide the code to job seekers, such as an Activity Supervisor. The person providing the code to job seekers must be given the code before the Activity session commences. Providers should also ensure that the person providing the code for an afternoon session knows not to make the code available to the job seeker until the afternoon session commences.

However, there will be instances where there isn't a supervisor or contact for activities, such as education and training. This is because it would be unreasonable, or not expected due to the relationship and past experience, for evidenced-based recording or to report non-attendance directly to the Provider. In these situations, job seekers will record attendance directly on the day. By recording their own attendance, job seekers will be acknowledging via a statement on the App or website that they have attended and the information they are providing is true and correct. No further evidence is required, therefore satisfying documentary evidence requirements. Providers will still be able to record non-attendance if they become aware that job seekers have failed to attend or left early at education/training activities.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.5)

Scheduling Third Party Appointments

Third Party Appointments are any appointments the job seeker must attend that are not appointments with their Provider or DHS. Before scheduling a Third Party Appointment, the Provider must ensure that the requirement is not:

- a Provider Appointment
- an appointment with DHS Services
- a Job Interview
- an Activity of any kind
- study or training of any kind.

All Third Party Appointments must be scheduled in the Calendar and the job seeker must be formally notified of the requirement to attend. Job seekers taking personal responsibility to record their own attendance must do so for Third Party Appointments.

Please refer to Job Aids at the Learning Centre for information on recording results at Third Party Appointments.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling Job Interviews

All Job Interviews must be scheduled in the Calendar and the job seeker must be formally notified of the requirement to attend. Job seekers taking personal responsibility to record their own attendance must do so for Job Interviews.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling drug or alcohol treatment

If the Provider identifies or becomes aware that the job seeker's ongoing capability to meet their requirements or search for work is compromised by drug or alcohol dependency, the Provider must discuss this with the job seeker to identify treatment options that would assist the job seeker to overcome their dependence.

If the job seeker chooses to undertake drug and/or alcohol treatment—or is already undertaking drug and/or alcohol treatment when they enter employment services or transfer Providers—the Provider must schedule it in the Calendar and formally notify the job seeker. Undertaking drug and/or alcohol treatment counts towards the job seeker's AAR.

Setting a Job Search Requirement

Providers must ensure that a delegate specifies the Job Search Requirement for each job seeker in their Job Plan. Providers must ensure that the Job Search Requirement is appropriately recorded in the job seeker's Job Plan at all times during the job seeker's period of service. The majority of job seekers will usually be required to undertake 20 Job Searches per month. Job seekers are responsible for reporting their Job Search efforts before the end of their Job Search Period (JSP). If the job seeker provides efforts directly to their Provider (i.e. does not submit online), Providers will need to record the number of efforts submitted to them by no later than close of business on that day. Providers also need to review and confirm the quality of efforts submitted online or directly to them by no later than five Business Days after the end of each Job Search Period.

See the Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline for information to assist in deciding the number of Job Searches to be included in a Job Plan.

Providers should use Job Plan code JS09 to include and record a Job Search Requirement in the Job Plan.

Providers must ensure that the job seeker is aware at all times of:

- their current Job Search Requirement
- when their Job Searches must be reported by
- how to report their Job Search efforts using the jobactive website, or directly to the Provider.

All job seekers can report their Job Search efforts through the Job Seeker App or jobactive website. Job seekers should be given instructions on how to upload/record their Job Search efforts and related details, even if they indicate they will report their Job Search efforts directly to their Provider. To further support personal responsibility, the number of Job Search efforts undertaken, and the number yet to be undertaken by the job seeker in each JSP, are visible on the Job Seeker App or jobactive website.

Job seekers may also report their Job Searches directly to their Provider by:

- email, if both the job seeker and Provider agree to this method, or
- filling out a Job Search record and giving it directly to the Provider.

Please refer to Job Aids at the Learning Centre for information on recording results for Job Search.

(Deed references: Clauses 113.1, 113.2, 113.3)

Setting a Job Referral requirement

Providers can compel job seekers to follow-up on a referral to a job. The requirement to follow up on a Job Referral may include a single task or a combination of tasks e.g. the job seeker may be required to update their résumé AND apply for a specific job, and this would constitute a single Job Referral. The Provider must explain to the job seeker exactly what they have to do to meet the requirement and the timeframes for doing so. For a list of single and combination job referral types refer to Attachment B.

For further information on types of Job Referral combinations that Providers may refer their job seekers to refer to the Targeted Compliance Framework Reference Guide.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Applying for a specific job

A Provider may identify a specific job for a job seeker that matches the job seeker's skills and capability and refer the job seeker to apply for it. The Provider must advise the job seeker of the timeframe in which they must apply for the specific job.

Contacting an employer regarding a job

A Provider may identify a job that could be suitable for a job seeker and may refer them to the prospective employer to discuss the job. The Provider should give the job seeker clear instruction on what is to be discussed with the prospective employer and the timeframe for doing so. Contact with the prospective employer may include (but is not limited to) discussion on:

- the likelihood of work becoming available with the employer
- the job seekers' skills and/or qualifications
- whether the job seeker could readily obtain the skills or qualifications necessary for the employer's business
- whether the job seeker has experience in a particular field of work or transferable skills
- the offer of a work trial or Job Interview based on the outcome of the contact.

Accepting a Job Interview

If a Provider refers a job seeker to a Job Interview for suitable employment, the job seeker must accept the Job Interview. When scheduling the Job Interview the Provider must record the details of the Job Interview and notify the job seeker of the date and time of the interview, and that the job seeker has accepted the interview.

Please refer to Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline for further information on what to do if a job seeker fails to follow up on a Job Referral.

Appropriately updating a résumé

The Provider can require a job seeker to update their résumé to better reflect their current skills, qualifications and experience to assist them in finding work. The Provider must outline exactly what elements in the job seeker's résumé must be updated and the timeframe in which to do so. The Provider should provide reasonable assistance to the job seeker, in line with their Service Guarantee or other contractual documents, to appropriately update their résumé.

Please refer to Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline for further information on what to do if a job seeker fails to follow up on a Job Referral.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Providing or making details available to support an application or offer of work

The Provider can require a job seeker to make their details available to support an offer of work. This may include things like the job seeker's contact details, or advising of their availability to attend interviews, work trials, shift work, etc. The Provider must advise the job seeker exactly what they need to do and the timeframe in which they need to do it.

Please refer to Job Aids at the Learning Centre for information on recording results of Job Referrals.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling Study or Training

Providers are responsible for identifying any appropriate study and/or training opportunities that will assist the job seeker to gain skills or qualifications that will assist them to find work. Where practical, the Provider must ensure all study and training is scheduled in the Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling hours of employment where reasonable to do so

If the job seeker is employed for regular hours, the Provider must ensure they schedule the hours of employment in the Calendar when they can reasonably do so.

The Provider should encourage the job seeker to take personal responsibility by scheduling their own hours of employment, and they should either provide assistance to the job seeker to do so or tell them where they can find assistance to help them with this. If the job seeker does not schedule their own regular hours of employment by creating Personal Events, the Provider must do so.

The Provider will create a Personal Event in the job seeker's Calendar for each day of employment the job seeker is undertaking. The job seeker does not need to be formally notified of scheduled Personal Events, including paid work, and the TCF cannot be used to report non-compliance for failing to attend work.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Job seeker may create Personal Events

Job seekers may create their own Personal Events in their Calendar to occur between 6am and 9pm. Job seekers may only create Personal Events where a Mutual Obligation Requirement is not already scheduled at that time.

The Provider is able to create Personal Events on behalf of the job seeker to assist the job seeker in having full visibility of their schedule and their requirements. Providers must create Personal Events on behalf of the job seeker to schedule regular hours of paid work if the job seeker does not do so. Providers must advise the job seeker that even though they have created a Personal Event, Mutual Obligation Requirements may still be scheduled.

Confirmed job seeker Personal Events

Providers are responsible for confirming job seeker Personal Events and are encouraged to review and consider Personal Events created by the job seeker. Providers should use their judgement and knowledge of the individual job seeker to decide whether the job seeker's Personal Event is appropriate prior to confirming it. When deciding to confirm a Personal Event, the Provider should also consider the nature of the Personal Event and the job seeker's personal situation. A Personal Event is considered to be Prior Notice of a job seeker being unable to attend a requirement at that time. By confirming the event, the system will not allow a conflicting requirement to then be set.

If the Provider confirms a Personal Event that should not have been confirmed, they cannot 'un-confirm' the event. The Provider must cancel the Personal Event, after discussing the reasons why the Personal Event was cancelled in the Calendar, which will notify the job seeker via an inbox message.

Unconfirmed job seeker Personal Events

If a Provider considers that a Personal Event entered by a job seeker is not appropriate, the Provider can choose to leave it unconfirmed. If a Personal Event is not confirmed, the Provider can override the unconfirmed Personal Event and schedule a requirement at that time. The Provider must record the reason in the Department's IT system and must formally notify the job seeker of the requirement and ensuring they can make other arrangements for the Personal Event that they had created.

Scheduling a requirement over a confirmed job seeker Personal Event

If the Provider needs to schedule a requirement for the same time as a job seeker's confirmed Personal Event, the Provider will need to discuss this with the job seeker. After confirming with the job seeker that they are available to attend the requirement at the scheduled time, the Provider must record the reason in the Department's IT System and formally notify the job seeker of their requirement. Providers must manage the conflicting requirement in the Calendar and record the reason you are scheduling the requirement at this day/time in the Department's IT System.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

5. Privacy and information sharing

Providers must comply with Social Security Law and Australian privacy legislation. A job seeker's Personal Information must only be used or disclosed for the purpose it was collected, except in limited circumstances such as where the job seeker gives permission or where Commonwealth laws allow or other special circumstances.

Providers should seek independent legal advice if they have any concerns regarding their obligations under any privacy or other legislation. For further information, refer to the Privacy Guideline.

(Deed references: Clauses 53, 87, 106)

Sharing Job Plans with SEE or AMEP Providers

Providers should encourage job seekers participating in the SEE program or AMEP to share their Job Plans with their SEE or AMEP Provider in order to make them aware of their full Mutual Obligation Requirements. This will assist SEE and AMEP Providers in ensuring that they place job seekers in courses with study to fully meet their Annual Activity Requirements.

6. Summary of required Documentary Evidence

- Once the terms of the Job Plan have been agreed and the Job Plan created in the Department's IT System, the Job Plan must be provided to the job seeker for their agreement. Job Plans can be agreed to online or by signing a hard copy.
- Providers may send a Job Plan to the Job Seeker Dashboard through the jobactive website or Job Seeker App for the job seeker to review and agree to online.
- Providers must formally notify the job seeker (including those with voluntary requirements) that the Job Plan has been sent to their Job Seeker Dashboard for their agreement. This must be done either face to face or over the phone and within two Business Days of sending the Job Plan.
- The Job Plan must be recorded in the Department's IT System as soon as possible, after the Job Plan has been created. The contents of the Job Plan recorded in the Department's IT System must be exactly the same as the hard copy.
- If the Department's IT System is temporarily unavailable or there is no computer access, Providers must use the applicable compulsory or voluntary Job Plan template available on the Provider Portal.

Guideline:

Job Plan and Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline

A job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements and any other items agreed to with their Employment Services Provider (Provider) are outlined in their Job Plan. It is necessary for Providers to ensure that each job seeker, including job seekers without compulsory Mutual Obligation Requirements, have a Job Plan in place at all times and that the requirements in the Job Plan are tailored to the job seeker's individual circumstances and are appropriate to the level of their capability.

1. What is a Job Plan?

For the purposes of Social Security Law, a 'Job Plan' is an 'Employment Pathway Plan' and a 'Participation Plan' for Disability Support Pension recipients, less than 35 years of age, with compulsory requirements.

Providers are required to work with job seekers to keep Job Plans up to date and appropriate to job seekers' individual needs.

Job Plan contents are discussed and agreed to based on each job seeker's individual circumstances and the support they need to move from welfare to work. Usually a Job Plan includes Provider Appointments, Job Search, education and skills training and other Activities to improve the job seeker's employability.

To support job seekers to successfully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements and receive the most from the services offered, Job Plans should be:

Meaningful—Every time the Job Plan is negotiated and updated, Providers need to take the time to discuss the requirements with the job seeker. It's important that job seekers understand any changes that have been made, the benefits of participation, and know and understand why they are required to participate in these activities.

Tailored and appropriate—Consideration needs to be given to the individual circumstances of the job seeker. This includes their program or Stream, level of requirements, physical capacity, the location of any activities or other personal circumstances like caring and family responsibilities.

Clear and understood—Job seekers should know exactly what is required of them on each day; there should be no doubt or confusion of what is expected. This includes the potential consequences of not meeting any of their requirements. Job seekers having a clear understanding of their requirements means that:

- they understand the benefits of participation
- they understand their requirements support successful participation
- they feel empowered to make the right decision to meet their requirements, and
- the compliance framework can be utilised effectively and appropriately

(Deed references: Clauses 87.1, 87.4, 117.1)

2. Creating and Approving a Job Seeker's Job Plan

Providers and the Department of Human Services (DHS) have been delegated certain powers under Social Security Law including the power to require a job seeker to enter into a Job Plan and to approve or update a job seeker's Job Plan.

Creating a Job Plan at the Initial Appointment

A Job Plan is created at the Initial Appointment with a job seeker. Once the job seeker attends the Initial Appointment and the Job Plan is approved the job seeker is automatically commenced in Services.

During the Initial Appointment, a Provider negotiates a Job Plan with their new job seekers or job seekers transferred from other Providers. Providers need to ensure that each requirement is tailored to meet the circumstances of the individual job seeker and supports them in achieving their employment goals.

The Provider's role is to support the job seeker and:

- ensure that each Job Plan contains all of the compulsory and voluntary Activities the job seeker needs to undertake in order to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements
- include the details of all Activities tailored to address the job seeker's individual needs, reduced work capacity and barriers to employment
- ensure that the Activities do not place unreasonable demands on the job seeker

Please refer to the Guide to Social Security 3.2.8.50 for an overview of what can be included in a Job Plan.

(Deed references: Clause 84.1, 85.1, 87.1, 87.2, 87.3, 87.4, 87.5, 117.1, Annexure A1)

Activities in the Job Plan must not place unreasonable demands on the job seeker. The job seeker must be capable of doing any Activity and meeting all requirements included in their Job Plan.

Providers are required to record the Activities and relevant details in the job seeker's Job Plan, including: the names of education and training organisations and the type of training being undertaken; the names of employers and the type of work being undertaken; hours of participation the job seeker needs to complete each fortnight and the hours of participation required for each Activity. If drug or alcohol dependency impacts on the job seeker's participation, providers need to record refusal for treatment, or lack of treatment available in the local area in the Capability Management Tool, in the Department's IT System.

Providers are required to include approved Activities in the job seeker's Job Plan that will enable the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. In the Work for the Dole Phase, the Job Plan must include appropriate hours of participation in approved Activities each fortnight during that phase.

At all times during a job seeker's period of servicing the number of Job Searches a job seeker is required to undertake each month must be specified in the job seeker's Job Plan.

Approved courses include the Skills for Education and Employment (SEE) Program and the Adult Migrant English Program (AMEP). Providers must ensure that the job seeker has some Job Search Requirement recorded in their Job Plan while participating in these programs.

Including sufficient fortnightly hours in the Job Plan

Ensure that each Job Plan contains sufficient hours of Activities per fortnight for the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

The Department's IT System will automatically calculate the fortnightly hours under each code that is included in the Job Plan. Depending on the hours scheduled for the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the System will display messages to guide Providers to ensure the number of hours are appropriate.

The Provider is unable to set more than reasonable hours of activities per fortnight in the Job Plan in any event, and the Department's IT System will restrict the Provider from doing so by displaying an error message.

See the 'Setting Daily Requirements' in this document for information on scheduling Daily Requirements (including activities, study or training and paid work).

Explaining a Job Plan to the job seeker

Providers need to ensure that job seekers understand their Mutual Obligation Requirements such as: attending Appointments; undertaking compulsory and voluntary Activities; fulfilling their Annual Activity Requirement; and undertaking and completing Job Searches.

At the job seeker's Initial Appointment Providers need to explain:

- the purpose of the Job Plan
- the Mutual Obligation Requirements the job seeker needs to undertake in return for income support payments
- the job seeker's rights and responsibilities under the Job Plan (including 'think time' to consider the Job Plan before agreeing to it)
- what the job seeker needs to do if they have a change in circumstances that affects their ability to meet the requirements in their Job Plan
- how to contact the Provider to give prior notice if unable to meet requirements and the consequences of not giving prior notice if the job seeker is able to do so
- the consequences of failing to meet the requirements without a Reasonable Excuse, and any impact this may have on the job seeker's income support payment
- the consequences of failing to give prior notice (with a Valid Reason) if they cannot attend compulsory Appointments or participate in compulsory Activities
- their right to appeal decisions and where they can find assistance to do this
- how the Provider intends to support the job seeker
- the Provider's Service Guarantee and Service Delivery Plan
- the section entitled 'Information You Need to Know' in the Job Plan
- how information is protected under privacy legislation and Social Security law; and
- that all relevant contact details will need to be accurately recorded and updated in the Department's IT System including phone numbers, email address and postal address.

(Deed references: Clause 87.2, 87.5, 106.1, Annexure A1)

Interpreters, Support Persons and Nominees

When a job seeker requests, or if the Provider considers it appropriate, the job seeker can bring a support person with them to their Job Plan Appointment. Similarly, when a job seeker requests or if the Provider considers it appropriate,

Providers are required to use an interpreter to ensure that the job seeker understands their requirements before they agree to the Job Plan.

You may also need to work with Humanitarian Settlement Program Case Managers, who may accompany some humanitarian entrant (refugee) job seekers to interviews. A Humanitarian Settlement Program Case Manager can provide advice on appropriate employment strategies and activities that can help the provider to develop a suitable Job Plan. (Note that a Case Manager is not an interpreter).

Additionally, job seekers in residential programs for drug and alcohol rehabilitation will not always inform their Provider of their change of circumstances. When in a residential program job seekers should have an authorised correspondence nominee. The nominee will receive all of the correspondence and notifications sent from the Provider to the job seeker. The nominee can advise the Provider that the job seeker is in a residential program and may not have access to a phone or computer.

Staff of residential programs are able to act as nominees for job seekers.

Please record details of any conversations with a nominee in the comments screen in the Department's IT System.

Job seekers requiring 'think time' to consider the terms of their Job Plan

Before signing or agreeing to the terms of a Job Plan, all job seekers can have up to two Business Days 'think time' to consider the requirements set in the Job Plan. The job seeker can use this time to discuss the terms of the Job Plan with a third party if they wish. The 'think time' is available to a job seeker each time a Job Plan is created or updated.

If a job seeker is offered and accepts 'think time', Providers need to arrange and book a Provider Appointment for the job seeker to occur in two Business Days so that the job seeker can agree to and sign the Job Plan.

Job seekers with a Compulsory Job Plan

For job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements, including Disability Support Pension recipients under 35 years of age and Special Benefit recipients (who are not Nominated Visa Holders), there needs to be at least one compulsory requirement in the Job Plan and a record of the details in the job seeker's Calendar.

Job seekers who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, but have chosen to access jobactive on a voluntary basis are Fully Eligible Participants (Voluntary). These job seekers still need to have a compulsory Job Plan which includes the Activities they are undertaking to fully meet their requirements. Any additional Activities they agree to undertake need to be included in their Job Plan as a voluntary requirement.

(Deed references: Clause 70.1, 87.2, 87.5)

Job seekers with a Suspension

Job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements who are Suspended from their Provider's caseload can choose to volunteer to participate in Activities. Providers must agree to the voluntary Activities the job seeker will participate in and update the job seeker's Job Plan to include the voluntary Activities. If the Provider becomes aware that a job seeker is no longer suspended or not participating in voluntary Activities listed in the Job Plan, the Provider must update the Job Plan as appropriate.

A suspension from a Provider's caseload can occur when:

- a job seeker is granted an Activity Test exemption by the Department of Human Services (DHS)
- a PCP or PCW (15-29 hours) job seeker is fully meeting their requirements through part time work or other approved activities
- the Provider applies a 'Provisional Exit' from servicing on the expectation that the job seeker's employment will lead to a full outcome; or
- the job seeker has a partial or temporary reduced work capacity of less than 15 hours per week.

(Deed references: Clause 70.1, 87.2, 87.5)

Job seekers with a Voluntary Job Plan

Job seekers who are participating in jobactive without Mutual Obligation Requirements must have a Voluntary Job Plan. These job seekers can be Volunteers receiving six months of service in Stream A or be Fully Eligible Participants who do not have Mutual Obligation Requirements and are participating voluntarily in jobactive such as:

- Structural Adjustment Program job seekers not on income support
- Pre-Release Prisoners
- job seekers with an Exemption from their Mutual Obligation Requirements
- job seekers with an assessed Partial Capacity to Work or a temporary reduced work capacity of less than 15 hours per week
- Vulnerable Youth or Vulnerable Youth (Student)
- a previous recipient of Widows Allowance granted Newstart Allowance after 1 January 2018 and exempt from Mutual Obligation Requirements
- Special Benefit recipients who are not Nominated Visa Holders.

Voluntary Job Plans can only include voluntary Activities as these job seekers do not have compulsory requirements and are not subject to compliance if they do not participate in these activities. Job seekers will not be at risk of incurring a penalty if they do not participate in voluntary items.

Job seekers participating in Time to Work Employment Service

If a job seeker has participated in the Time to Work Employment Service the Provider needs to take into account any current Transition Plans identified in the Department's IT System.

Job seekers participating in ParentsNext

ParentsNext Volunteers can choose to volunteer into jobactive and they will already have a Participation Plan created by their ParentsNext Provider. A jobactive Provider must not create, update or otherwise edit a Job Plan for a ParentsNext Volunteer. If a Job Plan for a ParentsNext Volunteer needs changes, the Job Plan can only be updated by the ParentsNext Volunteer's ParentsNext Provider.

(Deed references: Clause 87.5, Annexure A1)

Job seekers participating in the Career Transition Assistance Trial

Eligible job seekers can volunteer to participate in the Career Transition Assistance (CTA) Trial. Participation in CTA can only be included as a voluntary Activity in a job seeker's Job Plan.

For job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements, attendance at the Initial Meeting with a CTA Provider is compulsory. Upon referral to CTA, the CTA Provider will confirm the details of the job seeker's Initial Meeting to commence into CTA. Providers should use these details to book a Third Party appointment for the job seeker and issue formal notification of the requirement to attend the appointment with the CTA Provider. For job seekers in the Work for the Dole phase, participation in CTA will fully meet their AAR. At the conclusion of CTA, the CTA Provider will arrange a Warm Handover Meeting with the job seeker's Provider. At this meeting, job seekers will be offered two ongoing contacts with the CTA Provider, and the CTA Provider will be required to specify the details of these contacts. Providers should again use these details to book Third Party appointments for the job seeker and issue formal notification of the appointment/s.

Approving a Job Plan

Provider staff are delegates of the Secretary of the Department of Jobs and Small Business and have the power to:

- require a job seeker with Mutual Obligation Requirements to enter into a Job Plan
- approve a Job Plan, and
- vary the terms of a Job Plan.

Documentary evidence: Once the terms of the Job Plan have been agreed to and the Job Plan is created in the Department's IT System, give the Job Plan to the job seeker for their agreement. Job Plans can be agreed to online or by signing a hard copy.

(Deed references: Clause 87.4, 117.1, Annexure A1)

Job seeker agreeing to the Job Plan – online

Documentary evidence: Providers may send a Job Plan to the Job Seeker Dashboard through the jobactive website or Job Seeker App for the job seeker to review and agree to online. Before using this option check that the job seeker has access to the Job Plan on their Dashboard and they know how to agree to it.

Documentary evidence: Providers are required to formally notify the job seeker (including those with voluntary requirements) that the Job Plan has been sent to their Job Seeker Dashboard for their agreement. This can be done either face to face or over the phone and needs to be within two Business Days of sending the Job Plan.

A verbal formal Notification script is available on the Department's IT System for the Provider to read to the job seeker. The script includes a compliance warning that is required to be given to job seekers (with Mutual Obligation Requirements) if they do not agree to the Job Plan within two Business Days.

When the job seeker agrees to the Job Plan, the Job Plan status will automatically be set to 'approved' in the Department's IT System.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline and the Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline for further information on how to issue formal Notification.

Job seeker agreeing to the Job Plan – hard copy

The job seeker and the Provider may sign a hard copy of the Job Plan. The Provider needs to give the job seeker the signed copy and then approve the Job Plan in the Department's IT System.

When the Job Plan has been approved and entered in to the Department's IT System, the job seeker will be able to access it from their Job Seeker Dashboard.

Job seeker not agreeing to the Job Plan

Job seekers who do not enter into a Job Plan without good reason after the two days 'think time' will have their payment suspended until a Job Plan is agreed to and signed by the job seeker.

If the job seeker refuses to enter into and sign a Job Plan (and does not wish to use their 'think time') contact the job seeker and assess if the job seeker has a Valid Reason for refusing.

For further information, see the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline.

(Deed references: Clause 114.1, 114.2, 114.5, 114.6, Annexure A1)

Recording a Job Plan

Documentary evidence: The Job Plan is to be recorded in the Department's IT System as soon as possible, after it has been created. The contents of the Job Plan recorded in the Department's IT System must be exactly the same as the hard copy.

If the Department's IT System is temporarily unavailable or there is no computer access, use the manual compulsory or voluntary Job Plan template available on the Provider Portal.

Using Job Plan codes

Providers are required to use the comprehensive list of Job Plan codes, at Attachment A, so that Job Plan data can be pre-populated and linked through the Department's IT System to the Dashboard on the Job Seeker App, the jobactive website and the DHS IT system.

The following codes are pre-populated in Job Plans. Most can be removed if not appropriate to the job seeker.

AI09 – Attend DES Appointments
 AI12 – Attend Provider Appointments
 AI13 – Attend DES Ongoing Support Appointments
 AI15 – Attend Third Party Appointments
 JS09 – Job Search Contacts – Monthly
 JS10 – Job Interviews
 PA03 – Personal Responsibility
 PA04 – Actioning Job Referrals and Job Opportunities
 AS02 – Health and Allied Services Assistance
 AS20 – Ongoing Support Assistance
 NV14 – Health Maintenance Program

AI15 – Attend Third Party Appointments and PA04 – Actioning Job Referrals and Job Opportunities cannot be removed. If either of these codes are not appropriate for a job seeker, don't schedule any Activities against them.

Note: From 1 January 2019, providers should use the new Job Plan Code ET 69 which allows refugee job seekers to fully meet their mutual obligation requirements when undertaking activities to help adjust to life in Australia and increase their chances of finding work.

(Deed references: Clause 83A.3, 106A.1, 106A.2, 113.1)

Job Search Requirement

Job search requirements are determined by Providers based on a job seeker's circumstances and local labour market conditions. The majority of job seekers will usually be required to undertake 20 Job Searches per month. If applicable, Providers can use the JS05 or JS06 (Job Search with Disability) codes. These codes will trigger a higher rate of Mobility Allowance for eligible job seekers.

The number and quality of job searches undertaken need to be monitored. Job seekers can report their job search activities on the Job Seeker App or jobactive website.

Job seekers should be given instructions on how to upload and record their Job Search efforts and related details, even if they indicate they will report their Job Search efforts directly to their Provider.

If the job seeker reports efforts directly to their Provider by email or filling out a Job Search record and giving it directly, the Provider will need to record the number of efforts submitted to them by no later than close of business on that day.

Providers need to:

- review and confirm the quality of efforts submitted online or directly by no later than five Business Days after the end of each Job Search Period.
- ensure that the job seeker is aware at all times of:

- their current Job Search Requirement
- when their Job Searches must be reported by
- how to report their Job Search efforts using the jobactive website, or directly to the Provider.
- ensure that the number of Job Search efforts undertaken, and the number yet to be undertaken by the job seeker in each JSP, are visible on the Job Seeker App or jobactive website

Please refer to Job Aids at the Learning Centre for information on recording results for Job Search.

(Deed references: Clauses 113.1, 113.2, 113.3)

In addition to Job Search requirements Providers can include job referrals in a job seekers Job Plan. These include:

Single referrals
Apply for a specific job
Accept a Job Interview
Contact an employer to arrange and accept a Job Interview
Update a resume appropriately
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity
Combination referrals
Update a resume appropriately AND provide personal details to support a job opportunity
Update a resume appropriately AND apply for a specific job
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity AND contact an employer to arrange and accept a Job Interview
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity AND accept a Job Interview

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3 & 87.5)

Job seekers who do not have Job Search Requirements

The following job seekers are not required to undertake Job Search while they are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirement

- Principal Carer Parents undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these
- Job seekers with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these
- Job seekers 55 years of age and over undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these
- Job seekers undertaking drug and alcohol rehabilitation in a residential program

- Pregnant job seekers from three months before their due date.
- NEIS Participants and Prospective Participants while participating in NEIS Training.
- NEIS Participants in receipt of Parenting Payment (Single) or the Disability Support Pension who remain on their current payment while participating in NEIS Assistance and actively working on their small business,
- Early School Leavers who are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through full-time education or a combination of part-time study and part-time work of 25 hours per week (15 hours for those with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements)
- refugee job seekers when undertaking activities to help adjust to life in Australia and increasing their chances of finding work.

Linking Job Plan Codes to Activity Placements and the Calendar

Activity placements can be linked to Job Plan codes in Activity Management in the Department's IT System. It is best practice that Providers link Activity placements to the appropriate code in the Job Plan. Job Plan codes need to be linked to the daily requirements scheduled in the Calendar, this will enable the details to be auto-populated into any formal Notification created from the Calendar. Providers will also be able to record attendance results in the Calendar.

(Deed references: Clause 83A.1, 83.A.2)

Personal Responsibility to record attendance code PA03

If a Provider determines that a job seeker is capable of taking personal responsibility for recording their own attendance at Activities, the job seeker will be required to record their attendance at:

- Activities
- Third Party Appointments and
- Job Interviews.

The Personal Responsibility Code PA03 is included in every job seeker's Job Plan by default. Providers are required to inform job seekers if they are assessed as being capable of and that they are required to record their own attendance at Activities. If the Provider assesses the job seeker as not capable of recording their own attendance, the Provider will need to remove the PA03 code from the job seeker's Job Plan. Ensure that capable job seekers understand the requirement to record their attendance by close of business on the day of the requirement and that their payment will be suspended if they do not do so. The job seeker will be notified to contact their Provider if their payment is suspended. Providers will need to assess whether the job seeker had a valid reason for not reporting and enter the result on behalf of the job seeker and consider whether the job seeker is still capable of recording and reporting their own attendance.

(Deed references: Clause 87.5, 106.1, 106A.1, 106A.2)

Providing evidence of attendance for an Activity

For some Activities, the job seeker will need to provide evidence when they are recording their own attendance.

Evidence for attendance will be a QR code or passcode (code) generated by the Department's IT System. The job seeker will scan the code through their device while at the Activity to record their attendance via the Job Seeker App or by recording a passcode via the jobactive website.

If the duration of the Activity is four hours or more, two codes will be generated: one for the job seeker's arrival at the Activity and one for the end of Activity. The code for the end of Activity should not be made available to the job seeker until close to the finish time.

When creating an Activity that requires evidence of attendance, the Provider must ensure that they record the contact details of the relevant person/s who will provide the code to job seekers, such as an Activity Supervisor. The person providing the code to job seekers needs to be given the code before the Activity session commences. Providers should also ensure that the person providing the code for an afternoon session knows not to make the code available to the job seeker until the afternoon session commences.

However, there will be instances where there isn't a supervisor or contact for activities, such as education and training. This is because it would be unreasonable, or not expected due to the relationship and past experience, for evidenced-based recording or to report non-attendance directly to the Provider. In these situations, job seekers will record attendance directly on the day. By recording their own attendance, job seekers will be acknowledging via a statement on the App or website that they have attended and the information they are providing is true and correct. No further evidence is required, therefore satisfying documentary evidence requirements. Providers will still be able to record non-attendance if they become aware that job seekers have failed to attend or left early at education/training activities.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.5)

Assessing a job seeker's capability to record attendance

To assess the job seeker's capability to record their own attendance, Providers need to consider if the job seeker has:

- daily, reliable access to technology that would allow them to record their attendance, such as a computer or smartphone, or the means to contact their Provider to report their attendance; and
- the ability to record or report their own attendance, understanding:
  - what requirements they need to record attendance for
  - how to record their own attendance
  - that they must record or report attendance by close of business on the day of the requirement
  - what to do and who to contact if they cannot record their own attendance on a given day

- the consequences of not recording or reporting their own attendance if they are required to do so.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Job seeker is capable of recording their own attendance

If the job seeker has both the means and the ability to record and report their own attendance keep the personal responsibility code (PA03) in the Job Plan.

Monitor the job seeker's capability to record their own attendance to ensure that the job seeker is reporting their attendance accurately. If a Provider knows that a job seeker has not accurately recorded their attendance, they can override the result entered by the job seeker.

If the job seeker contacts the Provider and asks them to record attendance on their behalf, the Provider will assess whether the job seeker did attend and, if so, record the job seeker's attendance.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Job seeker is not capable of recording their attendance

If the job seeker is not capable of recording their own attendance, the Provider will need to remove the PA03 code when finalising the job seeker's Job Plan.

Providers are encouraged to keep working with job seekers to build capacity for reporting their attendance at requirements.

If, a job seeker can't record their attendance because they live in an area with unreliable connectivity or other similar reasons,, the Provider needs to tell the job seeker to report their attendance by contacting their Provider and they will record attendance on the job seeker's behalf.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2, 87.5)

3. Reviewing, Updating and Monitoring a Job Plan

Providers is required to review, update and monitor a job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law.

Providers need to review the Job Plan and update it when the job seeker:

- has a change in their circumstances
- enters into a new phase of their Stream
- enters in to a new Stream
- commences a new Activity
- completes an Activity that was in their Job Plan and/or
- has a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment

For DHS managed job seekers, DHS will update the Job Plan when required. If the job seeker is managed by a Provider, DHS will consult with the relevant Provider before updating the Job Plan or may request that the Provider updates the Job Plan at the job seeker's next Appointment. Providers should not remove any updates made to a Job Plan by DHS without consultation.

If a Participation Plan for ParentsNext Volunteers requires review or an update, then Providers must contact the participant's ParentsNext Provider and request they make the update to the Participation Plan.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.4, 87.5, 87.7, 113.1, 113.2, 114.1, Annexure A1)

Updating the Job Plan

It is best practice to review the Job Plan at each Provider Appointment to ensure that the job seeker is still capable of meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements. If the outcome of a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment is that the Job Plan requires updating, Providers are required to review and update the contents of the Job Plan within 10 business days. Ensure that the contents of the Job Plan is updated including details of any additional voluntary activities or if the job seeker is subject to an Exemption.

In consultation with the job seeker, the Job Plan can be updated and tailored to individual needs at any time—unless there is compliance outstanding. If compliance action is outstanding, the Department's IT System will not permit the Job Plan to be updated and the Provider will be redirected to the 'Compliance Screen' in the Department's IT System.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline for information on using the Targeted Compliance Framework.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.1, 87.2, 87.3, 87.5)

Updating Job Plan to include Voluntary activities

If a job seeker is granted an exemption or is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, they may wish to participate voluntarily and they can discuss this with the Provider. Voluntary activities should be included in the Job Plan and scheduled in the Calendar, and the job seeker should be notified of where and when to attend each Activity.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.54)

Updating Job Plan following job seeker advising change in circumstances

The Job Plan needs to be reviewed as soon as practicable after the Provider becomes aware or is informed of a change in the job seeker's circumstances.

Newly disclosed or discovered information may be found on, and should be immediately recorded in, the Capability Management Tool (CMT) in the Department's IT System.

If the Job Plan is to be renegotiated in light of the new information, the Provider will refer to the CMT to ensure that the Job Plan requirements are appropriate for the job seeker's capability, and that the job seeker will receive enough assistance and support to address the circumstances recorded in the CMT.

See the Capability Interview Guideline and Capability Assessment Guideline for information on using the Capability Management Tool.

(Deed references: Clauses 84.2, 87.5)

Updating the Job Plan to include (previously removed) requirement to record own attendance

If the Provider is renegotiating a Job Plan and assesses that the job seeker is now capable to record their own attendance (where the requirement was previously removed from the Job Plan), the Provider needs to re-enter Job Plan code PA03 in to the job seeker's Job Plan. Ensure that the job seeker understands that they are now recording their own attendance at requirements as well as the importance of entering results via the App or jobactive website by close of business on the day of the requirement as their payment will be automatically suspended the next day if no result has been entered.

(Deed references: Clauses 106.1, 106A.1, 106A.2)

Updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment

See the Capability Interview Guideline for information on updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview.

4. Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements in the Calendar

The Provider is required to record details of, and schedule each requirement in the Calendar, including:

- Provider Appointments
- Activities
- Job Interviews
- Education and Training
- Drug and alcohol rehabilitation
- Third Party Appointments
- Workshops, training and other activities delivered by the Provider and
- Employment, if the hours are regular and can reasonably be scheduled by the Provider or job seeker.

To schedule a requirement in the Calendar, the Job Plan code that corresponds to that requirement must have been included in the job seeker's current, signed Job Plan.

For example: if the job seeker's Job Plan does not include the code for Compulsory participation in Work for the Dole (Code WE12), the Department's IT System will not allow a Provider to schedule Compulsory Work for the Dole in the job seeker's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.1, 83A.2)

Scheduling Requirements

The Provider must ensure that each day of each job seeker requirement is scheduled in the Calendar. Each day of each requirement scheduled in the Calendar must be populated with:

- the name or description of the requirement
- the start time
- break times, where relevant
- the end time
- the location of the requirement, including any special instructions to locate a venue (e.g. located on battle-axe block) and
- the name of any third party provider or training organisation

When the Provider schedules the requirement in the Calendar and formally notifies the job seeker, the requirement will then appear in the job seeker's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A, 83A.1, 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling a Provider Appointment

Providers need to ensure that the Provider's Electronic Calendar has the capacity to receive an Appointment within the next two business days. When booking a Provider Appointment for a job seeker, Providers need to select the correct appointment type, schedule the appointment in the Calendar and formally notify the job seeker. If a job seeker has an Appointment with their Provider, the Provider must deliver a Contact on the date and time of the Appointment as recorded in the job seeker's Calendar.

There are four types of appointments; Initial; Contact; Re-engagement and Capability Interview appointment

Please refer to the Job Aids at the Learning Centre at <https://learningcentre.employment.gov.au/> for information on recording results at Provider Appointments.

(Deed references: Clauses 83.1, 83.3)

Scheduling Activities and Third Party Appointments

Detailed information on scheduling Activities and Appointments is available in the Calendar and AAR Details IT Supporting Document.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2)

Scheduling Job Interviews

All Job Interviews need to be scheduled in the Calendar and the job seeker must be formally notified of the requirement to attend. Job seekers taking personal responsibility to record their own attendance must do so for Job Interviews.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling drug or alcohol rehabilitation

If the Provider identifies or becomes aware that the job seeker's ongoing capability to meet their requirements or search for work is compromised by drug or alcohol dependency, the Provider needs to discuss this with the job seeker to identify rehabilitation options that would assist the job seeker to overcome their dependence.

If the job seeker chooses to undertake drug and alcohol rehabilitation or is already when they enter employment services or transfer Providers, schedule it in the Calendar and formally notify the job seeker. Undertaking drug and alcohol rehabilitation counts towards the job seeker's AAR.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling Study or Training

Providers are responsible for identifying any appropriate study and training opportunities that will assist the job seeker to gain skills or qualifications that will assist them to find work. Where practical, the Provider must ensure all study and training is scheduled in the Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling hours of employment where reasonable to do so

If the job seeker is employed for regular hours, the Provider should schedule the hours of employment in the Calendar when they can reasonably do so.

The Provider should encourage the job seeker to take personal responsibility by scheduling their own hours of employment, and they should either provide assistance to the job seeker to do so or tell them where they can find assistance to help them with this. If the job seeker does not schedule their own regular hours of employment by creating Personal Events, the Provider must do so.

The Provider will create a Personal Event in the job seeker's Calendar for each day of employment the job seeker is undertaking. The job seeker does not need to be formally notified of scheduled Personal Events, including paid work, and the TCF cannot be used to report non-compliance for failing to attend work.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Job seeker may create Personal Events

Job seekers may create their own Personal Events in their Calendar between 6am and 9pm. Job seekers may only create Personal Events where a Mutual Obligation Requirement is not already scheduled at that time.

The Provider is able to create Personal Events on behalf of the job seeker to assist the job seeker in having full visibility of their schedule and their requirements. Providers must create Personal Events on behalf of the job seeker to schedule regular hours of paid work if the job seeker does not do so. Providers must advise the job seeker that even though they have created a Personal Event, Mutual Obligation Requirements may still be scheduled.

Confirmed job seeker Personal Events

Providers are responsible for confirming job seeker Personal Events and are encouraged to review and consider Personal Events created by the job seeker. Providers should use their judgement and knowledge of the individual job seeker to decide whether the job seeker's Personal Event is appropriate prior to confirming it. When deciding to confirm a Personal Event, the Provider should also consider the nature of the Personal Event and the job seeker's personal situation. A Personal Event is considered to be Prior Notice of a job seeker being unable to attend a requirement at that time. By confirming the event, the system will not allow a conflicting requirement to then be set.

If the Provider confirms a Personal Event that should not have been confirmed, they cannot 'un-confirm' the event. The Provider must cancel the Personal Event, after discussing the reasons why the Personal Event was cancelled in the Calendar, which will notify the job seeker via an inbox message.

Unconfirmed job seeker Personal Events

If a Provider considers that a Personal Event entered by a job seeker is not appropriate, the Provider can choose to leave it unconfirmed. If a Personal Event is not confirmed, the Provider can override the unconfirmed Personal Event and schedule a requirement at that time. The Provider must record the reason in the Department's IT system and must formally notify the job seeker of the requirement and ensuring they can make other arrangements for the Personal Event that they had created.

Scheduling a requirement over a confirmed job seeker Personal Event

If the Provider needs to schedule a requirement for the same time as a job seeker's confirmed Personal Event, the Provider will need to discuss this with the job seeker. After confirming with the job seeker that they are available to attend the requirement at the scheduled time, the Provider is required to record the reason in the Department's IT System and formally notify the job seeker of their requirement. Providers need to manage the conflicting requirement in the Calendar and record the reason you are scheduling the requirement at this day/time in the Department's IT System.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

5. Issuing Formal Notification to the job seeker

Except for any paid work the job seeker is undertaking, the Provider is required to formally notify the job seeker of every compulsory requirement in their Job Plan. The Provider must explain how to meet each requirement, as well as the consequences of not doing so, including possible financial penalties.

When the Provider schedules requirements in the Calendar, the Department's IT System will automatically create and record the selected Notification type to be issued. If a job seeker's requirements are re-scheduled Providers must formally notify the job seeker of the new requirement.

Formal Notification always includes:

- the reason for the appointment, if the requirement is an appointment
- whether the requirement is for the purpose of Re-engagement
- the date and start time of the requirement
- the location or address of the requirement
- if the job seeker is required to record their own attendance, and if so, the consequences of not doing so
- whether the job seeker will require evidence to record their own attendance
- whether the requirement is compulsory or voluntary
- that the job seeker must contact their Provider beforehand if they become aware of an Acceptable Reason preventing them from being able to attend or complete the requirement
- the possible consequences for the job seeker if they do not meet their requirement
- a statement that the Notification is a notice under Social Security Law
- that the job seeker must complete their requirement in return for their Income Support Payment.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.3)

Legal authority to formally notify a job seeker of their Mutual Obligation Requirements

Employment services provider employees are delegated powers by the Secretary of the Department of Jobs and Small Business under Social Security Law to notify job seekers of their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

(Social Security (Administration) Act 1999 (ss: 63); Social Security Act 1991 (ss 501,544,605,731L) Deed Clause 117).

Note: The requirement to formally notify a job seeker receiving Income Support Payments also applies to Disability Support Recipients (Compulsory Requirements) and Stronger Participation Incentive Participants.

Notifying job seekers within the appropriate timeframe

Providers must issue job seekers Formal Notification within the appropriate timeframe before the requirement is scheduled to occur.

If reasonable notice timeframes are not met, the Calendar will not allow a requirement to be booked unless the Provider is in direct contact with the job seeker and they have agreed to attend this requirement and the Provider records this.

Refer to the Targeted Compliance Framework Reference Guide at <https://learningcentre.employment.gov.au/> and the Learning Centre for more supporting materials relating to reasonable notice timeframes and Notification methods.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.3)

6. Privacy and information sharing

Providers must comply with Social Security Law and Australian privacy legislation. A job seeker's Personal Information must only be used or disclosed for the purpose it was collected, except in limited circumstances such as where the job seeker gives permission, where Commonwealth laws allow or other special circumstances.

Providers should seek independent legal advice if they have any concerns regarding their obligations under any privacy or other legislation. For further information, refer to the Privacy Guideline.

(Deed references: Clauses 53, 87, 106)

Sharing Job Plans with SEE or AMEP Providers

Providers should encourage job seekers participating in the SEE program or AMEP to share their Job Plans with their SEE or AMEP Provider in order to make them aware of their full Mutual Obligation Requirements. This will assist SEE and AMEP Providers in ensuring that they place job seekers in courses that will fully meet their Annual Activity Requirements.

7. Summary of required Documentary Evidence

- Once the terms of the Job Plan have been agreed to and the Job Plan has been created in the Department's IT System, the Job Plan must be provided to the job seeker for their agreement. Job Plans can be agreed to online or by signing a hard copy.
- Providers may send a Job Plan to the Job Seeker Dashboard through the jobactive website or Job Seeker App for the job seeker to review and agree to online.
- Providers must formally notify the job seeker (including those with voluntary requirements) that the Job Plan has been sent to their Job Seeker Dashboard for their agreement. This must be done either face to face or over the phone and within two Business Days of sending the Job Plan.
- The Job Plan must be recorded in the Department's IT System as soon as possible, after the Job Plan has been created. The contents of the Job Plan recorded in the Department's IT System must be exactly the same as the hard copy.
- If the Department's IT System is temporarily unavailable or there is no computer access, Providers must use the manual compulsory or voluntary Job Plan template available on the Provider Portal.

Guideline:

Job Plan and Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline

A job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements and any other items agreed to with their Employment Services Provider (Provider) are outlined in their Job Plan. It is necessary for Providers to ensure that each job seeker, including job seekers without compulsory Mutual Obligation Requirements, have a Job Plan in place at all times and that the requirements in the Job Plan are tailored to the job seeker's individual circumstances and are appropriate to the level of their capability.

1. What is a Job Plan?

For the purposes of Social Security Law, a 'Job Plan' is an 'Employment Pathway Plan' and a 'Participation Plan' for Disability Support Pension recipients, less than 35 years of age, with compulsory requirements.

Providers are required to work with job seekers to keep Job Plans up to date and appropriate to job seekers' individual needs.

Job Plan contents are discussed and agreed to based on each job seeker's individual circumstances and the support they need to move from welfare to work. Usually a Job Plan includes Provider Appointments, Job Search, education and skills training and other Activities to improve the job seeker's employability.

To support job seekers to successfully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements and receive the most from the services offered, Job Plans should be:

Meaningful—Every time the Job Plan is negotiated and updated, Providers need to take the time to discuss the requirements with the job seeker. It is important that job seekers understand any changes that have been made, the benefits of participation, and know and understand why they are required to participate in these activities.

Tailored and appropriate—Consideration needs to be given to the individual circumstances of the job seeker. This includes their program or Stream, level of requirements, physical capacity, the location of any activities or other personal circumstances like caring and family responsibilities.

Clear and understood—Job seekers should know exactly what is required of them on each day; there should be no doubt or confusion of what is expected. This includes the potential consequences of not meeting any of their requirements. Job seekers having a clear understanding of their requirements means that:

- they understand the benefits of participation
- they understand their requirements support successful participation
- they feel empowered to make the right decision to meet their requirements, and
- the compliance framework can be utilised effectively and appropriately

(Deed references: Clauses 87.1, 87.4, 117.1)

2. Creating and Approving a Job Seeker's Job Plan

Providers and the Department of Human Services (DHS) have been delegated certain powers under Social Security Law including the power to require a job seeker to enter into a Job Plan and to approve or update a job seeker's Job Plan.

Creating a Job Plan at the Initial Appointment

A Job Plan is created at the Initial Appointment with a job seeker. Once the job seeker attends the Initial Appointment and the Job Plan is approved the job seeker is automatically commenced in Services.

During the Initial Appointment, a Provider negotiates a Job Plan with their new job seekers or job seekers transferred from other Providers. Providers need to ensure that each requirement is tailored to meet the circumstances of the individual job seeker and supports them in achieving their employment goals.

The Provider's role is to support the job seeker and:

- ensure that each Job Plan contains all of the compulsory and voluntary Activities the job seeker needs to undertake in order to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements
- include the details of all Activities tailored to address the job seeker's individual needs, reduced work capacity and barriers to employment
- ensure that the Activities do not place unreasonable demands on the job seeker

Please refer to the Guide to Social Security 3.2.8.50 for an overview of what can be included in a Job Plan.

(Deed references: Clause 84.1, 85.1, 87.1, 87.2, 87.3, 87.4, 87.5, 117.1, Annexure A1)

Activities in the Job Plan must not place unreasonable demands on the job seeker. The job seeker must be capable of doing any Activity and meeting all requirements included in their Job Plan.

Providers are required to record the Activities and relevant details in the job seeker's Job Plan, including: the names of education and training organisations and the type of training being undertaken; the names of employers and the type of work being undertaken; hours of participation the job seeker needs to complete each fortnight and the hours of participation required for each Activity. If drug or alcohol dependency impacts on the job seeker's participation, providers need to record refusal for treatment, or lack of treatment available in the local area in the Capability Management Tool, in the Department's IT System.

Providers are required to include approved Activities in the job seeker's Job Plan that will enable the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. In the Work for the Dole Phase, the Job Plan must include appropriate hours of participation in approved Activities each fortnight during that phase.

At all times during a job seeker's period of servicing the number of Job Searches a job seeker is required to undertake each month must be specified in the job seeker's Job Plan.

Approved courses include the Skills for Education and Employment (SEE) Program and the Adult Migrant English Program (AMEP). Providers must ensure that the job seeker has some Job Search Requirement recorded in their Job Plan while participating in these programs.

Including sufficient fortnightly hours in the Job Plan

Ensure that each Job Plan contains sufficient hours of Activities per fortnight for the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

The Department's IT System will automatically calculate the fortnightly hours under each code that is included in the Job Plan. Depending on the hours scheduled for the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the System will display messages to guide Providers to ensure the number of hours are appropriate.

The Provider is unable to set more than reasonable hours of activities per fortnight in the Job Plan in any event, and the Department's IT System will restrict the Provider from doing so by displaying an error message.

System step: If a job seeker is EST mandatory, ESS Web prevents the finalisation of their job plan when making a referral to other activities. When referring an EST mandatory job seeker to another activity, the EST opt-out reason of 'referred to other activity' must be applied before updating the job plan with the other activity.

See the 'Setting Daily Requirements' in this document for information on scheduling Daily Requirements (including activities, study or training and paid work).

Explaining a Job Plan to the job seeker

Providers need to ensure that job seekers understand their Mutual Obligation Requirements such as: attending Appointments; undertaking compulsory and voluntary Activities; fulfilling their Annual Activity Requirement; and undertaking and completing Job Searches.

At the job seeker's Initial Appointment Providers need to explain:

- the purpose of the Job Plan
- the Mutual Obligation Requirements the job seeker needs to undertake in return for income support payments
- the job seeker's rights and responsibilities under the Job Plan (including 'think time' to consider the Job Plan before agreeing to it)
- what the job seeker needs to do if they have a change in circumstances that affects their ability to meet the requirements in their Job Plan
- how to contact the Provider to give prior notice if unable to meet requirements and the consequences of not giving prior notice if the job seeker is able to do so
- the consequences of failing to meet the requirements without a Reasonable Excuse, and any impact this may have on the job seeker's income support payment
- the consequences of failing to give prior notice (with a Valid Reason) if they cannot attend compulsory Appointments or participate in compulsory Activities
- their right to appeal decisions and where they can find assistance to do this
- how the Provider intends to support the job seeker
- the Provider's Service Guarantee and Service Delivery Plan
- the section entitled 'Information You Need to Know' in the Job Plan
- how information is protected under privacy legislation and Social Security law; and
- that all relevant contact details will need to be accurately recorded and updated in the Department's IT System including phone numbers, email address and postal address.

(Deed references: Clause 87.2, 87.5, 106.1, Annexure A1)

Interpreters, Support Persons and Nominees

When a job seeker requests, or if the Provider considers it appropriate, the job seeker can bring a support person with them to their Job Plan Appointment. Similarly, when a job seeker requests or if the Provider considers it appropriate, Providers are required to use an interpreter to ensure that the job seeker understands their requirements before they agree to the Job Plan.

You may also need to work with Humanitarian Settlement Program Case Managers, who may accompany some humanitarian entrant (refugee) job seekers to interviews. A Humanitarian Settlement Program Case Manager can provide advice on appropriate employment strategies and activities that can help the provider to develop a suitable Job Plan. (Note that a Case Manager is not an interpreter).

Additionally, job seekers in residential programs for drug and alcohol rehabilitation will not always inform their Provider of their change of circumstances. When in a residential program job seekers should have an authorised correspondence nominee. The nominee will receive all of the correspondence and notifications sent from the Provider to the job seeker. The nominee can advise the Provider that the job seeker is in a residential program and may not have access to a phone or computer.

Staff of residential programs are able to act as nominees for job seekers.

Please record details of any conversations with a nominee in the comments screen in the Department's IT System.

Job seekers requiring 'think time' to consider the terms of their Job Plan

Before signing or agreeing to the terms of a Job Plan, all job seekers can have up to two Business Days 'think time' to consider the requirements set in the Job Plan. The job seeker can use this time to discuss the terms of the Job Plan with a third party if they wish. The 'think time' is available to a job seeker each time a Job Plan is created or updated.

If a job seeker is offered and accepts 'think time', Providers need to arrange and book a Provider Appointment for the job seeker to occur in two Business Days so that the job seeker can agree to and sign the Job Plan.

Job seekers with a Compulsory Job Plan

For job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements, including Disability Support Pension recipients under 35 years of age and Special Benefit recipients (who are not Nominated Visa Holders), there needs to be at least one compulsory requirement in the Job Plan and a record of the details in the job seeker's Calendar.

Job seekers who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, but have chosen to access jobactive on a voluntary basis are Fully Eligible Participants (Voluntary). These job seekers still need to have a compulsory Job Plan which includes the Activities they are undertaking to fully meet their requirements. Any additional Activities they agree to undertake need to be included in their Job Plan as a voluntary requirement.

(Deed references: Clause 70.1, 87.2, 87.5)

Job seekers with a Suspension

Job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements who are Suspended from their Provider's caseload can choose to volunteer to participate in Activities. Providers must agree to the voluntary Activities the job seeker will participate in and update the job seeker's Job Plan to include the voluntary Activities. If the Provider becomes aware that a job seeker is no longer suspended or not participating in voluntary Activities listed in the Job Plan, the Provider must update the Job Plan as appropriate.

A suspension from a Provider's caseload can occur when:

- a job seeker is granted an Activity Test exemption by the Department of Human Services (DHS)
- a PCP or PCW (15-29 hours) job seeker is fully meeting their requirements through part time work or other approved activities
- the Provider applies a 'Provisional Exit' from servicing on the expectation that the job seeker's employment will lead to a full outcome; or
- the job seeker has a partial or temporary reduced work capacity of less than 15 hours per week.

(Deed references: Clause 70.1, 87.2, 87.5)

Job seekers with a Voluntary Job Plan

Job seekers who are participating in jobactive without Mutual Obligation Requirements must have a Voluntary Job Plan. These job seekers can be Volunteers receiving six months of service in Stream A or be Fully Eligible Participants who do not have Mutual Obligation Requirements and are participating voluntarily in jobactive such as:

- Structural Adjustment Program job seekers not on income support
- Pre-Release Prisoners
- job seekers with an Exemption from their Mutual Obligation Requirements
- job seekers with an assessed Partial Capacity to Work or a temporary reduced work capacity of less than 15 hours per week
- Vulnerable Youth or Vulnerable Youth (Student)
- a previous recipient of Widows Allowance granted Newstart Allowance after 1 January 2018 and exempt from Mutual Obligation Requirements
- Special Benefit recipients who are not Nominated Visa Holders.

Voluntary Job Plans can only include voluntary Activities as these job seekers do not have compulsory requirements and are not subject to compliance if they do not participate in these activities. Job seekers will not be at risk of incurring a penalty if they do not participate in voluntary items.

Job seekers participating in Time to Work Employment Service

If a job seeker has participated in the Time to Work Employment Service the Provider needs to take into account any current Transition Plans identified in the Department's IT System.

Job seekers participating in ParentsNext

ParentsNext Volunteers can choose to volunteer into jobactive and they will already have a Participation Plan created by their ParentsNext Provider. A jobactive Provider must not create, update or otherwise edit a Job Plan for a ParentsNext Volunteer. If a Job Plan for a ParentsNext Volunteer needs changes, the Job Plan can only be updated by the ParentsNext Volunteer's ParentsNext Provider.

(Deed references: Clause 87.5, Annexure A1)

Job seekers participating in Career Transition Assistance (CTA)

Eligible job seekers can volunteer to participate in CTA. Participation in CTA can only be included as a voluntary Activity in a job seeker's Job Plan.

For job seekers in the Work for the Dole phase, participation in CTA will fully meet their AAR. At the conclusion of CTA, the CTA Provider will arrange a Warm Handover Meeting with the job seeker's jobactive Provider. As part of this meeting, job seekers will be offered two future contacts with the CTA Provider, to occur within three months of the completion of CTA. The CTA Provider will be required to specify the details of these contacts. jobactive Providers should again use these details to book Third Party appointments for the job seeker and issue formal notification of the appointment/s.

Approving a Job Plan

Provider staff are delegates of the Secretary of the Department of Jobs and Small Business and have the power to:

- require a job seeker with Mutual Obligation Requirements to enter into a Job Plan
- approve a Job Plan, and
- vary the terms of a Job Plan.

Documentary evidence: Once the terms of the Job Plan have been agreed to and the Job Plan is created in the Department's IT System, give the Job Plan to the job seeker for their agreement. Job Plans can be agreed to online or by signing a hard copy.

(Deed references: Clause 87.4, 117.1, Annexure A1)

Job seeker agreeing to the Job Plan – online

Documentary evidence: Providers may send a Job Plan to the Job Seeker Dashboard through the jobactive website or Job Seeker App for the job seeker to review and agree to online. Before using this option check that the job seeker has access to the Job Plan on their Dashboard and they know how to agree to it.

Documentary evidence: Providers are required to formally notify the job seeker (including those with voluntary requirements) that the Job Plan has been sent to their Job Seeker Dashboard for their agreement. This can be done either face to face or over the phone and needs to be within two Business Days of sending the Job Plan. A verbal formal Notification script is available on the Department's IT System for the Provider to read to the job seeker. The script includes a compliance warning that is required to be given to job seekers (with Mutual Obligation Requirements) if they do not agree to the Job Plan within two Business Days.

When the job seeker agrees to the Job Plan, the Job Plan status will automatically be set to 'approved' in the Department's IT System.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline and the Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline for further information on how to issue formal Notification.

Job seeker agreeing to the Job Plan – hard copy

The job seeker and the Provider may sign a hard copy of the Job Plan. The Provider needs to give the job seeker the signed copy and then approve the Job Plan in the Department's IT System.

When the Job Plan has been approved and entered in to the Department's IT System, the job seeker will be able to access it from their Job Seeker Dashboard.

Job seeker not agreeing to the Job Plan

Job seekers who do not enter into a Job Plan without good reason after the two days 'think time' will have their payment suspended until a Job Plan is agreed to and signed by the job seeker.

If the job seeker refuses to enter into and sign a Job Plan (and does not wish to use their 'think time') contact the job seeker and assess if the job seeker has a Valid Reason for refusing.

For further information, see the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline.

(Deed references: Clause 114.1, 114.2, 114.5, 114.6, Annexure A1)

Recording a Job Plan

Documentary evidence: The Job Plan is to be recorded in the Department's IT System as soon as possible, after it has been created. The contents of the Job Plan recorded in the Department's IT System must be exactly the same as the hard copy.

If the Department's IT System is temporarily unavailable or there is no computer access, use the manual compulsory or voluntary Job Plan template available on the Provider Portal.

Using Job Plan codes

Providers are required to use the comprehensive list of Job Plan codes, at Attachment A, so that Job Plan data can be pre-populated and linked through the Department's IT System to the Dashboard on the Job Seeker App, the jobactive website and the DHS IT system.

The following codes are pre-populated in Job Plans. Most can be removed if not appropriate to the job seeker.

AI09 – Attend DES Appointments

AI12 – Attend Provider Appointments

AI13 – Attend DES Ongoing Support Appointments

AI15 – Attend Third Party Appointments

JS09 – Job Search Contacts – Monthly

JS10 – Job Interviews

PA03 – Personal Responsibility

PA04 – Actioning Job Referrals and Job Opportunities

AS02 – Health and Allied Services Assistance

AS20 – Ongoing Support Assistance

NV14 – Health Maintenance Program

AI15 – Attend Third Party Appointments and PA04 – Actioning Job Referrals and Job Opportunities cannot be removed. If either of these codes are not appropriate for a job seeker, don't schedule any Activities against them.

(Deed references: Clause 83A.3, 106A.1, 106A.2, 113.1)

Job Search Requirement

Job search requirements are determined by Providers based on a job seeker's circumstances and local labour market conditions. The majority of job seekers will usually be required to undertake 20 Job Searches per month. If applicable, Providers can use the JS05 or JS06 (Job Search with Disability) codes. These codes will trigger a higher rate of Mobility Allowance for eligible job seekers.

The number and quality of job searches undertaken need to be monitored. Job seekers can report their job search activities on the Job Seeker App or jobactive website.

Job seekers should be given instructions on how to upload and record their Job Search efforts and related details, even if they indicate they will report their Job Search efforts directly to their Provider.

If the job seeker reports efforts directly to their Provider by email or filling out a Job Search record and giving it directly, the Provider will need to record the number of efforts submitted to them by no later than close of business on that day.

Providers need to:

- review and confirm the quality of efforts submitted online or directly by no later than five Business Days after the end of each Job Search Period.
- ensure that the job seeker is aware at all times of:

- their current Job Search Requirement
- when their Job Searches must be reported by
- how to report their Job Search efforts using the jobactive website, or directly to the Provider.
- ensure that the number of Job Search efforts undertaken, and the number yet to be undertaken by the job seeker in each JSP, are visible on the Job Seeker App or jobactive website

Please refer to Job Aids at the Learning Centre for information on recording results for Job Search.

(Deed references: Clauses 113.1, 113.2, 113.3)

In addition to Job Search requirements Providers can include job referrals in a job seekers Job Plan. These include:

Single referrals
Apply for a specific job
Accept a Job Interview
Contact an employer to arrange and accept a Job Interview
Update a resume appropriately
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity
Combination referrals
Update a resume appropriately AND provide personal details to support a job opportunity
Update a resume appropriately AND apply for a specific job
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity AND contact an employer to arrange and accept a Job Interview
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity AND accept a Job Interview

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3 & 87.5)

Job seekers who do not have Job Search Requirements

The following job seekers are not required to undertake Job Search while they are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirement

- Principal Carer Parents undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these
- Job seekers with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these
- Job seekers 55 years of age and over undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these
- Job seekers undertaking drug and alcohol rehabilitation in a residential program

- Pregnant job seekers from three months before their due date.
- NEIS Participants and Prospective Participants while participating in NEIS Training.
- NEIS Participants in receipt of Parenting Payment (Single) or the Disability Support Pension who remain on their current payment while participating in NEIS Assistance and actively working on their small business,
- Early School Leavers who are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through full-time education or a combination of part-time study and part-time work of 25 hours per week (15 hours for those with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements)
- refugee job seekers when undertaking activities to help adjust to life in Australia and increasing their chances of finding work.

Linking Job Plan Codes to Activity Placements and the Calendar

Activity placements can be linked to Job Plan codes in Activity Management in the Department's IT System. It is best practice that Providers link Activity placements to the appropriate code in the Job Plan. Job Plan codes need to be linked to the daily requirements scheduled in the Calendar; this will enable the details to be auto-populated into any formal Notification created from the Calendar. Providers will also be able to record attendance results in the Calendar.

(Deed references: Clause 83A.1, 83.A.2)

Personal Responsibility to record attendance code PA03

If a Provider determines that a job seeker is capable of taking personal responsibility for recording their own attendance at Activities, the job seeker will be required to record their attendance at:

- Activities
- Third Party Appointments and
- Job Interviews.

The Personal Responsibility Code PA03 is included in every job seeker's Job Plan by default. Providers are required to inform job seekers if they are assessed as being capable of and that they are required to record their own attendance at Activities. If the Provider assesses the job seeker as not capable of recording their own attendance, the Provider will need to remove the PA03 code from the job seeker's Job Plan. Ensure that capable job seekers understand the requirement to record their attendance by close of business on the day of the requirement and that their payment will be suspended if they do not do so. The job seeker will be notified to contact their Provider if their payment is suspended. Providers will need to assess whether the job seeker had a valid reason for not reporting and enter the result on behalf of the job seeker and consider whether the job seeker is still capable of recording and reporting their own attendance.

(Deed references: Clause 87.5, 106.1, 106A.1, 106A.2)

Providing evidence of attendance for an Activity

For some Activities, the job seeker will need to provide evidence when they are recording their own attendance.

Evidence for attendance will be a QR code or passcode (code) generated by the Department's IT System. The job seeker will scan the code through their device while at the Activity to record their attendance via the Job Seeker App or by recording a passcode via the jobactive website.

If the duration of the Activity is four hours or more, two codes will be generated: one for the job seeker's arrival at the Activity and one for the end of Activity. The code for the end of Activity should not be made available to the job seeker until close to the finish time.

When creating an Activity that requires evidence of attendance, the Provider must ensure that they record the contact details of the relevant person/s who will provide the code to job seekers, such as an Activity Supervisor. The person providing the code to job seekers needs to be given the code before the Activity session commences. Providers should also ensure that the person providing the code for an afternoon session knows not to make the code available to the job seeker until the afternoon session commences.

However, there will be instances where there isn't a supervisor or contact for activities, such as education and training. This is because it would be unreasonable, or not expected due to the relationship and past experience, for evidenced-based recording or to report non-attendance directly to the Provider. In these situations, job seekers will record attendance directly on the day. By recording their own attendance, job seekers will be acknowledging via a statement on the App or website that they have attended and the information they are providing is true and correct. No further evidence is required, therefore satisfying documentary evidence requirements. Providers will still be able to record non-attendance if they become aware that job seekers have failed to attend or left early at education/training activities.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.5)

Assessing a job seeker's capability to record attendance

To assess the job seeker's capability to record their own attendance, Providers need to consider if the job seeker has:

- daily, reliable access to technology that would allow them to record their attendance, such as a computer or smartphone, or the means to contact their Provider to report their attendance; and
- the ability to record or report their own attendance, understanding:
  - what requirements they need to record attendance for
  - how to record their own attendance
  - that they must record or report attendance by close of business on the day of the requirement
  - what to do and who to contact if they cannot record their own attendance on a given day

- the consequences of not recording or reporting their own attendance if they are required to do so.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Job seeker is capable of recording their own attendance

If the job seeker has both the means and the ability to record and report their own attendance keep the personal responsibility code (PA03) in the Job Plan.

Monitor the job seeker's capability to record their own attendance to ensure that the job seeker is reporting their attendance accurately. If a Provider knows that a job seeker has not accurately recorded their attendance, they can override the result entered by the job seeker.

If the job seeker contacts the Provider and asks them to record attendance on their behalf, the Provider will assess whether the job seeker did attend and, if so, record the job seeker's attendance.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Job seeker is not capable of recording their attendance

If the job seeker is not capable of recording their own attendance, the Provider will need to remove the PA03 code when finalising the job seeker's Job Plan.

Providers are encouraged to keep working with job seekers to build capacity for reporting their attendance at requirements.

If, a job seeker can't record their attendance because they live in an area with unreliable connectivity or other similar reasons,, the Provider needs to tell the job seeker to report their attendance by contacting their Provider and they will record attendance on the job seeker's behalf.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2, 87.5)

3. Reviewing, Updating and Monitoring a Job Plan

Providers is required to review, update and monitor a job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law.

Providers need to review the Job Plan and update it when the job seeker:

- has a change in their circumstances
- enters into a new phase of their Stream
- enters in to a new Stream
- commences a new Activity
- completes an Activity that was in their Job Plan and/or
- has a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment

For DHS managed job seekers, DHS will update the Job Plan when required. If the job seeker is managed by a Provider, DHS will consult with the relevant Provider before updating the Job Plan or may request that the Provider updates the Job Plan at the job seeker's next Appointment. Providers should not remove any updates made to a Job Plan by DHS without consultation.

If a Participation Plan for ParentsNext Volunteers requires review or an update, then Providers must contact the participant's ParentsNext Provider and request they make the update to the Participation Plan.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.4, 87.5, 87.7, 113.1, 113.2, 114.1, Annexure A1)

Updating the Job Plan

It is best practice to review the Job Plan at each Provider Appointment to ensure that the job seeker is still capable of meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements. If the outcome of a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment is that the Job Plan requires updating, Providers are required to review and update the contents of the Job Plan within 10 business days. Ensure that the contents of the Job Plan is updated including details of any additional voluntary activities or if the job seeker is subject to an Exemption.

In consultation with the job seeker, the Job Plan can be updated and tailored to individual needs at any time—unless there is compliance outstanding. If compliance action is outstanding, the Department's IT System will not permit the Job Plan to be updated and the Provider will be redirected to the 'Compliance Screen' in the Department's IT System.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline for information on using the Targeted Compliance Framework.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.1, 87.2, 87.3, 87.5)

Updating Job Plan to include Voluntary activities

If a job seeker is granted an exemption or is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, they may wish to participate voluntarily and they can discuss this with the Provider. Voluntary activities should be included in the Job Plan and scheduled in the Calendar, and the job seeker should be notified of where and when to attend each Activity.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.54)

Updating Job Plan following job seeker advising change in circumstances

The Job Plan needs to be reviewed as soon as practicable after the Provider becomes aware or is informed of a change in the job seeker's circumstances.

Newly disclosed or discovered information may be found on, and should be immediately recorded in, the Capability Management Tool (CMT) in the Department's IT System.

If the Job Plan is to be renegotiated in light of the new information, the Provider will refer to the CMT to ensure that the Job Plan requirements are appropriate for the job seeker's capability, and that the job seeker will receive enough assistance and support to address the circumstances recorded in the CMT.

See the Capability Interview Guideline and Capability Assessment Guideline for information on using the Capability Management Tool.

(Deed references: Clauses 84.2, 87.5)

Updating the Job Plan to include (previously removed) requirement to record own attendance

If the Provider is renegotiating a Job Plan and assesses that the job seeker is now capable to record their own attendance (where the requirement was previously removed from the Job Plan), the Provider needs to re-enter Job Plan code PA03 in to the job seeker's Job Plan. Ensure that the job seeker understands that they are now recording their own attendance at requirements as well as the importance of entering results via the App or jobactive website by close of business on the day of the requirement as their payment will be automatically suspended the next day if no result has been entered.

(Deed references: Clauses 106.1, 106A.1, 106A.2)

Updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment

See the Capability Interview Guideline for information on updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview.

---

4. Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements in the Calendar

The Provider is required to record details of, and schedule each requirement in the Calendar, including:

- Provider Appointments
- Activities
- Job Interviews
- Education and Training
- Drug and alcohol rehabilitation
- Third Party Appointments
- Workshops, training and other activities delivered by the Provider and
- Employment, if the hours are regular and can reasonably be scheduled by the Provider or job seeker.

To schedule a requirement in the Calendar, the Job Plan code that corresponds to that requirement must have been included in the job seeker's current, signed Job Plan.

For example: if the job seeker's Job Plan does not include the code for Compulsory participation in Work for the Dole (Code WE12), the Department's IT System will not allow a Provider to schedule Compulsory Work for the Dole in the job seeker's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.1, 83A.2)

Scheduling Requirements

The Provider must ensure that each day of each job seeker requirement is scheduled in the Calendar. Each day of each requirement scheduled in the Calendar must be populated with:

- the name or description of the requirement
- the start time
- break times, where relevant
- the end time
- the location of the requirement, including any special instructions to locate a venue (e.g. located on battle-axe block) and
- the name of any third party provider or training organisation

When the Provider schedules the requirement in the Calendar and formally notifies the job seeker, the requirement will then appear in the job seeker's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A, 83A.1, 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling a Provider Appointment

Providers need to ensure that the Provider's Electronic Calendar has the capacity to receive an Appointment within the next two business days. When booking a Provider Appointment for a job seeker, Providers need to select the correct appointment type, schedule the appointment in the Calendar and formally notify the job seeker. If a job seeker has an Appointment with their Provider, the Provider must deliver a Contact on the date and time of the Appointment as recorded in the job seeker's Calendar.

There are four types of appointments; Initial; Contact; Re-engagement and Capability Interview appointment

Please refer to the Job Aids at the Learning Centre at (<https://learningcentre.employment.gov.au/>) for information on recording results at Provider Appointments.

(Deed references: Clauses 83.1, 83.3)

Scheduling Activities and Third Party Appointments

Detailed information on scheduling Activities and Appointments is available in the Calendar and AAR Details IT Supporting Document.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2)

Scheduling Job Interviews

All Job Interviews need to be scheduled in the Calendar and the job seeker must be formally notified of the requirement to attend. Job seekers taking personal responsibility to record their own attendance must do so for Job Interviews.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling drug or alcohol rehabilitation

If the Provider identifies or becomes aware that the job seeker's ongoing capability to meet their requirements or search for work is compromised by drug or alcohol dependency, the Provider needs to discuss this with the job seeker to identify rehabilitation options that would assist the job seeker to overcome their dependence.

If the job seeker chooses to undertake drug and alcohol rehabilitation or is already when they enter employment services or transfer Providers, schedule it in the Calendar and formally notify the job seeker. Undertaking drug and alcohol rehabilitation counts towards the job seeker's AAR.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling Study or Training

Providers are responsible for identifying any appropriate study and training opportunities that will assist the job seeker to gain skills or qualifications that will assist them to find work. Where practical, the Provider must ensure all study and training is scheduled in the Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling hours of employment where reasonable to do so

If the job seeker is employed for regular hours, the Provider should schedule the hours of employment in the Calendar when they can reasonably do so.

The Provider should encourage the job seeker to take personal responsibility by scheduling their own hours of employment, and they should either provide assistance to the job seeker to do so or tell them where they can find assistance to help them with this. If the job seeker does not schedule their own regular hours of employment by creating Personal Events, the Provider must do so.

The Provider will create a Personal Event in the job seeker's Calendar for each day of employment the job seeker is undertaking. The job seeker does not need to be formally notified of scheduled Personal Events, including paid work, and the TCF cannot be used to report non-compliance for failing to attend work.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Job seeker may create Personal Events

Job seekers may create their own Personal Events in their Calendar between 6am and 9pm. Job seekers may only create Personal Events where a Mutual Obligation Requirement is not already scheduled at that time.

The Provider is able to create Personal Events on behalf of the job seeker to assist the job seeker in having full visibility of their schedule and their requirements. Providers must create Personal Events on behalf of the job seeker to schedule regular hours of paid work if the job seeker does not do so. Providers must advise the job seeker that even though they have created a Personal Event, Mutual Obligation Requirements may still be scheduled.

Confirmed job seeker Personal Events

Providers are responsible for confirming job seeker Personal Events and are encouraged to review and consider Personal Events created by the job seeker. Providers should use their judgement and knowledge of the individual job seeker to decide whether the job seeker's Personal Event is appropriate prior to confirming it. When deciding to confirm a Personal Event, the Provider should also consider the nature of the Personal Event and the job seeker's personal situation. A Personal Event is considered to be Prior Notice of a job seeker being unable to attend a requirement at that time. By confirming the event, the system will not allow a conflicting requirement to then be set.

If the Provider confirms a Personal Event that should not have been confirmed, they cannot 'un-confirm' the event. The Provider must cancel the Personal Event, after discussing the reasons why the Personal Event was cancelled in the Calendar, which will notify the job seeker via an inbox message.

Unconfirmed job seeker Personal Events

If a Provider considers that a Personal Event entered by a job seeker is not appropriate, the Provider can choose to leave it unconfirmed. If a Personal Event is not confirmed, the Provider can override the unconfirmed Personal Event and schedule a requirement at that time. The Provider must record the reason in the Department's IT system and must formally notify the job seeker of the requirement and ensuring they can make other arrangements for the Personal Event that they had created.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling a requirement over a confirmed job seeker Personal Event

If the Provider needs to schedule a requirement for the same time as a job seeker's confirmed Personal Event, the Provider will need to discuss this with the job seeker. After confirming with the job seeker that they are available to attend the requirement at the scheduled time, the Provider is required to record the reason in the Department's IT System and formally notify the job seeker of their requirement. Providers need to manage the conflicting requirement in the Calendar and record the reason you are scheduling the requirement at this day/time in the Department's IT System.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

5. Issuing Formal Notification to the job seeker

Except for any paid work the job seeker is undertaking, the Provider is required to formally notify the job seeker of every compulsory requirement in their Job Plan. The Provider must explain how to meet each requirement, as well as the consequences of not doing so, including possible financial penalties.

When the Provider schedules requirements in the Calendar, the Department's IT System will automatically create and record the selected Notification type to be issued. If a job seeker's requirements are re-scheduled Providers must formally notify the job seeker of the new requirement.

Formal Notification always includes:

- the reason for the appointment, if the requirement is an appointment
- whether the requirement is for the purpose of Re-engagement
- the date and start time of the requirement
- the location or address of the requirement
- if the job seeker is required to record their own attendance, and if so, the consequences of not doing so
- whether the job seeker will require evidence to record their own attendance
- whether the requirement is compulsory or voluntary
- that the job seeker must contact their Provider beforehand if they become aware of an Acceptable Reason preventing them from being able to attend or complete the requirement
- the possible consequences for the job seeker if they do not meet their requirement
- a statement that the Notification is a notice under Social Security Law
- that the job seeker must complete their requirement in return for their Income Support Payment.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.3)

Legal authority to formally notify a job seeker of their Mutual Obligation Requirements

Employment services provider employees are delegated powers by the Secretary of the Department of Jobs and Small Business under Social Security Law to notify job seekers of their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

(Social Security (Administration) Act 1999 (ss: 63); Social Security Act 1991 (ss 501,544,605,731L) Deed Clause 117).

Note: The requirement to formally notify a job seeker receiving Income Support Payments also applies to Disability Support Recipients (Compulsory Requirements) and Stronger Participation Incentive Participants.

Notifying job seekers within the appropriate timeframe

Providers must issue job seekers Formal Notification within the appropriate timeframe before the requirement is scheduled to occur.

If reasonable notice timeframes are not met, the Calendar will not allow a requirement to be booked unless the Provider is in direct contact with the job seeker and they have agreed to attend this requirement and the Provider records this.

Refer to the Targeted Compliance Framework Reference Guide at (<https://learningcentre.employment.gov.au/>) and the Learning Centre for more supporting materials relating to reasonable notice timeframes and Notification methods.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.3)

6. Privacy and information sharing

Providers must comply with Social Security Law and Australian privacy legislation. A job seeker's Personal Information must only be used or disclosed for the purpose it was collected, except in limited circumstances such as where the job seeker gives permission, where Commonwealth laws allow or other special circumstances.

Providers should seek independent legal advice if they have any concerns regarding their obligations under any privacy or other legislation. For further information, refer to the Privacy Guideline.

(Deed references: Clauses 53, 87, 106)

Sharing Job Plans with SEE or AMEP Providers

Providers should encourage job seekers participating in the SEE program or AMEP to share their Job Plans with their SEE or AMEP Provider in order to make them aware of their full Mutual Obligation Requirements. This will assist SEE and AMEP Providers in ensuring that they place job seekers in courses that will fully meet their Annual Activity Requirements.

7. Summary of required Documentary Evidence

- Once the terms of the Job Plan have been agreed to and the Job Plan has been created in the Department's IT System, the Job Plan must be provided to the job seeker for their agreement. Job Plans can be agreed to online or by signing a hard copy.
- Providers may send a Job Plan to the Job Seeker Dashboard through the jobactive website or Job Seeker App for the job seeker to review and agree to online.
- Providers must formally notify the job seeker (including those with voluntary requirements) that the Job Plan has been sent to their Job Seeker Dashboard for their agreement. This must be done either face to face or over the phone and within two Business Days of sending the Job Plan.
- The Job Plan must be recorded in the Department's IT System as soon as possible, after the Job Plan has been created. The contents of the Job Plan recorded in the Department's IT System must be exactly the same as the hard copy.
- If the Department's IT System is temporarily unavailable or there is no computer access, Providers must use the manual compulsory or voluntary Job Plan template available on the Provider Portal.

Guideline:

Job Plan and Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline

A job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements and any other items agreed to with their Employment Services Provider (Provider) are outlined in their Job Plan. It is necessary for Providers to ensure that each job seeker, including job seekers without compulsory Mutual Obligation Requirements, have a Job Plan in place at all times and that the requirements in the Job Plan are tailored to the job seeker's individual circumstances and are appropriate to the level of their capability.

1. What is a Job Plan?

For the purposes of Social Security Law, a 'Job Plan' is an 'Employment Pathway Plan' and a 'Participation Plan' for Disability Support Pension recipients, less than 35 years of age, with compulsory requirements.

Providers are required to work with job seekers to keep Job Plans up to date and appropriate to job seekers' individual needs.

Job Plan contents are discussed and agreed to based on each job seeker's individual circumstances and the support they need to move from welfare to work. Usually a Job Plan includes Provider Appointments, Job Search, education and skills training and other Activities to improve the job seeker's employability.

To support job seekers to successfully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements and receive the most from the services offered, Job Plans should be:

Meaningful—Every time the Job Plan is negotiated and updated, Providers need to take the time to discuss the requirements with the job seeker. It's important that job seekers understand any changes that have been made, the benefits of participation, and know and understand why they are required to participate in these activities.

Tailored and appropriate—Consideration needs to be given to the individual circumstances of the job seeker. This includes their program or Stream, level of requirements, physical capacity, the location of any activities or other personal circumstances like caring and family responsibilities.

Clear and understood—Job seekers should know exactly what is required of them on each day; there should be no doubt or confusion of what is expected. This includes the potential consequences of not meeting any of their requirements. Job seekers having a clear understanding of their requirements means that:

- they understand the benefits of participation
- they understand their requirements support successful participation
- they feel empowered to make the right decision to meet their requirements, and
- the compliance framework can be utilised effectively and appropriately

(Deed references: Clauses 87.1, 87.4, 117.1)

2. Creating and Approving a Job Seeker's Job Plan

Providers and the Department of Human Services (DHS) have been delegated certain powers under Social Security Law including the power to require a job seeker to enter into a Job Plan and to approve or update a job seeker's Job Plan.

Creating a Job Plan at the Initial Interview

A Job Plan is created at the Initial Interview with a job seeker. Once the job seeker attends the Initial Interview and the Job Plan is approved the job seeker is automatically commenced in Services.

During the Initial Interview, a Provider negotiates a Job Plan with their new job seekers or job seekers transferred from other Providers. Providers need to ensure that each requirement is tailored to meet the circumstances of the individual job seeker and supports them in achieving their employment goals.

The Provider's role is to support the job seeker and:

- ensure that each Job Plan contains all of the compulsory and voluntary Activities the job seeker needs to undertake in order to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements
- include the details of all Activities tailored to address the job seeker's individual needs, reduced work capacity and barriers to employment
- ensure that the Activities do not place unreasonable demands on the job seeker

Please refer to the Guide to Social Security 3.2.8.50 for an overview of what can be included in a Job Plan.

(Deed references: Clause 84.1, 85.1, 87.1, 87.2, 87.3, 87.4, 87.5, 117.1, Annexure A1)

Activities in the Job Plan must not place unreasonable demands on the job seeker. The job seeker must be capable of doing any Activity and meeting all requirements included in their Job Plan.

Providers are required to record the Activities and relevant details in the job seeker's Job Plan, including: the names of education and training organisations and the type of training being undertaken; the names of employers and the type of work being undertaken; hours of participation the job seeker needs to complete each fortnight and the hours of participation required for each Activity. If drug or alcohol dependency impacts on the job seeker's participation, providers need to record refusal for treatment, or lack of treatment available in the local area in the Capability Management Tool, in the Department of Employment, Skills, Small and Family Business' (the Department) IT System.

Providers are required to include approved Activities in the job seeker's Job Plan that will enable the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. In the Work for the Dole Phase, the Job Plan must include appropriate hours of participation in approved Activities each fortnight during that phase.

At all times during a job seeker's period of servicing the number of Job Searches a job seeker is required to undertake each month must be specified in the job seeker's Job Plan.

Approved courses include the Skills for Education and Employment (SEE) Program and the Adult Migrant English Program (AMEP).

Including sufficient fortnightly hours in the Job Plan

Ensure that each Job Plan contains sufficient hours of Activities per fortnight for the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

The Department's IT System will automatically calculate the fortnightly hours under each code that is included in the Job Plan. Depending on the hours scheduled for the job seeker to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the System will display messages to guide Providers to ensure the number of hours are appropriate.

The Provider is unable to set more than reasonable hours of activities per fortnight in the Job Plan in any event, and the Department's IT System will restrict the Provider from doing so by displaying an error message.

System step: If a job seeker is Employment Skills Training (EST) mandatory, ESS Web prevents the finalisation of their Job Plan when making a referral to other activities. When referring an EST mandatory job seeker to another activity, the EST opt-out reason of 'referred to other activity' must be applied before updating the Job Plan with the other activity.

See the 'Setting Daily Requirements' in this document for information on scheduling Daily Requirements (including activities, study or training and paid work).

Explaining a Job Plan to the job seeker

Providers need to ensure that job seekers understand their Mutual Obligation Requirements such as: attending Appointments; undertaking compulsory and voluntary Activities; fulfilling their Annual Activity Requirement; and undertaking and completing Job Searches.

At the job seeker's Initial Appointment Providers need to explain:

- the purpose of the Job Plan
- the Mutual Obligation Requirements the job seeker needs to undertake in return for income support payments
- the job seeker's rights and responsibilities under the Job Plan (including 'think time' to consider the Job Plan before agreeing to it)
- what the job seeker needs to do if they have a change in circumstances that affects their ability to meet the requirements in their Job Plan
- how to contact the Provider to give prior notice if unable to meet requirements and the consequences of not giving prior notice if the job seeker is able to do so
- the consequences of failing to meet the requirements without a Reasonable Excuse, and any impact this may have on the job seeker's income support payment
- the consequences of failing to give prior notice (with a Valid Reason) if they cannot attend compulsory Appointments or participate in compulsory Activities
- the job seeker's right to appeal decisions and where they can find assistance to do this
- how the Provider intends to support the job seeker
- the Provider's Service Guarantee and Service Delivery Plan
- the section entitled 'Information You Need to Know' in the Job Plan
- how information is protected under privacy legislation and Social Security law; and
- that all relevant contact details will need to be accurately recorded and updated in the Department's IT System including phone numbers, email address and postal address.

(Deed references: Clause 87.2, 87.5, 106.1, Annexure A1)

Interpreters, Support Persons and Nominees

When a job seeker requests, or if the Provider considers it appropriate, the job seeker can bring a support person with them to an Appointment to review their Job Plan. Similarly, when a job seeker requests or if the Provider considers it appropriate, Providers are required to use an interpreter to ensure that the job seeker understands their requirements before they agree to the Job Plan.

You may also need to work with Humanitarian Settlement Program Case Managers, who may accompany some humanitarian entrant (refugee) job seekers to interviews. A Humanitarian Settlement Program Case Manager can provide advice on appropriate employment strategies and activities that can help the provider to develop a suitable Job Plan. (Note that a Case Manager is not an interpreter).

Additionally, job seekers in residential programs for drug and alcohol rehabilitation will not always inform their Provider of their change of circumstances. When in a residential program job seekers should have an authorised correspondence nominee. The nominee will receive all of the correspondence and notifications sent from the Provider to the job seeker. The nominee can advise the Provider that the job seeker is in a residential program and may not have access to a phone or computer.

Staff of residential programs are able to act as nominees for job seekers.

Please record details of any conversations with a nominee in the comments screen in the Department's IT System.

Job seekers requiring 'think time' to consider the terms of their Job Plan

Before signing or agreeing to the terms of a Job Plan, all job seekers can have up to two Business Days 'think time' to consider the requirements set in their Job Plan. The job seeker can use this time to discuss the terms of their Job Plan with a third party if they wish. The 'think time' is available to a job seeker each time their Job Plan is created or updated.

If a job seeker is offered and accepts 'think time', Providers need to arrange and book a Provider Appointment for the job seeker to occur in two Business Days so that the job seeker can agree to and sign the Job Plan.

Job seekers with a Compulsory Job Plan

For job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements, including Disability Support Pension recipients under 35 years of age and Special Benefit recipients (who are not Nominated Visa Holders), there needs to be at least one compulsory requirement in the Job Plan and a record of the details in the job seeker's Calendar.

Job seekers who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, but have chosen to access jobactive on a voluntary basis are Fully Eligible Participants (Voluntary). These job seekers still need to have a compulsory Job Plan, which includes the Activities they are undertaking to fully meet their requirements. Any additional Activities they agree to undertake need to be included in their Job Plan as a voluntary requirement.

(Deed references: Clause 70.1, 87.2, 87.5)

Job seekers with a Suspension

Job seekers with Mutual Obligation Requirements who are Suspended from their Provider's caseload can choose to volunteer to participate in Activities. Providers must agree to the voluntary Activities the job seeker will participate in and update the job seeker's Job Plan to include the voluntary Activities. If the Provider becomes aware that a job seeker is no longer suspended or not participating in voluntary Activities listed in the Job Plan, the Provider must update the Job Plan as appropriate.

A suspension from a Provider's caseload can occur when:

- a job seeker is granted an Activity Test exemption by the Department of Human Services (DHS)
- a PCP or PCW (15-29 hours) job seeker is fully meeting their requirements through part time work or other approved activities
- the Provider applies a 'Provisional Exit' from servicing on the expectation that the job seeker's employment will lead to a full outcome; or
- the job seeker has a partial or temporary reduced work capacity of less than 15 hours per week.

(Deed references: Clause 70.1, 87.2, 87.5)

Job seekers with a Voluntary Job Plan

Job seekers who are participating in jobactive without Mutual Obligation Requirements must have a Voluntary Job Plan. These job seekers can be Volunteers receiving six months of service in Stream A or be Fully Eligible Participants who do not have Mutual Obligation Requirements and are participating voluntarily in jobactive such as:

- Structural Adjustment Program job seekers not on income support
- Pre-Release Prisoners
- job seekers with an Exemption from their Mutual Obligation Requirements
- job seekers with an assessed Partial Capacity to Work or a temporary reduced work capacity of less than 15 hours per week
- Vulnerable Youth or Vulnerable Youth (Student)
- a previous recipient of Widows Allowance granted Newstart Allowance after 1 January 2018 and exempt from Mutual Obligation Requirements
- Special Benefit recipients who are not Nominated Visa Holders.

Voluntary Job Plans can only include voluntary Activities as these job seekers do not have compulsory requirements and are not subject to compliance if they do not participate in these activities. Job seekers will not be at risk of incurring a penalty if they do not participate in voluntary items.

Job seekers participating in Time to Work Employment Service

If a job seeker has participated in the Time to Work Employment Service the Provider needs to take into account any current Transition Plans identified in the Department's IT System.

Job seekers participating in ParentsNext

ParentsNext Volunteers can choose to volunteer into jobactive and they will already have a Participation Plan created by their ParentsNext Provider. A jobactive Provider must not create, update or otherwise edit a Job Plan for a ParentsNext Volunteer. If a Job Plan for a ParentsNext Volunteer needs changes, the Job Plan can only be updated by the ParentsNext Volunteer's ParentsNext Provider.

(Deed references: Clause 87.5, Annexure A1)

Job seekers participating in Career Transition Assistance (CTA)

Eligible job seekers can volunteer to participate in CTA. Participation in CTA can only be included as a voluntary Activity in a job seeker's Job Plan.

For job seekers in the Work for the Dole phase, participation in CTA will fully meet their AAR. At the conclusion of CTA, the CTA Provider will arrange a Warm Handover Meeting with the job seeker's jobactive Provider. As part of this meeting, job seekers will be offered two future contacts with the CTA Provider, to occur within three months of the completion of CTA. The CTA Provider will be required to specify the details of these contacts. jobactive Providers should again use these details to book Third Party appointments for the job seeker and issue formal notification of the appointment/s.

Approving a Job Plan

Provider staff are delegates of the Secretary of the Department of Employment, Skills, Small and Family Business and have the power to:

- require a job seeker with Mutual Obligation Requirements to enter into a Job Plan
- approve a Job Plan, and
- vary the terms of a Job Plan.

Documentary evidence: Once the terms of the Job Plan have been agreed to and the Job Plan is created in the Department's IT System, give the Job Plan to the job seeker for their agreement. Job Plans can be agreed to online or by signing a hard copy.

(Deed references: Clause 87.4, 117.1, Annexure A1)

Job seeker agreeing to the Job Plan – online

Documentary evidence: Providers may send a Job Plan to the Job Seeker Dashboard through the jobactive website or Job Seeker App for the job seeker to review and agree to online. Before using this option check that the job seeker has access to the Job Plan on their Dashboard and they know how to agree to it.

Documentary evidence: Providers are required to formally notify the job seeker (including those with voluntary requirements) that the Job Plan has been sent to their Job Seeker Dashboard for their agreement. This can be done either face to face or over the phone and needs to be within two Business Days of sending the Job Plan. A verbal formal Notification script is available on the Department's IT System for the Provider to read to the job seeker. The script includes a compliance warning that is required to be given to job seekers (with Mutual Obligation Requirements) if they do not agree to the Job Plan within two Business Days.

When the job seeker agrees to the Job Plan, the Job Plan status will automatically be set to 'approved' in the Department's IT System.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline and the Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline for further information on how to issue formal Notification.

Job seeker agreeing to the Job Plan – hard copy

The job seeker and the Provider may sign a hard copy of the Job Plan. The Provider needs to give the job seeker the signed copy and then approve the Job Plan in the Department's IT System.

When the Job Plan has been approved and entered in to the Department's IT System, the job seeker will be able to access it from their Job Seeker Dashboard.

Job seeker not agreeing to the Job Plan

Job seekers who do not enter into a Job Plan without good reason after the two days 'think time' will have their payment suspended until a Job Plan is agreed to and signed by the job seeker.

If the job seeker refuses to enter into and sign a Job Plan (and does not wish to use their 'think time') contact the job seeker and assess if the job seeker has a Valid Reason for refusing.

For further information, see the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline.

(Deed references: Clause 114.1, 114.2, 114.5, 114.6, Annexure A1)

Recording a Job Plan

Documentary evidence: The Job Plan is to be recorded in the Department's IT System as soon as possible, after it has been created. The contents of the Job Plan recorded in the Department's IT System must be exactly the same as the hard copy.

If the Department's IT System is temporarily unavailable or there is no computer access, use the manual compulsory or voluntary Job Plan template available on the Provider Portal.

Using Job Plan codes

Providers are required to use the comprehensive list of Job Plan codes, at Attachment A, so that Job Plan data can be pre-populated and linked through the Department's IT System to the Dashboard on the Job Seeker App, the jobactive website and the DHS IT system.

The following codes are pre-populated in Job Plans. Most can be removed if not appropriate to the job seeker.

AI09 – Attend DES Appointments

AI12 – Attend Provider Appointments

AI13 – Attend DES Ongoing Support Appointments

AI15 – Attend Third Party Appointments

JS09 – Job Search Contacts – Monthly

JS10 – Job Interviews

PA03 – Personal Responsibility

PA04 – Actioning Job Referrals and Job Opportunities

AS02 – Health and Allied Services Assistance

AS20 – Ongoing Support Assistance

NV14 – Health Maintenance Program

AI15 – Attend Third Party Appointments and PA04 – Actioning Job Referrals and Job Opportunities cannot be removed. If either of these codes are not appropriate for a job seeker, do not schedule any Activities against them.

(Deed references: Clause 83A.3, 106A.1, 106A.2, 113.1)

Job Search Requirement

Job Search Requirements are determined by Providers based on what is appropriate for the job seeker's circumstances. This may generally be set at a maximum of 20 efforts per month, but it may be reduced based on a job seeker's capacity, the local labour market, and the job seeker's individual circumstances. If applicable, Providers can use the JS05 or JS06 (Job Search with Disability) codes. These codes will trigger a higher rate of Mobility Allowance for eligible job seekers.

The number and quality of Job Searches undertaken need to be monitored. Job seekers can report their Job Search activities on the Job Seeker App or jobactive website.

Job seekers should be given instructions on how to upload and record their Job Search efforts and related details, even if they indicate they will report their Job Search efforts directly to their Provider.

If the job seeker reports efforts directly to their Provider by email or filling out a Job Search record and giving it directly, the Provider will need to record the number of efforts submitted to them by no later than close of business on that day.

Providers need to:

- review and confirm the quality of efforts submitted online or directly by no later than five Business Days after the end of each Job Search Period.

- ensure that the job seeker is aware at all times of:
  - their current Job Search Requirement
  - when their Job Searches must be reported by
  - how to report their Job Search efforts using the jobactive website, or directly to the Provider.
- ensure that the number of Job Search efforts undertaken, and the number yet to be undertaken by the job seeker in each Job Search Period, are visible on the Job Seeker App or jobactive website

Please refer to Job Aids at the Learning Centre for information on recording results for Job Search.

(Deed references: Clauses 113.1, 113.2, 113.3)

In addition to Job Search requirements Providers can include job referrals in a job seekers Job Plan. These include:

Single referrals
Apply for a specific job
Accept a Job Interview
Contact an employer to arrange and accept a Job Interview
Update a resume appropriately
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity
Combination referrals
Update a resume appropriately AND provide personal details to support a job opportunity
Update a resume appropriately AND apply for a specific job
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity AND contact an employer to arrange and accept a Job Interview
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity AND accept a Job Interview

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3 & 87.5)

Job seekers who do not have Job Search Requirements

The following job seekers are not required to undertake Job Search while they are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirement

- Principal Carer Parents undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these
- Job seekers with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these
- Job seekers 55 years of age and over undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these
- Job seekers undertaking drug and alcohol rehabilitation in a residential program

- Pregnant job seekers from three months before their due date.
- NEIS Participants and Prospective Participants while participating in NEIS Training
- NEIS Participants in receipt of Parenting Payment (Single) or the Disability Support Pension who remain on their current payment while participating in NEIS Assistance and actively working on their small business
- Early School Leavers who are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through full-time education or a combination of part-time study and part-time work of 25 hours per week (15 hours for those with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements)
- refugee job seekers when undertaking activities to help adjust to life in Australia and increasing their chances of finding work.

Linking Job Plan Codes to Activity Placements and the Calendar

Activity placements can be linked to Job Plan codes in Activity Management in the Department's IT System. It is best practice that Providers link Activity placements to the appropriate code in the Job Plan. Job Plan codes need to be linked to the daily requirements scheduled in the Calendar, this will enable the details to be auto-populated into any formal Notification created from the Calendar. Providers will also be able to record attendance results in the Calendar.

(Deed references: Clause 83A.1, 83.A.2)

Personal Responsibility to record attendance code PA03

If a Provider determines that a job seeker is capable of taking personal responsibility for recording their own attendance at Activities, the job seeker will be required to record their attendance at:

- Activities
- Third Party Appointments and
- Job Interviews.

The Personal Responsibility Code PA03 is included in every job seeker's Job Plan by default. Providers are required to inform job seekers if they are assessed as being capable of and that they are required to record their own attendance at Activities. If the Provider assesses the job seeker as not capable of recording their own attendance, the Provider will need to remove the PA03 code from the job seeker's Job Plan. Ensure that capable job seekers understand the requirement to record their attendance by close of business on the day of the requirement and that their payment will be suspended if they do not do so. The job seeker will be notified to contact their Provider if their payment is suspended. Providers will need to assess whether the job seeker had a valid reason for not reporting and enter the result on behalf of the job seeker and consider whether the job seeker is still capable of recording and reporting their own attendance.

(Deed references: Clause 87.5, 106.1, 106A.1, 106A.2)

Providing evidence of attendance for an Activity

For some Activities, the job seeker will need to provide evidence when they are recording their own attendance.

Evidence for attendance will be a QR code or passcode (code) generated by the Department's IT System. The job seeker will scan the code through their device while at the Activity to record their attendance via the Job Seeker App or by recording a passcode via the jobactive website.

If the duration of the Activity is four hours or more, two codes will be generated: one for the job seeker's arrival at the Activity and one for the end of Activity. The code for the end of Activity should not be made available to the job seeker until close to the finish time.

When creating an Activity that requires evidence of attendance, the Provider must ensure that they record the contact details of the relevant person/s who will provide the code to job seekers, such as an Activity Supervisor. The person providing the code to job seekers needs to be given the code before the Activity session commences. Providers should also ensure that the person providing the code for an afternoon session knows not to make the code available to the job seeker until the afternoon session commences.

However, there will be instances where there isn't a supervisor or contact for activities, such as education and training. This is because it would be unreasonable, or not expected due to the relationship and past experience, for evidenced-based recording or to report non-attendance directly to the Provider. In these situations, job seekers will record attendance directly on the day. By recording their own attendance, job seekers will be acknowledging via a statement on the App or website that they have attended and the information they are providing is true and correct. No further evidence is required, therefore satisfying documentary evidence requirements. Providers will still be able to record non-attendance if they become aware that job seekers have failed to attend or left early at education/training activities.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.5)

Assessing a job seeker's capability to record attendance

To assess the job seeker's capability to record their own attendance, Providers need to consider if the job seeker has:

- daily, reliable access to technology that would allow them to record their attendance, such as a computer or smartphone, or the means to contact their Provider to report their attendance; and
- the ability, literacy and English skills required to record or report their own attendance, understanding:
  - what requirements they need to record attendance for
  - how to record their own attendance
  - that they must record or report attendance by close of business on the day of the requirement

- what to do and who to contact if they cannot record their own attendance on a given day
- the consequences of not recording or reporting their own attendance if they are required to do so.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Job seeker is capable of recording their own attendance

If the job seeker has both the means and the ability to record and report their own attendance keep the personal responsibility code (PA03) in the Job Plan.

Monitor the job seeker's capability to record their own attendance to ensure that the job seeker is reporting their attendance accurately. If a Provider knows that a job seeker has not accurately recorded their attendance, they can override the result entered by the job seeker.

If the job seeker contacts the Provider and asks them to record attendance on their behalf, the Provider will assess whether the job seeker did attend and, if so, record the job seeker's attendance.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Job seeker is not capable of recording their attendance

If the job seeker is not capable of recording their own attendance, the Provider will need to remove the PA03 code when finalising the job seeker's Job Plan.

Providers are encouraged to keep working with job seekers to build capacity for reporting their attendance at requirements.

If, a job seeker can't record their attendance because they live in an area with unreliable connectivity or other similar reasons, the Provider needs to tell the job seeker to report their attendance by contacting their Provider, who will record attendance on the job seeker's behalf.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2, 87.5)

3. Reviewing, Updating and Monitoring a Job Plan

Providers are required to review, update and monitor a job seeker's Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law.

Providers need to review the Job Plan and update it when the job seeker:

- has a change in their circumstances
- enters into a new phase of their Stream
- enters in to a new Stream
- commences a new Activity
- completes an Activity that was in their Job Plan and/or
- has a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment

For DHS managed job seekers, DHS will update the Job Plan when required. If the job seeker is managed by a Provider, DHS will consult with the relevant Provider before updating the Job Plan or may request that the Provider updates the Job Plan at the job seeker's next Appointment. Providers should not remove any updates made to a Job Plan by DHS without consultation.

If a Participation Plan for ParentsNext Volunteers requires review or an update, then Providers must contact the participant's ParentsNext Provider and request they make the update to the Participation Plan.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.4, 87.5, 87.7, 113.1, 113.2, 114.1, Annexure A1)

Updating the Job Plan

It is best practice to review the Job Plan at each Provider Appointment to ensure that the job seeker is still capable of meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements. If the outcome of a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment is that the Job Plan requires updating, Providers are required to review and update the contents of the Job Plan within 10 business days. Ensure that the contents of the Job Plan is updated including details of any additional voluntary activities or if the job seeker is subject to an Exemption.

In consultation with the job seeker, the Job Plan can be updated and tailored to individual needs at any time—unless there is compliance outstanding. If compliance action is outstanding, the Department's IT System will not permit the Job Plan to be updated and the Provider will be redirected to the 'Compliance Screen' in the Department's IT System.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline for information on using the Targeted Compliance Framework.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.1, 87.2, 87.3, 87.5)

Updating Job Plan to include Voluntary activities

If a job seeker is granted an exemption or is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, they may wish to participate voluntarily and they can discuss this with the Provider. Voluntary activities should be included in the Job Plan and scheduled in the Calendar, and the job seeker should be notified of where and when to attend each Activity.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.54)

Updating Job Plan following job seeker advising change in circumstances

The Job Plan needs to be reviewed as soon as practicable after the Provider becomes aware or is informed of a change in the job seeker's circumstances.

Newly disclosed or discovered information may be found on, and should be immediately recorded in, the Capability Management Tool (CMT) in the Department's IT System.

If the Job Plan is to be renegotiated in light of the new information, the Provider will refer to the CMT to ensure that the Job Plan requirements are appropriate for the job seeker's capability, and that the job seeker will receive enough assistance and support to address the circumstances recorded in the CMT.

See the Capability Interview Guideline and Capability Assessment Guideline for information on using the Capability Management Tool.

(Deed references: Clauses 84.2, 87.5)

Updating the Job Plan to include (previously removed) requirement to record own attendance

If the Provider is renegotiating a Job Plan and assesses that the job seeker is now capable to record their own attendance (where the requirement was previously removed from the Job Plan), the Provider needs to re-enter Job Plan code PA03 in to the job seeker's Job Plan. Ensure that the job seeker understands that they are now recording their own attendance at requirements as well as the importance of entering results via the App or jobactive website by close of business on the day of the requirement as their payment will be automatically suspended the next day if no result has been entered.

(Deed references: Clauses 106.1, 106A.1, 106A.2)

Updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment

See the Capability Interview Guideline and the Capability Assessment Guideline for information on updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview or a Capability Assessment.

4. Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements in the Calendar

The Provider is required to record details of, and schedule each requirement in the Calendar, including:

- Provider Appointments
- Activities
- Job Interviews
- Education and Training
- Drug and alcohol rehabilitation
- Third Party Appointments
- Workshops, training and other activities delivered by the Provider and
- Employment, if the hours are regular and can reasonably be scheduled by the Provider or job seeker.

To schedule a requirement in the Calendar, the Job Plan code that corresponds to that requirement must have been included in the job seeker's current, signed Job Plan.

For example: if the job seeker's Job Plan does not include the code for Compulsory participation in Work for the Dole (Code WE12), the Department's IT System will not allow a Provider to schedule Compulsory Work for the Dole in the job seeker's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.1, 83A.2)

Scheduling Requirements

The Provider must ensure that each day of each job seeker requirement is scheduled in the Calendar. Each day of each requirement scheduled in the Calendar must be populated with:

- the name or description of the requirement
- the start time
- break times, where relevant
- the end time
- the location of the requirement, including any special instructions to locate a venue (e.g. located on battle-axe block) and
- the name of any third party provider or training organisation

When the Provider schedules the requirement in the Calendar and formally notifies the job seeker, the requirement will then appear in the job seeker's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A, 83A.1, 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling a Provider Appointment

Providers need to ensure that the Provider's Electronic Calendar has the capacity to receive an Appointment within the next two business days. When booking a Provider Appointment for a job seeker, Providers need to select the correct appointment type, schedule the appointment in the Calendar and formally notify the job seeker. If a job seeker has an Appointment with their Provider, the Provider must deliver a Contact on the date and time of the Appointment as recorded in the job seeker's Calendar.

There are four types of appointments; Initial; Contact; Re-engagement and Capability Interview appointment

Please refer to the Job Aids at the Learning Centre at (<https://learningcentre.employment.gov.au/>) for information on recording results at Provider Appointments.

(Deed references: Clauses 83.1, 83.3)

Scheduling Activities and Third Party Appointments

Detailed information on scheduling Activities and Appointments is available in the Calendar and AAR Details IT Supporting Document.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2)

Scheduling Job Interviews

All Job Interviews need to be scheduled in the Calendar and the job seeker must be formally notified of the requirement to attend. Job seekers taking personal responsibility to record their own attendance must do so for Job Interviews.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling drug or alcohol rehabilitation

If the Provider identifies or becomes aware that the job seeker's ongoing capability to meet their requirements or search for work is compromised by drug or alcohol dependency, the Provider needs to discuss this with the job seeker to identify rehabilitation options that would assist the job seeker to overcome their dependence.

If the job seeker chooses to undertake drug and alcohol rehabilitation or is already when they enter employment services or transfer Providers, schedule it in the Calendar and formally notify the job seeker. Undertaking drug and alcohol rehabilitation counts towards the job seeker's AAR.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling Study or Training

Providers are responsible for identifying any appropriate study and training opportunities that will assist the job seeker to gain skills or qualifications that will assist them to find work. Where practical, the Provider must ensure all study and training is scheduled in the Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling hours of employment where reasonable to do so

If the job seeker is employed for regular hours, the Provider should schedule the hours of employment in the Calendar when they can reasonably do so.

The Provider should encourage the job seeker to take personal responsibility by scheduling their own hours of employment, and they should either provide assistance to the job seeker to do so or tell them where they can find assistance to help them with this. If the job seeker does not schedule their own regular hours of employment by creating Personal Events, the Provider must do so.

The Provider will create a Personal Event in the job seeker's Calendar for each day of employment the job seeker is undertaking. The job seeker does not need to be formally notified of scheduled Personal Events, including paid work, and the TCF cannot be used to report non-compliance for failing to attend work.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Job seeker may create Personal Events

Job seekers may create their own Personal Events in their Calendar between 6am and 9pm. Job seekers may only create Personal Events where a Mutual Obligation Requirement is not already scheduled at that time.

The Provider is able to create Personal Events on behalf of the job seeker to assist the job seeker in having full visibility of their schedule and their requirements. Providers must create Personal Events on behalf of the job seeker to schedule regular hours of paid work if the job seeker does not do so. Providers must advise the job seeker that even though they have created a Personal Event, Mutual Obligation Requirements may still be scheduled.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2)

Confirmed job seeker Personal Events

Providers are responsible for confirming job seeker Personal Events and are encouraged to review and consider Personal Events created by the job seeker. Providers should use their judgement and knowledge of the individual job seeker to decide whether the job seeker's Personal Event is appropriate prior to confirming it. When deciding to confirm a Personal Event, the Provider should also consider the nature of the Personal Event and the job seeker's personal situation. A Personal Event is considered to be Prior Notice of a job seeker being unable to attend a requirement at that time. By confirming the event, the system will not allow a conflicting requirement to then be set.

If the Provider confirms a Personal Event that should not have been confirmed, they cannot 'un-confirm' the event. The Provider must cancel the Personal Event, after discussing the reasons why the Personal Event was cancelled in the Calendar, which will notify the job seeker via an inbox message.

Unconfirmed job seeker Personal Events

If a Provider considers that a Personal Event entered by a job seeker is not appropriate, the Provider can choose to leave it unconfirmed. If a Personal Event is not confirmed, the Provider can override the unconfirmed Personal Event and schedule a requirement at that time. The Provider must record the reason in the Department's IT system and must formally notify the job seeker of the requirement and ensuring they can make other arrangements for the Personal Event that they had created.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling a requirement over a confirmed job seeker Personal Event

If the Provider needs to schedule a requirement for the same time as a job seeker's confirmed Personal Event, the Provider will need to discuss this with the job seeker. After confirming with the job seeker that they are available to attend the requirement at the scheduled time, the Provider is required to record the reason in the Department's IT System and formally notify the job seeker of their requirement. Providers need to manage the conflicting requirement in the Calendar and record the reason you are scheduling the requirement at this day/time in the Department's IT System.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

5. Issuing Formal Notification to the job seeker

Except for any paid work the job seeker is undertaking, the Provider is required to formally notify the job seeker of every compulsory requirement in their Job Plan. The Provider must explain how to meet each requirement, as well as the consequences of not doing so, including possible financial penalties.

When the Provider schedules requirements in the Calendar, the Department's IT System will automatically create and record the selected Notification type to be issued. If a job seeker's requirements are re-scheduled Providers must formally notify the job seeker of the new requirement.

Formal Notification always includes:

- the reason for the appointment, if the requirement is an appointment
- whether the requirement is for the purpose of Re-engagement
- the date and start time of the requirement
- the location or address of the requirement
- if the job seeker is required to record their own attendance, and if so, the consequences of not doing so
- whether the job seeker will require evidence to record their own attendance
- whether the requirement is compulsory or voluntary
- that the job seeker must contact their Provider beforehand if they become aware of an Acceptable Reason preventing them from being able to attend or complete the requirement
- the possible consequences for the job seeker if they do not meet their requirement
- a statement that the Notification is a notice under Social Security Law
- that the job seeker must complete their requirement in return for their Income Support Payment.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.3)

Legal authority to formally notify a job seeker of their Mutual Obligation Requirements

Employment services provider employees are delegated powers by the Secretary of the Department of Employment, Skills, Small and Family Business under Social Security Law to notify job seekers of their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

(Social Security (Administration) Act 1999 (ss: 63); Social Security Act 1991 (ss 501,544,605,731L) Deed Clause 117).

Note: The requirement to formally notify a job seeker receiving Income Support Payments also applies to Disability Support Recipients (Compulsory Requirements) and Stronger Participation Incentive Participants.

Notifying job seekers within the appropriate timeframe

Providers must issue job seekers Formal Notification within the appropriate timeframe before the requirement is scheduled to occur.

If reasonable notice timeframes are not met, the Calendar will not allow a requirement to be booked unless the Provider is in direct contact with the job seeker and they have agreed to attend this requirement and the Provider records this.

Refer to the Learning Centre for more supporting materials relating to reasonable notice timeframes and Notification methods (at <https://learningcentre.employment.gov.au/>).

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.3)

6. Privacy and information sharing

Providers must comply with Social Security Law and Australian privacy legislation. A job seeker's Personal Information must only be used or disclosed for the purpose it was collected, except in limited circumstances such as where the job seeker gives permission, where Commonwealth laws allow or other special circumstances.

Providers should seek independent legal advice if they have any concerns regarding their obligations under any privacy or other legislation. For further information, refer to the Privacy Guideline.

(Deed references: Clauses 53, 87, 106)

Sharing Job Plans with SEE or AMEP Providers

Providers should encourage job seekers participating in the SEE program or AMEP to share their Job Plans with their SEE or AMEP Provider in order to make them aware of their full Mutual Obligation Requirements. This will assist SEE and AMEP Providers in ensuring that they place job seekers in courses that will fully meet their Annual Activity Requirements.

7. Summary of required Documentary Evidence

- Once the terms of the Job Plan have been agreed to and the Job Plan has been created in the Department's IT System, the Job Plan must be provided to the job seeker for their agreement. Job Plans can be agreed to online or by signing a hard copy.
- Providers may send a Job Plan to the Job Seeker Dashboard through the jobactive website or Job Seeker App for the job seeker to review and agree to online.
- Providers must formally notify the job seeker (including those with voluntary requirements) that the Job Plan has been sent to their Job Seeker Dashboard for their agreement. This must be done either face to face or over the phone and within two Business Days of sending the Job Plan.
- The Job Plan must be recorded in the Department's IT System as soon as possible, after the Job Plan has been created. The contents of the Job Plan recorded in the Department's IT System must be exactly the same as the hard copy.
- If the Department's IT System is temporarily unavailable or there is no computer access, Providers must use the manual compulsory or voluntary Job Plan template available on the Provider Portal.

Guideline:

Job Plan and Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline

A Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements and any other items agreed to with their Employment Services Provider (Provider) are outlined in their Job Plan. It is necessary for Providers to ensure that each Participant, including Participants without compulsory Mutual Obligation Requirements, have a Job Plan in place at all times and that the requirements in the Job Plan are tailored to the Participant's individual circumstances and are appropriate to the level of their capability.

1. What is a Job Plan?

For the purposes of Social Security Law, a 'Job Plan' is an 'Employment Pathway Plan' and a 'Participation Plan' for Disability Support Pension recipients, less than 35 years of age, with compulsory requirements.

Providers are required to work with Participants to keep Job Plans up to date and appropriate to Participants' individual needs.

Job Plan contents are discussed and agreed to based on each Participant's individual circumstances and the support they need to move from welfare to work. Usually a Job Plan includes Provider Appointments, Job Search, education and skills training and other Activities to improve the Participant's employability.

To support Participants to successfully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements and receive the most from the services offered, Job Plans should be:

Meaningful—Every time the Job Plan is negotiated and updated, Providers need to take the time to discuss the requirements with the Participant. It is important that Participants understand any changes that have been made, the benefits of participation, and know and understand why they are required to participate in these activities.

Tailored and appropriate—Consideration needs to be given to the individual circumstances of the Participant. This includes their program or Stream, level of requirements, physical capacity, the location of any activities or other personal circumstances like caring and family responsibilities.

Clear and understood—Participants should know exactly what is required of them on each day; there should be no doubt or confusion of what is expected. This includes the potential consequences of not meeting any of their requirements. Participants having a clear understanding of their requirements means that:

- they understand the benefits of participation
- they understand their requirements support successful participation
- they feel empowered to make the right decision to meet their requirements, and
- the compliance framework can be utilised effectively and appropriately

(Deed references: Clauses 87.1, 87.4, 117.1)

2. Creating and Approving a Participant's Job Plan

Providers and Services Australia have been delegated certain powers under Social Security Law including the power to require a Participant to enter into a Job Plan and to approve or update a Participant's Job Plan.

Creating a Job Plan at the Initial Interview

A Job Plan is created at the Initial Interview with a Participant. Once the Participant attends the Initial Interview and the Job Plan is approved the Participant is automatically commenced in Services.

During the Initial Interview, a Provider negotiates a Job Plan with new Participants or Participants transferred from other Providers. Providers need to ensure that each requirement is tailored to meet the circumstances of the individual Participant and supports them in achieving their employment goals.

The Provider's role is to support the Participant and:

- ensure that each Job Plan contains all of the compulsory and voluntary Activities the Participant needs to undertake in order to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements
- include the details of all Activities tailored to address the Participant's individual needs, reduced work capacity and barriers to employment
- ensure that the Activities do not place unreasonable demands on the Participant

(Deed references: Clause 84.1, 85.1, 87.1, 87.2, 87.3, 87.4, 87.5, 117.1, Annexure A1)

Activities in the Job Plan must not place unreasonable demands on the Participant. The Participant must be capable of doing any Activity and meeting all requirements included in their Job Plan.

Providers are required to record the Activities and relevant details in the Participant's Job Plan, including: the names of education and training organisations and the type of training being undertaken; the names of employers and the type of work being undertaken; hours of participation the Participant needs to complete each fortnight and the hours of participation required for each Activity. If drug or alcohol dependency impacts on the Participant's ability to meet their requirements, providers should consider what non-vocational assistance may be appropriate to include in the Job Plan, where the Participant refuses treatment, or where there is a lack of treatment available in the local area, the Provider needs to record this in the Capability Management Tool, in the Department's IT System.

Providers are required to include approved Activities in the Participant's Job Plan that will enable the Participant to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. In the Work for the Dole Phase, the Job Plan must include appropriate hours of participation in approved Activities each fortnight during that phase.

At all times during a Participant's period of servicing the number of Job Searches a Participant is required to undertake each month must be specified in the Participant's Job Plan. The number of Job Searches required cannot exceed 20 per month.

Approved courses include the Skills for Education and Employment (SEE) Program and the Adult Migrant English Program (AMEP).

Including sufficient fortnightly hours in the Job Plan

Ensure that each Job Plan contains sufficient hours of Activities per fortnight for the Participant to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

The Department's IT System will automatically calculate the fortnightly hours under each code that is included in the Job Plan. Depending on the hours scheduled for the Participant to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the System will display messages to guide Providers to ensure the number of hours are appropriate.

The Provider is unable to set more than reasonable hours of activities per fortnight in the Job Plan in any event, and the Department's IT System will restrict the Provider from doing so by displaying an error message.

System step: If a Participant is Employment Skills Training (EST) mandatory, ESS Web prevents the finalisation of their Job Plan when making a referral to other activities. When referring an EST mandatory Participant to another activity, the EST opt-out reason of 'referred to other activity' must be applied before updating the Job Plan with the other activity.

See the 'Setting Daily Requirements' in this document for information on scheduling Daily Requirements (including activities, study or training and paid work).

Explaining a Job Plan to the Participant

Providers need to ensure that Participants understand their Mutual Obligation Requirements such as: attending Appointments; undertaking compulsory and voluntary Activities; fulfilling their Annual Activity Requirement (AAR); and undertaking and completing Job Searches.

At the Participant's Initial Interview Providers need to explain:

- the purpose of the Job Plan
- the Mutual Obligation Requirements the Participant needs to undertake in return for income support payments
- the Participant's rights and responsibilities under the Job Plan (including 'think time' to consider the Job Plan before agreeing to it)
- what the Participant needs to do if they have a change in circumstances that affects their ability to meet the requirements in their Job Plan
- how to contact the Provider to give prior notice if unable to meet requirements and the consequences of not giving prior notice if the Participant is able to do so
- the consequences of failing to meet the requirements without a Reasonable Excuse, and any impact this may have on the Participant's income support payment
- the consequences of failing to give prior notice (with a Valid Reason) if they cannot attend compulsory Appointments or participate in compulsory Activities
- the Participant's right to appeal decisions and where they can find assistance to do this
- how the Provider intends to support the Participant
- the Provider's Service Guarantee and Service Delivery Plan
- the section entitled 'Information You Need to Know' in the Job Plan
- how information is protected under privacy legislation and Social Security law; and

- that all relevant contact details will need to be accurately recorded and updated in the Department's IT System including phone numbers, email address and postal address.

(Deed references: Clause 87.2, 87.5, 106.1, Annexure A1)

Interpreters, Support Persons and Nominees

When a Participant requests, or if the Provider considers it appropriate, the Participant can bring a support person with them to an Appointment to review their Job Plan. Similarly, when a Participant requests or if the Provider considers it appropriate, Providers are required to use an interpreter to ensure that the Participant understands their requirements before they agree to the Job Plan.

You may also need to work with Humanitarian Settlement Program Case Managers, who may accompany some humanitarian entrant (refugee) Participants to interviews. A Humanitarian Settlement Program Case Manager can provide advice on appropriate employment strategies and activities that can help the provider to develop a suitable Job Plan. (Note that a Case Manager is not an interpreter).

Additionally, Participants in residential programs for drug and alcohol rehabilitation will not always inform their Provider of their change of circumstances. When in a residential program Participants should have an authorised correspondence nominee. The nominee will receive all of the correspondence and notifications sent from the Provider to the Participant. The nominee can advise the Provider that the Participant is in a residential program and may not have access to a phone or computer.

Staff of residential programs are able to act as nominees for Participants.

Please record details of any conversations with a nominee in the comments screen in the Department's IT System.

Participants requiring 'think time' to consider the terms of their Job Plan

Before signing or agreeing to the terms of a Job Plan, all Participants can have up to two Business Days 'think time' to consider the requirements set in their Job Plan. The Participant can use this time to discuss the terms of their Job Plan with a third party if they wish. The 'think time' is available to a Participant each time their Job Plan is created or updated.

If a Participant is offered and accepts 'think time', Providers need to arrange and book a Provider Appointment for the Participant to occur in two Business Days so that the Participant can agree to and sign the Job Plan.

Participants with a Compulsory Job Plan

For Participants with Mutual Obligation Requirements, including Disability Support Pension recipients under 35 years of age and Special Benefit recipients (who are not Nominated Visa Holders), there needs to be at least one compulsory requirement in the Job Plan and a record of the details in the Participant's Calendar.

Participants who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, but have chosen to access jobactive on a voluntary basis are Fully Eligible Participants

(Voluntary). These Participants still need to have a compulsory Job Plan, which includes the Activities they are undertaking to fully meet their requirements. Any additional Activities they agree to undertake need to be included in their Job Plan as a voluntary requirement.

(Deed references: Clause 70.1, 87.2, 87.5)

Participants with a Suspension

Participants with Mutual Obligation Requirements who are Suspended from their Provider's caseload can choose to volunteer to participate in Activities. Providers must agree to the voluntary Activities the Participant will participate in and update the Participant's Job Plan to include the voluntary Activities. If the Provider becomes aware that a Participant is no longer suspended or not participating in voluntary Activities listed in the Job Plan, the Provider must update the Job Plan as appropriate.

A suspension from a Provider's caseload can occur when:

- a Participant is granted an Activity Test exemption by Services Australia
- a PCP or PCW (15-29 hours) Participant is fully meeting their requirements through part time work or other approved activities
- the Provider applies a 'Provisional Exit' from servicing on the expectation that the Participant's employment will lead to a full outcome; or
- the Participant has a partial or temporary reduced work capacity of less than 15 hours per week.

(Deed references: Clause 70.1, 87.2, 87.5)

Participants with a Voluntary Job Plan

Participants who are participating in jobactive without Mutual Obligation Requirements must have a Voluntary Job Plan. These Participants can be Volunteers receiving six months of service in Stream A or be Fully Eligible Participants who do not have Mutual Obligation Requirements and are participating voluntarily in jobactive such as:

- Structural Adjustment Program Participants not on income support
- Pre-Release Prisoners
- Participants with an Exemption from their Mutual Obligation Requirements
- Participants with an assessed Partial Capacity to Work or a temporary reduced work capacity of less than 15 hours per week
- Vulnerable Youth or Vulnerable Youth (Student)
- a previous recipient of Widows Allowance granted Newstart Allowance after 1 January 2018 and exempt from Mutual Obligation Requirements
- Special Benefit recipients who are not Nominated Visa Holders.

Voluntary Job Plans can only include voluntary Activities as these Participants do not have compulsory requirements and are not subject to compliance if they do not participate in these activities. Participants will not be at risk of incurring a penalty if they do not participate in voluntary items.

Participants in Time to Work Employment Service

If a Participant has participated in the Time to Work Employment Service the Provider needs to take into account any current Transition Plans identified in the Department's IT System.

Participants in ParentsNext

ParentsNext Volunteers can choose to volunteer into jobactive and they will already have a Participation Plan created by their ParentsNext Provider. A jobactive Provider must not create, update or otherwise edit a Job Plan for a ParentsNext Volunteer. If a Job Plan for a ParentsNext Volunteer needs changes, the Job Plan can only be updated by the ParentsNext Volunteer's ParentsNext Provider.

(Deed references: Clause 87.5, Annexure A1)

Participants in Career Transition Assistance (CTA)

Eligible Participants can volunteer to participate in CTA. Participation in CTA can only be included as a voluntary Activity in a Participant's Job Plan.

For Participants in the Work for the Dole phase, participation in CTA will fully meet their AAR. At the conclusion of CTA, the CTA Provider will arrange a Warm Handover Meeting with the Participant's jobactive Provider. As part of this meeting, Participants will be offered two future contacts with the CTA Provider, to occur within three months of the completion of CTA. The CTA Provider will be required to specify the details of these contacts. jobactive Providers should again use these details to book Third Party appointments for the Participant and issue formal notification of the appointment/s.

Approving a Job Plan

Provider staff are delegates of the Secretary of the Department of Employment, Skills, Small and Family Business and have the power to:

- require a Participant with Mutual Obligation Requirements to enter into a Job Plan
- approve a Job Plan, and
- vary the terms of a Job Plan.

Documentary evidence: Once the terms of the Job Plan have been agreed to and the Job Plan is created in the Department's IT System, give the Job Plan to the Participant for their agreement. Job Plans can be agreed to online or by signing a hard copy.

(Deed references: Clause 87.4, 117.1, Annexure A1)

Participant agreeing to the Job Plan – online

Documentary evidence: Providers may send a Job Plan to the Job Seeker Dashboard through the jobactive website or Job Seeker App for the Participant to review and agree to online. Before using this option check that the Participant has access to the Job Plan on their Dashboard and they know how to agree to it.

Documentary evidence: Providers are required to formally notify the Participant (including those with voluntary requirements) that they must agree to their Job Plan and advise them of the consequences of failing to do so. The Provider should inform the Participant either face to face or over the phone that the Job Plan has been sent to their Job Seeker Dashboard for agreement. The Participant will have two Business Days to agree to their Job Plan. A verbal formal Notification script is available on the Department's IT System for the Provider to read to the Participant. The script includes a compliance warning that is required to be given to Participants (with Mutual Obligation Requirements) if they do not agree to the Job Plan within two Business Days.

When the Participant agrees to the Job Plan, the Job Plan status will automatically be set to 'approved' in the Department's IT System.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline and the Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline for further information on how to issue formal Notification.

Participant agreeing to the Job Plan – hard copy

The Participant and the Provider may sign a hard copy of the Job Plan. The Provider needs to give the Participant the signed copy and then approve the Job Plan in the Department's IT System.

When the Job Plan has been approved and entered in to the Department's IT System, the Participant will be able to access it from their Job Seeker Dashboard.

Participant not agreeing to the Job Plan

Participants who do not enter into a Job Plan without good reason after the two days 'think time' will have their payment suspended until a Job Plan is agreed to and signed by the Participant.

If the Participant refuses to enter into and sign a Job Plan (and does not wish to use their 'think time') contact the Participant and assess if the Participant has a Valid Reason for refusing.

For further information, see the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline.

(Deed references: Clause 114.1, 114.2, 114.5, 114.6, Annexure A1)

Recording a Job Plan

Documentary evidence: The Job Plan is to be recorded in the Department's IT System as soon as possible, after it has been created. The contents of the Job Plan recorded in the Department's IT System must be exactly the same as the hard copy.

If the Department's IT System is temporarily unavailable or there is no computer access, use the manual compulsory or voluntary Job Plan template available on the Provider Portal.

Using Job Plan codes

Providers are required to use the comprehensive list of Job Plan codes, at Attachment A, so that Job Plan data can be pre-populated and linked through the Department's IT System to the Dashboard on the Job Seeker App, the jobactive website and the Services Australia IT system.

The following codes are pre-populated in Job Plans. Most can be removed if not appropriate to the Participant.

AI09 – Attend DES Appointments

AI12 – Attend Provider Appointments

AI13 – Attend DES Ongoing Support Appointments

AI15 – Attend Third Party Appointments

JS09 – Job Search Contacts – Monthly

JS10 – Job Interviews

PA03 – Personal Responsibility

PA04 – Actioning Job Referrals and Job Opportunities

AS02 – Health and Allied Services Assistance

AS20 – Ongoing Support Assistance

NV14 – Health Maintenance Program

AI15 – Attend Third Party Appointments and PA04 – Actioning Job Referrals and Job Opportunities cannot be removed. If either of these codes are not appropriate for a Participant, do not schedule any Activities against them.

(Deed references: Clause 83A.3, 106A.1, 106A.2, 113.1)

Job Search Requirement

Job Search Requirements are determined by Providers based on what is appropriate for the Participant's circumstances. This may generally be set at a maximum of 20 efforts per month, but it may be reduced based on a Participant's capacity, the local labour market, and the Participant's individual circumstances. If applicable, Providers can use the JS05 or JS06 (Job Search with Disability) codes. These codes will trigger a higher rate of Mobility Allowance for eligible Participants.

The number and quality of Job Searches undertaken need to be monitored. Participants can report their Job Search activities on the Job Seeker App or jobactive website.

Participants should be given instructions on how to upload and record their Job Search efforts and related details, even if they indicate they will report their Job Search efforts directly to their Provider.

If the Participant reports efforts directly to their Provider by email or filling out a Job Search record and giving it directly, the Provider will need to record the number of efforts submitted to them by no later than close of business on that day.

Providers need to:

- review and confirm the quality of efforts submitted online or directly by no later than five Business Days after the end of each Job Search Period.
- ensure that the Participant is aware at all times of:
  - their current Job Search Requirement
  - when their Job Searches must be reported by
  - how to report their Job Search efforts using the jobactive website, or directly to the Provider.
- ensure that the number of Job Search efforts undertaken, and the number yet to be undertaken by the Participant in each Job Search Period, are visible on the Job Seeker App or jobactive website

Please refer to Job Aids at the Learning Centre for information on recording results for Job Search.

(Deed references: Clauses 113.1, 113.2, 113.3)

In addition to Job Search requirements Providers can include job referrals in a Participants Job Plan. These include:

Single referrals
Apply for a specific job
Accept a Job Interview
Contact an employer to arrange and accept a Job Interview
Update a resume appropriately
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity
Combination referrals
Update a resume appropriately AND provide personal details to support a job opportunity
Update a resume appropriately AND apply for a specific job
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity AND contact an employer to arrange and accept a Job Interview
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity AND accept a Job Interview

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3 & 87.5)

Participants who do not have Job Search Requirements

The following Participants are not required to undertake Job Search while they are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirement

- Principal Carer Parents undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these

- Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these
- Participants 55 years of age and over undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these
- Participants undertaking drug and alcohol rehabilitation in a residential program
- Pregnant Participants from three months before their due date.
- NEIS Participants and Prospective Participants while participating in NEIS Training
- NEIS Participants in receipt of Parenting Payment (Single) or the Disability Support Pension who remain on their current payment while participating in NEIS Assistance and actively working on their small business
- Early School Leavers who are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through full-time education or a combination of part-time study and part-time work of 25 hours per week (15 hours for those with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements)
- refugee Participants when undertaking activities to help adjust to life in Australia and increasing their chances of finding work.

Linking Job Plan Codes to Activity Placements and the Calendar

Activity placements can be linked to Job Plan codes in Activity Management in the Department's IT System. It is best practice that Providers link Activity placements to the appropriate code in the Job Plan. Job Plan codes need to be linked to the daily requirements scheduled in the Calendar, this will enable the details to be auto-populated into any formal Notification created from the Calendar. Providers will also be able to record attendance results in the Calendar.

(Deed references: Clause 83A.1, 83.A.2)

Personal Responsibility to record attendance code PA03

If a Provider determines that a Participant is capable of taking personal responsibility for recording their own attendance at Activities, the Participant will be required to record their attendance at:

- Activities
- Third Party Appointments, and
- Job Interviews.

The Personal Responsibility Code PA03 is included in every Participant's Job Plan by default. Providers are required to inform Participants if they are assessed as being capable of and that they are required to record their own attendance at Activities. If the Provider assesses the Participant as not capable of recording their own attendance, the Provider will need to remove the PA03 code from the Participant's Job Plan. Ensure that capable Participants understand the requirement to record their attendance by close of business on the day of the requirement and that their payment will be suspended if they do not do so. The Participant will be notified to contact their Provider if their payment is suspended. Providers will need to assess whether the Participant had a valid reason for not reporting and enter the result on behalf of the Participant and consider whether the Participant is still capable of recording and reporting their own attendance.

(Deed references: Clause 87.5, 106.1, 106A.1, 106A.2)

Providing evidence of attendance for an Activity

For some Activities, the Participant will need to provide evidence when they are recording their own attendance.

Evidence for attendance will be a QR code or passcode (code) generated by the Department's IT System. The Participant will scan the code through their device while at the Activity to record their attendance via the Job Seeker App or by recording a passcode via the jobactive website.

If the duration of the Activity is four hours or more, two codes will be generated: one for the Participant's arrival at the Activity and one for the end of Activity. The code for the end of Activity should not be made available to the Participant until close to the finish time.

When creating an Activity that requires evidence of attendance, the Provider must ensure that they record the contact details of the relevant person/s who will provide the code to Participants, such as an Activity Supervisor. The person providing the code to Participants needs to be given the code before the Activity session commences. Providers should also ensure that the person providing the code for an afternoon session knows not to make the code available to the Participant until the afternoon session commences.

However, there will be instances where there isn't a supervisor or contact for activities, such as education and training. This is because it would be unreasonable, or not expected due to the relationship and past experience, for evidenced-based recording or to report non-attendance directly to the Provider. In these situations, Participants will record attendance directly on the day. By recording their own attendance, Participants will be acknowledging via a statement on the App or website that they have attended and the information they are providing is true and correct. No further evidence is required, therefore satisfying documentary evidence requirements. Providers will still be able to record non-attendance if they become aware that Participants have failed to attend or left early at education/training activities.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.5)

Assessing a Participant's capability to record attendance

To assess the Participant's capability to record their own attendance, Providers need to consider if the Participant has:

- daily, reliable access to technology that would allow them to record their attendance, such as a computer or smartphone, or the means to contact their Provider to report their attendance; and
- the ability, literacy and English skills required to record or report their own attendance, understanding:

- what requirements they need to record attendance for
- how to record their own attendance
- that they must record or report attendance by close of business on the day of the requirement
- what to do and who to contact if they cannot record their own attendance on a given day
- the consequences of not recording or reporting their own attendance if they are required to do so.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Participant is capable of recording their own attendance

If the Participant has both the means and the ability to record and report their own attendance keep the personal responsibility code (PA03) in the Job Plan.

Monitor the Participant's capability to record their own attendance to ensure that the Participant is reporting their attendance accurately. If a Provider knows that a Participant has not accurately recorded their attendance, they can override the result entered by the Participant.

If the Participant contacts the Provider and asks them to record attendance on their behalf, the Provider will assess whether the Participant did attend and, if so, record the Participant's attendance.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Participant is not capable of recording their attendance

If the Participant is not capable of recording their own attendance, the Provider will need to remove the PA03 code when finalising the Participant's Job Plan.

Providers are encouraged to keep working with Participants to build capacity for reporting their attendance at requirements.

If a Participant can't record their attendance because they live in an area with unreliable connectivity or other similar reasons, the Provider needs to tell the Participant to report their attendance by contacting their Provider, who will record attendance on the Participant's behalf.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2, 87.5)

---

3. Reviewing, Updating and Monitoring a Job Plan

Providers are required to review, update and monitor a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law.

Providers need to review the Job Plan and update it when the Participant:

- has a change in their circumstances
- enters into a new phase of their Stream
- enters in to a new Stream
- commences a new Activity

- completes an Activity that was in their Job Plan and/or
- has a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment

For Services Australia managed Participants, Services Australia will update the Job Plan when required. If the Participant is managed by a Provider, Services Australia will consult with the relevant Provider before updating the Job Plan or may request that the Provider updates the Job Plan at the Participant's next Appointment. Providers should not remove any updates made to a Job Plan by Services Australia without consultation.

If a Participation Plan for ParentsNext Volunteers requires review or an update, then Providers must contact the participant's ParentsNext Provider and request they make the update to the Participation Plan.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.4, 87.5, 87.7, 113.1, 113.2, 114.1, Annexure A1)

Updating the Job Plan

It is best practice to review the Job Plan at each Provider Appointment to ensure that the Participant is still capable of meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements. If the outcome of a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment is that the Job Plan requires updating, Providers are required to review and update the contents of the Job Plan within 10 business days. Ensure that the contents of the Job Plan is updated including details of any additional voluntary activities or if the Participant is subject to an Exemption.

In consultation with the Participant, the Job Plan can be updated and tailored to individual needs at any time—unless there is compliance outstanding. If compliance action is outstanding, the Department's IT System will not permit the Job Plan to be updated and the Provider will be redirected to the 'Compliance Screen' in the Department's IT System.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline for information on using the Targeted Compliance Framework.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.1, 87.2, 87.3, 87.5)

Updating Job Plan to include Voluntary activities

If a Participant is granted an exemption or is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, they may wish to participate voluntarily and they can discuss this with the Provider. Voluntary activities should be included in the Job Plan and scheduled in the Calendar, and the Participant should be notified of where and when to attend each Activity.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.54)

Updating Job Plan following Participant advising change in circumstances

The Job Plan needs to be reviewed as soon as practicable after the Provider becomes aware or is informed of a change in the Participant's circumstances.

Newly disclosed or discovered information may be found on, and should be immediately recorded in, the Capability Management Tool (CMT) in the Department's IT System.

If the Job Plan is to be renegotiated in light of the new information, the Provider will refer to the CMT to ensure that the Job Plan requirements are appropriate for the Participant's capability, and that the Participant will receive enough assistance and support to address the circumstances recorded in the CMT.

See the Capability Interview Guideline and Capability Assessment Guideline for information on using the Capability Management Tool.

(Deed references: Clauses 84.2, 87.5)

Updating the Job Plan to include (previously removed) requirement to record own attendance

If the Provider is renegotiating a Job Plan and assesses that the Participant is now capable to record their own attendance (where the requirement was previously removed from the Job Plan), the Provider needs to re-enter Job Plan code PA03 in to the Participant's Job Plan. Ensure that the Participant understands that they are now recording their own attendance at requirements as well as the importance of entering results via the App or jobactive website by close of business on the day of the requirement as their payment will be automatically suspended the next day if no result has been entered.

(Deed references: Clauses 106.1, 106A.1, 106A.2)

Updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment

See the Capability Interview Guideline and the Capability Assessment Guideline for information on updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview or a Capability Assessment.

4. Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements in the Calendar

The Provider is required to record details of, and schedule each requirement in the Calendar, including:

- Provider Appointments
- Activities
- Job Interviews
- Education and Training
- Drug and alcohol rehabilitation
- Third Party Appointments
- Workshops, training and other activities delivered by the Provider and
- Employment, if the hours are regular and can reasonably be scheduled by the Provider or Participant.

To schedule a requirement in the Calendar, the Job Plan code that corresponds to that requirement must have been included in the Participant's current, signed Job Plan.

For example: if the Participant's Job Plan does not include the code for Compulsory participation in Work for the Dole (Code WE12), the Department's IT System will not allow a Provider to schedule Compulsory Work for the Dole in the Participant's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.1, 83A.2)

Scheduling Requirements

The Provider must ensure that each day of each Participant requirement is scheduled in the Calendar. Each day of each requirement scheduled in the Calendar must be populated with:

- the name or description of the requirement
- the start time
- break times, where relevant
- the end time
- the location of the requirement, including any special instructions to locate a venue (e.g. located on battle-axe block) and
- the name of any third party provider or training organisation

When the Provider schedules the requirement in the Calendar and formally notifies the Participant, the requirement will then appear in the Participant's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A, 83A.1, 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling a Provider Appointment

Providers need to ensure that the Provider's Electronic Calendar has the capacity to receive an Appointment within the next two business days. When booking a Provider Appointment for a Participant, Providers need to select the correct appointment type, schedule the appointment in the Calendar and formally notify the Participant. If a Participant has an Appointment with their Provider, the Provider must deliver a Contact on the date and time of the Appointment as recorded in the Participant's Calendar.

There are four types of appointments; Initial; Contact; Re-engagement and Capability Interview appointment

Please refer to the Job Aids at the Learning Centre at <https://learningcentre.employment.gov.au/> for information on recording results at Provider Appointments.

(Deed references: Clauses 83.1, 83.3)

Scheduling Activities and Third Party Appointments

Detailed information on scheduling Activities and Appointments is available in the Calendar and AAR Details IT Supporting Document.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2)

Scheduling Job Interviews

All Job Interviews need to be scheduled in the Calendar and the Participant must be formally notified of the requirement to attend. Participants taking personal responsibility to record their own attendance must do so for Job Interviews.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling drug or alcohol rehabilitation

If the Provider identifies or becomes aware that the Participant's ongoing capability to meet their requirements or search for work is compromised by drug or alcohol dependency, the Provider needs to discuss this with the Participant to identify rehabilitation options that would assist the Participant to overcome their dependence.

If the Participant chooses to undertake drug and alcohol rehabilitation or is already when they enter employment services or transfer Providers, schedule it in the Calendar and formally notify the Participant. Undertaking drug and alcohol rehabilitation counts towards the Participant's AAR.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling Study or Training

Providers are responsible for identifying any appropriate study and training opportunities that will assist the Participant to gain skills or qualifications that will assist them to find work. Where practical, the Provider must ensure all study and training is scheduled in the Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling hours of employment where reasonable to do so

If the Participant is employed for regular hours, the Provider should schedule the hours of employment in the Calendar when they can reasonably do so.

The Provider should encourage the Participant to take personal responsibility by scheduling their own hours of employment, and they should either provide assistance to the Participant to do so or tell them where they can find assistance to help them with this. If the Participant does not schedule their own regular hours of employment by creating Personal Events, the Provider must do so.

The Provider will create a Personal Event in the Participant's Calendar for each day of employment the Participant is undertaking. The Participant does not need to be formally notified of scheduled Personal Events, including paid work, and the TCF cannot be used to report non-compliance for failing to attend work.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Participant may create Personal Events

Participants may create their own Personal Events in their Calendar between 6am and 9pm. Participants may only create Personal Events where a Mutual Obligation Requirement is not already scheduled at that time.

The Provider is able to create Personal Events on behalf of the Participant to assist the Participant in having full visibility of their schedule and their requirements. Providers must create Personal Events on behalf of the Participant to schedule regular hours of paid work if the Participant does not do so. Providers must advise the Participant that even though they have created a Personal Event, Mutual Obligation Requirements may still be scheduled.

Confirmed Participant Personal Events

Providers are responsible for confirming Participant Personal Events and are encouraged to review and consider Personal Events created by the Participant. Providers should use their judgement and knowledge of the individual Participant to decide whether the Participant's Personal Event is appropriate prior to confirming it. When deciding to confirm a Personal Event, the Provider should also consider the nature of the Personal Event and the Participant's personal situation. A Personal Event is considered to be Prior Notice of a Participant being unable to attend a requirement at that time. By confirming the event, the system will not allow a conflicting requirement to then be set.

If the Provider confirms a Personal Event that should not have been confirmed, they cannot 'un-confirm' the event. The Provider must cancel the Personal Event, after discussing the reasons why the Personal Event was cancelled in the Calendar, which will notify the Participant via an inbox message.

Unconfirmed Participant Personal Events

If a Provider considers that a Personal Event entered by a Participant is not appropriate, the Provider can choose to leave it unconfirmed. If a Personal Event is not confirmed, the Provider can override the unconfirmed Personal Event and schedule a requirement at that time. The Provider must record the reason in the Department's IT system and must formally notify the Participant of the requirement and ensuring they can make other arrangements for the Personal Event that they had created.

Scheduling a requirement over a confirmed Participant Personal Event

If the Provider needs to schedule a requirement for the same time as a Participant's confirmed Personal Event, the Provider will need to discuss this with the Participant. After confirming with the Participant that they are available to attend the requirement at the scheduled time, the Provider is required to record the reason in the Department's IT System and formally notify the Participant of their requirement. Providers need to manage the conflicting requirement in the Calendar and record the reason you are scheduling the requirement at this day/time in the Department's IT System.

5. Issuing Formal Notification to the Participant

Except for any paid work the Participant is undertaking, the Provider is required to formally notify the Participant of every compulsory requirement in their Job Plan. The Provider must explain how to meet each requirement, as well as the consequences of not doing so, including possible financial penalties.

When the Provider schedules requirements in the Calendar, the Department's IT System will automatically create and record the selected Notification type to be issued. If a Participant's requirements are re-scheduled Providers must formally notify the Participant of the new requirement.

Formal Notification always includes:

- the reason for the appointment, if the requirement is an appointment
- whether the requirement is for the purpose of Re-engagement
- the date and start time of the requirement
- the location or address of the requirement
- if the Participant is required to record their own attendance, and if so, the consequences of not doing so
- whether the Participant will require evidence to record their own attendance
- whether the requirement is compulsory or voluntary
- that the Participant must contact their Provider beforehand if they become aware of an Acceptable Reason preventing them from being able to attend or complete the requirement
- the possible consequences for the Participant if they do not meet their requirement
- a statement that the Notification is a notice under Social Security Law
- that the Participant must complete their requirement in return for their Income Support Payment.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.3)

Legal authority to formally notify a Participant of their Mutual Obligation Requirements

Employment services provider employees are delegated powers by the Secretary of the Department of Employment, Skills, Small and Family Business under Social Security Law to notify Participants of their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

(Social Security (Administration) Act 1999 (ss: 63); Social Security Act 1991 (ss 501,544,605,731L) Deed Clause 117).

Note: The requirement to formally notify a Participant receiving Income Support Payments also applies to Disability Support Recipients (Compulsory Requirements) and Stronger Participation Incentive Participants.

Notifying Participants within the appropriate timeframe

Providers must issue Participants Formal Notification within the appropriate timeframe before the requirement is scheduled to occur.

If reasonable notice timeframes are not met, the Calendar will not allow a requirement to be booked unless the Provider is in direct contact with the Participant and they have agreed to attend this requirement and the Provider records this.

Refer to the Learning Centre for more supporting materials relating to reasonable notice timeframes and Notification methods at

<https://learningcentre.employment.gov.au/>.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.3)

6. Privacy and information sharing

Providers must comply with Social Security Law and Australian privacy legislation. A Participant's Personal Information must only be used or disclosed for the purpose it was collected, except in limited circumstances such as where the Participant gives permission, where Commonwealth laws allow or other special circumstances.

Providers should seek independent legal advice if they have any concerns regarding their obligations under any privacy or other legislation. For further information, refer to the Privacy Guideline.

(Deed references: Clauses 53, 87, 106)

Sharing Job Plans with SEE or AMEP Providers

Providers should encourage Participants who are participating in the SEE program or AMEP to share their Job Plans with their SEE or AMEP Provider in order to make them aware of their full Mutual Obligation Requirements. This will assist SEE and AMEP Providers in ensuring that they place Participants in courses that will fully meet their Annual Activity Requirements.

7. Summary of required Documentary Evidence

- Once the terms of the Job Plan have been agreed to and the Job Plan has been created in the Department's IT System, the Job Plan must be provided to the Participant for their agreement. Job Plans can be agreed to online or by signing a hard copy.
- Providers may send a Job Plan to the Job Seeker Dashboard through the jobactive website or Job Seeker App for the Participant to review and agree to online.
- Providers must formally notify the Participant (including those with voluntary requirements) that the Job Plan has been sent to their Job Seeker Dashboard for their agreement. This must be done either face to face or over the phone and within two Business Days of sending the Job Plan.
- The Job Plan must be recorded in the Department's IT System as soon as possible, after the Job Plan has been created. The contents of the Job Plan recorded in the Department's IT System must be exactly the same as the hard copy.
- If the Department's IT System is temporarily unavailable or there is no computer access, Providers must use the manual compulsory or voluntary Job Plan template available on the Provider Portal.

Guideline:

Job Plan and Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline

A Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements and any other items agreed to with their Employment Services Provider (Provider) are outlined in their Job Plan. It is necessary for Providers to ensure that each Participant, including Participants without compulsory Mutual Obligation Requirements, have a Job Plan in place at all times and that the requirements in the Job Plan are tailored to the Participant's individual circumstances and are appropriate to the level of their capability.

1. What is a Job Plan?

For the purposes of Social Security Law, a 'Job Plan' is an 'Employment Pathway Plan' and a 'Participation Plan' for Disability Support Pension recipients, less than 35 years of age, with compulsory requirements.

Providers are required to work with Participants to keep Job Plans up to date and appropriate to Participants' individual needs.

Job Plan contents are discussed and agreed to based on each Participant's individual circumstances and the support they need to move from welfare to work. Usually a Job Plan includes Provider Appointments, Job Search, education and skills training and other Activities to improve the Participant's employability.

To support Participants to successfully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements and receive the most from the services offered, Job Plans should be:

Meaningful—Every time the Job Plan is negotiated and updated, Providers need to take the time to discuss the requirements with the Participant. It is important that Participants understand any changes that have been made, the benefits of participation, and know and understand why they are required to participate in these activities.

Tailored and appropriate—Consideration needs to be given to the individual circumstances of the Participant. This includes their program or Stream, level of requirements, physical capacity, the location of any activities or other personal circumstances like caring and family responsibilities.

Clear and understood—Participants should know exactly what is required of them on each day; there should be no doubt or confusion of what is expected. This includes the potential consequences of not meeting any of their requirements. Participants having a clear understanding of their requirements means that:

- they understand the benefits of participation
- they understand their requirements support successful participation
- they feel empowered to make the right decision to meet their requirements, and
- the compliance framework can be utilised effectively and appropriately

(Deed references: Clauses 87.1, 87.4, 117.1)

2. Creating and Approving a Participant's Job Plan

Providers and Services Australia have been delegated certain powers under Social Security Law including the power to require a Participant to enter into a Job Plan and to approve or update a Participant's Job Plan.

Creating a Job Plan at the Initial Interview

A Job Plan is created at the Initial Interview with a Participant. Once the Participant attends the Initial Interview and the Job Plan is approved the Participant is automatically commenced in Services.

During the Initial Interview, a Provider negotiates a Job Plan with new Participants or Participants transferred from other Providers. Providers need to ensure that each requirement is tailored to meet the circumstances of the individual Participant and supports them in achieving their employment goals.

The Provider's role is to support the Participant and:

- ensure that each Job Plan contains all of the compulsory and voluntary Activities the Participant needs to undertake in order to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements
- include the details of all Activities tailored to address the Participant's individual needs, reduced work capacity and barriers to employment
- ensure that the Activities do not place unreasonable demands on the Participant

(Deed references: Clause 84.1, 85.1, 87.1, 87.2, 87.3, 87.4, 87.5, 117.1, Annexure A1)

Activities in the Job Plan must not place unreasonable demands on the Participant. The Participant must be capable of doing any Activity and meeting all requirements included in their Job Plan.

Providers are required to record the Activities and relevant details in the Participant's Job Plan, including: the names of education and training organisations and the type of training being undertaken; the names of employers and the type of work being undertaken; hours of participation the Participant needs to complete each fortnight and the hours of participation required for each Activity. If drug or alcohol dependency impacts on the Participant's ability to meet their requirements, providers should consider what non-vocational assistance may be appropriate to include in the Job Plan, where the Participant refuses treatment, or where there is a lack of treatment available in the local area, the Provider needs to record this in the Capability Management Tool, in the Department's IT System.

Providers are required to include approved Activities in the Participant's Job Plan that will enable the Participant to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. In the Work for the Dole Phase, the Job Plan must include appropriate hours of participation in approved Activities each fortnight during that phase.

At all times during a Participant's period of servicing the number of Job Searches a Participant is required to undertake each month must be specified in the Participant's Job Plan. The number of Job Searches required cannot exceed 20 per month.

Approved courses include the Skills for Education and Employment (SEE) Program and the Adult Migrant English Program (AMEP).

Including sufficient fortnightly hours in the Job Plan

Ensure that each Job Plan contains sufficient hours of Activities per fortnight for the Participant to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

The Department's IT System will automatically calculate the fortnightly hours under each code that is included in the Job Plan. Depending on the hours scheduled for the Participant to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the System will display messages to guide Providers to ensure the number of hours are appropriate.

The Provider is unable to set more than reasonable hours of activities per fortnight in the Job Plan in any event, and the Department's IT System will restrict the Provider from doing so by displaying an error message.

System step: If a Participant is Employment Skills Training (EST) mandatory, ESS Web prevents the finalisation of their Job Plan when making a referral to other activities. When referring an EST mandatory Participant to another activity, the EST opt-out reason of 'referred to other activity' must be applied before updating the Job Plan with the other activity.

See the 'Setting Daily Requirements' in this document for information on scheduling Daily Requirements (including activities, study or training and paid work).

Explaining a Job Plan to the Participant

Providers need to ensure that Participants understand their Mutual Obligation Requirements such as: attending Appointments; undertaking compulsory and voluntary Activities; fulfilling their Annual Activity Requirement (AAR); and undertaking and completing Job Searches.

At the Participant's Initial Interview Providers need to explain:

- the purpose of the Job Plan
- the Mutual Obligation Requirements the Participant needs to undertake in return for income support payments
- the Participant's rights and responsibilities under the Job Plan (including 'think time' to consider the Job Plan before agreeing to it)
- what the Participant needs to do if they have a change in circumstances that affects their ability to meet the requirements in their Job Plan
- how to contact the Provider to give prior notice if unable to meet requirements and the consequences of not giving prior notice if the Participant is able to do so
- the consequences of failing to meet the requirements without a Reasonable Excuse, and any impact this may have on the Participant's income support payment
- the consequences of failing to give prior notice (with a Valid Reason) if they cannot attend compulsory Appointments or participate in compulsory Activities
- the Participant's right to appeal decisions and where they can find assistance to do this
- how the Provider intends to support the Participant
- the Provider's Service Guarantee and Service Delivery Plan
- the section entitled 'Information You Need to Know' in the Job Plan
- how information is protected under privacy legislation and Social Security law; and

- that all relevant contact details will need to be accurately recorded and updated in the Department's IT System including phone numbers, email address and postal address.

(Deed references: Clause 87.2, 87.5, 106.1, Annexure A1)

Interpreters, Support Persons and Nominees

When a Participant requests, or if the Provider considers it appropriate, the Participant can bring a support person with them to an Appointment to review their Job Plan. Similarly, when a Participant requests or if the Provider considers it appropriate, Providers are required to use an interpreter to ensure that the Participant understands their requirements before they agree to the Job Plan.

You may also need to work with Humanitarian Settlement Program Case Managers, who may accompany some humanitarian entrant (refugee) Participants to interviews. A Humanitarian Settlement Program Case Manager can provide advice on appropriate employment strategies and activities that can help the provider to develop a suitable Job Plan. (Note that a Case Manager is not an interpreter).

Additionally, Participants in residential programs for drug and alcohol rehabilitation will not always inform their Provider of their change of circumstances. When in a residential program Participants should have an authorised correspondence nominee. The nominee will receive all of the correspondence and notifications sent from the Provider to the Participant. The nominee can advise the Provider that the Participant is in a residential program and may not have access to a phone or computer.

Staff of residential programs are able to act as nominees for Participants.

Please record details of any conversations with a nominee in the comments screen in the Department's IT System.

Participants requiring 'think time' to consider the terms of their Job Plan

Before signing or agreeing to the terms of a Job Plan, all Participants can have up to two Business Days 'think time' to consider the requirements set in their Job Plan. The Participant can use this time to discuss the terms of their Job Plan with a third party if they wish. The 'think time' is available to a Participant each time their Job Plan is created or updated.

If a Participant is offered and accepts 'think time', Providers need to arrange and book a Provider Appointment for the Participant to occur in two Business Days so that the Participant can agree to and sign the Job Plan.

Participants with a Compulsory Job Plan

For Participants with Mutual Obligation Requirements, including Disability Support Pension recipients under 35 years of age and Special Benefit recipients (who are not Nominated Visa Holders), there needs to be at least one compulsory requirement in the Job Plan and a record of the details in the Participant's Calendar.

Participants who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, but have chosen to access jobactive on a voluntary basis are Fully Eligible Participants

(Voluntary). These Participants still need to have a compulsory Job Plan, which includes the Activities they are undertaking to fully meet their requirements. Any additional Activities they agree to undertake need to be included in their Job Plan as a voluntary requirement.

(Deed references: Clause 70.1, 87.2, 87.5)

Participants with a Suspension

Participants with Mutual Obligation Requirements who are Suspended from their Provider's caseload can choose to volunteer to participate in Activities. Providers must agree to the voluntary Activities the Participant will participate in and update the Participant's Job Plan to include the voluntary Activities. If the Provider becomes aware that a Participant is no longer suspended or not participating in voluntary Activities listed in the Job Plan, the Provider must update the Job Plan as appropriate.

A suspension from a Provider's caseload can occur when:

- a Participant is granted an Activity Test exemption by Services Australia
- a PCP or PCW (15-29 hours) Participant is fully meeting their requirements through part time work or other approved activities
- the Provider applies a 'Provisional Exit' from servicing on the expectation that the Participant's employment will lead to a full outcome; or
- the Participant has a partial or temporary reduced work capacity of less than 15 hours per week.

(Deed references: Clause 70.1, 87.2, 87.5)

Participants with a Voluntary Job Plan

Participants who are participating in jobactive without Mutual Obligation Requirements must have a Voluntary Job Plan. These Participants can be Volunteers receiving six months of service in Stream A or be Fully Eligible Participants who do not have Mutual Obligation Requirements and are participating voluntarily in jobactive such as:

- Structural Adjustment Program Participants not on income support
- Pre-Release Prisoners
- Participants with an Exemption from their Mutual Obligation Requirements
- Participants with an assessed Partial Capacity to Work or a temporary reduced work capacity of less than 15 hours per week
- Vulnerable Youth or Vulnerable Youth (Student)
- a person granted Newstart Allowance after 1 January 2018, or JobSeeker Payment, who would have otherwise been eligible for Widow Allowance prior to this date, and exempt from Mutual Obligation Requirements
- Special Benefit recipients who are not Nominated Visa Holders.

Voluntary Job Plans can only include voluntary Activities as these Participants do not have compulsory requirements and are not subject to compliance if they do not participate in these activities. Participants will not be at risk of incurring a penalty if they do not participate in voluntary items.

Participants in Time to Work Employment Service

If a Participant has participated in the Time to Work Employment Service the Provider needs to take into account any current Transition Plans identified in the Department's IT System.

Participants in ParentsNext

ParentsNext Volunteers can choose to volunteer into jobactive and they will already have a Participation Plan created by their ParentsNext Provider. A jobactive Provider must not create, update or otherwise edit a Job Plan for a ParentsNext Volunteer. If a Job Plan for a ParentsNext Volunteer needs changes, the Job Plan can only be updated by the ParentsNext Volunteer's ParentsNext Provider.

(Deed references: Clause 87.5, Annexure A1)

Participants in Career Transition Assistance (CTA)

Eligible Participants can volunteer to participate in CTA. Participation in CTA can only be included as a voluntary Activity in a Participant's Job Plan.

For Participants in the Work for the Dole phase, participation in CTA will fully meet their AAR. At the conclusion of CTA, the CTA Provider will arrange a Warm Handover Meeting with the Participant's jobactive Provider. As part of this meeting, Participants will be offered two future contacts with the CTA Provider, to occur within three months of the completion of CTA. The CTA Provider will be required to specify the details of these contacts. jobactive Providers should again use these details to book Third Party appointments for the Participant and issue formal notification of the appointment/s.

Approving a Job Plan

Provider staff are delegates of the Secretary of the Department of Education, Skills and Employment and have the power to:

- require a Participant with Mutual Obligation Requirements to enter into a Job Plan
- approve a Job Plan, and
- vary the terms of a Job Plan.

Documentary evidence: Once the terms of the Job Plan have been agreed to and the Job Plan is created in the Department's IT System, give the Job Plan to the Participant for their agreement. Job Plans can be agreed to online or by signing a hard copy.

(Deed references: Clause 87.4, 117.1, Annexure A1)

Participant agreeing to the Job Plan – online

Documentary evidence: Providers may send a Job Plan to the Job Seeker Dashboard through the jobactive website or Job Seeker App for the Participant to review and agree to online. Before using this option check that the Participant has access to the Job Plan on their Dashboard and they know how to agree to it.

Documentary evidence: Providers are required to formally notify the Participant (including those with voluntary requirements) that they must agree to their Job Plan and advise them of the consequences of failing to do so. The Provider should inform the Participant either face to face or over the phone that the Job Plan has been sent to their Job Seeker Dashboard for agreement. The Participant will have two Business Days to agree to their Job Plan. A verbal formal Notification script is available on the Department's IT System for the Provider to read to the Participant. The script includes a compliance warning that is required to be given to Participants (with Mutual Obligation Requirements) if they do not agree to the Job Plan within two Business Days.

When the Participant agrees to the Job Plan, the Job Plan status will automatically be set to 'approved' in the Department's IT System.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline and the Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline for further information on how to issue formal Notification.

Participant agreeing to the Job Plan – hard copy

The Participant and the Provider may sign a hard copy of the Job Plan. The Provider needs to give the Participant the signed copy and then approve the Job Plan in the Department's IT System.

When the Job Plan has been approved and entered in to the Department's IT System, the Participant will be able to access it from their Job Seeker Dashboard.

Participant not agreeing to the Job Plan

Participants who do not enter into a Job Plan without good reason after the two days 'think time' will have their payment suspended until a Job Plan is agreed to and signed by the Participant.

If the Participant refuses to enter into and sign a Job Plan (and does not wish to use their 'think time') contact the Participant and assess if the Participant has a Valid Reason for refusing.

For further information, see the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline.

(Deed references: Clause 114.1, 114.2, 114.5, 114.6, Annexure A1)

Recording a Job Plan

Documentary evidence: The Job Plan is to be recorded in the Department's IT System as soon as possible, after it has been created. The contents of the Job Plan recorded in the Department's IT System must be exactly the same as the hard copy.

If the Department's IT System is temporarily unavailable or there is no computer access, use the manual compulsory or voluntary Job Plan template available on the Provider Portal.

Using Job Plan codes

Providers are required to use the comprehensive list of Job Plan codes, at Attachment A, so that Job Plan data can be pre-populated and linked through the Department's IT System to the Dashboard on the Job Seeker App, the jobactive website and the Services Australia IT system.

The following codes are pre-populated in Job Plans. Most can be removed if not appropriate to the Participant.

AI09 – Attend DES Appointments

AI12 – Attend Provider Appointments

AI13 – Attend DES Ongoing Support Appointments

AI15 – Attend Third Party Appointments

JS09 – Job Search Contacts – Monthly

JS10 – Job Interviews

PA03 – Personal Responsibility

PA04 – Actioning Job Referrals and Job Opportunities

AS02 – Health and Allied Services Assistance

AS20 – Ongoing Support Assistance

NV14 – Health Maintenance Program

AI15 – Attend Third Party Appointments and PA04 – Actioning Job Referrals and Job Opportunities cannot be removed. If either of these codes are not appropriate for a Participant, do not schedule any Activities against them.

(Deed references: Clause 83A.3, 106A.1, 106A.2, 113.1)

Job Search Requirement

Job Search Requirements are determined by Providers based on what is appropriate for the Participant's circumstances. This may generally be set at a maximum of 20 efforts per month, but it may be reduced based on a Participant's capacity, the local labour market, and the Participant's individual circumstances. If applicable, Providers can use the JS05 or JS06 (Job Search with Disability) codes. These codes will trigger a higher rate of Mobility Allowance for eligible Participants.

The number and quality of Job Searches undertaken need to be monitored. Participants can report their Job Search activities on the Job Seeker App or jobactive website.

Participants should be given instructions on how to upload and record their Job Search efforts and related details, even if they indicate they will report their Job Search efforts directly to their Provider.

If the Participant reports efforts directly to their Provider by email or filling out a Job Search record and giving it directly, the Provider will need to record the number of efforts submitted to them by no later than close of business on that day.

Providers need to:

- review and confirm the quality of efforts submitted online or directly by no later than five Business Days after the end of each Job Search Period.
- ensure that the Participant is aware at all times of:
  - their current Job Search Requirement
  - when their Job Searches must be reported by
  - how to report their Job Search efforts using the jobactive website, or directly to the Provider.
- ensure that the number of Job Search efforts undertaken, and the number yet to be undertaken by the Participant in each Job Search Period, are visible on the Job Seeker App or jobactive website

Please refer to Job Aids at the Learning Centre for information on recording results for Job Search.

(Deed references: Clauses 113.1, 113.2, 113.3)

In addition to Job Search requirements Providers can include job referrals in a Participants Job Plan. These include:

Single referrals
Apply for a specific job
Accept a Job Interview
Contact an employer to arrange and accept a Job Interview
Update a resume appropriately
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity
Combination referrals
Update a resume appropriately AND provide personal details to support a job opportunity
Update a resume appropriately AND apply for a specific job
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity AND contact an employer to arrange and accept a Job Interview
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity AND accept a Job Interview

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3 & 87.5)

Participants who do not have Job Search Requirements

The following Participants are not required to undertake Job Search while they are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirement

- Principal Carer Parents undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these
- Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these

- Participants 55 years of age and over undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these
- Participants undertaking drug and alcohol rehabilitation in a residential program
- Pregnant Participants from three months before their due date.
- NEIS Participants and Prospective Participants while participating in NEIS Training
- NEIS Participants in receipt of Parenting Payment (Single) or the Disability Support Pension who remain on their current payment while participating in NEIS Assistance and actively working on their small business
- Early School Leavers who are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through full-time education or a combination of part-time study and part-time work of 25 hours per week (15 hours for those with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements)
- refugee Participants when undertaking activities to help adjust to life in Australia and increasing their chances of finding work.

Linking Job Plan Codes to Activity Placements and the Calendar

Activity placements can be linked to Job Plan codes in Activity Management in the Department's IT System. It is best practice that Providers link Activity placements to the appropriate code in the Job Plan. Job Plan codes need to be linked to the daily requirements scheduled in the Calendar, this will enable the details to be auto-populated into any formal Notification created from the Calendar. Providers will also be able to record attendance results in the Calendar.

(Deed references: Clause 83A.1, 83.A.2)

Personal Responsibility to record attendance code PA03

If a Provider determines that a Participant is capable of taking personal responsibility for recording their own attendance at Activities, the Participant will be required to record their attendance at:

- Activities
- Third Party Appointments, and
- Job Interviews.

The Personal Responsibility Code PA03 is included in every Participant's Job Plan by default. Providers are required to inform Participants if they are assessed as being capable of and that they are required to record their own attendance at Activities. If the Provider assesses the Participant as not capable of recording their own attendance, the Provider will need to remove the PA03 code from the Participant's Job Plan. Ensure that capable Participants understand the requirement to record their attendance by close of business on the day of the requirement and that their payment will be suspended if they do not do so. The Participant will be notified to contact their Provider if their payment is suspended. Providers will need to assess whether the Participant had a valid reason for not reporting and enter the result on behalf of the Participant and consider whether the Participant is still capable of recording and reporting their own attendance.

(Deed references: Clause 87.5, 106.1, 106A.1, 106A.2)

Providing evidence of attendance for an Activity

For some Activities, the Participant will need to provide evidence when they are recording their own attendance.

Evidence for attendance will be a QR code or passcode (code) generated by the Department's IT System. The Participant will scan the code through their device while at the Activity to record their attendance via the Job Seeker App or by recording a passcode via the jobactive website.

If the duration of the Activity is four hours or more, two codes will be generated: one for the Participant's arrival at the Activity and one for the end of Activity. The code for the end of Activity should not be made available to the Participant until close to the finish time.

When creating an Activity that requires evidence of attendance, the Provider must ensure that they record the contact details of the relevant person/s who will provide the code to Participants, such as an Activity Supervisor. The person providing the code to Participants needs to be given the code before the Activity session commences. Providers should also ensure that the person providing the code for an afternoon session knows not to make the code available to the Participant until the afternoon session commences.

However, there will be instances where there isn't a supervisor or contact for activities, such as education and training. This is because it would be unreasonable, or not expected due to the relationship and past experience, for evidenced-based recording or to report non-attendance directly to the Provider. In these situations, Participants will record attendance directly on the day. By recording their own attendance, Participants will be acknowledging via a statement on the App or website that they have attended and the information they are providing is true and correct. No further evidence is required, therefore satisfying documentary evidence requirements. Providers will still be able to record non-attendance if they become aware that Participants have failed to attend or left early at education/training activities.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.5)

Assessing a Participant's capability to record attendance

To assess the Participant's capability to record their own attendance, Providers need to consider if the Participant has:

- daily, reliable access to technology that would allow them to record their attendance, such as a computer or smartphone, or the means to contact their Provider to report their attendance; and
- the ability, literacy and English skills required to record or report their own attendance, understanding:
  - what requirements they need to record attendance for
  - how to record their own attendance

- that they must record or report attendance by close of business on the day of the requirement
- what to do and who to contact if they cannot record their own attendance on a given day
- the consequences of not recording or reporting their own attendance if they are required to do so.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Participant is capable of recording their own attendance

If the Participant has both the means and the ability to record and report their own attendance keep the personal responsibility code (PA03) in the Job Plan.

Monitor the Participant's capability to record their own attendance to ensure that the Participant is reporting their attendance accurately. If a Provider knows that a Participant has not accurately recorded their attendance, they can override the result entered by the Participant.

If the Participant contacts the Provider and asks them to record attendance on their behalf, the Provider will assess whether the Participant did attend and, if so, record the Participant's attendance.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Participant is not capable of recording their attendance

If the Participant is not capable of recording their own attendance, the Provider will need to remove the PA03 code when finalising the Participant's Job Plan.

Providers are encouraged to keep working with Participants to build capacity for reporting their attendance at requirements.

If a Participant can't record their attendance because they live in an area with unreliable connectivity or other similar reasons, the Provider needs to tell the Participant to report their attendance by contacting their Provider, who will record attendance on the Participant's behalf.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2, 87.5)

3. Reviewing, Updating and Monitoring a Job Plan

Providers are required to review, update and monitor a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law.

Providers need to review the Job Plan and update it when the Participant:

- has a change in their circumstances
- enters into a new phase of their Stream
- enters in to a new Stream
- commences a new Activity
- completes an Activity that was in their Job Plan and/or
- has a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment

For Services Australia managed Participants, Services Australia will update the Job Plan when required. If the Participant is managed by a Provider, Services Australia will consult with the relevant Provider before updating the Job Plan or may request that the Provider updates the Job Plan at the Participant's next Appointment. Providers should not remove any updates made to a Job Plan by Services Australia without consultation.

If a Participation Plan for ParentsNext Volunteers requires review or an update, then Providers must contact the participant's ParentsNext Provider and request they make the update to the Participation Plan.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.4, 87.5, 87.7, 113.1, 113.2, 114.1, Annexure A1)

Updating the Job Plan

It is best practice to review the Job Plan at each Provider Appointment to ensure that the Participant is still capable of meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements. If the outcome of a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment is that the Job Plan requires updating, Providers are required to review and update the contents of the Job Plan within 10 business days. Ensure that the contents of the Job Plan is updated including details of any additional voluntary activities or if the Participant is subject to an Exemption.

In consultation with the Participant, the Job Plan can be updated and tailored to individual needs at any time—unless there is compliance outstanding. If compliance action is outstanding, the Department's IT System will not permit the Job Plan to be updated and the Provider will be redirected to the 'Compliance Screen' in the Department's IT System.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline for information on using the Targeted Compliance Framework.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.1, 87.2, 87.3, 87.5)

Updating Job Plan to include Voluntary activities

If a Participant is granted an exemption or is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, they may wish to participate voluntarily and they can discuss this with the Provider. Voluntary activities should be included in the Job Plan and scheduled in the Calendar, and the Participant should be notified of where and when to attend each Activity.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.54)

Updating Job Plan following Participant advising change in circumstances

The Job Plan needs to be reviewed as soon as practicable after the Provider becomes aware or is informed of a change in the Participant's circumstances.

Newly disclosed or discovered information may be found on, and should be immediately recorded in, the Capability Management Tool (CMT) in the Department's IT System.

If the Job Plan is to be renegotiated in light of the new information, the Provider will refer to the CMT to ensure that the Job Plan requirements are appropriate for the Participant's capability, and that the Participant will receive enough assistance and support to address the circumstances recorded in the CMT.

See the Capability Interview Guideline and Capability Assessment Guideline for information on using the Capability Management Tool.

(Deed references: Clauses 84.2, 87.5)

Updating the Job Plan to include (previously removed) requirement to record own attendance

If the Provider is renegotiating a Job Plan and assesses that the Participant is now capable to record their own attendance (where the requirement was previously removed from the Job Plan), the Provider needs to re-enter Job Plan code PA03 in to the Participant's Job Plan. Ensure that the Participant understands that they are now recording their own attendance at requirements as well as the importance of entering results via the App or jobactive website by close of business on the day of the requirement as their payment will be automatically suspended the next day if no result has been entered.

(Deed references: Clauses 106.1, 106A.1, 106A.2)

Updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment

See the Capability Interview Guideline and the Capability Assessment Guideline for information on updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview or a Capability Assessment.

4. Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements in the Calendar

The Provider is required to record details of, and schedule each requirement in the Calendar, including:

- Provider Appointments
- Activities
- Job Interviews
- Education and Training
- Drug and alcohol rehabilitation
- Third Party Appointments
- Workshops, training and other activities delivered by the Provider and
- Employment, if the hours are regular and can reasonably be scheduled by the Provider or Participant.

To schedule a requirement in the Calendar, the Job Plan code that corresponds to that requirement must have been included in the Participant's current, signed Job Plan.

For example: if the Participant's Job Plan does not include the code for Compulsory participation in Work for the Dole (Code WE12), the Department's IT System will not allow a Provider to schedule Compulsory Work for the Dole in the Participant's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.1, 83A.2)

Scheduling Requirements

The Provider must ensure that each day of each Participant requirement is scheduled in the Calendar. Each day of each requirement scheduled in the Calendar must be populated with:

- the name or description of the requirement
- the start time
- break times, where relevant
- the end time
- the location of the requirement, including any special instructions to locate a venue (e.g. located on battle-axe block) and
- the name of any third party provider or training organisation

When the Provider schedules the requirement in the Calendar and formally notifies the Participant, the requirement will then appear in the Participant's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A, 83A.1, 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling a Provider Appointment

Providers need to ensure that the Provider's Electronic Calendar has the capacity to receive an Appointment within the next two business days. When booking a Provider Appointment for a Participant, Providers need to select the correct appointment type, schedule the appointment in the Calendar and formally notify the Participant. If a Participant has an Appointment with their Provider, the Provider must deliver a Contact on the date and time of the Appointment as recorded in the Participant's Calendar.

There are four types of appointments; Initial; Contact; Re-engagement and Capability Interview appointment

Please refer to the Job Aids at the Learning Centre at <https://learningcentre.employment.gov.au/> for information on recording results at Provider Appointments.

(Deed references: Clauses 83.1, 83.3)

Scheduling Activities and Third Party Appointments

Detailed information on scheduling Activities and Appointments is available in the Job Seeker Calendar and AAR Requirements IT Supporting Document.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2)

Scheduling Job Interviews

All Job Interviews need to be scheduled in the Calendar and the Participant must be formally notified of the requirement to attend. Participants taking personal responsibility to record their own attendance must do so for Job Interviews.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling drug or alcohol rehabilitation

If the Provider identifies or becomes aware that the Participant's ongoing capability to meet their requirements or search for work is compromised by drug or alcohol dependency, the Provider needs to discuss this with the Participant to identify rehabilitation options that would assist the Participant to overcome their dependence.

If the Participant chooses to undertake drug and alcohol rehabilitation or is already when they enter employment services or transfer Providers, schedule it in the Calendar and formally notify the Participant. Undertaking drug and alcohol rehabilitation counts towards the Participant's AAR.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling Study or Training

Providers are responsible for identifying any appropriate study and training opportunities that will assist the Participant to gain skills or qualifications that will assist them to find work. Where practical, the Provider must ensure all study and training is scheduled in the Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling hours of employment where reasonable to do so

If the Participant is employed for regular hours, the Provider should schedule the hours of employment in the Calendar when they can reasonably do so.

The Provider should encourage the Participant to take personal responsibility by scheduling their own hours of employment, and they should either provide assistance to the Participant to do so or tell them where they can find assistance to help them with this. If the Participant does not schedule their own regular hours of employment by creating Personal Events, the Provider must do so.

The Provider will create a Personal Event in the Participant's Calendar for each day of employment the Participant is undertaking. The Participant does not need to be formally notified of scheduled Personal Events, including paid work, and the TCF cannot be used to report non-compliance for failing to attend work.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Participant may create Personal Events

Participants may create their own Personal Events in their Calendar between 6am and 9pm. Participants may only create Personal Events where a Mutual Obligation Requirement is not already scheduled at that time.

The Provider is able to create Personal Events on behalf of the Participant to assist the Participant in having full visibility of their schedule and their requirements. Providers must create Personal Events on behalf of the Participant to schedule regular hours of paid work if the Participant does not do so. Providers must advise the Participant that even though they have created a Personal Event, Mutual Obligation Requirements may still be scheduled.

Confirmed Participant Personal Events

Providers are responsible for confirming Participant Personal Events and are encouraged to review and consider Personal Events created by the Participant. Providers should use their judgement and knowledge of the individual Participant to decide whether the Participant's Personal Event is appropriate prior to confirming it. When deciding to confirm a Personal Event, the Provider should also consider the nature of the Personal Event and the Participant's personal situation. A Personal Event is considered to be Prior Notice of a Participant being unable to attend a requirement at that time. By confirming the event, the system will not allow a conflicting requirement to then be set.

If the Provider confirms a Personal Event that should not have been confirmed, they cannot 'un-confirm' the event. The Provider must cancel the Personal Event, after discussing the reasons why the Personal Event was cancelled in the Calendar, which will notify the Participant via an inbox message.

Unconfirmed Participant Personal Events

If a Provider considers that a Personal Event entered by a Participant is not appropriate, the Provider can choose to leave it unconfirmed. If a Personal Event is not confirmed, the Provider can override the unconfirmed Personal Event and schedule a requirement at that time. The Provider must record the reason in the Department's IT system and must formally notify the Participant of the requirement and ensuring they can make other arrangements for the Personal Event that they had created.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling a requirement over a confirmed Participant Personal Event

If the Provider needs to schedule a requirement for the same time as a Participant's confirmed Personal Event, the Provider will need to discuss this with the Participant. After confirming with the Participant that they are available to attend the requirement at the scheduled time, the Provider is required to record the reason in the Department's IT System and formally notify the Participant of their requirement. Providers need to manage the conflicting requirement in the Calendar and record the reason you are scheduling the requirement at this day/time in the Department's IT System.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

5. Issuing Formal Notification to the Participant

Except for any paid work the Participant is undertaking, the Provider is required to formally notify the Participant of every compulsory requirement in their Job Plan. The Provider must explain how to meet each requirement, as well as the consequences of not doing so, including possible financial penalties.

When the Provider schedules requirements in the Calendar, the Department's IT System will automatically create and record the selected Notification type to be issued. If a Participant's requirements are re-scheduled Providers must formally notify the Participant of the new requirement.

Formal Notification always includes:

- the reason for the appointment, if the requirement is an appointment
- whether the requirement is for the purpose of Re-engagement
- the date and start time of the requirement
- the location or address of the requirement
- if the Participant is required to record their own attendance, and if so, the consequences of not doing so
- whether the Participant will require evidence to record their own attendance
- whether the requirement is compulsory or voluntary
- that the Participant must contact their Provider beforehand if they become aware of an Acceptable Reason preventing them from being able to attend or complete the requirement
- the possible consequences for the Participant if they do not meet their requirement
- a statement that the Notification is a notice under Social Security Law
- that the Participant must complete their requirement in return for their Income Support Payment.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.3)

Legal authority to formally notify a Participant of their Mutual Obligation Requirements

Employment services provider employees are delegated powers by the Secretary of the Department of Education, Skills and Employment under Social Security Law to notify Participants of their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

(Social Security (Administration) Act 1999 (ss: 63); Social Security Act 1991 (ss 501,544,605,731L) Deed Clause 117).

Note: The requirement to formally notify a Participant receiving Income Support Payments also applies to Disability Support Recipients (Compulsory Requirements) and Stronger Participation Incentive Participants.

Notifying Participants within the appropriate timeframe

Providers must issue Participants Formal Notification within the appropriate timeframe before the requirement is scheduled to occur.

If reasonable notice timeframes are not met, the Calendar will not allow a requirement to be booked unless the Provider is in direct contact with the Participant and they have agreed to attend this requirement and the Provider records this.

Refer to the Learning Centre for more supporting materials relating to reasonable notice timeframes and Notification methods at

<https://learningcentre.employment.gov.au/>.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.3)

6. Privacy and information sharing

Providers must comply with Social Security Law and Australian privacy legislation. A Participant's Personal Information must only be used or disclosed for the purpose it was collected, except in limited circumstances such as where the Participant gives permission, where Commonwealth laws allow or other special circumstances.

Providers should seek independent legal advice if they have any concerns regarding their obligations under any privacy or other legislation. For further information, refer to the Privacy Guideline.

(Deed references: Clauses 53, 87, 106)

Sharing Job Plans with SEE or AMEP Providers

Providers should encourage Participants who are participating in the SEE program or AMEP to share their Job Plans with their SEE or AMEP Provider in order to make them aware of their full Mutual Obligation Requirements. This will assist SEE and AMEP Providers in ensuring that they place Participants in courses that will fully meet their AAR.

7. Summary of required Documentary Evidence

- Once the terms of the Job Plan have been agreed to and the Job Plan has been created in the Department's IT System, the Job Plan must be provided to the Participant for their agreement. Job Plans can be agreed to online or by signing a hard copy.
- Providers may send a Job Plan to the Job Seeker Dashboard through the jobactive website or Job Seeker App for the Participant to review and agree to online.
- Providers must formally notify the Participant (including those with voluntary requirements) that the Job Plan has been sent to their Job Seeker Dashboard for their agreement. This must be done either face to face or over the phone and within two Business Days of sending the Job Plan.
- The Job Plan must be recorded in the Department's IT System as soon as possible, after the Job Plan has been created. The contents of the Job Plan recorded in the Department's IT System must be exactly the same as the hard copy.
- If the Department's IT System is temporarily unavailable or there is no computer access, Providers must use the manual compulsory or voluntary Job Plan template available on the Provider Portal.

Guideline:

Job Plan and Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline

A Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements and any other items agreed to with their Employment Services Provider (Provider) are outlined in their Job Plan. It is necessary for Providers to ensure that each Participant, including Participants without compulsory Mutual Obligation Requirements, have a Job Plan in place at all times and that the requirements in the Job Plan are tailored to the Participant's individual circumstances and are appropriate to the level of their capability.

1. What is a Job Plan?

For the purposes of Social Security Law, a 'Job Plan' is an 'Employment Pathway Plan' for job seekers receiving income support and a 'Participation Plan' for Disability Support Pension recipients, less than 35 years of age, with compulsory requirements.

Providers are required to work with Participants to keep Job Plans up to date and appropriate to Participants' individual needs.

Job Plan contents are discussed and agreed to based on each Participant's individual circumstances and the support they need to move from welfare to work. Usually a Job Plan includes Provider Appointments, Job Search, education and skills training and other Activities to improve the Participant's employability.

To support Participants to successfully meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements and receive the most from the services offered, Job Plans should be:

Meaningful—Every time the Job Plan is negotiated and updated. Providers need to take the time to discuss the requirements with the Participant. It is important that Participants understand any changes that have been made, the benefits of participation, and know and understand why they are required to participate in these activities.

Tailored and appropriate—Consideration needs to be given to the individual circumstances of the Participant. This includes their program or Stream, level of requirements, physical capacity, the location of any activities or other personal circumstances like caring and family responsibilities.

Clear and understood—Participants should know exactly what is required of them on each day; there should be no doubt or confusion of what is expected. This includes the potential consequences of not meeting any of their requirements. Participants having a clear understanding of their requirements means that:

- they understand the benefits of participation
- they understand their requirements support successful participation
- they feel empowered to make the right decision to meet their requirements the compliance framework can be utilised effectively and appropriately

The Department monitors the appropriateness and tailoring of Job Plans in line with key performance measures in the Performance Framework Guideline.

2. Creating and Approving a Participant's Job Plan

Providers and Services Australia have been delegated certain powers under Social Security Law including the power to require a Participant to enter into a Job Plan and to approve or update a Participant's Job Plan.

Creating a Job Plan at the Initial Interview

A Job Plan is created at the Initial Interview with a Participant. Once the Participant attends the Initial Interview and the Job Plan is approved the Participant is automatically commenced in Services.

During the Initial Interview, a Provider negotiates a Job Plan with new Participants or Participants transferred from other Providers. Providers need to ensure that each requirement is tailored to meet the circumstances of the individual Participant and supports them in achieving their employment goals.

The Provider's role is to support the Participant and:

- ensure that each Job Plan contains all of the compulsory and voluntary Activities the Participant needs to undertake in order to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements
- include the details of all Activities tailored to address the Participant's individual needs, reduced work capacity and barriers to employment
- ensure that the Activities do not place unreasonable demands on the Participant
- Note: Although Providers must create a Job Plan, Participants are not required to agree to the Job Plan at the Initial Interview and may have 2 Business Days 'think time'. For more information refer to the section, Participants requiring 'think time' to consider the terms of their Job Plan.

(Deed references: Clause 84.1, 85.1, 87.1, 87.2, 87.3, 87.4, 87.5, 117.1, Annexure A1)

Activities in the Job Plan must not place unreasonable demands on the Participant. The Participant must be capable of doing any Activity and meeting all requirements included in their Job Plan.

Providers are required to record the Activities and relevant details in the Participant's Job Plan, including: the names of education and training organisations and the type of training being undertaken; the names of employers and the type of work being undertaken; hours of participation the Participant needs to complete each fortnight and the hours of participation required for each Activity. If drug or alcohol dependency impacts on the Participant's ability to meet their requirements, providers should consider what non-vocational assistance may be appropriate to include in the Job Plan, where the Participant refuses treatment, or where there is a lack of treatment available in the local area, the Provider needs to record this in the Capability Management Tool, in the Department's IT Systems.

Providers are required to include approved Activities in the Participant's Job Plan that will enable the Participant to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements. In the Work for the Dole Phase, the Job Plan must include appropriate hours of participation in approved Activities each fortnight during that phase.

At all times during a Participant's period of servicing the number of Job Searches a Participant is required to undertake each month must be specified in the Participant's Job Plan. The number of Job Searches required cannot exceed 20 per month.

Approved Activities include study and training. Please refer to the Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligation Guideline for more information.

Including sufficient fortnightly hours in the Job Plan

Ensure that each Job Plan contains sufficient hours of Activities per fortnight for the Participant to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

The Department's IT Systems will automatically calculate the fortnightly hours under each code that is included in the Job Plan. Depending on the hours scheduled for the Participant to meet their Mutual Obligation Requirements, the Department's IT Systems will display messages to guide Providers to ensure the number of hours are appropriate.

The Provider is unable to set more than reasonable hours of activities per fortnight in the Job Plan in any event, and the Department's IT Systems will restrict the Provider from doing so by displaying an error message.

System step: If a Participant is Employment Skills Training (EST) mandatory, ESS Web prevents the finalisation of their Job Plan when making a referral to other activities. When referring an EST mandatory Participant to another activity, the EST opt-out reason of 'referred to other activity' must be applied before updating the Job Plan with the other activity.

See the 'Setting Daily Requirements' in this document for information on scheduling Daily Requirements (including activities, study or training and paid work).

Explaining a Job Plan to the Participant

Providers need to ensure that Participants understand their Mutual Obligation Requirements such as: attending Appointments; undertaking compulsory and voluntary Activities; fulfilling their Annual Activity Requirement (AAR); and undertaking and completing Job Searches.

At the Participant's Initial Interview Providers need to explain:

- the purpose of the Job Plan
- the Mutual Obligation Requirements the Participant needs to undertake in return for income support payments, including the requirement to record their own attendance (where relevant)
- the Participant's rights and responsibilities under the Job Plan (including 'think time' to consider the Job Plan before agreeing to it)
- what the Participant needs to do if they have a change in circumstances that affects their ability to meet the requirements in their Job Plan
- how to contact the Provider to give prior notice if unable to meet requirements and the consequences of not giving prior notice if the Participant is able to do so
- the consequences of failing to meet the requirements without a Reasonable Excuse, and any impact this may have on the Participant's income support payment

- the consequences of failing to give prior notice (with a Valid Reason) if they cannot attend compulsory Appointments or participate in compulsory Activities
- the Participant's right to appeal decisions and where they can find assistance to do this
- how the Provider intends to support the Participant
- the Provider's Service Guarantee and Service Delivery Plan
- the section entitled 'Information You Need to Know' in the Job Plan
- how information is protected under privacy legislation and Social Security law; and
- that all relevant contact details will need to be accurately recorded and updated in the Department's IT Systems including phone numbers, email address and postal address.

(Deed references: Clause 87.2, 87.5, 106.1, Annexure A1)

Interpreters, Support Persons and Nominees

When a Participant requests, or if the Provider considers it appropriate, the Participant can bring a support person with them to an Appointment to review their Job Plan. Similarly, when a Participant requests or if the Provider considers it appropriate, Providers are required to use an interpreter to ensure that the Participant understands their requirements before they agree to the Job Plan.

You may also need to work with Humanitarian Settlement Program Case Managers, who may accompany some humanitarian entrant (refugee) Participants to interviews. A Humanitarian Settlement Program Case Manager can provide advice on appropriate employment strategies and activities that can help the provider to develop a suitable Job Plan. (Note that a Case Manager is not an interpreter).

Additionally, Participants in residential programs for drug and alcohol rehabilitation will not always inform their Provider of their change of circumstances. When in a residential program Participants should have an authorised correspondence nominee. The nominee will receive all of the correspondence and notifications sent from the Provider to the Participant. The nominee can advise the Provider that the Participant is in a residential program and may not have access to a phone or computer.

Staff of residential programs are able to act as nominees for Participants.

Please record details of any conversations with a nominee in the comments screen in the Department's IT Systems.

Participants requiring 'think time' to consider the terms of their Job Plan

Before signing or agreeing to the terms of a Job Plan, all Participants can have up to two Business Days 'think time' to consider the requirements set in their Job Plan. The Participant can use this time to discuss the terms of their Job Plan with a third party if they wish. The 'think time' is available to a Participant each time their Job Plan is created or updated.

If a Participant is offered and accepts 'think time', Providers need to arrange and book a Provider Appointment for the Participant to occur in two Business Days so that the Participant can agree to and sign the Job Plan.

Participants with a Compulsory Job Plan

For Participants with Mutual Obligation Requirements, including Disability Support Pension recipients under 35 years of age and Special Benefit recipients (who are not Nominated Visa Holders), there needs to be at least one compulsory requirement in the Job Plan and a record of the details in the Participant's Calendar.

Participants who are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, but have chosen to access jobactive on a voluntary basis are Fully Eligible Participants (Voluntary). These Participants still need to have a compulsory Job Plan, which includes the Activities they are undertaking to fully meet their requirements. Any additional Activities they agree to undertake need to be included in their Job Plan as a voluntary requirement.

(Deed references: Clause 70.1, 87.2, 87.5)

Participants with a Suspension

Participants with Mutual Obligation Requirements who are Suspended from their Provider's caseload can choose to volunteer to participate in Activities. Providers must agree to the voluntary Activities the Participant will participate in and update the Participant's Job Plan to include the voluntary Activities. If the Provider becomes aware that a Participant is no longer suspended or not participating in voluntary Activities listed in the Job Plan, the Provider must update the Job Plan as appropriate.

A suspension from a Provider's caseload can occur when:

- a Participant is granted an Activity Test exemption by Services Australia
- a PCP or PCW (15-29 hours) Participant is fully meeting their requirements through part time work or other approved activities
- the Provider applies a 'Provisional Exit' from servicing on the expectation that the Participant's employment will lead to a full outcome; or
- the Participant has a partial or temporary reduced work capacity of less than 15 hours per week.

(Deed references: Clause 70.1, 87.2, 87.5)

Participants with a Voluntary Job Plan

Participants who are participating in jobactive without Mutual Obligation Requirements must have a Voluntary Job Plan. These Participants can be Volunteers receiving six months of service in Stream A or be Fully Eligible Participants who do not have Mutual Obligation Requirements and are participating voluntarily in jobactive such as:

- Structural Adjustment Program Participants not on income support
- Pre-Release Prisoners
- Participants with an Exemption from their Mutual Obligation Requirements

- Participants with an assessed Partial Capacity to Work or a temporary reduced work capacity of less than 15 hours per week
- Vulnerable Youth or Vulnerable Youth (Student)
- a person granted Newstart Allowance after 1 January 2018, or JobSeeker Payment, who would have otherwise been eligible for Widow Allowance prior to this date, and exempt from Mutual Obligation Requirements
- Special Benefit recipients who are not Nominated Visa Holders.

Voluntary Job Plans can only include voluntary Activities as these Participants do not have compulsory requirements and are not subject to compliance if they do not participate in these activities. Participants will not be at risk of incurring a penalty if they do not participate in voluntary items.

Participants in Time to Work Employment Service

If a Participant has participated in the Time to Work Employment Service the Provider needs to take into account any current Transition Plans identified in the Department's IT Systems.

Participants in ParentsNext

ParentsNext Volunteers can choose to volunteer into jobactive and they will already have a Participation Plan created by their ParentsNext Provider. A jobactive Provider must not create, update or otherwise edit a Job Plan for a ParentsNext Volunteer. If a Job Plan for a ParentsNext Volunteer needs changes, the Job Plan can only be updated by the ParentsNext Volunteer's ParentsNext Provider.

(Deed references: Clause 87.5, Annexure A1)

Participants in Career Transition Assistance (CTA)

Eligible Participants can volunteer to participate in CTA. Participation in CTA can only be included as a voluntary Activity in a Participant's Job Plan.

For Participants in the Work for the Dole phase, participation in CTA will fully meet their AAR. At the conclusion of CTA, the CTA Provider will arrange a Warm Handover Meeting with the Participant's jobactive Provider. As part of this meeting, Participants will be offered two future contacts with the CTA Provider, to occur within three months of the completion of CTA. The CTA Provider will be required to specify the details of these contacts. jobactive Providers should again use these details to book Third Party appointments for the Participant and issue formal notification of the appointment/s.

Approving a Job Plan

Provider staff are delegates of the Secretary of the Department of Education, Skills and Employment and have the power to:

- require a Participant with Mutual Obligation Requirements to enter into a Job Plan
- approve a Job Plan, and
- vary the terms of a Job Plan.

Documentary Evidence: Once the terms of the Job Plan have been agreed to and the Job Plan is created in the Department's IT Systems, give the Job Plan to the Participant for their agreement. Job Plans can be agreed to online or by signing a hard copy.

(Deed references: Clause 87.4, 117.1, Annexure A1)

Participant agreeing to the Job Plan – online

Documentary Evidence: Providers may send a Job Plan to the Job Seeker Dashboard through the jobactive website or Job Seeker App for the Participant to review and agree to online. Before using this option check that the Participant has access to the Job Plan on their Dashboard and they know how to agree to it.

Documentary Evidence: Providers are required to formally notify the Participant (including those with voluntary requirements) that they must agree to their Job Plan and advise them of the consequences of failing to do so. The Provider should inform the Participant either face to face or over the phone that the Job Plan has been sent to their Job Seeker Dashboard for agreement. The Participant will have two Business Days to agree to their Job Plan. A verbal formal Notification script is available on the Department's IT Systems for the Provider to read to the Participant. The script includes a compliance warning that is required to be given to Participants (with Mutual Obligation Requirements) if they do not agree to the Job Plan within two Business Days.

When the Participant agrees to the Job Plan, the Job Plan status will automatically be set to 'approved' in the Department's IT Systems.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline and the Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline for further information on how to issue formal Notification.

Participant agreeing to the Job Plan – hard copy

The Participant and the Provider may sign a hard copy of the Job Plan. The Provider needs to give the Participant the signed copy and then approve the Job Plan in the Department's IT Systems.

When the Job Plan has been approved and entered in to the Department's IT Systems, the Participant will be able to access it from their Job Seeker Dashboard.

Participant not agreeing to the Job Plan

Participants who do not enter into a Job Plan without good reason after the two days 'think time' will have their payment suspended until a Job Plan is agreed to and signed by the Participant.

If the Participant refuses to enter into and sign a Job Plan (and does not wish to use their 'think time') contact the Participant and assess if the Participant has a Valid Reason for refusing.

For further information, see the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline.

(Deed references: Clause 114.1, 114.2, 114.5, 114.6, Annexure A1)

Recording a Job Plan

Documentary Evidence: The Job Plan is to be recorded in the Department's IT Systems as soon as possible, after it has been created. The contents of the Job Plan recorded in the Department's IT Systems must be exactly the same as the hard copy. If the Department's IT Systems are temporarily unavailable or there is no computer access, use the manual compulsory or voluntary Job Plan template available on the Provider Portal.

Using Job Plan codes

Providers are required to use the comprehensive list of Job Plan codes, at Attachment A, so that Job Plan data can be pre-populated and linked through the Department's IT Systems to the Dashboard on the Job Seeker App, the jobactive website and the Services Australia IT system.

The following codes are pre-populated in Job Plans. Most can be removed if not appropriate to the Participant.

AI09 – Attend DES Appointments

AI12 – Attend Provider Appointments

AI13 – Attend DES Ongoing Support Appointments

AI15 – Attend Third Party Appointments

JS09 – Job Search Contacts – Monthly

JS10 – Job Interviews

PA03 – Personal Responsibility to Report and Record Attendance

PA04 – Actioning Job Referrals and Job Opportunities

AS02 – Health and Allied Services Assistance

AS20 – Ongoing Support Assistance

NV14 – Health Maintenance Program

AI15 – Attend Third Party Appointments and PA04 – Actioning Job Referrals and Job Opportunities cannot be removed. If either of these codes are not appropriate for a Participant, do not schedule any Activities against them.

Note: If the Participant is referred from Digital Services to a Provider, the Provider must remove any Digital Only Job Plan codes when negotiating the new Job Plan with the Participant. Please refer to the List of Job Plan Codes at Attachment A.

(Deed references: Clause 83A.3, 106A.1, 106A.2, 113.1)

Job Search Requirement

Job Search Requirements are determined by Providers based on what is appropriate for the Participant's circumstances. This may generally be set at a maximum of 20 efforts per month, but it may be reduced based on a Participant's capacity, the local labour market, and the Participant's individual circumstances. If applicable, Providers can use the JS05 or JS06 (Job Search with Disability) codes. These codes will trigger a higher rate of Mobility Allowance for eligible Participants.

The number and quality of Job Searches undertaken need to be monitored.

Providers need to review and confirm the quality of efforts submitted online or directly by no later than 5 Business Days after the end of each Job Search Period.

Providers should review the quality of job search efforts in line with the requirements detailed in the Managing and Monitoring Mutual Obligation Requirements Guideline.

Participants can report their Job Search activities on the Job Seeker App or jobactive website.

Participants should be given instructions on how to upload and record their Job Search efforts and related details, even if they indicate they will report their Job Search efforts directly to their Provider.

If the Participant reports efforts directly to their Provider by email or filling out a Job Search record and giving it directly, the Provider will need to record the number of efforts submitted to them by no later than close of business on that day.

Providers need to:

- ensure that the Participant is aware at all times of:
  - their current Job Search Requirement
  - when their Job Searches must be reported by
  - how to report their Job Search efforts using the jobactive website, or directly to the Provider.
  - ensure that the number of Job Search efforts undertaken, and the number yet to be undertaken by the Participant in each Job Search Period, are visible on the Job Seeker App or jobactive website

Please refer to Job Aids at the Learning Centre for information on recording results for Job Search.

(Deed references: Clauses 113.1, 113.2, 113.3)

In addition to Job Search requirements Providers can include job referrals in a Participants Job Plan. These include:

Single referrals
Apply for a specific job
Accept a Job Interview
Contact an employer to arrange and accept a Job Interview
Update a resume appropriately
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity
Combination referrals

Single referrals
Update a resume appropriately AND provide personal details to support a job opportunity
Update a resume appropriately AND apply for a specific job
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity AND contact an employer to arrange and accept a Job Interview
Provide personal details to support a job opportunity AND accept a Job Interview

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3 & 87.5)

Participants who do not have Job Search Requirements

The following Participants are not required to undertake Job Search while they are fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirement:

- Principal Carer Parents undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these
- Participants with a Partial Capacity to Work of 15 to 29 hours per week undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these
- Participants 55 years of age and over undertaking 30 hours of paid work, approved study or voluntary work or a combination of these
- Participants who combine declared paid work (including self-employment) and approved study/training for at least 70 hours per fortnight are not required to look for additional work or participate in other activities.
- Participants undertaking drug and alcohol rehabilitation in a residential program
- Pregnant Participants from three months before their due date.
- NEIS Participants and Prospective Participants while participating in NEIS Training
- NEIS Participants in receipt of Parenting Payment (Single) or the Disability Support Pension who remain on their current payment while participating in NEIS Assistance and actively working on their small business
- Early School Leavers who are meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements through full-time education or a combination of part-time study and part-time work of 25 hours per week (15 hours for those with part-time Mutual Obligation Requirements)
- refugee Participants when undertaking activities to help adjust to life in Australia and increasing their chances of finding work.

Linking Job Plan Codes to Activity Placements and the Calendar

Activity placements can be linked to Job Plan codes in Activity Management in the Department's IT Systems. It is best practice that Providers link Activity placements to the appropriate code in the Job Plan. Job Plan codes need to be linked to the daily requirements scheduled in the Calendar, this will enable the details to be auto-populated into any formal Notification created from the Calendar. Providers will also be able to record attendance results in the Calendar.

(Deed references: Clause 83A.1, 83.A.2)

Personal Responsibility to record attendance code PA03

If a Provider determines that a Participant is capable of taking personal responsibility for recording their own attendance at Activities, the Participant will be required to record their attendance at:

- Activities
- Third Party Appointments, and
- Job Interviews.

The Personal Responsibility Code PA03 is included in every Participant's Job Plan by default. Providers are required to inform Participants if they are assessed as being capable of and that they are required to record their own attendance at Activities. If the Provider assesses the Participant as not capable of recording their own attendance, the Provider will need to remove the PA03 code from the Participant's Job Plan. Ensure that capable Participants understand the requirement to record their attendance by close of business on the day of the requirement and that their payment will be suspended if they do not do so. The Participant will be notified to contact their Provider if their payment is suspended. Providers will need to assess whether the Participant had a valid reason for not reporting and enter the result on behalf of the Participant and consider whether the Participant is still capable of recording and reporting their own attendance.

(Deed references: Clause 87.5, 106.1, 106A.1, 106A.2)

Providing evidence of attendance for an Activity

For some Activities, the Participant will need to provide evidence when they are recording their own attendance.

Evidence for attendance will be a QR code or passcode (code) generated by the Department's IT Systems. The Participant will scan the code through their device while at the Activity to record their attendance via the Job Seeker App or by recording a passcode via the jobactive website.

If the duration of the Activity is four hours or more, two codes will be generated: one for the Participant's arrival at the Activity and one for the end of Activity. The code for the end of Activity should not be made available to the Participant until close to the finish time.

When creating an Activity that requires evidence of attendance, the Provider must ensure that they record the contact details of the relevant person/s who will provide the code to Participants, such as an Activity Supervisor. The person providing the code to Participants needs to be given the code before the Activity session commences. Providers should also ensure that the person providing the code for an afternoon session knows not to make the code available to the Participant until the afternoon session commences.

However, there will be instances where there isn't a supervisor or contact for activities, such as education and training. This is because it would be unreasonable, or not expected due to the relationship and past experience, for evidenced-based recording or to report non-attendance directly to the Provider. In these situations, Participants will record attendance directly on the day. By recording their own attendance, Participants will be acknowledging via a statement on the App or website that they have attended and the information they are providing is true and correct. No further evidence is required, therefore satisfying documentary evidence requirements. Providers will still be able to record non-attendance if they become aware that Participants have failed to attend or left early at education/training activities.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.5)

Assessing a Participant's capability to record attendance

To assess the Participant's capability to record their own attendance, Providers need to consider if the Participant has:

- daily, reliable access to technology that would allow them to record their attendance, such as a computer or smartphone, or the means to contact their Provider to report their attendance; and
- the ability, literacy and English skills required to record or report their own attendance, understanding:
  - what requirements they need to record attendance for
  - how to record their own attendance
  - that they must record or report attendance by close of business on the day of the requirement
  - what to do and who to contact if they cannot record their own attendance on a given day
  - the consequences of not recording or reporting their own attendance if they are required to do so.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Participant is capable of recording their own attendance

If the Participant has both the means and the ability to record and report their own attendance keep the personal responsibility code (PA03) in the Job Plan.

Monitor the Participant's capability to record their own attendance to ensure that the Participant is reporting their attendance accurately. If a Provider knows that a Participant has not accurately recorded their attendance, they can override the result entered by the Participant.

If the Participant contacts the Provider and asks them to record attendance on their behalf, the Provider will assess whether the Participant did attend and, if so, record the Participant's attendance.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2)

Participant is not capable of recording their attendance

If the Participant is not capable of recording their own attendance, the Provider will need to remove the PA03 code when finalising the Participant's Job Plan.

Providers are encouraged to keep working with Participants to build capacity for reporting their attendance at requirements.

If a Participant can't record their attendance because they live in an area with unreliable connectivity or other similar reasons, the Provider needs to tell the Participant to report their attendance by contacting their Provider, who will record attendance on the Participant's behalf.

(Deed references: Clause 106A.1, 106A.2, 87.5)

---

3. Reviewing, Updating and Monitoring a Job Plan

Providers are required to review, update and monitor a Participant's Mutual Obligation Requirements in accordance with the Deed, this Guideline and Social Security Law.

Providers need to review the Job Plan and update it when the Participant:

- has a change in their circumstances
- enters into a new phase of their Stream
- enters in to a new Stream
- commences a new Activity
- completes an Activity that was in their Job Plan and/or
- has a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment where it is identified that the Job Plan contains errors, and/or
- is Commenced and has not had their Job Plan updated in the previous 6 months (thereby their Job Plan is reviewed and updated every 6 months).

For Services Australia managed Participants, Services Australia will update the Job Plan when required. If the Participant is managed by a Provider, Services Australia will consult with the relevant Provider before updating the Job Plan or may request that the Provider updates the Job Plan at the Participant's next Appointment. Providers should not remove any updates made to a Job Plan by Services Australia without consultation.

If a Participation Plan for ParentsNext Volunteers requires review or an update, then Providers must contact the participant's ParentsNext Provider and request they make the update to the Participation Plan.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.4, 87.5, 87.7, 113.1, 113.2, 114.1, Annexure A1)

Updating the Job Plan

Providers must review the Job Plan at each Provider Appointment to ensure that the Participant is still capable of meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements. If the outcome of a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment is that the Job Plan requires updating, Providers are required to review and update the contents of the Job Plan within 10 Business Days. Ensure that the contents of the Job Plan is updated including details of any additional voluntary activities or if the Participant is subject to an Exemption.

In consultation with the Participant, the Job Plan can be updated and tailored to individual needs at any time—unless there is compliance outstanding. If compliance action is outstanding, the Department's IT Systems will not permit the Job Plan to be updated and the Provider will be redirected to the 'Compliance Screen' in the Department's IT Systems.

See the Targeted Compliance Framework: Mutual Obligation Failures Guideline for information on using the Targeted Compliance Framework.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.1, 87.2, 87.3, 87.5)

Updating Job Plan to include Voluntary activities

If a Participant is granted an exemption or is fully meeting their Mutual Obligation Requirements, they may wish to participate voluntarily and they can discuss this with the Provider. Voluntary activities should be included in the Job Plan and scheduled in the Calendar, and the Participant should be notified of where and when to attend each Activity.

(Deed references: Clauses 87.54)

Updating Job Plan following Participant advising change in circumstances

The Job Plan needs to be reviewed as soon as practicable after the Provider becomes aware or is informed of a change in the Participant's circumstances.

Newly disclosed or discovered information may be found on, and should be immediately recorded in, the Capability Management Tool (CMT) in the Department's IT Systems.

If the Job Plan is to be renegotiated in light of the new information, the Provider will refer to the CMT to ensure that the Job Plan requirements are appropriate for the Participant's capability, and that the Participant will receive enough assistance and support to address the circumstances recorded in the CMT.

See the Capability Interview Guideline and Capability Assessment Guideline for information on using the Capability Management Tool.

(Deed references: Clauses 84.2, 87.5)

Updating the Job Plan to include (previously removed) requirement to record own attendance

If the Provider is renegotiating a Job Plan and assesses that the Participant is now capable to record their own attendance (where the requirement was previously removed from the Job Plan), the Provider needs to re-enter Job Plan code PA03 in to the Participant's Job Plan. Ensure that the Participant understands that they are now recording their own attendance at requirements as well as the importance of entering results via the App or jobactive website by close of business on the day of the requirement as their payment will be automatically suspended the next day if no result has been entered.

(Deed references: Clauses 106.1, 106A.1, 106A.2)

Updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview or Capability Assessment

See the Capability Interview Guideline and the Capability Assessment Guideline for information on updating the Job Plan following a Capability Interview or a Capability Assessment.

4. Scheduling Mutual Obligation Requirements in the Calendar

The Provider is required to record details of, and schedule each requirement in the Calendar, including:

- Provider Appointments
- Activities
- Job Interviews
- Education and Training
- Drug and alcohol rehabilitation
- Third Party Appointments
- Workshops, training and other activities delivered by the Provider and
- Employment, if the hours are regular and can reasonably be scheduled by the Provider or Participant.

To schedule a requirement in the Calendar, the Job Plan code that corresponds to that requirement must have been included in the Participant's current, signed Job Plan.

For example: if the Participant's Job Plan does not include the code for Compulsory participation in Work for the Dole (Code WE12), the Department's IT Systems will not allow a Provider to schedule Compulsory Work for the Dole in the Participant's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.1, 83A.2)

Scheduling Requirements

The Provider must ensure that each day of each Participant requirement is scheduled in the Calendar. Each day of each requirement scheduled in the Calendar must be populated with:

- the name or description of the requirement
- the start time
- break times, where relevant
- the end time
- the location of the requirement, including any special instructions to locate a venue (e.g. located on battle-axe block) and
- the name of any third party provider or training organisation

When the Provider schedules the requirement in the Calendar and formally notifies the Participant, the requirement will then appear in the Participant's Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A, 83A.1, 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling a Provider Appointment

Providers need to ensure that the Provider's Electronic Calendar has the capacity to receive an Appointment within the next two business days. When booking a Provider Appointment for a Participant, Providers need to select the correct appointment type, schedule the appointment in the Calendar and formally notify the Participant. If a Participant has an Appointment with their Provider, the Provider must deliver a Contact on the date and time of the Appointment as recorded in the Participant's Calendar.

There are four types of appointments; Initial; Contact; Re-engagement and Capability Interview appointment

Please refer to the Job Aids at the Learning Centre at <https://learningcentre.employment.gov.au/> for information on recording results at Provider Appointments.

(Deed references: Clauses 83.1, 83.3)

Scheduling Activities and Third Party Appointments

Detailed information on scheduling Activities and Appointments is available in the Job Seeker Calendar and AAR Requirements IT Supporting Document.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2)

Scheduling Job Interviews

All Job Interviews need to be scheduled in the Calendar and the Participant must be formally notified of the requirement to attend. Participants taking personal responsibility to record their own attendance must do so for Job Interviews.

When the Provider becomes aware that a Participant has an upcoming interview, the Provider must schedule it in the Participant's calendar. This is required where the Provider has the relevant information and details to schedule the interview and appropriate time to notify the job seeker prior to the interview.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling drug or alcohol rehabilitation

If the Provider identifies or becomes aware that the Participant's ongoing capability to meet their requirements or search for work is compromised by drug or alcohol dependency, the Provider needs to discuss this with the Participant to identify rehabilitation options that would assist the Participant to overcome their dependence.

If the Participant chooses to undertake drug and alcohol rehabilitation or is already when they enter employment services or transfer Providers, schedule it in the Calendar and formally notify the Participant. Undertaking drug and alcohol rehabilitation counts towards the Participant's AAR.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling Study or Training

Providers are responsible for identifying any appropriate study and training opportunities that will assist the Participant to gain skills or qualifications that will assist them to find work. Where practical, the Provider must ensure all study and training is scheduled in the Calendar.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling hours of employment where reasonable to do so

If the Participant is employed for regular hours, the Provider should schedule the hours of employment in the Calendar when they can reasonably do so.

The Provider should encourage the Participant to take personal responsibility by scheduling their own hours of employment, and they should either provide assistance to the Participant to do so or tell them where they can find assistance to help them with this. If the Participant does not schedule their own regular hours of employment by creating Personal Events, the Provider must do so.

The Provider will create a Personal Event in the Participant's Calendar for each day of employment the Participant is undertaking. The Participant does not need to be formally notified of scheduled Personal Events, including paid work, and the TCF cannot be used to report non-compliance for failing to attend work.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Participant may create Personal Events

Participants may create their own Personal Events in their Calendar between 6am and 9pm. Participants may only create Personal Events where a Mutual Obligation Requirement is not already scheduled at that time.

The Provider is able to create Personal Events on behalf of the Participant to assist the Participant in having full visibility of their schedule and their requirements. Providers must create Personal Events on behalf of the Participant to schedule regular hours of paid work if the Participant does not do so. Providers must advise the Participant that even though they have created a Personal Event, Mutual Obligation Requirements may still be scheduled.

Confirmed Participant Personal Events

Providers are responsible for confirming Participant Personal Events and are encouraged to review and consider Personal Events created by the Participant. Providers should use their judgement and knowledge of the individual Participant to decide whether the Participant's Personal Event is appropriate prior to confirming it. When deciding to confirm a Personal Event, the Provider should also consider the nature of the Personal Event and the Participant's personal situation. A Personal Event is considered to be Prior Notice of a Participant being unable to attend a requirement at that time. By confirming the event, the system will not allow a conflicting requirement to then be set.

If the Provider confirms a Personal Event that should not have been confirmed, they cannot 'un-confirm' the event. The Provider must cancel the Personal Event, after discussing the reasons why the Personal Event was cancelled in the Calendar, which will notify the Participant via an inbox message.

Unconfirmed Participant Personal Events

If a Provider considers that a Personal Event entered by a Participant is not appropriate, the Provider can choose to leave it unconfirmed. If a Personal Event is not confirmed, the Provider can override the unconfirmed Personal Event and schedule a requirement at that time. The Provider must record the reason in the Department's IT Systems and must formally notify the Participant of the requirement and ensuring they can make other arrangements for the Personal Event that they had created.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

Scheduling a requirement over a confirmed Participant Personal Event

If the Provider needs to schedule a requirement for the same time as a Participant's confirmed Personal Event, the Provider will need to discuss this with the Participant. After confirming with the Participant that they are available to attend the requirement at the scheduled time, the Provider is required to record the reason in the Department's IT Systems and formally notify the Participant of their requirement. Providers need to manage the conflicting requirement in the Calendar and record the reason you are scheduling the requirement at this day/time in the Department's IT Systems.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.2, 83A.3)

5. Issuing Formal Notification to the Participant

Except for any paid work the Participant is undertaking, the Provider is required to formally notify the Participant of every compulsory requirement in their Job Plan. The Provider must explain how to meet each requirement, as well as the consequences of not doing so, including possible financial penalties.

When the Provider schedules requirements in the Calendar, the Department's IT Systems will automatically create and record the selected Notification type to be issued. If a Participant's requirements are re-scheduled Providers must formally notify the Participant of the new requirement.

Formal Notification always includes:

- the reason for the appointment, if the requirement is an appointment
- whether the requirement is for the purpose of Re-engagement
- the date and start time of the requirement
- the location or address of the requirement
- if the Participant is required to record their own attendance, and if so, the consequences of not doing so

- whether the Participant will require evidence to record their own attendance
- whether the requirement is compulsory or voluntary
- that the Participant must contact their Provider beforehand if they become aware of an Acceptable Reason preventing them from being able to attend or complete the requirement
- the possible consequences for the Participant if they do not meet their requirement
- a statement that the Notification is a notice under Social Security Law
- that the Participant must complete their requirement in return for their Income Support Payment.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.3)

Legal authority to formally notify a Participant of their Mutual Obligation Requirements

Employment services provider employees are delegated powers by the Secretary of the Department of Education, Skills and Employment under Social Security Law to notify Participants of their Mutual Obligation Requirements.

(Social Security (Administration) Act 1999 (ss: 63); Social Security Act 1991 (ss 501,544,605,731L) Deed Clause 117).

Note: The requirement to formally notify a Participant receiving Income Support Payments also applies to Disability Support Recipients (Compulsory Requirements) and Stronger Participation Incentive Participants.

Notifying Participants within the appropriate timeframe

Providers must issue Participants Formal Notification within the appropriate timeframe before the requirement is scheduled to occur.

If reasonable notice timeframes are not met, the Calendar will not allow a requirement to be booked unless the Provider is in direct contact with the Participant and they have agreed to attend this requirement and the Provider records this.

Refer to the Learning Centre for more supporting materials relating to reasonable notice timeframes and Notification methods at <https://learningcentre.employment.gov.au/>.

(Deed references: Clauses 83A.3)

6. Privacy and information sharing

Providers must comply with Social Security Law and Australian privacy legislation. A Participant's Personal Information must only be used or disclosed for the purpose it was collected, except in limited circumstances such as where the Participant gives permission, where Commonwealth laws allow or other special circumstances.

Providers should seek independent legal advice if they have any concerns regarding their obligations under any privacy or other legislation. For further information, refer to the Privacy Guideline.

(Deed references: Clauses 53, 87, 106)

Sharing Job Plans with SEE or AMEP Providers

Providers should encourage Participants who are participating in the SEE program or AMEP to share their Job Plans with their SEE or AMEP Provider in order to make them aware of their full Mutual Obligation Requirements. This will assist SEE and AMEP Providers in ensuring that they place Participants in courses that will fully meet their AAR.

7. Summary of required Documentary Evidence

- Once the terms of the Job Plan have been agreed to and the Job Plan has been created in the Department's IT Systems, the Job Plan must be provided to the Participant for their agreement. Job Plans can be agreed to online or by signing a hard copy.
- Providers may send a Job Plan to the Job Seeker Dashboard through the jobactive website or Job Seeker App for the Participant to review and agree to online.
- Providers must formally notify the Participant (including those with voluntary requirements) that the Job Plan has been sent to their Job Seeker Dashboard for their agreement. This must be done either face to face or over the phone and within two Business Days of sending the Job Plan.
- The Job Plan must be recorded in the Department's IT Systems as soon as possible, after the Job Plan has been created. The contents of the Job Plan recorded in the Department's IT Systems must be exactly the same as the hard copy.
- If the Department's IT Systems is temporarily unavailable or there is no computer access, Providers must use the manual compulsory or voluntary Job Plan template available on the Provider Portal.

Social Security Act 1991
Social Security (Administration) Act 1999

Delegation under section 234 of the Social Security (Administration) Act 1999

I, RENÉE LEON, Secretary of the Department of Employment ('the Secretary'), make this instrument under section 234 of the Social Security (Administration) Act 1999.

Dated 16 June 2015

RENÉE LEON
Secretary

---

Delegation of power to employment services providers

1 Commencement

This instrument commences on 1 July 2015.

2 Revocation

Instrument 15-011 delegating power to employment providers is revoked.

3 Definition

In this instrument:

employment services provider means an organisation that performs functions or provides services from time to time for the purposes of the social security law under:

- (a) a relevant arrangement; or
- (b) a subcontract under such an arrangement.

relevant arrangement means the following arrangements with the Commonwealth:

- (a) Disability Employment Services Deed;
- (b) jobactive Deed 2015-2020; and
- (c) Remote Jobs and Communities Programme Funding Agreement 2013-2018.

4 Delegation

(1) Subject to subsection 4(2), each person engaged by an employment services provider to perform functions or to provide services under a relevant arrangement is delegated the following powers:

- (a) the powers of the Secretary under the provisions of the Social Security Act 1991 mentioned in the table in Part 1 of Schedule 1 to this instrument; and
- (b) the powers of the Secretary under the provisions of the Social Security (Administration) Act 1999 mentioned in the table in Part 2 of Schedule 1 to this instrument.

(2) However, a person mentioned in subsection 4(1) is not delegated the following powers under the Social Security Act 1991:

- (a) a power to approve the form of an employment pathway plan;
- (b) a power to determine, by legislative instrument, the kinds of requirements that an employment pathway plan must not contain;
- (c) the powers under subsection 544DA(7).

5 Severability

If my purported delegation of a particular power under this instrument is invalid, for whatever reason, it is my intention that this does not affect the validity of any other delegation of power under this instrument.
